CLOSE ELECTION BATTLE ROARS TOWARD FINISH

Believe 3 States to Decide Winner.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

With President Roosevelt and Gov. Dewey furiously fighting each other on the stump the nation's fortieth Presidential election is roaring to its finish at the ballot box on Tuesday.

A close result is in prospect with the outcome probably hinging on the votes of New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts.

More than 45 million voters, it is estimated, will decide whether our country is to continue to the left with Mr. Roosevelt for a fourth term with the Communists in the saddle in Washington or turn to the right with Gov. Dewey for the restoration of free, private enterprise for profit as the best guarantee of full employment.

On the basis of the most reliable information obtainable by Tribune correspondents in the 48 states the lineup of electoral votes on the eve of the balloting appears to be:

For Dewey

22 states....................218

For Roosevelt

23 states....................215

Doubtful

3 states.................... 98

Total 581

Necessary to a choice......266

Whatever the outcome of the Presidential race the Republicans probably will achieve control of the house and make gains in the senate, tho not enough to give them the majority of that body.

The Tribune's survey of the Presidential contest gives the following distribution of electoral votes by states:

FOR DEWEY.		FOR ROOSEVELT.
Colorado	6	Alabama	11
Idaho	4	Arizona	4
Illinois	28	Arkansas	9
Indiana	13	California	25
Iowa	10	Connecticut	8
Kansas	8	Delaware	3
Maine	5	Florida	8
Maryland	8	Georgia	12
Michigan	19	Kentucky	11
Minnesota	11	Louisiana	10
Missouri	15	Mississippi	9
Nebraska	6	Montana	4
New Hampshire	4	Nevada	3
New Jersey	16	New Mexico	4
North Dakota	4	North Carolina	14
Ohio	25	Oklahoma	10
Oregon	6	Rhode Island	4
South Dakota	4	South Carolina	8
Vermont	3	Tennessee	12
West Virginia	8	Texas	23
Wisconsin	12	Utah	4
Wyoming	3	Virginia	11
		Washington	8
Total	218	Total	215

DOUBTFUL: Massachusetts, 16; New York, 47; Pennsylvania, 35. Total, 98.

If this distribution should be borne out by the election returns, New York alone would give neither Mr. Roosevelt nor Mr. Dewey the victory.

With New York the successful candidate would still need a few more electoral votes. Without New York either could win provided he carried both Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

A Slender Plurality.

The latest information, including the New York Daily News poll, indicates that Dewey is likely to carry New York by a slender plurality.

Massachusetts also is not unlikely to wind up in the Republican column as a result of the upheaval in the Democratic party caused by the offense taken by the Irish Catholics at Sen. Truman's reference to Sen. Walsh [D., Mass.] as an isolationist who might be reformed. Sen. Walsh, who is chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, retorted that according to Vice Presidential Candidate Truman "a

Tribune's Poll Puts Illinois in Dewey Camp

STRAW TABLES.

BY LEWIS HUNT.

The Tribune presents today the final returns in its straw votes on President, United States senator, and governor. The straws were gathered in Chicago, the Cook county towns, and downstate Illinois. The final figures also are presented today on straws in the Cook county state's attorney race.

Straws from downstate and suburban Cook county indicate a new high in the tide of G. O. P. sentiment that rolled up to Chicago with Republican pluralities in 1938, 1940, and 1942. Within the city, Republican gains, while slight, make it appear improbable that the Democrats will get a higher vote next Tuesday than they did four years ago.

Point to G. O. P. Pluralities.

Depending on factors whose effect cannot be anticipated, the straws point to an Illinois plurality for Gov. Dewey of 80,000 to 115,000. The straws indicate the reëlection of Gov. Green by as much as 300,000 and the election of Richard J. Lyons, as United States senator, by 100,000 to 125,000.

These forecasts do not include votes by men and women in military service, which may prove to be 5 or 6 per cent of the state's total. If their ballots are divided between the candidates in the same ratios as the straws indicate for civilian voters, the plurality will be slightly larger for each winner.

Republican strength in Illinois as measured by the straw vote is at a six year peak in rural and other nonindustrial areas. Tests made in farm villages resulted in a three to one vote for Dewey and a ratio nearly as high was found in the residential suburbs. The President benefits from efforts of the Chicago Democratic machine, and in factory towns, from CIO leaders busy in his behalf.

All Sections Represented.

The 103,335 straws in the poll were gathered by The Tribune in each of the three divisions of the state—Chicago, county towns of Cook county, and downstate—in proportion to normal voting strength in those areas. In Chicago, the straws were divided among south, west and north side wards in proportion to their customary voting ratios, which are 40 per cent each in the south and west side groups and 20 per cent in the north side.

The straw markings show a percentage in each sector for each candidate. These ratings rule in the attempt to forecast vote totals in the election.

Variable factors upon which the size of the vote in the three areas depend are numerous, however. This year, in addition to the weather, they include such war time influences as the soldier vote, which may amount to 250,000 in Illinois, and population shifts resulting from the war.

Home Precincts Do Counting.

Under Illinois' special soldiers' ballot law, which allows service men to vote for every office instead of restricting them to President, senator, and congressman, as the federal bobtail form does, the service men's ballots will be counted if re-

ROMANIAN CABINET QUITS AFTER MOSCOW CRITICIZES REGIME

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—The Romanian government, which has been accused by Moscow of protecting Fascist elements, has resigned and has been reconstituted on a more democratic basis, the Bucharest radio said tonight. Gen. Konstantin Sanatescu remains at its head as president of the council of ministers and holds the additional portfolio of interim minister of war, the broadcast said.

Diplomatic quarters here interpreted Moscow's denunciation of the Sanatescu government as a warning to the premier to clean house and organize a more democratic regime.

Unless the premier heeds Russia's warnings, these sources said, it appeared probable that the soviet union might swing its support to the Communist party, which is growing in strength in Romania.

HIT LEYTE TOWN BY LAND AND SEA

Yanks Attack Carigara Bay Road Terminal.

BULLETIN.
[By the Associated Press.]

For the second time within a week, Tokyo radio reported allied penetration of the skies over Honshu, the island on which Tokyo is situated. It said "one enemy plane" entered the area at midmorning Sunday [Tokyo time], but dropped no bombs. The report, not confirmed by allied sources, said the plane appeared over the Tokaido area, which contains Tokyo and considerable heavy industry.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Nov. 5 [Sunday]—(AP).—The 24th division drove by land and sea yesterday against Pinamopoan, highway terminus on Carigara bay, in preparation for a larger assault against Ormoc, 20 miles southward, where the Japanese have prepared new defenses for a last-ditch stand.

Troops advanced from Carigara, seven miles eastward, in the land assault, while small boats swept across the island's hump to the beach at Pinamopoan.

The Japanese strongly resisted attempts to break their road block at Pinamopoan, at the northern end of the Ormoc valley corridor.

Repulse Counter-Attack.

The Japs counter-attacked in some force at Capoocan, midway between Carigara and Pinamopoan, but were repulsed "bloodily," today's bulletin reported.

Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent, said the fight was bitter in hills flanking Capoocan. One Yank company weathered a Banzai charge, killing 10 Japanese who penetrated a company command post.

Two patrols of the same company descended into a gully where the Japanese had set up machine guns and mortars. The veterans slugged it out in a defile 50 feet wide and 400 feet long.

Must Rebuild Bridges.

The greatest difficulty faced was the rebuilding of bridges over two wide streams, necessary to get heavy artillery up to support the infantry.

Fighting along Carigara bay does not mean the Americans have contacted the reënforced Japanese mechanized column moving northward from Ormoc. A headquarters spokesman said there has been no report the two forces have been in contact.

The Japanese have "prepared hasty defensive positions in the hills fronting the plains north of Ormoc and are endeavoring to protect their last remaining foothold on Leyte Island," the bulletin added.

Fifty-seven Japanese planes were wiped out on the ground and 10 more shot down as American planes stepped up attacks on Cebu and Negros Islands.

'Lost Battalion' Is Rescued After 7-Day Ordeal in Hills

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH A U. S. INFANTRY DIVISION, in the Vosges Mountains, Oct. 31 [Delayed].—The survivors of an American lost battalion came back from the line today. Hungry, bearded, and exhausted, they came down from the cold, wet and inhospitable mountains to the cheers of their regimental comrades who hailed them as heroes of an ordeal unexampled in the allied campaign in France.

Two hundred and eleven infantrymen, combat troops of the 1st battalion of a veteran regiment, came back. Some didn't. They paid the price for holding their hill objective 172 hours — more than seven days — cut off from our other forces, completely surrounded by Germans and subjected to murderous small arms fire and shelling.

Foodless 5 Days.

Relief, when it arrived, was in the person of members of another famous regiment which distinguished itself in the Italian fighting and had been in the line here several weeks. The rescued men said they had bet that that particular regiment would be the first to reach them.

The Yanks first were encircled at noon, Monday, Oct. 23, and for five days they were without food or drinkable water, and ammunition and medical supplies ran low. On the 28th and in the succeeding days they were provisioned dramatically by specially packed shells fired by our batteries and by Thunderbolt planes flying over on missions made perilous by rain and clouds. The battalion finally was relieved just before 4 p. m., Monday, Oct. 30, but spent that night on the hill and came down today.

The hill of pines now is occupied by other G. I.'s. Some of the lost battalion were killed by shelling and small arms. Others missing in action are considered dead or captured. The enemy did not get by cheaply as 120 of his dead are on and around that fateful hill.

Of the 211 infantrymen who returned from the trap a contingent of wounded and trench-foot cases were brought down steep trails by litter bearers.

Chicagoans in Group.

The lost battalion was commanded by Lt. Col. William Bird of Barberton, O. Bird, however, was separated from the battalion when it was cut off and 1st Lt. Martin J. Higgins of Jersey City, N. J., took command on the hill. In the drive to the hill Sgt. Bernard Schmidt, 2855 Pershing rd., Chicago, Ill., fired on 20 Germans, wounding several. He believes he picked off a few more in the days after. The battalion was composed of parts of four companies.

The Germans formed a powerful road block 1,000 yards west of the hill, later reënforcing it to a number estimated as high as 700 men with machine guns and self-propelled guns. The enemy was apparently unaware of the strength of our hill force, but was maneuvering to isolate it from other Americans on their west.

Lt. Joseph Kimble of Scranton, Pa., said the dropping of supplies must have given their position away if the Germans had not known it earlier and "we were relieved just in the nick of time. We were just holding our own when the troops came. The Germans were boring in from all sides and we were holding them off with grenades and bazookas."

Kings county Sheriff Orvie H. Clyde reported the plane was a Transcontinental and Western Air plane and contained army and navy personnel.

TWA officials said their regular flight 8 plane, bound from San Francisco to Burbank, Cal., was overdue. It was last heard from near Hanford nine minutes before the crash was reported.

The air line company officials immediately left San Francisco for the scene of the accident. They said that names of army and navy personnel would not be announced until released from Washington.

They announced the names of the plane's crew as A. T. Bethel, captain; G. E. Smith, first officer, and Miss Ruth Miller, hostess.

The plane was discovered by Harold Anderson, a farmer, who said parts of the plane fell about him.

Then he saw a portion of the plane burning about a half mile away.

G. O. P. NOMINEE RIPS WAR DELAYS; PRESIDENT DENIES SELLOUT TO REDS

25,000 Cheer Plea by Governor in New York.

TEXT OF ADDRESS.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—Gov. Dewey brought his campaign for the Presidency to a tumultous climax before a wildly cheering overflow crowd of 25,000 persons here tonight with a flat charge that President Roosevelt has prolonged the war in Europe by "improvised meddling" and "confused incompetence."

In fighting trim at the end of the campaign trail, the Republican candidate, who won his first fame as a prosecutor in this city, stood in Madison Square Garden and appealed to the American electorate to send a thrilling message around the world Nov. 7 that America has changed administrations to speed victory and assure lasting peace.

Broadcast from Albany.

Tomorrow Dewey will return to Albany where Monday night he will bring the campaign to a formal close with a broadcast from the executive mansion. He will return to New York Tuesday to vote.

Crowds turned out in unprecedented volume today and tonight to give Dewey a rousing homecoming. Altho he did not start speaking until 10:30 p. m. [9:30 p. m., Chicago time] there were 2,000 persons waiting at the Garden doors at 4 p. m.

Before 6 p. m. the unreserved seat section of the Garden, which holds 14,000, was filled. An hour later thousands of persons jamming into W. 49th st., on one side of the amphitheater, forced police to close the thorofare to traffic.

Appeals for Silence.

Dewey's appearance on the platform touched off a five minute ovation of thunderous proportions which only halted when the candidate, his face wreathed in smiles, appealed for silence by pointing to the microphone.

Dewey's campaign slogan of "It's time for a change" brought an outbreak of cheers whenever he used it, and the crowd booed derisively when he referred to the New Deal's alliance with Sidney Hillman and Communism and to President Roosevelt's One Thousand club.

In a typical racket busting mood, documenting his charges as he went along, Dewey accused the Roosevelt administration of secret and personal diplomacy. Recalling that Gen. Eisenhower predicted as recently as Sept. 1 that the war could be won in Europe this year, Dewey blamed the release of a plan by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau for the "pauperizing" of Germany for increased German resistance.

Dewey said publication of the Morgenthau plan was as good as 10 fresh divisions to the Germans.

Bickering and Quarreling.

He asserted a Republican victory Tuesday can hasten the end of the war by retiring from the Potomac front those who bicker and quarrel among each other.

Dewey said that altho Mr. Roosevelt has offered no program because the New Deal has nothing to offer, the Republicans have set forth a constructive program for the years ahead, "built solidly, brick by brick."

He said his program shows how the nation can achieve its objectives, including full employment, high and stable income for labor, agriculture and business, broader old age benefits, tax reduction, and freedom of both labor and business from government regimentation.

An Editorial

Dewey.

Gov. Dewey's people came west and settled in Michigan long before the automobile age. He was born and brought up in Owosso. His father edited the town's newspaper. The family income was about $1,800 a year. Young Tom earned the money that he needed to take him thru the University of Michigan. He did it by working during the summer vacations, by singing in an Ann Arbor church choir, and by winning a place on the staff of the college paper.

He has come a long way. As a young lawyer in 1930 he found himself associated with George Z. Medalie in the trial of a civil suit. Soon afterward Medalie was appointed United States district attorney. He had been greatly impressed with Dewey's mind and character and chose him as first assistant, an honor that never before had gone to so young a man. Dewey made good in organizing the office and in the successful prosecutions of Legs Diamond, the gangster; Patrick Commerford, the union racketeer; James J. McCormick, the deputy city clerk, and Waxey Gordon, another gangster. Dewey, on behalf of the government, won a million dollar civil suit against Charles E. Mitchell, the banker. When Medalie resigned the district attorneyship in 1933 the federal judges of the district promptly and inevitably chose Dewey to succeed him pro tem.

A few months later a new district attorney was appointed by the President, and Dewey returned to private practice. But not for long. New York was alarmed by the growth of racketeering and gangsterism and there was widespread demand for a special prosecutor. The appointment fell naturally to Dewey because of his record in such prosecutions and because he was efficient, because he was fearless, and because he was clean. He made good, as the world knows. A few years later he was the regularly elected district attorney, and again he made good. He ran the office more economically than it had been run at any time within memory, and he built up the most effective staff of assistants that New York had ever seen in the prosecutor's office.

There, and later when he was elected governor of New York, he showed his talent for executive management. In one year he added more than $90,000,000 to the state's surplus while improving the quality of the state's administration. There isn't a stain

Republican 'Lack of Faith' Charged at Boston.

TEXT OF ADDRESS.
The text of President Roosevelt's speech will be found on page 10.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt tonight accused Gov. Dewey of "a shocking lack of faith in democracy and trust in America" because of his Republican opponent's charge that the government "could be sold out to the Communists."

In the final major address of his campaign for a fourth term, the President spoke before a crowd of 40,000 which packed Fenway baseball park. He remained seated in an open car which had been driven upon a platform.

Never before in his life time, he declared, had a campaign been filled with "such misrepresentation, distortion, and falsehood."

Hits at 'Intolerance.'

Never since 1928, he continued, when the religious question helped beat Catholic Alfred E. Smith, had there been so many "attempts to stimulate in America racial or religious intolerance."

Speaking only three days after Dewey in the same city directed a sizzling attack upon the New Deal's "cynical alliance" with the Communists which, he implied, threatened religious freedom, the President declared this nation proved in the black days of the depression that "there is no chink in the armor of democracy."

The people did not turn to alien ideologies in 1929 to 1933, he argued, their Democratic faith was too sturdy.

What they demanded, he said, was not less democracy but more democracy "and that is what they got."

Repeats "Again and Again."

The President tossed his head in old time fashion as he uttered the "again and again and again" phrase which, voiced four years ago in this city, is credited with swinging the election in his favor. This time he voiced it in asserting that any "real American" would fight against a "sneak attack." The crowd screamed in approval.

The President omitted from his prepared text a sarcastic reference that he had heard somebody say that "The tired, quarrelsome old men are waging such a victorious war—that it is time for a change."

Refers to His Health.

Mr. Roosevelt employed every oratorical artifice at his command in this final big effort of the fourth term campaign. He waxed humorous about the references to his health, recalling that there were rumors 16 years ago in his campaign for governor of New York that his physical condition would not permit him to discharge the duties of public office, but that he managed to survive four years as governor.

He brought down the house with a quotation from the late Al Smith, always a hero here, that "You don't have to be an acrobat to be President."

Everybody knows that he was reluctant to run again for the Presidency this year, he told the crowd, but he was particularly anxious now to win because of what he deemed unprecedented misrepresentation, distortion, and falsehood.

He harked back to the words of his first inaugural speech in 1933 that "we have nothing to fear but fear itself" and added: "I do not think you will ever cast your votes for fearful men."

The radio on the President's train, which is piped to all cars including Mr. Roosevelt's drawing room, was tuned in on Gov. Dewey's speech at New York and the entire address listened to before the train left Boston.

New Pilot Finds Out Why Yanks Don't Salute Him

LEYTE, P. I., Nov. 4 (AP).—A newly arrived pilot complained to the commander that men of the record breaking 49th air group, whose roster includes 15 aces, were not saluting him. "How many Japs have you shot down?" queried the commander. "None," stammered the pilot. "You'd better get out and bag yourself some Japs," advised the commander.

DEWEY PLEDGES UNITY AT HOME IN N. Y. ADDRESS

Assails Capriciousness of Roosevelt Regime.

"All over the world tonight Americans are fighting for the right of free men to govern themselves. Here at home we are waging a political campaign to make secure the liberties for which they fight.

"Openly and in plain words John Bricker and I, in the name of the Republican party, are dedicated to these propositions:

"1. To speed total victory and the prompt return of our fighting men by putting energy and competence in Washington behind the magnificent effort of our military command.

"2. To provide American leadership in the world for an effective organization among all nations to prevent future wars.

Jobs for Every American.

"3. To direct all government policies in the peace time years ahead to achieving jobs and opportunity for every American.

"To these ends:

"We shall restore honesty and integrity to our national government.

"We shall put an end to one man rule.

"We shall unite our people in teamwork and harmony behind a President and a congress that can and will work together to realize the limitless promise of America.

"These are no partisan objectives. They are in truth the objectives of the American people. They can never be attained under the tired and quarrelsome administration that has been in office for 12 long years.

"They can only be obtained under a new, vigorous administration that comes fresh from the people. That's why all over the country the people are saying it's time for a change.

Overwhelming Victory.

"America is determined to win a speedy and overwhelming victory in this war. All of us have perfect confidence in our military and naval commanders. But this war cannot be won alone upon the battle fronts. It must also be won at home. And each of us must play his part.

"As recently as Sept. 1 Gen. Eisenhower renewed his earlier prophecy that Germany could be beaten in 1944 if every one at home would do his part. Yet, last Thursday Mr. Roosevelt decided to tell us that the war had still a long way to go.

"What has happened in two months to cancel Gen. Eisenhower's prediction? Mr. Rooesvelt has not told us the whole story, but part of it we know.

"Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill held a conference in Quebec. Our secretary of state was absent. Our secretary of war was absent. In their stead Mr. Roosevelt took with him that master of military strategy and foreign affairs, the secretary of the treasury, with his private plan for disposing of the German people after the war. The plan was so clumsy that Mr. Roosevelt himself finally dropped it—but the damage was done.

Worth 10 Divisions.

"The publishing of this plan while everything else was kept secret was just what the Nazi propagandists needed. That was as good as 10 fresh German divisions. It put fight back into the German army; it stiffened the will of the German nation to resist. Almost overnight the headlong retreat of the Germans stopped. They stood and fought fanatically.

"Here is how the military expert of Newsweek described the tragic consequences of this blunder—'This necromancy ruins Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign. . . . Now he finds himself faced by resistance he never expected and which, in my opinion, would never have materialized had allied political warfare been astute instead of idiotic.' So says the military expert.

"Here's the report from the front by the United Press: 'The home front talk about stern treatment for a defeated Germany has inspired bitter and fanatical resistance among German troops, in this sector at least, and the G. I.'s are a little bitter about it. Sometimes the doughboys who are fighting and dying in the mud on this side of the Moselle wish people at home would quit announcing what they think should be done about a defeated Germany. Some soldiers said today that they thought it might be better to win the war first.'

Payment in Blood.

"What does this mean? It means that the blood of our fighting men is paying for this improvised meddling which is so much a part and parcel of the Roosevelt administration. And at the very moment when his own confused incompetence has thus prolonged the war in Europe, Franklin Roosevelt goes on the radio and claims for himself the credit for everything our engineers, our war workers, our industry, our farmers, and our fighting sons have done.

"We are advancing and we shall reach our goals. Once rid of capricious, personal government, once we give our whole, our united thoughts to victory, we shall reach Berlin and Tokyo quicker—with less cost.

"Let me make one thing clear: your next administration will never claim personal or political profit from the achievements of the American people or from the sacrifices of their sons and daughters. But it will put a stop to the incompetence in Washington which is costing the lives of American men and delaying the day of final victory.

"That's why it's time for a change.

Must Be Last War.

"The people of this country are determined that we shall not again go thru the heartache and sacrifice of these past three years. This war must be the last war. We shall take the lead in the formation of a world organization to prevent future wars. And we know that effort can never be the work of one man or of one nation. It can never be the product of secret agreements worked out in secret conferences between two or three rulers.

"For the United States, this great effort must have the support and understanding of all our people. And it must, under our Constitution, have the support and approval of the people's representatives in congress.

"Yet, Mr. Roosevelt, year after year, has systematically abused and insulted the members of congress. Having already alienated his own leaders in congress, he has now gratitously insulted the Republican leaders of the senate and the house. Those leaders joined with me in an effort to lift the program for lasting peace above partisanship. They publicly pledged themselves to support the program for world peace on which Secretary Hull and I had coöperated. But this harmonious nonpolitical approach was not politically profitable to Mr. Roosevelt, so he denounced the Republican members of congress and accused them of erecting 'a party spite fence between us and the peace.'

End to Name Calling.

"The time has come to bring an end to this name calling and abuse. American participation in a world organization for peace can only be built by a President and a congress—Republicans and Democrats alike—working together in harmony and mutual respect. To achieve that harmony we must have a new chief executive who believes in that fundamental principle and practices it. That's another reason why it's time for a change.

"When victory is won 11 million Americans will return from our fighting forces. They will be looking for jobs and opportunity.

"They will want to marry, go to work and get ahead. Twenty million war workers will be looking for jobs in peace time industries. If we are not to betray those who have fought and worked for victory in this war, we must have here in America a land of opportunity, a land of full employment at high wages, with a rising standard of living.

Failure for Eight Years.

"My opponent talks once again of jobs in the future, but he offers us nothing except a repetition of the New Deal policies which failed for eight straight years. This administration took office when the world-wide depression was nearly four years old. No previous depression in one hundred years of our history had lasted more than five years.

"Yet Mr. Roosevelt contrived to make that depression last 11 years—twice as long as any depression in a century.

"He had unlimited power; he spent 58 billion dollars; yet in March, 1940, there were still 10 million unemployed. Under the New Deal it took a war to get jobs.

"We dare not, we must not risk the future of our country in the hands of those who never succeeded in eight peace time years in even approaching full employment. We need to sweep away the strangling mass of rules and regulations, of petty burocratic interferences. We need to sweep away the old dank, wretched atmosphere of hostility and abuse. We need once more to let the American people—industry, labor, and agriculture—know that their government believes with them in the American tradition of opportunity for all.

"We need an administration that cares more about little business than it does about big government. We need an administration that will not be afraid of peace—that will want to bring our fighting men home when victory is achieved—and will keep its promise to do so. And that's another reason why it's time for a change.

"There are other reasons. For 12 years we have watched the shifty, slippery nature of the present national administration. It has stood for no principle except self-perpetuation in power. The result has been decay of the moral fiber of government. That decay reached its logical result when Franklin Roosevelt was compelled to admit that it was he himself who sponsored the One Thousand club. This is the scheme which offers in writing for $1,000 'special privileges' and a voice 'in the formulation of administration policies.'

"Never in our history has corruption been so brazen. Never before has a President admitted sponshorship of such a scheme.

"All this is the inevitable result of too many years in power—and the desire for perpetual office. It is exactly what every great American beginning with George Washington and Thomas Jefferson warned against. It is inevitable that it should have produced political leadership which today publicly defines politics as the science of 'who gets what, when and why.' I say the young men of America are not fighting and dying for these corrupt and decadent practices. In the name of those men, the American people will rise up and repudiate that whole philosophy of government. The time has come to put an end to government by 'who gets what, when and why.' That's why it's time for a change.

No Party Allegiance.

"Today, the great Democratic party, weakened by 12 years of one man rule, is being leased out to men who boast that they owe no allegiance to that party or its principles. It has been put on the auction block, for sale to the highest bidder, and the highest bidders are Sidney Hillman's political action committee and Earl Browder's Communists. There is only one way for the real members of the Democratic party to win in this election. That is to join with Republicans in defeating the New Dealers, the political action committee and the Communists. That's why those who believe in our system of government, Republicans and Democrats alike, agree today that it's time for a change.

"In this campaign I have set forth a constructive program for the years ahead built soundly, brick by brick. It shows how we can achieve our objectives—each of them, including full employment, high, stable income for labor, agriculture, and business, broader old age benefits, tax reduction with an increased national income, and freedom of both labor and business from crippling government regimentation.

"My opponent has offered no program because the New Deal has nothing to offer save more of the same quarreling and vacillation which has marked its career, for 12 long years. We can no longer afford the luxury of a government which spends half its time quarreling with itself and the other half quarreling with one segment or another of our people.

New Hands to Steer Ship.

"In the years immediately ahead, we need new hands to steer the ship steadily thru the balance of the war, then into quiet peace time waters where we can again make progress. We need to learn to work together, again, in unity. We need above all to renew our faith; faith in the good will of our fellow men regardless of race, color or creed; faith in the limitless future of our country.

"Our nation was founded and built by men of great faith and good will, who came here to do great things. They created our institutions in the image of their beliefs. First of all, they believed in Almighty God. That was the rock on which they built. They believed in the moral law. They believed in the dignity of man. In the Bill of Rights, they consecrated and established that dignity of man without distinction of race, creed or color.

"They believed that man should be free—free to worship after the dictates of his own conscience, free to live in his own home, to raise a family—free to speak his own mind without fear or favor, free to get ahead in the world. They believed that government should be the servant, not the master of the people. Because they believed those things and built upon them, this nation has been richly blessed of God.

"Our people have known hardship but they have never despaired. They have faced great odds, but they have never known defeat. To them the difficult is never too difficult. With them the impossible can be brought to pass.

No Indispensable Man.

"Let us in this election send a ringing affirmation to all the world that the love of freedom is still strong in the hearts of the American people. Let us register our faith that in America there is no indispensable man.

"Let us prove that free government still lives. Let us send the thrilling message around the world that America has changed administrations in order to speed victory and ensure lasting peace—that freedom is the most vital thing in the world—that we intend to have it—to hold it forever."

ELECTION TO RENEW ENTERPRISE IN U. S., BRICKER PREDICTS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 4 (AP).—Gov. Bricker, concluding his campaign for the Vice Presidency, tonight said a Republican victory on Tuesday would "bring a return of confidence and enterprise."

The Republican candidate, back on his home grounds after eight weeks in which he traveled 16,000 miles and made 173 speeches, said he was confident "this long-suffering nation will free itself from the depressing regimentation of the New Deal."

The governor appeared here for a broadcast after delivering speeches earlier in the day at Youngstown, Niles, Warren, Kent, and Akron.

Anticipating victory for Gov. Dewey, Bricker said "we shall see an emergence of new inventions and the creation of new shops and factories for making the new products already developed by our industrial laboratories. We shall see our returning soldiers and sailors establishing themselves on farms and in industry and starting businesses of their own. In short, we shall again see a hopeful, forward looking, and dynamic America."

DEWEY DEMANDS FULL JUSTICE TO NEGRO CITIZENS

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—A pledge of justice for the Negroes of America is contained in a letter written by Gov. Dewey to Carl Murphy, president of Afro-American Newspapers, made public here today.

"I recognize," wrote the Republican Presidential candidate, "that no economy can be sound unless there exists in America equality of opportunity, equal justice before the law, and full citizenship for all our people. Such condition of equality, as we know only too well, does not exist for the colored American today. This must be corrected.

Faith in U. S. Conscience.

"While I do not believe for a moment that the unique injustices suffered by the Negro today can be wiped away overnight, I have too much faith in the conscience of America ever to believe this question of race relations is impossible of solution.

"I think the national government should go to work on it and itself assume responsibility for leadership in developing mutual respect and coöperation between peoples of diverse races and religion."

Dewey then quoted the Republican national platform: "We pledge the establishment by federal legislation of a permanent, fair employment practice commission."

"I unreservedly accept this party promise and have repeatedly pledged its performance," Dewey continued. "My administration will have only one prejudice. It will be prejudiced against injustice. Its loyalty will be to law, to equal protection of the law, to equality of opportunity and to the fight against intolerance.

Cites Injustice to Fighters.

"The platform on which I stand has concerned itself not only with an agency to abolish racial injustice from employment, but considers other vital issues involved in race relations. The platform of the Republican party also condemns without reservation the injection into American life of racial and religious prejudice.

"Further, in full recognition of the harsh conditions from which many of our Negroes in the armed forces suffer, this platform demands an immediate inquiry to get at the facts of mistreatment, segregation and discrimination practiced upon Negroes in our armed forces, and the adoption of corrective measures.

"The platform further opposes the payment of any poll tax as a condition for voting in federal elections and calls for its abolition. Finally, this party pronouncement declares in favor of early enactment of laws against lynching."

BERLE REFUSES TO MAKE REPLY ON AIR SELLOUT

Gives Election as Excuse for Ignoring Charges.

British Open Route

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 4 (AP).—The British completed the official opening of a round-the-world military air route today with the arrival in Sydney, Australia, of an R. A. F. transport plane from Montreal. Opening a regular British ferrying service between Montreal and Sydney, the transport, a Liberator, left here Tuesday on her journey of 11,520 miles, flying by way of California, Honolulu, Canton Island, Fiji, and Auckland, N. Z. Several flights a week are planned. The transport was piloted by Commodore G. J. Powell, senior air staff officer at the Montreal headquarters of the R. A. F. transport command.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

Adolf A. Berle, assistant secretary of state and president and chairman of the American delegation at the international civil aviation conference here, refused yesterday to answer charges that the air policy to which he pledged America would sell out this country's overseas aviation and imperil its military security.

At his press conference in the Stevens hotel, where the gathering of more than 50 allied and neutral nations convened last Wednesday, Berle was given an opportunity to answer the allegations when a reporter asked whether the United States delegation had any statement to make on a story printed in THE TRIBUNE yesterday which "has commanded more than usual attention at the conference."

"There's an Election On."

Instead, Berle, whose press conference remarks generally are off the record, released for publication the following:

"I don't have to inform you gentlemen that there is a national election on and a campaign incident thereto, and that a certain local newspaper has taken a very vivid interest therein."

High Washington officials charged that the speech delivered by Berle at the opening session of the air conference, which stated the position of the United States government, pledged America or attempted to pledge to these points inimical to her welfare:

1. Giving "innocent" airplanes of all nations the right to fly over and land and take off in noncommercial flight on the territory of any nation, America included. The United States never before has accepted this provision, and does not need such rights for her own aircraft in international commercial flight, the critics say.

2. Giving civil transport planes released from military use to foreign nations at "reasonable cost," altho Berle deliberately refused to include America air companies in the same deal.

Deletion Forced in Speech.

The Washington spokesmen also said that Berle's original speech offered to the foreign countries the "great range of aids to navigation and flying" which have been developed by the American army and navy and industry during the war. He was persuaded to delete this statement from the speech by other delegates and by army and navy men who threatened to appeal to the joint chiefs of staff if it was retained, the Washington officials said.

Berle also told his press conference for publication that the main committees of the conference completed their organization on Friday, that sub-committees organized yesterday, and that the conference should be ready to go to work after today's holiday.

The conference was in slow motion yesterday, with only four executive sessions of subcommittees on schedule. Most of these were brief and all were closed to the press.

Routes By-pass Russia.

One of the sub-committees which met was attached to the provisional air routes committee which has received proposals from the United States and the Netherlands delegations on the number and nature of trans-oceanic air routes these nations believe should be operated after the war.

The United States report calls for 20 general routes, one of them from Chicago to Alaska and from Seattle to Alaska, thence to Kiska, Paramushiru, Tokyo, Shanghai, and Hongkong or Canton.

It was noticed that all of the routes proposed by the United States by-passed Russian cities or Russian territory by name.

Tribune Recommendations for Ballot Marking Tuesday

Below is a facsimile of two portions of the main ballot as it will appear in Cook county at Tuesday's election. Besides two proposed amendments to the state constitution, it carries the names of the Republican and the Democratic nominees for President, Vice President, United States senator, and state, county, and sanitary district offices. The Tribune recommends a straight vote for the entire Republican ticket, a vote against the proposal that sheriffs and county treasurers be permitted to succeed themselves in office, and a vote for amendment of the state banking laws, as marked. Not shown below are the candidates of the Prohibition and Socialist Labor parties and (see tear lines in center) the Republican and Democratic nominees for congress, state senator, and state representative which vary by district.

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 8, ARTICLE X, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS:

EXPLANATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The proposed amended Section 8 of Article X in its effect differs from the present Section 8 of Article X of the Constitution of Illinois only by eliminating the concluding proviso of the present section which prohibits a sheriff or county treasurer from succeeding himself in office.

In order for the proposed amendment to be adopted it must receive a majority of all the votes cast at the general election, not just a majority of all votes on the proposed amendment. All who neglect to vote on the proposed amendment are really voting against it. Each voter of Illinois is urged to consider the proposition carefully and to vote according to his or her best judgment.

It Takes a False Alarm to Call Political Meeting

Riddle, Ore., Nov. 4 (AP).—Mayor G. J. Aspey found out how to work up a burning interest in city politics. After vain attempts to get any one to attend a nominating caucus for city officers, Aspey rang the town fire alarm. As citizens poured to the main street to view the fire, he called them in to a nominating meeting.

SHIFTS IN VOTE PLURALITIES OF ILLINOIS SHOWN

Pluralities given Presidential candidates by Illinois voters have shifted as much as 900,000 votes in a four year period, and have had a minimum change of more than a quarter million votes in every Presidential election since 1928.

The largest shift of voting strength was from 1928 to 1932. Roosevelt carried Illinois in 1932 by a plurality of 449,548, a radical change from the 455,324 plurality given to Hoover four years earlier. The smallest shift was from 1932 to 1936 when Roosevelt increased his plurality to 712,606.

In the 1940 election Roosevelt's plurality was reduced 609,912 votes to a lead of only 102,694 votes over Willkie. Actually Roosevelt lost only 133,065 votes from his 1936 total, the change being in the larger number of Republicans voting. The vote and pluralities for Chicago, Cook county and downstate for the last four Presidential elections follow:

While increased registration is reported in many sections of the state and particularly in Cook county, the Presidential vote next Tuesday is not expected to vary greatly from the 4,197,174 cast for Roosevelt and Willkie in 1940.

BRITISH CIVIL AIR EXPERT SCOFFS AT COMPETITION BY U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—One of Britain's leading specialists in civil aviation told a group of fellow experts today "we shall beat him [the American competitor] because we know how to look after our customers better than he does, and we have the men to do it." The speaker was Brig. Gen. A. C. Critchley, director general of the British Overseas Air corporation. The discussion was arranged by the Royal Aeronautical society on civil aviation.

"In America," said Critchley, "service means servility and they have no real idea of service to the passenger as we understand it."

He urged an emphasis on personnel, especially station managers, saying they are "rather a race apart." These, he explained, have to meet "kings, ambassadors, governors, and even American business men."

FOUR NOMINEES TELL STANDS ON ENFORCING LAWS

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Replies by four candidates to telegrams sent to them by the Chicago Crime commission asking their position in regard to the enforcement of the laws against gambling were made public yesterday, as follows:

John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney:

"I believe that the laws of the state of Illinois should be and can be enforced. As state's attorney I shall strenuously but fairly enforce the criminal laws of our state. It is not the province of law enforcement officials to decide that some laws shall be enforced and others shall not. If the laws are wrong the state legislature is the place to have them changed."

Statement by Tuohy.

William J. Tuohy, Democratic nominee for state's attorney:

"I believe that all laws can be enforced. I do not mean by that that I think it is possible to prevent all violations of law, but I do believe it is possible to apprehend all violators of law and apply the penalties of the law to them.

"The oath of office of the state's attorney obligates him to enforce all laws. This oath I intend to take and fulfil without mental reservation."

Sheriff Cites Record.

Sheriff Mulcahy, Democratic nominee for reëlection:

"During the 11 months I have served as sheriff of Cook county you have closely observed my activities and the results obtained in that office. I am certain you will agree with me that the most convincing answer I can make to the inquiries is that I stand squarely upon my record."

Leo Carr, Republican nominee for sheriff:

"It will be my duty to enforce all laws of the state impartially and that I shall do without fear or favor."

BRITISH OPINION COOL OVER U. S. AVIATION PLAN

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—British opinion was far from enthusiastic today about the American plan for an international civil aviation authority put forward at the Chicago conference. Dispatches from some English correspondents said the plan was not satisfactory. Under the headline "Empire Air Delegates Upset by U. S. Plan," the London Daily Mail said, "It is believed that the commonwealth delegations will vote en bloc against such a plan." It raised the question whether the British nations "were to be represented under the United States plan in the proportion of two to one to a nation of such relatively small international importance as Brazil." The Daily Mirror's headline read, "Britain Is 'Demoted' by U. S. Air Proposals."

LANDON CALLS F. D. R. FIZZLE IN A CAESAR'S ROLE

Charges He Blunders at Home and Abroad.

Oakland, Neb., Nov. 4 [Special].—Alf M. Landon, former Kansas governor and 1936 G. O. P. Presidential nominee, declared at a Republican rally tonight that President Roosevelt "has the ambition of a Caesar" but has "fizzled" in handling foreign affairs "the same as he has in domestic affairs."

Charging Roosevelt with foreign and domestic "blundering and ineptness," Landon listed what he called "contradictions that explain why there were 10 million unemployed under Roosevelt before the artificial boom of war time and why the New Deal again will not be able to solve unemployment when the war is over."

Promises That Failed.

"F. D. R. has ploughed under land in the middle west while he has made new irrigated land in the far west," said Landon. "He has set up laws to hamper private enterprise and still promises 60 million jobs. He promised 60 million jobs but by 1939, after six years, he was able to provide few over 40 million jobs.

"In Chicago Saturday night, he promised to treble world markets but also he has promised to hold American prices above world prices."

Landon said the President "did a lot of talking about coöperation in Chicago but the record is an endless war with congress, the Supreme court, business, and the newspapers. That constant antagonism destroyed any hope of his pump priming.

"He promised sound policy in finance but has provided 11 years of deficit financing. He promised to cut expenses 25 per cent but increased expenses 2,500 per cent.

Series of Regulations.

"He talked about confidence and trust in the American people to regulate themselves in the war but he has set up a tremendous series of regulations. He pointed out the danger of inflation but permitted Leon Henderson [former head of the OPA] and others to scare the people about shortages, which resulted in hoarding, scarcities and inflated prices."

The Kansan said Roosevelt "promised 'again and again and again' to keep the boys out of war but where are the boys now? He said in the 1940 campaign that we would have a new President after four years. He has the ambition of a Caesar."

Turning to Roosevelt war promises, Landon said "he claims to be indispensable in foreign negotiations but the record shows he guessed wrong on France, De Gaulle, and the Japs.

Charges He Prolonged War.

"China is the latest demonstration of the blundering and ineptness of this one man diplomatic system," said Landon. "That, along with Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau's ghastly plan [to wreck Germany and reduce her to an agricultural nation] has prolonged the war many months and cost many thousands of needless casualties.

"He claims credit for naval victories in the Pacific but for the great defeat at Pearl Harbor he not only puts the blame on Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short but refuses them a fair and open trial."

Landon said Roosevelt "claims he is the only man to deal with Premier Stalin of Russia but he has yielded to Stalin on every issue of the peace. He says there are no secret agreements, but he and his supporters say he is the only man who knows enough about foreign arrangements to conduct foreign policy after the war."

The Kansan asserted the President disavowed "communist support but his candidate for Vice President, Sen. Truman, said in San Francisco that he welcomed the support of Earl Browder. Thus the Red Star hangs over the White House."

F. D. R. AND WIFE MADE ELIGIBLE FOR U. S. PENSION

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt, his son James, and perhaps Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt have been provided the means to obtain pensions thru the President's use of his office, it was charged today by Sen. Willis [R., Ind.].

Mr. Roosevelt is eligible to a pension of $20,000 a year, Willis said in a public statement, thru the same joker provision under which the Roosevelt administration is paying pensions to congressional lame duck New Dealers in defiance of the house ban on pensions for its members.

Willis said Mr. Roosevelt is the first President in history eligible to benefits provided by his own official action. This action was signing public law 411, an amendment to the civil service retirement act.

$20,000 a Year for Life.

If Mr. Roosevelt should be defeated in the forthcoming election, Willis said, he need only accept an appointive job for 30 days, as the congressional lame ducks have done, pay the necessary arrears into the retirement fund, and begin collecting a life pension of $20,000 a year.

Or, Willis explained, Mr. Roosevelt can ask a pension under the joint survivor's benefit plan and he and Mrs. Roosevelt can each draw $10,000 a year for the rest of their lives.

Such payments could be made on the basis of Mr. Roosevelt's years as a public pay roller, Willis said.

Wife Probably Can Collect.

"Then," Willis continued, "there is Mrs. Roosevelt's public employment. She did some traveling for the office of civilian defense, and there probably is some official basis upon which she can collect.

"That isn't all. Their son, Jimmy, is eligible for a pension since he served as assistant to the President and coördinator for independent establishments.

"Taken together with the fact that Mr. Roosevelt was a millionaire to begin with and never had to work for a living, it is apparent our Presidential family will not suffer financially thru the experience which has filled their pockets with money and opportunities to make more on the side.

Joker in the Law.

Elected officials were specifically barred from retirement benefits under the law which was approved Feb. 24, 1942, when the house reconsidered action under which its members would have been eligible to pensions.

But the joker came to light two months ago with the discovery by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE that lame duck New Deal congressmen were being rewarded with pensions.

The joker is this: Any person receiving a government administrative appointment [which he need keep only 30 days] may apply for a pension and be credited for all the years of government service previously rendered if his salary came from appropriated funds.

SEN. TRUMAN PLEADS FOR ROOSEVELT AT WORLD PEACE TABLE

Independence, Mo., Nov. 4 (AP).—Sen. Truman, Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, closed his nationwide campaign tour tonight with an appeal to voters in his home town to "send Franklin D. Roosevelt to the peace table."

"Ask yourselves if you want a man with no experience to sit at the peace table with Churchill, Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek," he said. "or do you want a man to represent you who can meet these leaders on equal terms, a man who knows these men, a man who has been a member of the team that is winning the war, who knows the innermost thoughts of his teammates, and who is determined to see that his own people gets the best deal?"

Truman said that under Roosevelt leadership America, by January of this year "had built more than one-third of all the merchant marine tonnage of the world," and enlarged the navy until it is larger than the world's other combined fleets.

PREDICT GREEN WILL LEAD G.O.P. TICKET IN STATE

Leaders of Both Parties Claim Victory.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Gov. Green, nominee for reëlection, will lead the Republican ticket in Tuesday's voting, as he did four years ago. Both he and Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for senator, will run ahead of Gov. Dewey, head of the national ticket. The total vote is expected to range between 4 million and 4,200,000 as compared with 4,241,278 in 1940.

These indications are yielded by straw votes, canvasses, and a final survey yesterday of the situation in Illinois. Sen. Lucas, up for reëlection, and State's Atty. Courtney, Democratic nominee for governor, are indicated as running behind President Roosevelt.

The battle at the polls is the old one between Chicago, home of the Democratic machine, and downstate Illinois, preponderantly Republican.

Republicans Gain Downstate.

All calculations show the state outside of Cook county, in rural areas and smaller cities and towns, more strongly Republican than in 1940, while in the coal mining regions and the downstate factory centers increased G. O. P. vote is indicated.

Registration this year has a more important bearing than usual on the voting and its total size. Population shifts due to the war are one imponderable. Total registration in the state is 4,561,410.

The notable increase has been 196,033 in Cook county, largely in war plant areas, over the 1940 registration. Latest figures show Cook county with a registration 380,350 greater than that of the 101 downstate counties. The latest lists show 2,470,880 registered in Cook county and 2,090,530 in the rest of the state.

City and Suburbs Register More.

Chicago itself has 2,031,011 registered, an all time high and an increase of 116,975 over the registration of 1940. The suburbs, or country towns of Cook county, have 79,058 more registrants than in 1940. The towns are predominantly Republican, Chicago is Democratic.

In the last three general elections—1938, 1940, and 1942—the Republicans marched up to the boundaries of Chicago with majorities over the Democrats that were overturned by the Chicago vote. The Democratic machine has lost considerable of its old power, as shown in the 1940 election, when Roosevelt carried the state by 102,000 out of 4,241,000, and in the last mayoralty election. The Republicans this time control the state government and party organization has been built up.

G. O. P. Better Organized in 1944.

This time the Republicans are better organized in the precincts, where the drive is always to get the vote to the polls. This year, too, they appear to be as well financed as the Democratic machine.

THE TRIBUNE's poll today points to a plurality in Illinois for Gov. Dewey of 80,000 to 115,000. Its projections indicate Gov. Green will win by as high as 300,000, and Lyons for senator by 100,000 to 125,000. These figures, it is pointed, are subject to undetermined factors, such imponderables as the soldier vote, which may reach 250,000; the weather, which affects attendance at the polls, especially in rural places; the war population shift; the final blasts and arguments from speakers of both parties over the air and on the platform; the delivery strength of the Chicago machine, and its pressure exerted in the final days.

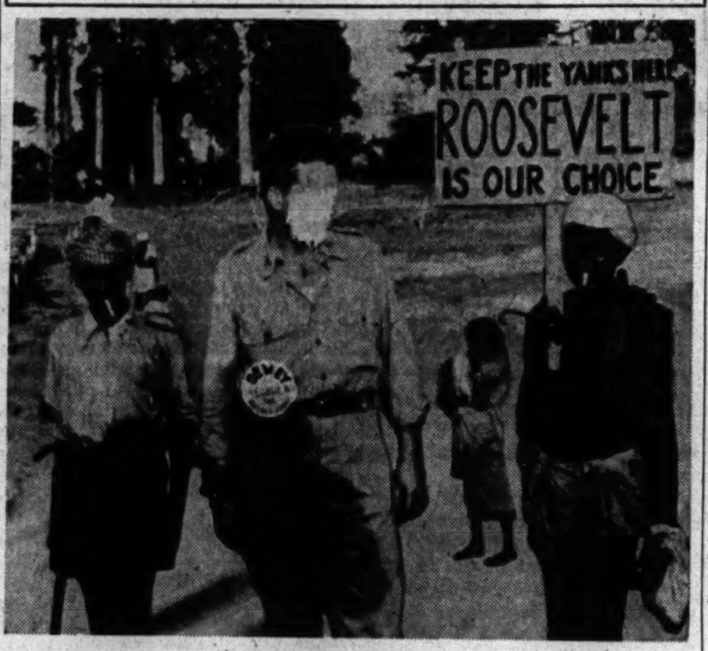
Democrats Put on Squeeze.

Four years ago, the squeeze applied by the Democratic machine in Chicago, East St. Louis, Peoria, and Rock Island in the final days carried Illinois for Roosevelt with 51.1 per cent of the total Republican and Democratic vote.

Both rival party headquarters put out their claims yesterday. Werner Schroeder, Republican national committeeman, forecast Dewey and Bricker will win the state by at least 250,000 majority, and the entire G. O. P. state and congressional ticket will win, Gov. Green topping the ticket. John F. Tyrrell, Republican state chairman, predicted Gov. Green will come to the Cook county line 400,000 votes ahead, and Cook county will add to his total. He forecast Dewey and the entire ticket would be well up in the top brackets.

Democratic chiefs estimated that Roosevelt would carry Illinois by a "substantially larger" margin than his 102,694 plurality in 1940. Sen. Lucas and Courtney, they held, would travel right along with the national ticket.

Yank Campaigns for Dewey in India



Picture received by Rep. Clare Hoffman (R., Mich.), showing American officer (center) campaigning in India for Gov. Dewey for President. Indian (right) carries sign emphasizing campaign charge that Roosevelt administration intends to alleviate domestic job problems after war by keeping many Yanks abroad. Officer's face is blocked out, Rep. Hoffman said, "for the very good and obvious reason that he doesn't want pressure to be used against him."

Fears Reprisal

Three Rivers, Mich., Nov. 4 [Special].—Rep. Clare Hoffman [R., Mich.] speaking here tonight in his campaign for reëlection declared that "never since the days of Valley Forge has the future of our nation seemed so dark."

"Our nation since its birth has placed its trust in God, believed in and practiced the principles of Christianity, and of freedom and justice, as laid down in the Constitution," Hoffman said. "In this election lies the issue—Christianity under the Constitution or atheism under communism.

"While our boys are suffering and dying to give the four freedoms to people all over the world, here at home on Tuesday will be decided the fate of our nation—whether it shall go to the left down the broad and easy road that leads to national destruction, or take the straight and narrow path to national salvation."

Hoffman displayed to the audience a photograph sent him by an American officer in India illustrating what was termed the New Deal idea of keeping soldiers abroad after the war. The officer's face is blocked out, Hoffman said, "for the obvious reason that he does not want pressure used against him as it might be if it were known that he sent it on."

YANKS TO HEAR ELECTION RESULT A LITTLE LATE

U. S. 3D ARMY HDQ., France, Nov. 4 (AP).—Most of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d army soldiers will be asleep while the home folks are getting the returns from the Presidential election Tuesday, but they will get the reports by radio and army news sheets with their breakfast Wednesday.

Interest in the outcome does not appear to be intense, either along the static front or among rear echelons, but tens of thousands of soldier votes have been cast.

The percentage of soldiers voting ranges from 20 per cent in the 5th division, which has been overseas for three years, to around 60 per cent in the 4th armored division, which has not been away so long and has kept up better with home issues.

Returns in Italy.

ROME, Nov. 4 (AP).—American soldiers on the Italian front, more concerned with keeping warm than with the Presidential election, will get the returns Wednesday by troop newspapers and radios which are all set to get the news to them in a hurry.

The army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, plans an extra and has asked for facilities to fly copies to the front.

The voting officer of a division which bore the main burden in the drive toward Bologna estimated that 30 per cent of his men had cast ballots. Voting has been light among all the troops in Italy.

CLOSE ELECTION BATTLE ROARS TOWARD FINISH

Three Eastern States May Decide Winner.

man to be a patriot must be a war monger."

Walsh said that Truman had virtually invited the majority of the Democratic party to "take a walk" in this election and he himself declined to do any active campaigning, tho he said he would support the ticket. Democrats deplored Truman's "boner" which they likened to the Rev. Samuel Burchard's "rum, Romanism and rebellion" fling at Grover Cleveland that was said to have cost James G. Blaine the Presidency in 1884.

Cold to 4th Term.

Even before this incident the Irish Catholics, the most important group politically in Massachusetts, and other Catholics elsewhere were known to be cold to the fourth term, largely because of the New Deal alliance with Earl Browder's Communists and Sidney Hillman's communist dominated CIO political action committee. Catholics are long standing foes of Communism, abhorring its atheistic tenets and resenting communistic Russia's warfare on their church.

Alarmed by the defection of Catholic Democrats Mr. Roosevelt has striven mightily but in vain to get prominent Catholics including members of the Church hierarchy to declare for the fourth term. In this effort he called to the White House Joseph P. Kennedy of Boston, former American ambassador to Great Britain, and a Catholic leader, but to no avail. His speech in Boston last night was designed to be Mr. Roosevelt's final effort to save Massachusetts to his cause and get the Catholic Democrats generally back on the party reservation.

Pennsylvania is the outstanding enigma of the election. Impartial observers refuse to hazard a prediction which way it will go.

It is entirely possible that the election will be decided by the soldier vote in states in which a candidate receives a slender plurality of the civilian vote or at least that the result will not be definitely known until the soldier vote is canvassed.

Exceeds 1940 Pluralities.

There are 16 states in which the estimated soldier vote exceeds the 1940 pluralities—Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

The soldier vote might reverse the civilian plurality but the expectation is that voters in the army and navy will divide just about as civilians do, in which event their votes would not change the result indicated by the civilian vote.

There have been only two tests of soldier voting. In North Dakota Sen. Nye [R.] won the civilian plurality in the primary, which was slightly increased by the soldier vote. In the Maine state election in September civilians voted 2 to 1, soldiers and sailors 4 to 1, Republican.

There are eight states, however, in which the result, in the event of a close vote, will not be definitely known for several days or weeks after the election when the canvass of soldier ballots will be completed.

Pivotal State.

These states are Pennsylvania, California, Colorado, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Rhode Island and Washington. If Pennsylvania should be the pivotal state and the result of the civilian voting close the winner of the election would not be known till the conclusion of the count of soldier votes which will not begin until Nov. 22.

Missouri will begin the canvass of soldier votes Nov. 10, California Nov. 24, Nebraska Nov. 13, Colorado Nov. 22, Washington Nov. 27, Rhode Island Dec. 5, while North Dakota will not complete tabulation till Dec. 5.

Also not to be overlooked is the possibility that Mr. Roosevelt will receive only four electoral votes in Mississippi, five of the electors having declared that, if elected, they will vote for Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], in accord with the instructions of the Democratic state convention. If as a result of these and perhaps a few other anti-Roosevelt southern votes Mr. Roosevelt should fail of election by the electoral college the election would be thrown into the house.

Balloting by States.

With the new house Republican Gov. Dewey presumably would be elected, tho with the balloting by states it might be deadlocked, as in the present house with 23 states Republican, 22 states Democratic and 3 tied, 25 being necessary to a choice.

The election which will mold the course of American history for decades to come will be a great battle between the Democratic machines and radical labor of the large cities favoring Mr. Roosevelt pitted against the farmers and business men of the villages and small cities overwhelmingly supporting Mr. Dewey.

Ideologically it is a struggle between the farmers and other traditional individualists on the one hand who hold with Dewey for a private enterprise system in which every one has a fair chance to make the most of his ability to "get ahead in the world" and on the other the collectivists who believe with Mr. Roosevelt that the American economy is mature and that it only remains to divide up what is left, with government owning more and more the means of production, as in communist Russia.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Views.

The issue is joined between Dewey's philosophy of private enterprise for profit and the New Deal conception, stated by Mrs. Roosevelt, that in the revolution now in progress, "you may lose everything you have put away in the safe deposit box, but if you can work and produce with your hands or with your head you will have wealth."

The Communists, whose ultimate aim is the overthrow of our democratic form of government and the establishment of a totalitarian system like Russia's, have become a formidable force in this election, far beyond their numbers, by pursuing their policy of boring from within. Following the Teheran conference in which Mr. Roosevelt tacitly agreed to Stalin's annexation of half of Poland and sovietization of the remainder, Browder, whom Mr. Roosevelt had freed from prison, hailed the result as a great Russian diplomatic victory, dissolved the Communist party in America and declared for the fourth term.

Browder and his Communists bored into the American Labor party, got control and placed Hillman in charge. That made the Communists as necessary to Mr. Roosevelt as he to them, for New York might be essential to his reëlection and he could not hope to carry New York without the American Labor party's 400,000 votes, as in 1940. That was the reason Dewey's attack never brought from Mr. Roosevelt more than a "soft disavowal" of communist support, which offended neither Browder nor Hillman.

Bore Into CIO.

Browder and his Communists also bored into the CIO, got control and placed Hillman in charge of the political action committee. Hillman became the big boss of the fourth term drive, with his political action committee getting millions of voters registered in the industrial centers, raising a huge campaign fund and otherwise overshadowing the Democratic national committee. By the time of the Chicago convention it had become necessary for Mr. Roosevelt to "clear everything with Sidney," and the Vice Presidential nomination was cleared with Hillman, who rejected "Assistant President" Byrnes and Sen. Barkley and approved Sen. Truman.

Browder and his Communists are now boring into the Democratic party with the object of getting control and placing Hillman in charge. If Mr. Roosevelt should be reëlected they will be in a position to complete their appropriation of the party. Hillman is their candidate for secretary of labor.

The bulwark of Mr. Roosevelt's strength is the big city machines, such as Mayor Kelly's in Chicago, Boss Frank Hague's in New Jersey, that of Tammany, Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn and Frank Kelly in New York City, and the Democratic organizations in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, San Francisco and Los Angeles, all working hand in glove with Hillman's PAC.

Formidable Reaction.

Formidable as is this combination the reaction against it appears to be no less formidable. The spectacle of the ascendancy of the communist element in the Democratic party and the Roosevelt administration aroused apprehension particularly in rural constituencies of the establishment of totalitarian government under a fourth term. The farmers, already disgusted with New Deal repression and regimentation, were soon disclosed to be more strongly and numerously Republican than ever before.

The registration activity of the PAC for Roosevelt spurred a corresponding effort for Dewey, most potently promoted in the 26 states in which there are now Republican governors and Republican jobholders to whose interest it is to get out the Republican vote. If they succeed in getting the rural and small town vote pretty fully polled Dewey will be elected hands down, for these 26 Republican states represent an overwhelming majority of electoral votes.

The farmers, however, are not the only ones aroused by the plans to establish a totalitarian labor dictatorship under which a man must join a union to get a job, must contribute to the Roosevelt campaign fund on pain of being expelled from the union and then discharged from his job, under the maintenance of membership clause the administration has compelled employers to sign.

Dewey Support in AFL.

The apprehension of government domination by the CIO under this PAC dictatorship plan has alienated the more conservative element of the AFL, 40 per cent of whose members, it is estimated, are supporting Dewey. Even some of the CIO members are in revolt against this form of coercion, intending to vote for Dewey and wearing Dewey buttons in some factories.

At the campaign ends the President, the Democrats and the PAC are emphasizing the argument that Mr. Roosevelt is responsible for the successful conduct of the war since Pearl Harbor, over which disaster they lightly skip, and that he is best qualified to finish the job and erect a post-war peace structure. They count on the support of many Republicans opposed to swapping horses while crossing a stream.

At the same time the Democratic party is split wide open on the New Deal and the fourth term. The dissidents are organized in many states as "Democrats for Dewey." Many Democrats, apprehensive of the state of Mr. Roosevelt's health, have been alienated by the thought of Truman possibly succeeding to the Presidency during a fourth term. Others have been affected by the increasing number of affidavits that Truman was a member of the Ku Klux Klan, tho Truman has denied the charge.

Concern to Democrats.

Defections of religious and nationality groups from Mr. Roosevelt have caused great concern to the Democratic managers. The most serious is that of the Irish Catholics. Apparently voters of Italian extraction are going to register dissatisfaction with Mr. Roosevelt by plumping for Dewey. Their grievance is that the Italians are still being treated as enemies by the allies and that Mr. Roosevelt has aided and abetted the extension of British domination over Italy.

Polish-Americans in large numbers also have been alienated from Mr. Roosevelt by his failure to use his influence with Stalin, thru lend-lease or otherwise, to save Poland from the Communists. Mr. Roosevelt, on the other hand, still holds the Jewish vote pretty unanimously. In New York City where the population is 28 per cent Jewish the News poll showed 93 per cent for Roosevelt in Jewish districts. Despite Republican claims to the contrary it also appears that the Negroes are still overwhelmingly for the President.

51 Contribute

A group of printers employed in the composing room of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE yesterday contributed $84 toward Gov. Dewey's campaign expenses. The 51 men who made the spontaneous donations signed this declaration:

"We are confident Gov. Dewey as President will return to labor the rights of unhampered collective bargaining and we announce ourselves unalterably opposed to a system of 'who gets what, when, and why,' as now determined by a system of one man arbitration."

Clyde Ruppell, who handed the roll of bills to Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, said the money was raised within an hour by the men on one shift.

J. E. Graham and Sam H. Hatfield, other members of Chicago Typographical union, No. 16, accompanied Ruppell to Schroeder's office.

AUSTRALIA UNIONS PROTEST ADMIRAL'S REMARK ABOUT LABOR

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 4 [Reuter].—Union officials are strongly protesting against a reported statement made by Adm. Keyes at a civil reception in Brisbane on Thursday when he revealed that the Australian cruiser Australia, which was damaged in the Philippines, had been sent to an American Pacific island base for repairs. Keyes had added "this base works 24 hours daily instead of as in this country where labor and hours worked per day and the number of days weekly are controled by somebody of whom I have no knowledge."

ANTI-NEW DEAL REVOLT SIZZLES IN DEEP SOUTH

Three States Involved in Elector Fights.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Anti-New Deal revolts in the traditionally Democratic states of the south are blazing in the final days of the campaign.

Oklahoma, Texas, and Mississippi are involved in fights over Presidential electors. In Louisiana and Georgia old line Jeffersonians are striving to build up a protest vote against the Roosevelt-Truman ticket. der states, are rated doubtful.

Missouri and Kentucky, two border state, are rated doubtful.

Dewey Favored in Missouri.

In Missouri Gov. Dewey appears to be leading by a slight margin. In Kentucky President Roosevelt seems to have a lead on form, but Republicans say they are confident Dewey will carry the state by about 10,000.

A short summary of states in which the revolt is most active follows:

OKLAHOMA — Indications are that Dewey will carry this state with its 10 electors, tho both sides look for a close race. Three national poll services term it a doubtful state.

Elected G. O. P. Senator.

Oklahoma is the state where the southern uprising against the New Deal had its genesis more than two years ago. It assumed such proportions then that E. H. Moore, Tulsa, a dyed-in-the-wool Jeffersonian Democrat, was elected as a Republican senator.

Moore ran Sen. Josh Lee, prophet of the New Deal, off the reservation and became the third Republican elected to the senate since Oklahoma became a state in 1907.

The Democratic party is split wide open. Two former Democratic governors, Leon C. Phillips and W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray, are out for Dewey.

Tulsa Elects Republican.

Northern Oklahoma is headed toward the Republican corral, and the rest of the state is uncertain. Tulsa last spring elected a Republican mayor for the first time in 16 years.

Dewey's Oklahoma City speech made a deep impression in this state and in adjoining Texas.

Sen. Thomas, a Democrat, who is seeking a fourth term, is being given hard opposition by W. J. Otjen, an Enid lawyer who was defeated for governor by Gov. Kerr two years ago by 16,000 votes out of 377,000.

MISSISSIPPI—The anti-New Deal revolt in Mississippi has produced a situation that might result in the election of a mixed slate of electors. The state legislature, called in special session, named five new Presidential electors to replace five electors on the regular Democratic slate who had said they would vote for Sen. Byrd of Virginia for President.

Regular Slate Remains.

The new slate, with five new electors and four original pro-Roosevelt electors, will be printed on a supplemental ticket to be attached to the regular ballot. The regular Democratic slate, including the five anti-Roosevelt men, will remain on the regular ballot.

Anti-New Dealers assert they expect to elect four or five of the electors who have said they will vote in the electoral college for Byrd. Some 25,000 soldier and sailor ballots, which were cast on the original ballot, are not affected by the legislative action.

The regular Democratic state convention June 7, in revolt against the New Deal, freed all nine Presidential electors from voting for the national ticket if the Democratic national convention failed to restore the two-thirds rule for Presidential nomination or if it failed to take a racial stand favored by the south. It failed on both issues.

Furious Texas Battle.

TEXAS—The battle for Texas' 23 electoral votes is furious. Three main slates of electors are on the ballot—the Democratic [pro-Roosevelt], the Republican, and the Texas Regulars [anti-New Deal Democrats].

With opposition to President Roosevelt divided, it appears that the 4th term ticket will carry the state. The Regulars, however, dispute this.

Negotiations for a coalition between the Republicans and the Regulars failed, but the Regulars are striving to get Republicans to vote for the Regular slate.

In Houston Sen. O'Daniel, anti-New Deal Democrat, was a target for a bombardment of eggs and vegetables a few nights ago at a riotous meeting. O'Daniel charged the disturbance was arranged by "Communists, labor racketeers, and New Deal fellow travelers."

Division in Louisiana.

LOUISIANA—Gov. Sam Jones of Louisiana two years ago started a movement to reclaim the Democratic party from the New Deal, and Democrats here are split wide open. After a series of court battles, however, the New Dealers succeeded in keeping anti-fourth term electors off the November ballot and substituting a slate of 10 pro-Roosevelt electors.

The revolt is expected to increase the vote for Dewey and Bricker, but it would be a political miracle if the Democrats lost the state. Republicans polled about 14 per cent of the vote in 1940.

In the Chicago convention, Louisiana joined the revolt against the fourth term. Its 22 delegates voted for Byrd in the southern uprising, which cast 89 votes for the Virginian.

GEORGIA — Voting here will be be watched with interest as reflecting the extent of President Roosevelt's loss of popularity since 1940. The Republican Presidential ticket is on the ballot. The independent Democrats have no Presidential ticket, but have a fusion slate of 12 candidates for electors, six of whom are independent Republicans pledged to Dewey and six are uninstructed anti-New Deal Democrats.

The Democrats are reported the only group making an organized campaign. In 1940 Roosevelt polled 265,000 votes and Willkie 24,000.

OPA Enjoins Plumbing Firms; Damages Granted

Consent decrees for damages and injunctions restraining further violations of office of price administration regulations were entered yesterday by Federal Judge Walter J. LaBuy against the Max Gerber corporation, 2291 Milwaukee av., and the Manufacturers' Sales corporation, 2733 Belden av., both plumbing wholesalers. Damages of $1,133 were assessed against the Gerber company and of $3,867 against the other firm.

BROOKS ASSAILS LUCAS' ROLE IN VETS' VOTE GRAB

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 4 [Special].—Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] tonight assailed as a "brazen and sordid spectacle" the "Gestapo tactics" used by President Roosevelt, Mayor Kelly of Chicago, Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.], Earl Browder, and Sidney Hillman "to steal this election and to freeze themselves in permanent power."

Senator Brooks, speaking at a Republican rally in Love's park, attacked Mayor Kelly and Sen. Lucas for their part in engineering the recent transfer of Lt. Comdr. Edward F. McGinnis from the Pacific area as a navy voting officer "solely because he was a Republican."

"The brazen and sordid spectacle of having Boss Ed Kelly, thru the efforts of his errand boy, Scott Lucas, dictate what officers can and cannot administer the ballots sent to our soldier sons facing death for freedom shows the Gestapo tactics used by Roosevelt, Kelly, Lucas, Browder, and Hillman to steal this election," said Brooks.

One Day of Danger.

"Not one of these men, including Lucas, ever faced one day of danger in the defense of their families, their homes or their country. They are in a conspiracy to change and control America while they order the event whereby already over 475,000 of our gallant sons and daughters have been killed, wounded, or are missing in action to defend their beloved land."

"Comdr. McGinnis, who never held public office and is a veteran of two wars, was removed from his ballot assignment by Boss Kelly and Sen. Lucas because he is a Republican and would not coerce our men in the service to 'get votes for Roosevelt.'

"Apparently, the Republicans are good enough to fight and die for their country, but only those Republicans who will sell their souls and 'get votes for Roosevelt' can serve in any other capacity."

The senator named four officers who, he said, were allowed by "Roosevelt, Kelly, Lucas, Browder, and Hillman" to handle soldier ballots.

Names Four Democrats.

He listed them as: "Lt. Comdr. Paul A. Dever, former Democratic attorney general of Massachusetts and a leading supporter of Candidate Roosevelt in the boss controled 1940 Democratic convention; Lt. John R. Fitzpatrick, former assistant attorney general of Massachusetts; Lt. James Langen, former Democratic member of the Boston city council, and Lt. Comdr. Tom Jones, Democratic secretary of state of Maryland, now on leave for military service."

He said all of them "were active Democrats and were Democratic office holders granted commissions in the navy."

OBSERVERS SEE A PHOTO FINISH IN COUNTY RACE

G. O. P.'s Principal Fight Is Against Machine.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Cook county's closest political race in the 16 years since Republicans last won is forecast for Tuesday's election.

There may be a photo finish. If Republicans win, as many of them are confident of doing, it will be by virtue of the suburban vote. In this event their victory will not become known until late election night because returns from the country towns are slowest to come in.

Dempsey-Tuohy Race Hot.

Top contest is for state's attorney between John T. Dempsey, Republican, and William J. Tuohy, Democrat. Close to it in interest, and perhaps in results, will be the battle between Leo Carr of the G. O. P. and Michael F. Mulcahy for the sheriff's office, which the latter acquired thru a death vacancy.

Other county contests are expected to follow those of the topnotchers to a considerable extent. Some of the in-office Democrats may benefit from the Republican concentration on state's attorney and sheriff, altho suffering somewhat from the fact that Dempsey and Carr have campaigned against the Kelly machine rather than Tuohy and Mulcahy.

Dempsey is making what G. O. P. leaders say is the best county campaign they have ever watched. Voters have seen his lean face and blond hair in newspapers, and on billboards carefully designed to set them apart from the mine run political plasters. If not, they have seen him in street car, "L," and bus cards. They have heard his voice during a long series of radio shorts.

Hits Kelly Bossism.

Kelly bossism in general and its effects upon the public schools in particular have been Dempsey's main theme. When the scope of his campaign was questioned by Touhy, whose name Dempsey shuns, the G. O. P. contender did some brisk in-fighting with Kelly about the sources of the machine revenues.

Whatever the result in votes, Dempsey's tactics compelled Touhy to abandon his calm and dignified talks about his experience as head of the civil division under State's Atty. Courtney. Touhy recently began to hurl verbal brickbats at Dempsey.

Touhy charged that Dempsey is spending $250,000, that he has sought "cheap publicity," and that as assistant state's attorney during the '20s, the G. O. P. challenger won prison sentences for only eight out of 154 defendants. Dempsey immediately countered by saying the machine was now desperate and the public must expect smears.

Blasts Syndicated Crime.

Carr has specialized in lambasting the politico-criminal syndicate. Organized gambling is organized murder and corruption, he said. He likewise aimed most of his shafts at Kelly and contended that Sheriff Mulcahy is Kelly's errand boy. Mulcahy has been content to dwell on his own record in the sheriff's office, defying the G. O. P. to show any wrong doing.

Herbert G. Immenhausen, running for Appellate court clerk, holds top spot in the Republican column as far as county-wide office is concerned. Barely edged off the Municipal bench in the Democratic landslide of 1932, Immenhausen is well known for his boys' welfare work. Sheldon W. Govier is the Democratic incumbent, with a long and successful career in politics.

The Republican county chairman, George M. Fisher, yesterday said the G. O. P. county ticket will win in a total vote of about two million. Mayor Kelly, Democratic county chairman, limited his predictions to Chicago, which he said Tuohy and his team mates will carry by 349,000 in a vote of 1,800,000.

KELLY MACHINE COURT TRICKERY BARED BY FILPI

The Municipal court's traffic branch is "one of the chief fester points of city government," John A. Filpi, Republican nominee for Municipal court judge, asserted last night at a meeting of independent voters in the Belmont hotel, 3172 Sheridan rd.

"Traffic court offers the prime opportunity for Democratic judges to play the public both ways," said Filpi. "The 'stern' judge may suspend a dozen licenses at one court session and thereby reap the esteem and votes of many persons when the record is made public. But investigation will show that subsequent revocations of suspensions take place all too often in the privacy of the judge's chambers.

"The minimum amount of fine and cost are beyond the judge's discretion but a judge can eliminate them entirely if he so desires," said Filpi. "The Kelly judges are masters of such slick schemes."

COURT DELAYS RULING ON 24TH WARD CONTEST

A ruling on charges that 11 election judges and clerks of the 24th ward were in fact Democrats, altho they had been appointed as Republicans, was expected but not made yesterday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. The judge issued more than 5,000 credentials to poll watchers who will be on duty to look for any kind of fraud.

It was reported that the county judge probably would remove the judges and clerks, who had been challenged by Paul Rothenberg, Republican committeeman of the 24th ward.

Strong Democratic Ward.

The 24th ward is bossed by Arthur X. Elrod, Democratic committeeman, assisted by Samuel [Doc] Epstein, a former Republican. In the past, the ward has given Democrats majorities of 2,000 to 20,000

When the 11 judges and clerks were summoned before the board of election commissioners, several admitted they had Democratic affiliations. Rothenberg contended these affiliations were proved by the fact that Elrod and Epstein appeared to argue that these poll officials were "efficient."

Republican Charges Shift.

Rothenberg asserted that Chairman Harry Lipsky had been influenced to change his decision after he had approved and initialed a memorandum removing the 11. The ouster request had been filed by Commissioner Mabel Reinecke, Republican member, after Rothenberg challenged the political sympathies of the accused.

"Chairman Lipsky said he couldn't go along with me on the removal," Rothenberg said. "I understand some one talked to him after he initialed the removal order. It wasn't long after that when the Democrats tried to remove a Republican judge because 'she was not congenial."

Election officials disclosed they are investigating complaints that Ike Weil, a bailiff, Democratic politician, and brother of Joseph [Yellow Kid] Weil, a confidence man, was colonizing 12 to 14 votes in his apartment at 5142 Greenwood av.

U. S. Lend-Lease Tanks Help Poles to Take Breda

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—The Polish 1st armored division, which captured Breda this week in the allies' battle for Antwerp, is equipped with American lend-lease Sherman tanks. The foreign economic administration, disclosing this tonight, said the nucleus of this division was one of the only two motorized brigades Poland had five years ago.

F. D. R. INDICTED BY SMITH IN '36 FOR HATE SEEDS

Readers who heard President Roosevelt praise the memory of the late Al Smith last night in his speech decrying "attempts to stimulate in America racial or religious intolerance" asked THE TRIBUNE to recall Smith's indictment of the President's administration.

In 1936, in his famous "take a walk speech," Smith said:

". . . I indict this administration for inviting into its inner councils radical advisers without experience, balance or responsibility. I indict the President for his failure to repudiate the crazy doctrines of those who not only preach the economic revolution, but who actually announce that the great day is here.

"If he does not agree with them, why does he have them around him? Why does he give them power and place? Why does he let them experiment on a huge scale with the people's money, and why does he let them go up and down the country speaking for the administration and scattering the seeds of doubt, hatred, and discontent?"

Smith listed this as No. 6 of the 10 counts in his indictment of President Roosevelt.

EX-AID CHARGES" REDS NOW RULE BIG CIO UNION

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP).—Fifteen executive officers of the CIO United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers of America were described in a suit filed in Common Pleas court here today as "Communist conspirators" whose aim is "to destroy the American system of free enterprise and set up a communistic dictatorship."

The suit was filed by Harry Alan Sherman, business agent for the union, who was ousted from the union by the executive board in March, 1943, for what he said was "openly opposing the communistic activities of the officers." Sherman's suit seeks his reinstatement.

Sherman said the defendants in the suit "conspired, confederated, and agreed together to achieve complete and absolute control" of the CIO thru controled delegates to the conventions and "affiliated labor organizations which are now under complete control of the said Communist conspirators."

Sherman charged the officers have perverted the purpose of the union without knowledge or consent of its membership of 800,000 "into an instrument of revolution." He said they have "threatened death" to those who oppose them.

Peorian Wins D. S. C. for Tricking 30 Jap Planes

EIGHTH AIR FORCE HDQ., England, Nov. 4 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Carl Spaatz today presented the distinguished service cross to Lt. William J. Kemp, East Peoria, Ill., for feinting an engagement with a formation of 30 enemy aircraft seeking to attack a friendly bomber formation, altho he was wounded and completely out of ammunition. The enemy was dispersed.

PLOT TO 'PANIC' VOTERS CHARGED BY ROOSEVELT

Speaks in 3 New England Cities During Tour.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4.—En route to Boston today for his final campaign address, President Roosevelt delivered three train platform speeches in which he repeated the theme that the Republican opposition was attempting to panic the American people thru a "campaign of fear."

At Bridgeport and Hartford, Conn., and at Springfield, Mass., Mr. Roosevelt addressed crowds which gathered around the rear end of his special train. The gatherings were not as large or as enthusiastic as those which greeted him in 1940 and the audience of 10,000 at the insurance center of Hartford was almost frigid in its reception of his words.

The crowd at Springfield, however, lacked neither numbers nor enthusiasm. The President was given a tumultuous reception there.

Asks for Hand, Gets None.

A ringing declaration that "your insurance policies and your savings are as safe as they ever were in the history of the United States," evoked little response at Hartford. After asserting his administration had averted inflation and kept down the cost of living for those with fixed wages, he finished his talk in moster of ceremonies vein by urging the crowd to "give a hand to the white collar workers." He paused expectantly but not a hand clap was heard.

The President canceled at the last moment plans to leave the train and speak at a bandstand in a park. He delivered all three speeches while standing with his arms braced against a special stand on the rear platform.

At Bridgeport, in the home district of Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, whose verbal barbs have incensed New Dealers, Mr. Roosevelt remarked with a note of bitterness that there are "a few politicians—men and women—who work themselves into such an emotional state that they say things I hope they will be sorry for before they die."

Mrs. Luce's Democratic opponent for a seat in the house, Miss Margaret E. Connors, stood beside the President as he pointedly expressed the hope that "very soon after Jan. 1, I hope Mrs. Roosevelt and I will have a call in the White House from the charming lady on my right."

He's "Tremendously Amused."

On Wednesday night Gov. Dewey charged that the Roosevelt administration had formed a "cynical alliance" with the Communists of the United States.

"You see it and then you don't see it," the President continued. "One candidate says one thing and in another place, simultaneously, another candidate says another thing.

"I get tremendously amused by this, not all of it, because I wish in a way I were back in 1910 when I was running for the state senate in New York, and I had a particularly disagreeable opponent and he called me names.

"Well, I wasn't anything in those days—I wasn't President and I answered him in kind. And the names I called him were worse than the names that he called me. So we had a very joyous campaign."

The President recalled, as he has in previous speeches, that this is the first Presidential election held in war times since the days of Lincoln. He said he hoped Bridgeport would never be called on again "while we are alive" to make munitions in a world war.

In the war industry city of Springfield the President confined his remarks to the war.

"It has been four years — four eventful, stirring years, since you gave me the last mandate in an election," he said.

"For many American homes, they have been years of personal heartbreak and tragedy about which any words that I could say would be idle.

"Yet, even for them, I should say, for them above all, there is the proud sense that America has come greatly thru a dark and dangerous time, that the ship of state is sturdy and safe.

"But — we are going to remain prepared. This time we are not going to scuttle our strength."

DEWEY PICTURE BRINGS REPLY: A 15 POUND ROCK

More complaints were turned in to police yesterday by irate citizens whose windows were smashed and their homes peppered with rocks, bricks, tomatoes, and garbage because they had pictures of Thomas E. Dewey, Republican nominee for President, on display.

Hurl 15 Pound Missile.

A 15 pound stone block was hurled thru a living room window and an enlarged picture of Dewey at the residence of Paul F. Rountree, 8325 Paxton av. The missile barely missed a service flag with one star in an adjoining window. The Rountrees have a son, Lt. Robert, 23, with the 1st army in Germany.

Neighbors reported seeing two men fleeing from the scene.

Other vandals pegged tomatoes thru a Dewey window at the home of Val O. Rettig, 1509 E. Marquette rd. The front of the home was splattered by tomatoes before the hoodlums finally found their target. In the same neighborhood back porches were littered with garbage and smeared with paint.

Two windows of his home in which Dewey pictures were hanging were smeared with black paint during the night, Robert Marino, 1520 E. 66th pl., reported to police yesterday.

Return to One Home.

A return call was paid by hoodlums who fired rocks thru a window Friday night at the home of Edith Ball Weber, 1303 E. 60th st., where another Dewey picture was hung. After the first visit Thursday night a broken window was replaced only to be shattered again.

Police were investigating complaints of threats and violence in the 42d ward. Robert Dutton of the Dutton Advertising agency said two of his employes putting up signs for John T. Dempsey, Republican candidate for state's attorney, were molested and their signs destroyed. Fred Smith, manager of a rooming house at 615 N. Wells st., said he was warned not to put up a Dewey picture in his window.

The epidemic of vandalism, which has persisted for nearly a week, appeared to be more concerted than in other election years when offenses were concentrated more generally on destruction, removal and defacing of display signs and posters in behalf of candidates.

WALSH REFUSES TO APPEAR AT PARK WITH F.D.R.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4 (AP).—Sen. Walsh [D., Mass.] took a train ride today with President Roosevelt, but was on his way home to Clinton, Mass., when the President addressed a Democratic rally in Fenway park here.

Boarding the President's special train in Worcester in the afternoon, Walsh said he was invited by the President to ride to Boston with him, and to sit on the platform at the rally.

"But," he said, "I'm going to ride on the train as far as Boston, and leave him there. I will not appear at the rally."

Earlier this week Walsh expressed resentment at Sen. Truman, Democratic nominee for Vice President, who said there was "no difference" between Walsh and "eight isolationist senators" whom Truman had asked Gov. Dewey to repudiate.

ARMED PAIR STEALS $50.

Two men, both carrying revolvers, held him up in his drug store at 4730 N. Drake av. and robbed him of $50, Moe Oren told police yesterday.

PARTY SELL-OUT TO REDS DENIED BY ROOSEVELT

Says Dewey Lacks Faith in Democracy.

"This is not my first visit to Boston. I shall not review all my previous visits. I should have to go on talking for several days to do that—and radio time costs a lot of money.

"But I want to recall one visit, back in October, 1928, when I came here to urge you to vote for a great American named Al Smith.

"And you did vote for that eternally "Happy Warrior."

"The commonwealth of Massachusetts—and your good neighbor, Rhode Island—went Democratic in 1928—four years before the rest of the nation did.

"This year—and I am making no predictions—this year we would like to welcome into the fold Maine and Vermont.

Health Question in 1928.

"And while I am speaking of that campaign of 1928, let me remind you that, having nominated Al Smith for the second time for the Presidency, I was then running at his request for the governorship of New York. And people were then—even then—saying that my health would not permit me to discharge the duties of public office.

"I think that it is by now a pretty well established fact that I managed to survive my four years as governor of New York.

"In this connection, in 1928 Al Smith remarked publicly that the governor of New York does not have to be an acrobat. And not many months before his untimely death, he remarked to me in my office in Washington:

"'It is perfectly evident you do not have to be an acrobat to be President either.'

"Menace to Liberties."

"When I talked here in Boston in 1928 I talked about racial and religious intolerance which was then—as it unfortunately still is—'a menace to the liberties of America.'

"And all the bigots were gunning for Al Smith.

"Religious intolerance, social intolerance and political intolerance have no place in our American life.

"Here in New England you have been fighting bigotry and intolerance for centuries. You know that all of our people—except pure-blooded Indians—are immigrants or descendants of immigrants, including even those who came here on the Mayflower.

All Fighting Together.

"Today, in this war, our fine boys are fighting magnificently all over the world and among those boys are the Murphys, and the Kellys, the Smiths and the Joneses, the Cohens, the Carusos, the Kowalskis, the Schultzes, the Olsens, the Swobodas, and—right in with all the rest of them—the Cabots and the Lowells.

"All of these and others like them are the life-blood of America. They are the hope of the world.

"It is our duty to them to make sure that, big as this country is, there is no room in it for racial or religious intolerance—and that there is no room for snobbery.

"Our young men and young women are fighting not only for their existence, and their homes and their families. They also are fighting for a country and a world where men and women of all races, colors, and creeds can live, work, speak, and worship—in peace, freedom and security.

"If we can shorten the war by one month—even by one minute—we shall have saved the lives of some of our young men and women. We must not let our comforts or conveniences, our politics or our prejudices, stand in the way of our determination to drive—to drive relentlessly and unflinchingly—over the hard road to final victory.

"You and I—all of us who are war workers—must stay on the job.'

War Far from Over.

"Altho victory over the Nazis and the Japanese is certain and inevitable—and I for one have never had one moment's doubt of our ultimate victory—the war is still far from over. There is tough, hard, and bloody fighting ahead of us.

"We got into this war because we were attacked by the Japanese—and because they and their axis partners, Hitler's Germany and Mussolini's Italy, declared war on us.

"I am sure any real American would have chosen, as this government did, to fight when our own soil was made the subject of a sneak attack. As for myself, under the same circumstances, I would choose to do the same thing—again and again and again.

"When our enemies flung the gage of battle at us, we elected to fight them in the American way, which meant that we went out after them—and we started punching—and we are still punching.

Tyrants Getting Groggier.

"One of the tyrants, Mussolini, has been knocked out. The others are getting groggier and groggier every day.

"And we are made happy by the fact that the Italian people—our long time friends—are started once again along the paths of freedom and peace.

"We were better prepared for this war than for any previous war in our history.

"On the day of Pearl Harbor we had more than 2 million men in our armed forces.

"Our war production, started a year and a half before, was rolling toward the gigantic volume of output that has been achieved.

"Our navy was building. Indeed, it had been building ever since 1933, when I first used PWA funds to start a naval building program—which included our first modern carriers. One of those carriers, authorized 10 years ago, was the Enterprise, a grand and gallant ship which has covered herself with glory all thru this war and was in there fighting last week in the great victory in the Philippine waters.

"And—in addition to our physical preparedness—we had something far more important—spiritual preparedness.

'Rose Up As One Man.'

"The American people were ready for it. On the day of Pearl Harbor they rose up as one man with a mighty shout—a shout heard 'round the world—"Let's go!"

"And we went!

"The average American citizen is doing some hard thinking these days about what sort of government he wants during the next four years.

"The memory of our people is not short. The years 1929 to 1933 are thoroly and grimly remembered by millions of our citizens—by workers who lost their jobs and their homes, by farmers who lost their crops and their farms, by families who lost their savings.

"Since those dark days early in 1933, many fortifications have been erected to protect the people of this country—just as we promised that there would be.

"These fortifications have provided protection for your bank deposits and your investments—your standard of living—your right to organize unions and to bargain collectively with your employers.

"They protect your soil and rivers and trees—your heritage of natural resources. They provide you with protection against the hazards of unemployment and old age—they protect you against inflation and runaway prices.

"Zealous Defenders."

"These fortifications are now manned by zealous defenders—and these defenders are not Communists and they are not fossils.

"Can the citizens of the nation now afford to turn over these bulwarks to the men who raised every possible obstacle to their original construction?

"Does the average American believe that those who fought tooth and nail against progressive legislation during the past 12 years can be trusted to cherish and preserve that legislation?

"Can it be that those who financed the bitter opposition to the New Deal have made an about face and are now willing and able to fight for the objectives of the New Deal?

Scoffs at Housecleaning.

"We have all heard Republican orators in this campaign call this administration everything under the sun and promise that they, if elected—and O, my friends, what a big "if" that is—if elected they would institute the biggest housecleaning in history.

"What a job that would be! It would mean, among other things, sweeping out with my administration the most efficient and the most patriotic Republicans that could be found in the whole country.

"But — despite these campaign promises of wholesale housecleaning—have you heard one word of specific criticism of any of the progressive laws that this administration has proposed and enacted?

"Have you heard any talk of sweeping out any of these laws—or sweeping out any of the agencies which administer these laws?

"O, no—on that subject the Republican politicians are very uncharacteristically silent.

Admits Mistakes.

"This administration has made mistakes. That I freely assert.

"But our mistakes have been honestly made during sincere efforts to help the great mass of citizens. Never have we made the inexcusable mistake of substituting talk for action when farms were being foreclosed, homes were being sold at auction, and people were standing in breadlines.

"I thank God that it cannot be charged that at any time, under any circumstances, have we made the mistake of forgetting our sacred obligation to the American people.

"And, I might add, never will we make that kind of mistake.

"Is it conceivable to you that this administration with its record of very deep concern for human welfare could ever be guilty of neglect of the welfare of our fighting men?

Jobs After the War.

"When your sons, and my sons, come home from the battle fronts—and they are coming home just as quickly as they are no longer needed for the essential job of this war—we are going to see that they have work—honest, self-respecting jobs.

"We are going to see to it that those of them seeking farms get a real chance to settle on land of their own.

"We are going to see to it that those who hope to establish businesses have a legitimate and fair opportunity to do so.

"The American people are quite competent to judge a political party which works both sides of the street—a party which has one candidate making campaign promises of all kinds of added government expenditures in the west while a running mate demands less government expenditures in the east.

Calls It "Funny Campaign."

"You know—just as an aside, and I think I can speak freely to my old friends here in Boston, this is really a funny campaign.

"I think I heard some campaign orator say that Secretary Hull and the rest of us had done such a fine job with the good neighbor policy and our plans for world peace—that it is time for a change.

"I believe I heard some campaign orator say that this "incompetent" administration had developed a program which was so good for the farmers and the businessmen and the workers of the nation—that it is time for a change.

"I think I heard some campaign orator say that we have so thoroly shifted the control over our banks from Wall street and State street to the capital of the United States—that it is time for a change.

"And I am quite sure I heard somebody say that this "chaotic" administration has done such an amazing job of war production—that it is time for a change.

"Well—if it is time for a change—the way to get it in this democracy is by means of votes. Whether I win or lose, I want to see a turnout next Tuesday of the biggest vote in our American history.

"And that means at least 50 million votes.

"We could not find a better way to tell our boys overseas that the country they are fighting for is still going strong.

"Just the other day you people here in Boston witnessed an amazing demonstration of talking out of both sides of the mouth.

"Speaking here in Boston, a Republican candidate said—and pardon me if I quote him correctly—he said that "the Communists are seizing control of the New Deal, thru which they aim to control the government of the United States."

"One Man Government.

"However, on that very same day that very same candidate had spoken in Worcester and he said that with Republican victory in November "we can end one man government, we can forever remove the threat of monarchy in the United States."

"Now, really—which is it—communism or monarchy?

"I do not think we could have both in this country, even if we wanted either—which we do not.

"We want neither Communism nor monarchy. We want to live under our Constitution—which has served pretty well for 155 years. If this were a banquet hall instead of a ball park, I would propose a toast that we will continue to live under it for another 155 years.

"I confess that often in this campaign, I have been tempted to speak my mind with sharper vigor and greater indignation.

"Everybody knows that I was reluctant to run for the Presidency again this year. But since the campaign has developed I tell you frankly that I have become most anxious to win—for the reason that never before in my lifetime has a campaign been filled with such misrepresentation, distortion, and falsehood. Never since 1928 have there been so many attempts to stimulate in America racial or religious intolerance.

'Shocking Lack of Faith.'

"When any political candidate stands up and says, solemnly, that there is danger that the government of the United States—your government—could be sold out to the communists—then I say that candidate reveals a shocking lack of trust in America.

"He reveals a shocking lack of faith in democracy—in the spiritual strength of our people.

"If ever there was a time in which the spiritual strength of our people was put to the test, that time was in the terrible depression of 1929 to 1933.

"Then our people might have turned to alien ideologies—like communism or fascism.

"But—our democratic faith was too sturdy. What the American people demanded in 1933 was not less democracy—but more democracy—and that is what they want.

"The American people proved in the black days of depression—as they have again proved in this war—that there is no chink in the armor of democracy.

"Nothing to Fear but Fear."

"On this subject—and on all subjects—I say to you, my friends, what I said when first you conferred upon me the exalted honor of the Presidency:

"'We have nothing to fear but fear itself.'

"And I do not think you will ever cast your votes for fearful men.

"We now face the enormous and complex problems of building with our allies a strong world structure of peace.

"In doing that historic job we shall be standing before a mighty bar of judgment—the judgment of all those who have fought and died in this war—the judgment of generations yet unborn—the very judgment of God.

"I believe that we Americans will want the peace to be built by men who have shown foresight rather than hindsight.

"Peace, no less than war, must offer a spirit of comradeship, a spirit of achievement, a spirit of unselfishness, and indomitable will to victory.

"We have waged war against the wilderness—against the mountains and the rivers—against the drouths and the storms. We have waged war against ignorance—against oppression—against intolerance.

"We have waged war against poverty—against disease.

War Interrupts Progress.

"We fought the Revolutionary war for the principle that all men are created equal—and in that war we pledged 'our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.'

"This war, which we are now fighting, has been an interruption in the story of our forward progress; but it also has opened a new chapter—a chapter which it is for us now living to begin.

"At the end of this war this country will have the greatest material power of any nation in the world.

"It will be a clean, shining America—richer than any other in skilled workers, engineers, farmers, business men, scientists.

"It will be an America in which there is a genuine partnership between the farmer and the worker and the business man—in which there are abundant jobs and an expanding economy of peace.

A World Awakened.

"And around us we see an unfinished world—a world of awakened people struggling to set themselves on the path of civilization—people struggling everywhere to achieve a higher cultural and material standard of living.

"I say we must wage the coming battle for America and for civilization on a scale worthy of the way we have unitedly waged the battles against tyranny and reaction and wage it thru all the difficulties and disappointments that may ever clog the wheels of progress.

"And I say we must wage it in association with the united nations with whom we have stood and fought—with the association ever growing.

"I say we must wage a peace to attract the highest hearts and the most competent hands and brains.

"That, my friends, is the conception I have of the meaning of total victory.

"And that conception is founded upon faith—faith in the unlimited destiny—the unconquerable spirit—of America."

WILLKIE GROUP URGES SUPPORT OF GOV. DEWEY

Portland, Ore., Nov. 4 (AP).—The executive committee of Wendell Willkie's 1944 campaign today urged Willkie's supporters to vote for Gov. Dewey for President.

A statement, released by Ralph Cake, Portland, Willkie's former campaign manager, said Dewey, "in an executive position second in importance only to that of President" has proved his ability to bring unity to the government.

"We sincerely believe his proven leadership in domestic matters and his definitely expressed policies on international affairs will more nearly achieve our objectives than the policies of the present outworn and disunited administration," the statement said.

SWEEPING STATE VICTORY SEEN BY G. O. P. LEADERS

Big Plurality for Dewey Predicted by Green.

BY GUY GENTRY.

Gov. Green headed a group of Republican leaders who yesterday predicted a sweeping party victory at the polls next Tuesday with the Dewey-Bricker plurality expected to exceed the 102,694 by which Roosevelt carried the state in 1940.

John F. Tyrrell, Republican state chairman, said Gov. Green would come to the Cook county line with a plurality of 400,000, and added that "Cook county will add to his total." George M. Fisher, Cook county chairman, echoed Tyrrell's prediction of a county victory for Republican candidates, and added an estimate of 2 million votes for the county.

Sees 250,000 Majority.

A state-wide majority of at least 250,000 votes for the entire Republican ticket was predicted by Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman.

"Reports from reliable sources, including party leaders, newspapers, and independent polls all indicate a sweeping Republican victory in Illinois," said Gov. Green. "The repudiation of the New Deal will be completed by the election of Richard J. Lyons to the United States senate and victory for every Republican congressional candidate downstate with the addition of several Cook county districts.

"Naturally I am pleased at the reports which unanimously forecast my re-election as governor. If we get out the vote and our watchers obtain an honest count the ticket headed by John T. Dempsey for State's attorney and Leo Carr for sheriff will be returned victorious."

Urges Big Turnout.

"Every believer in America and our Constitution should go to the polls," Tyrrell warned. "Failure to vote would be assisting the Communists, the political action committee and their breed in sneaking over their foreign 'isms.' Thruout the 102 counties of Illinois we are receiving daily reports of an increasing trend to the Republican party. The Republican workers and non-partisan poll watchers should be fully alert to prevent any fraud."

Fisher predicted that "next Tuesday will be a Republican victory day in Cook county." He added that "the forthright and vigorous campaign in which the Republican candidates have presented the principles and issues has won to us many former Democrats and independent voters." "The keen interest as demonstrated in the record breaking registration is indicative of the public seeking relief from Hillman and Browder, and the bosses," he said.

'JOE STALIN—I KNOW HIM WELL,' M'NUTT REVEALS

Paul McNutt, chairman of the war man power commission, knows Josef Stalin and Winston Churchill personally, he confided to a meeting sponsored by the Indiana 1st district Democratic organization in Hammond High school auditorium last night.

He urged reëlection of President Roosevelt, but devoted a large part of his speech to comment upon his own administration as former governor of Indiana.

He told his audience it "had to" reëlect Roosevelt in order to obtain a lasting peace, and an international world order based on the ideals of Woodrow Wilson.

COOPER FLUNKS NAVY V-12; SENT TO GREAT LAKES

The navy reported yesterday that Jackie Cooper, ex-film star, had flunked as a V-12 naval trainee at the University of Notre Dame and has been assigned to the Great Lakes naval training station as an apprentice seaman.

Cooper was found not guilty with two other defendants Oct. 3 at South Bend, Ind., of charges of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls as the upshot of a drinking party in July in a hotel there. The other members of the party were George Bender, 24, another trainee, and Miss Pauline Fredericks, 19, of South Bend.

TOO ILL TO TALK, LUCAS INFORMS ZION DEMOCRATS

Says Doctor Orders Him to Rest.

In a feverish campaign windup, Democratic ward meetings will be held today in the 1st, 7th, 33d, and 42d wards. Sen. Lucas and State's Atty. Courtney, nominee for governor, are scheduled to appear in the 42d ward, while Mayor Kelly probably will speak in the 1st ward.

However, Sen. Lucas failed to keep a speaking engagement at a meeting last night in Zion House at Zion, sponsored by the Democratic Voters' league of Zion. Theodore Ruesch, president of the league, read a telegram from Lucas stating that he had been ordered to bed by his physician. It could not be learned last night whether he will attend any of the ward meetings today.

Carlstrom O. K.'s Lucas.

An indication of intensive effort to keep control of county office patronage was the scheduling of meetings in the 7th ward, the home of Leo Carr, Republican nominee against Sheriff Mulcahy, and in the 33d, home of John T. Dempsey, Republican, who seeks to succeed Courtney as state's attorney.

Lucas picked up an indorsement, on global grounds only, from Oscar E. Carlstrom of Aledo, former attorney general who has been repudiated in recent Republican primaries and who got less than 14 per cent of the vote when he ran for governor last April. Carlstrom didn't criticize Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for senator.

"Altho a life long Republican, devoted to the sound principles which my party has advanced, I believe there come times when the public service and public welfare demand of us that we rise above narrow partisanship and vote our honest convictions," said the statement from Carlstrom.

Courtney Charges Deceit.

Courtney broadcast accusations that Gov. Green has practiced 'deceit." The prosecutor reviewed all the allegations he has made before downstate and Chicago audiences and addressed this remark to the governor: "Under your administration our state institutions have reeked with politics. And you are even playing politics with the state's schools and returning veterans."

William J. Tuohy, Democratic nominee for state's attorney, charged in a broadcast that Dempsey circulated thru an Italian American committee a pamphlet urging that the Republican be given split ballot help.

"My Republican opponent has conducted a lone wolf campaign from the very beginning," Tuohy said. "He has collected a huge campaign fund and spent it all on his own candidacy. He has been willing to sacrifice any and all of the other Republican candidates for office, including the party candidate for President and even his own political sponsor, the governor of Illinois

Stamford, Conn., Nov. 4 (AP).—An auxiliary policeman guarding President Roosevelt's special train was killed and another officer was injured today when struck by a train in a fog near the Stamford depot. Francis Carrigan, 40, was killed and Theodore Hartlett, 41, was injured.

DEWEY WILL PROVIDE A CHANCE FOR YOUTH, SAYS WINNING ESSAY

Mary Evelyn Good, 15, a sophomore in Hillsboro [Ill.] High school, has been adjudged winner of the students' essay contest sponsored by the Young Republican Organization of Illinois, on the theme, "Why Youth Favors Dewey for President." More than a thousand students thruout the state participated in the contest.

Miss Good's essay, which won a $100 war bond, declared that Thomas E. Dewey will bring the nation back to the American way of life, where youth may work and succeed. Second prize winner was Robert Turnbow, 229 S. Sycamore st., Centralia. Tied for third were John Parrish, 103 Payne av., Danville, and Muriel Barrett of New Holland.

All four prize winners will receive a free round trip to the Lincoln tomb at Springfield. Second prize was a $50 war bond, and the third prize winner each received a $25 war bond.

The contest was under the supervision of George Perrine of Aurora, director of Young Republican organization activities in Illinois. The essays were judged by a group of high school teachers and college professors.

Nazis Claim Capture of Czechs' Commander

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—The Germans declared tonight they had captured Gen. Rudolf Viest, commander in chief of Czechoslovak forces in Slovakia. A German broadcast said Viest and a Brig. Gen. Golian were taken during "mopping up" operations in central Slovakia. Czechoslovaks in London identified Golian as deputy commander in chief of guerrilla forces in Slovakia.

LYONS SETS QUIZ AS FINAL TEST TO DECIDE VOTE

"Have you been happy with Roosevelt?" was the question asked by Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for senator, in his final broadcast of the campaign last night over station W-G-N.

"The real issue of this campaign is how we shall restore prosperity and happiness to America after victory," Lyons declared. "Let every citizen before he votes Tuesday answer this question: Have you been happy under Roosevelt?

"Did you as a worker enjoy the leaf raking under relief of the New Deal's seven year depression?

"Did you as a farmer enjoy the regimentation and experimentation and the low prices for farm products of the New Deal regime?

Burocratic Rule Cited.

"Did you as a business man enjoy the taxation, the burocratic regulation, and the repeated denunciation and abuse from every corner of Washington?

"Do you want to entrust the future of our fighters of today—the veterans of tomorrow—to an administration which, after seven years of fumbling and bungling, had to have a World war to find jobs for its people?

"Do you want a national government that is obligated for its very existence to the big city bosses and the Communists and near-Communists who control the political action committee—an obligation based on the New Deal's sordid promise to grant special privilege and a voice in determining administration policies to those who helped pay for the election of a fourth term candidate?

G. O. P. Alternative Offered.

"Or do you want a return to constitutional government; a return to coöperation between the President and congress; an effort to bring together American industry, agriculture, and labor for their common advancement, a return to the system of private enterprise?"

Lyons charged his opponent—Sen. Lucas—"bore the stamp of approval of the fourth term candidate, of Harold Ickes and the burocrats of Washington" and is "the errand boy of Mayor Kelly and the tool of the Cook county machine."

BEGINS INQUIRY ON OPENING OF ARMY BALLOTS

Ralph Manuel, special agent for the United States senate committee investigating campaign expenditures, disclosed yesterday he is investigating the opening of 25 to 30 ballots from soldiers in England and the South Pacific before they had been received by the Du Page county clerk at Wheaton.

The ballots, resealed with scotch tape, did not bear evidence of censorship, Manuel said. It was suggested the ballots might have been loosened in transit, then resealed to conceal their contents.

PHONY BETTING ODDS REPORTED IN CIRCULATION

Harry A. Ash of the campaign headquarters of John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, said yesterday most announcements of betting odds in this campaign are phony. The Democrats have resorted to false announcements of odds in order to help their own candidates, Ash said. He was convinced Dempsey will win, Ash said, but "reports" of bets made always put Dempsey on the short end.

"There are reports that the big bosses, such as Boss Kelly of Chicago and Boss Hague of Jersey City, have lent their influence, and in some instances their friends' money, to a national plan to pretend that Rossevelt's chances of winning are better than Dewey's," Ash said.

"Stories are circulated that the odds are 3 to 1 or better against Dewey. This is done to discourage the Dewey supporters. We in the Dempsey camp know how desperate the Democrats are, and it is not strange they are resorting to a trick of psychology to win."

Nazis Use Piano Wire Trick on Western Front

WITH U. S. TROOPS ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Nov. 4 (AP).—The Germans are using on the western front the piano wire trick they first pulled on the Yanks in Italy. The wire is stretched tightly across roads at just the right height to decapitate American soldiers speeding by in jeeps.

THREE SEIZED AND IDENTIFIED AS HOLDUP MEN

Three men who admitted they paired up to commit two robberies on the South side were seized yesterday by Sgt. Steve Dunne and identified by their victims. Steve Sphehar, 19, of 10918 Hoxie av., and Eli Vuletich, 23, of 10618 Torrence av., were identified by Jack Anderson, Proctor, Minn., and Sam Leonardi, Cleveland, O., as the men who robbed them of $75. Spehar and Peter Markovich, 32, of 10044 Commercial av., third man in custody, were identified by George Behun as the two who robbed him of $40 in a gasoline station at 10335 Indianapolis blvd.

EXPERTS ADVISE CARE IN MARKING BALLOT TUESDAY

Tell How to Make Sure It Will Be Legal.

To speed the balloting at Tuesday's election, and to keep at a minimum the number of ballots that will be thrown out because of improper marking, election law experts yesterday reviewed the regulations for casting ballots.

In answer to many inquiries, it was pointed out that voters may select candidates of either party regardless of the way they voted in the April primary. Names of all the candidates are printed on one ballot.

Another question that has been asked is whether a person may vote for the Presidential candidate of one party and the Vice President of another. This is prohibited and attempts to mark the ballot in such a way will spoil it. The Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates of each party are coupled with a bracket on the ballot, and there is only one square for the voter's cross.

Ink May Blot Ballot.

Actual marking of the ballot may be done either with pencil or pen, but caution is urged if ink is used. The ballot should be blotted carefully before it is folded to prevent ink marks which may invalidate it.

Crosses, which are illustrated in statutes with the letter "X," should be made carefully. Check marks or any other marks must not be used. The two lines of the cross must intersect within the square or circle, not outside it. No erasures are permitted.

Voters were reminded that if a ballot is blotted with ink or otherwise spoiled in marking, it should be folded and returned to the election judge for a new one.

How to Vote Straight.

Straight tickets may be voted in one of three ways. The simplest is to place a cross in the party circle at the top of the ballot. This gives a vote to every candidate on that ticket. The second way is to disregard the party circle and to place a cross in the square before the name of each candidate in the party column.

The third method is to place a cross in the party circle and then go down the list and place a cross in the square before each candidate's name. Many election authorities consider this the best protection against subsequent fraudulent markings and against errors.

Split Ticket Method.

To vote a split ticket, the voter will follow a safe method if he puts crosses in the squares before the names of all candidates of his choice. An easier way is to put a cross in the party circle at the top of one column and then to place a cross in the square before the name of any candidate in another column for whom he wishes to vote.

Before leaving the booth, the voter should fold his ballot so the initials of the election judge are visible. He then hands the ballot to the judge at the ballot box. No one but the judges are permitted to put the ballots in the box, but voters are advised to stand by until they see the ballots disappear thru the slot.

PREDICT NORMAL FALL WEATHER IN U. S. TUESDAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—The weather bureau said today election day weather is not likely to be severe eonugh in any locality to keep voters home. Its forecast:

"The outlook for election day is for fair, dry weather thruout the eastern and southeastern states with rather cold temperatures for early November, except in the south, where it will be mild.

"Rain or snow is indicated in the interior of the country from the Mississippi valley to the Rockies, where snow flurries will occur. Temperatures are not expected to be far from normal for early November in the middle of the country.

"Fair weather will prevail in the Pacific states except for some rain in western Oregon and western Washington."

ABSENTEE VOTE ENVELOPE HAS MEMENTO VALUE

Hundreds of requests for the envelopes in which service men mailed their ballots have been received by the board of election commissioners from close relatives of the men, Carl Schroeder, in charge of absentee voting at the board, disclosed yesterday.

In many cases, he said, these were requests from the parents, wives, or sweethearts of men who have been reported killed or missing, and were made in the hope of obtaining the envelopes as mementos.

Schroeder has asked County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki for a ruling on the legality of granting the requests, and has been told that the envelopes probably can be released after the expiration of six months.

O'CONNOR SEES BIG DEMOCRATIC AID FOR DEWEY

Democrats alienated by the New Deal will vote Republican Tuesday in sufficient number to elect the Dewey-Bricker ticket, it was asserted yesterday by John J. O'Connor, former Democratic congressman from New York. He is executive chairman of the American Democratic National committee, 105 S. La Salle st., which issued the statement.

"Fifty per cent of the old line Democrats are definitely alienated," O'Connor said. "Thirty per cent will vote for Dewey and Bricker; 5 per cent will stay away from the polls; 5 per cent may vote the local Democratic ticket, but not go for Dewey. Ten per cent may be pressured from fear of the Hillman political action committee and the New Deal into reluctantly voting for Roosevelt and Truman. A number of so-called Democratic leaders are in that last class."

O'Connor estimated the number of Democrats eligible to vote as about 27,500,000.

Envoy of New Zealand to Speak on Pacific War

G. O. P.'S CORONER NOMINEE HAILS 3 GOVERNORS

Dr. Alex J. Prominsky, Republican nominee for coroner, said yesterday he thought it unnecessary to make campaign speeches telling the public he is competent to fill the office. He said the fact he has been a practicing physician on the southwest side for 33 years should be sufficient.

"So I have been talking about the three great governors, Dewey, Bricker, and Green," Dr. Prominsky reported to Republican County Chairman George Fisher.

PEACOCK OFFERS FREE RECORDING FOR EVERY VET

Raymond J. Peacock, Republican nominee for recorder, announced a plan yesterday of recording without delay and without cost the discharge papers of all veterans of the war if he is elected. He also promised to improve the issuance of certificates guaranteeing titles for real estate.

"It is most important that every service man and woman preserve discharge papers," said Peacock.

TRIBUNE'S POLL PUTS ILLINOIS IN DEWEY COLUMN

Indicates Green, Lyons Also Will Win.

ceived by mail up to closing of the polls Tuesday. Soldiers' ballots are sent to their home precincts. When the polls close, they are to be opened and tallied along with the rest of the ballots.

The extent to which any or all of these factors may affect the voting is unknown. No one knows how the soldiers line up because it is forbidden to poll them. Many families have moved from rural communities to munitions centers; other families have come to Illinois from other states. OPA calculations based on the No. 4 ration book issue show that as a result of recent migrations 53 per cent of Illinois' population now lives in Cook county, but there is no similar gauge to measure the shifts in voting strength.

But whatever the total vote Tuesday and however it is distributed, the candidates will share the votes, on the basis of THE TRIBUNE's straw vote, according to these percentages:

For President.

	DEWEY. Straws.	Pct.	ROOSEVELT. Straws.	Pct.
Chicago	21,590	42.2	29,520	57.8
Cook County towns	5,526	62.9	3,262	37.1
Downstate	25,156	57.9	18,282	42.1

For Governor.

	GREEN. Straws.	Pct.	COURTNEY. Straws.	Pct.
Chicago	17,852	45	21,716	55
Cook County towns	5,578	64	3,124	36
Downstate	24,540	60	16,318	40

For Senator.

	LYONS. Straws.	Pct.	LUCAS. Straws.	Pct.
Chicago	16,901	43	22,328	57
Cook county towns	5,369	62	3,295	38
Downstate	23,493	58	17,177	42

States Attorney, Cook County.

	DEMPSEY. Straws.	Pct.	TUOHY. Straws.	Pct.
County towns	5,555	64	3,060	36

Illinois voters are expected to mark more than 4,000,000 ballots Tuesday, perhaps 4,200,000. In normal election years it is possible to anticipate the vote in each area fairly closely and to forecast the results by applying the straw vote percentages to the estimated vote. This year, however, there are so many uncertainties that three calculations, figured on different bases, are presented.

1. If Tuesday's vote should be the same as in 1940 and in the same proportions among the three areas, the outcome for Gov. Dewey, on his straw vote ratings, would be:

	Straw Pct.	1940 vote.	Projected 1944 votes for Dewey.
Cook cty. towns	62.9	350,349	220,369
Downstate	57.9	2,103,128	1,217,741
		4,241,278	2,192,562

The 1940 vote gave Illinois to Roosevelt by 102,000 plurality, but an application of the 1944 straw percentages to the 1940 totals shows the following:

	Straw Pct.	1940 vote.	1944 1944 Roosevelt.
Chicago	57.8	1,787,801	1,033,349
Cook cty. towns	37.1	350,349	129,979
Downstate	42.1	2,103,128	885,417
		4,241,278	2,048,745

If voting support in 1940 had been divided between the Presidential candidates in the same proportions the straws indicate today, Wendell Willkie would have won Illinois by a plurality of 143,817.

2. Registration figures provide another basis for forecasting. In Cook county these are made available in definite form by the election commissioners for the city of Chicago and 221 precincts in nine suburbs and by the county clerk for the rest of the county. But in many other counties, permanent registration is not yet fully in operation and the total compiled by the secretary of state includes much guess work.

City Vote 93 Per Cent.

All who are registered, however, do not vote. In Chicago, 93 per cent voted in 1940 and in the country towns 95 per cent voted. It is presumed that the critical issues before the people Tuesday will bring out as high a proportion, barring extremely bad weather. The probable vote figures listed below were arrived at with those percentages, using 93 per cent for downstate also. Since registration figures were not available in 1940 the use of 93 per cent is arbitrary.

With registration as the base for an arbitrary estimate of the vote and using the same straw ratings, Dewey's vote then would be:

	Straw pct.	Prob. vote.	Dewey's vote.
Chicago	42.2	1,888,840	797,312
Cook county towns	62.9	417,876	262,844
Downstate	57.9	1,944,193	1,125,688
		4,250,909	2,185,844

For President Roosevelt, the forecast of probable vote based on registration shows the following:

	Straw pct.	Prob. vote.	Roosevelt's vote.
Chicago	57.8	1,888,840	1,091,749
Cook county towns	37.1	417,876	155,032
Downstate	42.1	1,944,193	818,505
		4,250,909	2,065,286

The foregoing tables show a probable plurality for Dewey of 120,558.

3. A third calculation is made with the aim of weighing factors listed above which may swing the outcome Tuesday one way or the other. It produces a somewhat smaller plurality for the Republican candidate than that projected from registration.

Weather One Factor.

In this formula the estimated vote is reduced in each sector, mainly to allow for bad weather. This adjustment favors President Roosevelt because a stormy day would keep more voters at home in the Republican areas of downstate and suburban Cook county than in Chicago. The margin of advantage given him also should cover a last hour upswing in Democratic sentiment or a soldier vote more favorable to him than the civilian.

On the weighted estimate of votes, still using the same straw vote ratings, the following results are shown for Dewey:

	Straw pct.	Probable vote.	Dewey's vote.
Chicago	42.2	1,825,000	770,150
Cook county towns	62.9	385,000	242,165
Downstate	57.9	1,900,000	1,100,100
		4,110,000	2,112,415

The President's indicated vote on these estimates is:

	Straw Pct.	Probable vote.	Roosevelt's vote.
Chicago	57.8	1,825,000	1,054,850
Cook county towns	37.1	385,000	142,835
Downstate	42.1	1,900,000	799,900
		4,110,000	1,997,585

The result is a Dewey plurality of 114,830. Weather severe enough to make the highways dangerous could reduce that figure by keeping voters at home in the rural areas, where Dewey sentiment prevails and where also the polling places in many precincts require a considerable trip. If the vote downstate were only 1,700,000 Dewey's margin would be as low as 80,000.

Other Votes Projected.

Votes for governor and senator also are projected from the weighted estimates because unfavorable weather downstate or a vote out of line with registration in that area would affect them, too.

But while every voter makes a cross for President, not all of them mark for offices farther down the ballot. In the 1940 election in Illinois, 1.2 per cent who voted for President did not vote for governor and 2.9 per cent did not vote for senator. In the vote for state's attorney of Cook county the difference was 3.8 per cent. Probable vote figures in the following tables projecting straw votes for candidates for those three offices, therefore, have been shaded.

Gov. Green's prospects based upon the straw vote percentages are:

	Straw Pct.	Probable vote	Green's vote
Chicago	45	1,803,100	811,395
Cook county towns	64	370,500	237,120
Downstate	60	1,877,200	1,126,320
		4,050,800	2,174,835

For Courtney, the Democratic candidate, the showing is:

	Straw Pct.	Probable vote.	Courtney's vote.
Chicago	55	1,803,100	991,705
Cook county towns	36	370,500	133,380
Downstate	40	1,877,200	750,880
		4,050,800	1,875,965

The resulting plurality for Green would be 298,870. The governor was elected for his first term in 1940 by 256,945.

In the senatorial contest Lyons' chances figure:

	Straw Pct.	Probable vote.	Lyons' vote.
Chicago	43	1,772,075	761,992
Cook county towns	62	364,125	225,758
Downstate	58	1,844,900	1,070,042
		3,981,100	2,057,792

For Sen. Lucas:

	Straw Pct.	Probable vote	Lucas' vote
Cook county towns	38	364,125	138,368
Downstate	42	1,844,900	774,858
		3,981,000	1,923,309

These projections yield Lyons a plurality of 134,483.

Forecasts on state's attorney of Cook county are made on the city and county registration figures, which are supposed to be exact. On the candidate's straw ratings, the following results are indicated if the vote on state's attorney drops below the Presidential vote in the same ratio that it dropped in 1940.

For Dempsey, Republican:

	Straw Pct.	Probable vote	Dempsey's vote
Chicago	46	1,817,064	835,849
Country towns	64	401,997	257,278
		2,219,061	1,093,127

For Tuohy, Democrat:

	Straw Pct.	Probable vote.	Tuohy's vote.
Chicago	54	1,817,064	981,215
Country towns	36	401,997	144,719
		2,219,061	1,125,934
Dempsey's total			1,093,127
Tuohy's plurality			32,807

If, because of various factors, the Cook county vote on state's attorney approximates the vote on President, Dempsey's vote will be higher.

Some Only Four Days Old.

The straws included in the final table represent sentiment of the voters polled up to within four days of election. They are, of course, susceptible to change in the final tense hours of the campaign. Either Presidential candidate may have won votes with his election eve speech last night or some decisive event affecting the President's present program may make votes for or against him.

The Democrats haven't the organization they had election time four years ago, when they still occupied the state house, but the Kelly machine holds the field in Chicago and the Democrats have power in some downstate cities, including East St. Louis and Rock Island. The machine squeeze put on two or three days before election was credited with giving the President his small plurality in Illinois in 1940.

In any poll a sizeable number of straws is required to level off high and low spots. THE TRIBUNE scaled its survey to 2 per cent of the probable vote, which experience has proved to be reliable. That would mean about 82,000 straws. As it turned out, with rechecks at some locations, 103,335 straws were taken and tabulated.

In Chicago straw ballot boxes were placed at 158 street intersections, an average of three in each ward. They were spotted to reach men and women in all social, economic, and racial groups. The city's pattern of voting was followed by taking 68 tests in south side wards, 60 on the west side, and 30 on the north side.

Twenty-one suburbs in Cook county were polled, tapping industrial and residential communities, with equal attention to their prevailing politics.

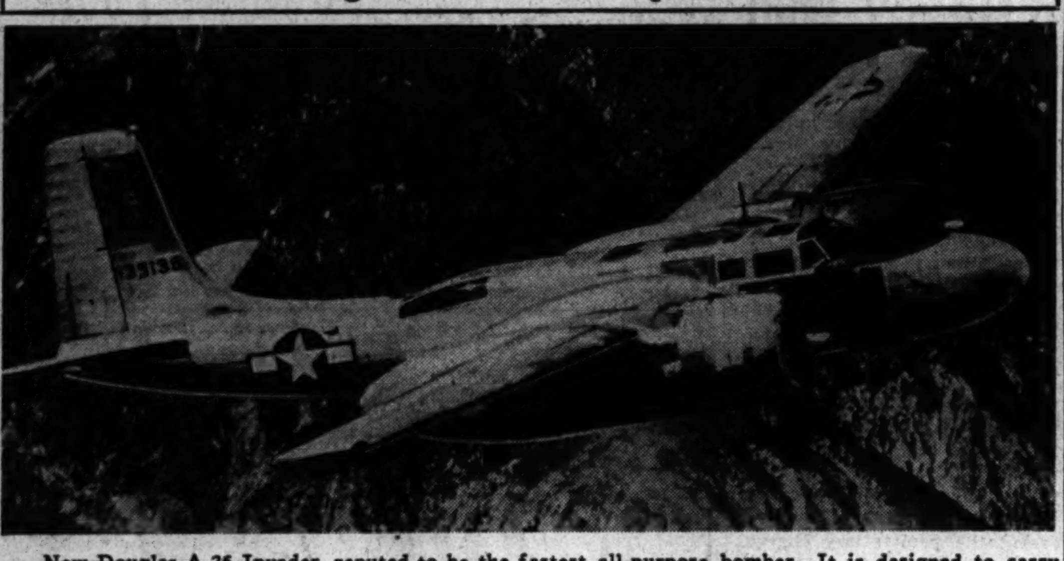
New Douglas A-26 All-Purpose Bomber



New Douglas A-26 Invader, reputed to be the fastest all-purpose bomber. It is designed to carry a flexible selection of machine guns, cannon, bombs, and fuel adaptable to any combat situation. All armament was deleted from photograph for security reasons. [Associated Press Photo.]

Called Fastest

Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 4 (AP).—The new A-26 Invader has gone into battle, the army announced today, and has proved itself the speediest, deadliest, and most versatile American built attack bomber in the skies.

Details of the plane's speed, firepower, and bomb capacity were not disclosed but army authorities said the A-26 had proved in battle that it could:

[1] Fly with the speed of a fighter; [2] carry the load of a heavy bomber; [3] do the work of a torpedo plane; [4] match the destructiveness of the dive bomber; [5] hop across oceans, and [6] shoot it out with anything on the wing.

The Invader is heavily armored, powered by twin 2,000 horsepower engines, and designed to carry an extremely varied selection of guns, cannon, bombs, or fuel which makes its offensive striking power adaptable in almost any combat situation.

GRENADE HURLER GETS 5 STRIKES ON A JAP TANK

Pvt. Meyer Singer, 19, of Chicago, a marine infantryman, who hurled five grenades to deflect the advance of a Japanese tank, saved his own life and that of a buddy by his unerring aim, the marine corps reported yesterday. The action occurred near Peleliu Island air field. Two Japs who scrambled from the stalled tank later were cut down by marine fire. Pvt. Singer is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Singer of 6022 S. Halsted st.

LANDLORD ROBBED OF $800.

James Donaldson, owner of a rooming house at 3946 Lake Park avenue, reported to police last night that thieves took $800 rent money from a cedar chest.

DEMPSEY WARNS OF LAST MINUTE MACHINE TRICKS

Expressing confidence in his election, John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, warned parents attending a rally on school conditions in the La Salle hotel last night against last minute trickery of the Kelly machine.

"Every straw poll, every sampling of public opinion indicates my election," said Dempsey. "Desperate tactics of Kelly and his personal candidate for state's attorney are proof they, too, are convinced of that. But let us not underestimate the resourcefulness of the Kelly machine. You can be sure he and his henchmen will not hesitate to resort to any trickery to accomplish this end."

Dr. John Lapp, in introducing Dempsey, said "it is particularly gratifying to find the people finally aware that the solution of their school problems lies in the election of the right kind of men to public office.

"I am for John T. Dempsey," he continued, "because he will pry the lid off the affairs of the Chicago board of education."

She Makes Music!

Of course, she enjoys hearing music; but, more than that, she enjoys making music. And what a difference there is! Childhood demands self-expression . . . wants to do instead of to listen. Give that little girl of yours a Piano—let her find music for herself. The ability to make music will be of priceless benefit to her now and in the years to come, because it brings with it character development, poise, culture.

FLYER'S STORY SOUNDS LIKE A TALE BY DUMAS

Chicagoan Is Shot Down, Captured by Nazis.

A Chicagoan who at 22 has had more hair-raising adventures than most persons crowd into a lifetime yesterday described his trip in a burning and disabled plane from Ploesti, Romania, to the Bulgarian border and his months of internment in a Bulgarian prison camp.

Lt. J. K. Whitmore Jr.

He is Lt. Joseph K. Whitmore Jr., who is home on leave and staying in the Commodore hotel with his father and mother. He joined the army air forces in July, 1942, and went overseas in May, 1944. He flew 19 relatively uneventful missions from his base in Italy, but the 20th was the beginning of a train of unlooked for adventures.

Fighter Escort Lost.

The squadron was briefed early on the morning of June 24 and at about 7 a. m. set out for the Ploesti oil fields. Lt. Whitmore was navigator on a B-24 Liberator. They soared over Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, then turned across the Bulgarian - Romanian border toward their target.

The weather was bad and they missed their fighter escort. Scores of German planes leaped up to intercept them. Lt. Whitmore's plane was hit but still was able to drop its bombs.

Their luck did not hold. Turning out of their bombing run, they were hit again by German fighters and knocked out of formation. The rudder controls were shot away and other controls damaged. The officers decided to try to make the Bulgarian border on the theory that they might expect better treatment in a country other than the one which they had just bombed. As the crippled plane fled it was set upon again by German fighters and four of the crew had to bail out to escape incineration in the fires which the enemy attacks had started in the plane.

Tries to Get Horse.

The remaining six bailed out just as the ship reached the Danube river, the Bulgarian boundary. Lt. Whitmore landed safely and, using his pistol as a threat, tried to take a horse away from a Bulgarian peasant with the idea of escaping into neutral Turkey. However, he was captured by other peasants and taken to the civilian police station.

The flyers [three others had been brought in in the meantime] were threatened with execution, but Bulgarian soldiers arrived and took them into custody. Many weeks in a Bulgarian prison camp followed, while Lt. Whitmore's parents in Chicago heard no word beyond the war department notification that their son was missing in action.

Conditions were bad in the camp. There was scant medical attention. Food was not always sufficient to satisfy the appetite.

Taken to Turkey.

Things improved immeasurably when word came that the Russians had invaded Bulgaria. Even a phonograph and some old records were allowed in to beguile the tedium of prison life. There were promises of books to come.

As it happened, the prisoners did not need them. After Bulgaria's defeat they were released and taken to Istanbul, Turkey. There they were treated like kings. More important still, they saw their first American civilians—men and women. Lt. Whitmore was sent home by plane and ship, arriving in Chicago late in October. Not until Sept. 10, when a cable reached them, did his parents know that he was alive.

Lt. Whitmore holds the distinguished flying cross, the air medal, and the European theater campaign ribbon with two battle stars.

U. S. Holds 334,618 War Prisoners; 281,344 Nazis

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—There were 334,618 war prisoners in this country as of Nov. 1, the war department announced today. German prisoners led the list with a total of 281,344. Japanese prisoners totaled only 2,242. Italians totaled 51,032.

FLOATING TYPE AIRPORT URGED FOR LAKE FRONT

A suggestion for a lake front airport which would accommodate both land and sea planes, and which would utilize relatively inexpensive concrete floats for runways, has been put forward by G. A. Maney, civil engineer on the staff of Northwestern university technological institute, and H. A. Musham, Chicago naval architect.

The plan calls for a great triangle whose apex would point out into the lake and whose base would run parallel to the shore. The northeast and southeast sides of the triangle would be concrete pontoons either anchored in position or resting on pile supports. They would constitute runways 10,000 feet long and 100 to 300 feet wide.

Other Strips Described.

Running straight east and west and cutting the triangle in two would be another runway similarly constructed, 7,000 feet long. A fourth runway 14,000 feet long running north and south on the side of the triangle nearest the shore would parallel a terminal and service strip of the same length and 600 feet wide. These last two strips would be made by a fill.

There would be open water between the various runways. Outside of the triangle, to the northeast, would be a basin for sea planes. The whole would be protected by a 22,000 foot breakwater. Communication with the shore would be by high speed motor boats.

Cost of Project Estimated.

The cost of this project, the sponsors estimate, would be between 28 million and 48 million dollars. This figure compares with an estimated cost of 100 million dollars for the previously proposed island airport. Maney and Musham point out that the concrete pontoon type of runway has been in use for more than 20 years for docks, landing stages, barges, and other craft. They say that the runways can be designed to withstand the impact of any aircraft now being built, or likely to be built in the future.

An advantage of the triangular construction, they say, would be to provide any needed extensions to the airport relatively easy. The original site can be extended by building additional triangles in any direction, it was pointed out.

The sea plane basin, the sponsors of the plan explain, can be kept open even in extremely cold weather by use of small modern type ice breakers.

Admirals Wind Up Parley on Air Training Program

A bimonthly training conference attended by five flying admirals and their chiefs of staff was concluded yesterday at the Glenview naval air station after a two day session. The Glenview public relations office said the conference was devoted to discussion of a program to fit current conditions and to keep the naval air training up to date. Rear Adm. C. A. Pownall, chief of naval air training, headed the round table discussions.

KELLY ASSAILS DEMPSEY, WHO CALLS HIM LIAR

The bitter campaign for state's attorney of Cook county neared its close last night with Mayor Kelly lashing out at John T. Dempsey, the Republican nominee, and in return being called a liar by Dempsey and a "boodler" by former Judge Edward B. Casey, Dempsey's campaign manager.

Kelly asserted that Dempsey, as an assistant state's attorney from 1925 to 1928, had recommended leniency in 11 sex offense cases. He gave out a press release which said that each case bore the notation that "Dempsey recommended dismissing the penitentiary charges."

Denies Alleged Recommendations.

In replying to Kelly's statement, Casey said:

"Such charges come from a depraved boodler. Dempsey in no case made the recommendation. The cases were tried before judges presumed to be honest, God fearing, and in possession of the facts. Kelly should know. He now controls most of the judges and wants to control the state's attorney."

At the time Dempsey was serving as an assistant state's attorney, Casey said, "Kelly was the chief boodler of the sanitary district."

"Kelly is now as accurate as he was then about the income tax returns he made on the $450,000 he acquired in three years," Casey said. "At that time the newspapers wanted to know how a $20,000 a year engineer collected $450,000 in three years, and how he happened to have an income of $700,000 from 1919 to 1929.

Recalls Magazine Article.

"When Kelly talks about giving Chicago a bad name, he should remember that a magazine of world-wide circulation said about him two years ago. It was:

" 'Somewhere along his rise from sewer worker to political boss of Chicago, Edward J. Kelly . . . acquired a hard, shining polish. To his machine's reputation for ballot stuffing, patronage grabbing, muscling the vote of prostitutes and gamblers, there still clings a sewer-like smell.' "

Dempsey denied making such recommendations as enumerated by Kelly, and said: "Ed Kelly is a liar. At the time I was making a record as an outstanding prosecutor, Kelly was being indicted in connection with his activities in the sanitary district."

EIGHT CASES OF WHISKY STOLEN.

Martin Burke, owner of a tavern at 4431 Madison st., told police yesterday that burglars Friday night had taken eight cases of whisky valued at $450 and $25 from a juke box.

U.S. TAKES OVER 8 STRIKEBOUND TOLEDO PLANTS

Discharge of Six Men Leads to Walkout.

Toledo, O., Nov. 4 [Special].—Validity of "CIO or else" clauses in union contracts was the issue today in a wave of war plant strikes that the government sought to stem by army seizure of eight plants in the Toledo area.

When the government acted, war production was halted or impeded in 13 plants in the Toledo area and 24 plants in the Detroit area, and the strike was threatening to spread Monday to 15 plants in Cleveland. An estimated 12,500 men were taking part in the walkout.

The strikes were called by the Mechanics' Educational Society of America, an independent union, in protest against the discharge Oct. 24 of six of its members from the Electric Auto-Lite company of Toledo at the insistence of the CIO United Automobile Workers, which has a maintenance of membership clause in its contract with the company.

Must Continue Membership.

Under this clause, employes who belonged to the UAW when the contract was signed are required to continue their membership. The UAW contended that the six men quit it to join the MESA.

Col. Phillip R. Faymonville headed a group of army officers who took charge of the eight Toledo plants under an order signed by President Roosevelt. The colonel announced that "the full resources of the government will be directed against those who fail to return to work.

A swift crackdown against the strikers was hinted tonight in a statement issued by a group of federal officials who went into a huddle with Col. Faymonville. It called attention to the Smith-Connally anti-strike act, which makes it a criminal offense to encourage or aid in the continuation of a work stoppage. Unofficially it was stated a special federal grand jury may be summoned Monday to inquire into possible law violations.

Ex-Grid Star Present.

Attending the conference were Don C. Miller, one of the original "four horsemen" of Notre Dame, who is United States attorney for northern Ohio; Henry Schweinhaut of Washington, special assistant to the attorney general; H. B. Fletcher, agent in charge of the Cleveland office of the federal bureau of investigation; Gerald P. Openlander and Marcus Friedman, assistant United States attorneys in Toledo, and Lt. Col. Paul Hebert of Washington.

The plants taken over were the shell division of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc.; Baker Bros., Great Lakes Stamping company, Ohio Tool and Die company, Inshield Products company, Crescent Engineering corporation, Toledo Steel Tube company, and Wayne Metal Products company.

A survey indicated that 4,500 persons were out of work in the Toledo area. At Willys-Overland, 800 members of MESA were striking and 2,000 others were idle. Baker Bros. reported 180 MESA members on strike. In other plants the number of MESA strikers was reported from 50 to 100.

8,000 Idle in Detroit.

From the Detroit area came reports that 8,000 men were idle in 24 plants, including three plants of the Michigan Tool company and two of the Detroit Tap and Tool company.

Matthew Smith, alien president of MESA, arrived in Toledo late today and went into conference with Earl Streeter, secretary of the Toledo MESA unit, and other local MESA officials. He made no public statement here, but earlier in the day said in Detroit that "if the war department actually decides to take over, there is nothing we can do but go back to work and continue our protest thru every agency."

Smith was informed in a telegram from Assistant Secretary of War Patterson that stoppage of vital war production was "equivalent to treason."

ABSENTEE VOTES SET A RECORD; 600 CAST AFTER CLOSING HOUR

A new record for absentee voting was established yesterday when 38 service men and 583 civilians voted on the final day in the board of election commissioners' office, bringing the total to 2,946 service men and women and 8,258 civilians voting in the office. These, added to 101,067 ballots received by mail, bring the absentee ballot total cast with the election board to 112,271.

More than 600 persons were inside the election board's office when the noon deadline fell yesterday. Nearly an hour was required to clear these thru the 24 voting booths set up in the office.

Mail ballots will continue to be accepted until the polls close at 5 p. m. on election day.

POLES TO STALL REDS; WAIT FOR ELECTION IN U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Poland's exiled government will delay a decision on accepting Russia's terms for accord until after the United States Presidential elections and then may press Washington for a clear cut statement on its position, a Pole close to government circles said today.

Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's cabinet was reported split on the question of accepting the Curzon line as an eastern border, basic condition in the soviet's bill of settlement.

Guarantee to Be Asked.

But complete solidarity within the cabinet was reported on obtaining iron clad guarantees from the three big powers' of Poland's post-war sovereignty and independence—regardless of the decision in the territorial dispute.

The Polish informant declared that Poland was confronted at the moment by a "choice of being murdered or of committing suicide."

"The result is the same in either case," he said, "so nothing is lost by remaining silent for the time being.

"Unless Poland can be guaranteed her independence—and, to be frank, be sure she will not have communism imposed upon her—it would be foolish for the government to act. It would be suicide."

Hope for Pressure.

From other Polish quarters came indications that Mikolajczyk and the cabinet were pinning their hope upon the possibility of American and British pressure upon Russia to withdraw her backing of the Polish national liberation committee at Lublin.

A chance that this pressure may be applied, perhaps at the next big three meeting, was indicated this week by the Economist, British conservative weekly. It urged Britain and America to "bring all their influence to bear on Russia and to secure the disappearance of the discreditable Lublin experiment."

YANK AIRMEN LEVEL TOWN NAZIS REWON

Leave Few of Only Forty Buildings Standing.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY, IN THE HURTGEN FOREST, Germany, Nov. 4.—A German counter-attack supported by tanks and artillery today drove the Americans out of their hard won positions in and around the village of Schmidt, 15 miles southeast of Aachen, but soon afterward Yank dive bombers turned the village into a shambles.

The village was taken from the Nazis yesterday after two days of fighting thru the eastern edges of this forest region, to within about 1,000 yards of the Roer river.

The Americans withdrew a little more than half a mile northwest after two Nazi counter-attacks within an hour this morning. The Yanks turned back the first enemy counter-blow, but the second was buttressed by 10 tanks and forced the Americans to retreat.

Planes Strike Twice.

Then the dive bombers came thru the clouds twice within three-quarters of an hour. Their first attack was on targets west of the crossroads hamlet. In the second attack they hit the village of less than 40 houses and 500 inhabitants.

Returning flyers reported "some houses still standing," but otherwise the village was another shambles.

Late this afternoon word came from the forward command post that about one battalion of Nazi infantry supported by at least one tank company were advancing toward another engagement with our forward elements north of Schmidt.

British Gain in Holland.

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Allied troops clearing the western flank in southwestern Holland hammered forward two miles today in a general advance that swept to within three miles of the last German escape bridge at Moerdijk, now within easy artillery range.

A few thousand enemy rearguards were pressed into a strip three miles deep on the southern bank of the Maas [Meuse] river, and these were under aerial assault as their transport columns jammed the roads.

The battle spread along the Maas nearly 20 miles east to a point west of 's-Hertogenbosch, where the British under a violent artillery barrage broke across Aftwatering canal and fought north more than a mile in a new drive to unhinge the enemy's east flank and shove the last German across the river.

German lines along the Mark river five miles south of the Maas were crumbling fast, as Polish forces threw two more bridgeheads across, captured Terheyden, and fought two miles northward, capturing Wagenburg, within three miles of the Maas.

Yanks Retake Dutch Town.

Three miles east, Den Hout, also three miles from the Maas, likewise fell. Americans, British, and Canadians to the west vaulted the water barriers and deepened bridgeheads.

Fighting blazed on flooded Walcheren Island, where the enemy garrison of 2,000 to 4,000 was hemmed in east of Middelburg and exposed to a terrific barrage from land and naval guns.

United States infantry men in eastern Holland, defying mud and mortars, plowed ahead more than two miles and recaptured Ospel, 16 miles southeast of the allied base at Eindhoven, thereby erasing almost all the gains made by the abortive enemy drive a week ago. The British to the northeast were held in check around Miejel by mines and heavy artillery fire. A chill rain fell on this sector of the 500 mile front.

Maintaining a mile-a-day clip, the United States 7th and French 1st armies in the Vosges fought on east thru the mountains, deepening a wedge driven into German lines blocking the way to the two vital passes of Bussang and Schlucht.

In the long quiet sector of the Maritime Alps, the allies announced the capture of the French road junction of Sospel, three miles from the Italian frontier, and two near-by villages.

FIREMAN INJURED BY FALL.

Fireman Edward Meehan, 38, of engine company 45, was slightly injured yesterday when he fell from a ladder at 4708 Prairie av. while fighting a fire that swept thru three stores and a theater lobby. He was given first aid in Chicago hospital.

IOWAN FREED BY YANKS AT BREST IS BACK ON DUTY

Lieutenant and Pals in Port 30 Days.

Anderson, who was graduated from Iowa state college in 1942, was ambushed and captured last month west of Pontivy on the Brittany peninsula, when his division was driving against Brest. One of his five companions was wounded fatally when their vehicles were torn by German fire.

See French Shot.

He said that a short time later the prisoners saw three captive Free French soldiers being forced to dig graves for two dead Germans.

"You can imagine how we felt when we had to stand by and watch the Germans shoot those Frenchmen after they had dug the graves," Anderson said.

They all thought they might be dealt with immediately in the same manner, but instead the Americans were loaded into horse-drawn carts, given blankets and started toward Brest. They reached that doomed city after taking four days to cover 60 miles, never knowing when the swift American columns might blow the caravan to bits.

"We were put in a chateau about 200 yards from the docks," said Anderson, whose wife lives at 816 Duff av., Ames, Iowa. "But we were lucky and only one bombing damaged the chateau. But don't think we didn't keep under cover.

Stay in Brest 30 Days.

"The food was bad, with coffee for breakfast, soup for dinner and poor sausage for supper, but the Germans weren't doing any better during the latter part of our 30 days in Brest."

After these weeks of dreading swift destruction by American bombs or shells, the prisoners were moved across to the Crozon peninsula south of Brest, and afterward were freed by advancing United States forces.

Anderson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Anderson, who live at 510 18th st., Fort Dodge, Iowa.

CAVALRY COWBOYS ON LEYTE GETTING ON HORSES AGAIN

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

HDQ. FIRST CAVALRY, on Leyte, Nov. 4.—The famous 1st cavalry division, which includes some of the oldest regiments of the United States army, has slowly begun to remount itself—with the assistance of the Japanese. The regulars, mostly recruited from Texas and Colorado plainsmen, have fought afoot since they were sent into the southwest Pacific on July 19, 1943.

These cowboys, among whom 20 years in the army is not an unusual record, never have been completely happy without their horses. Now, back in country where hardy Asiatic ponies were frequently found before the war, they have started quietly to collect their remounts, hoping that the army soon will order them back in the saddle. The Philippines are virtually impassable to wheeled vehicles during the rainy season.

Some of their horses even wear the brand of the United States army, apparently having been captured by the Japs on Luzon and sent here.

AMERICAN GUNS BATTER ST. DIE, VOSGES BASTION

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH ARMY, In France, Nov. 4.—St. Die was getting a heavy battering from American guns today as French forces struck toward Gerardmer, Nazi stronghold 13 miles southwest.

From thickly wooded hills just west of St. Die could be seen the havoc wrought in the city by the artillery. The Germans, for some time, had been bringing reënforcements and supplies to St. Die by railroad from Strasbourg. They are doing little of that now for trackage and installations have been consistently hit by our shells.

The silhouette of St. Die is taking on some of that dirty gray pallor which towns in Italy assumed after being artillery targets. Many buildings have been hit and the ruins lean at crazy angles. There is harassing fire every hour of the day and night. German guns in the city and to the east answer regularly.

Have Other Hill Fortresses.

The Germans have another Vosges line stonghold at Raon l'Etape and other reputedly powerful positions in the mountains to the north are at Blamont, Saarebourg, and Phalsbourg, all on the roads to Strasbourg, and at Saales, which is between St. Die and the big Alsace city.

When the Americans first swung up into eastern France from the south it appeared that the main weight of the drive would be toward Belfort pass, classic military thorofare into Germany, but as the weeks passed it became evident that Belfort was transformed into a fortress almost beyond compare and that a headlong assault upon it would be one of the most suicidal maneuvers of the war.

Drive to Flank Belfort.

It was decided to flank Belfort thru the Vosges and in that way reach the plains of Alsace, the cities of Strasbourg and Mulhouse and the Rhineland.

All the fighting in the Vosges is part of the battle for Belfort because when the allies reach the Alsatian flat land and come behind Belfort, that fortress still may have to be reduced if it does not yield.

There are tough struggles ahead before St. Die and Gerardmer can be conquered. Before St. Die is the barrier of the Meurthe river, always swift moving, and now near flood stage because of heavy rains. As for Gerardmer, western terminus of a pass thru the Vosges, reports of that town's extensive fortifications herald it as the nearest thing to Cassino in impregnability that the allies are likely to meet in this region of France.

Hard Fighting Ahead.

Even when St. Die and Gerardmer are taken, signaling the smashing of the Nazis' great Vosges line, hard fighting lies ahead for snow is appearing on the high mountain line and the enemy can defend from peak to peak, town to town, and, at the end, in the eastern foothills.

Our supply line also grows longer as the enemy's grows shorter and bad weather is a much heavier debit for us than for the Germans. It works against ground attackers more than ground defenders and it severely limits our superiority.

FLUOROSCOPE UNIT STOLEN.

Dr. Henry Chapman, with offices at 514 Fullerton pkwy., told police yesterday some one stole a fluoroscope unit from his car parked in front of 3335 Cleveland av.

TANKS BATTLE WITHIN A MILE OF BUDAPEST

Reds Repulsed, Foe Says; Fortress Falls.

LONDON, Nov. 5 [Sunday]—(AP).—Russian tanks yesterday crashed into Soroksar, only a mile outside shell torn Budapest, and then were hurled back in a great tank battle flaming along the edge of the Hungarian capital, the Budapest radio said last night in a broadcast describing the axis situation as critical.

Soroksar is six miles from the heart of Budapest. It is on the east bank of the Danube and south of the city.

Fifty miles southeast of Budapest other soviet troops toppled the Tisza river stornghold of Szolnok in a wheeling movement that sent Red army units charging across the Budapest-Szolnok trunk railway on a 19 mile front in pursuit of the enemy retreating northward.

Forty Towns Captured.

The Russians also announced the capture of Abony, eight miles from Szolnok, and Cegled, a stronghold 34 miles southeast of Budapest. Berlin said at least seven tank divisions were hammering German positions in that area.

Premier Stalin announced the fall of Szolnok, whose capture cut the enemy's direct escape route into Budapest and secured another Tisza crossing for Red army reënforcements.

Berlin said both sides were throwing in fresh troops.

A broadcast last night from the German front said:

"For hours now the Russians have been rushing up the roads to Budapest and against the German Danube bridgeheads. The Russians have strong numerical superiority."

Shells Rain on City.

Dispatches from Moscow and broadcasts from Berlin said Russian artillery and planes were pumping explosives into the capital.

A Budapest dispatch relayed by Berlin said soviet planes roared constantly over the Danube city, bombing and machine gunning streets clogged with German troop, tank, and gun columns and knots of frantic civilians.

Caravans of vehicles jammed with fugitives flowed westward across the Danube bridge out of the city, the broadcast said.

"Other districts of the city, however, seem almost deserted," said the Nazi agency's report.

Dispatches relayed from Stockholm, Sweden, said street fighting had broken out between Hungarian workers and Nazi SS [elite guard] troops inside Budapest and that the German commander, Gen. Alfred Jacob, was having difficulty in maintaining order.

Berlin said soviet troops had tried to cross the Danube at Dunafoldvar, 43 miles below Budapest, in an outflanking move.

Puppet Army Routed.

Hungarian captives were quoted as saying that Prime Minister Ferenc Szalasi's recently formed puppet "field army," which had been thrown into the battle outside Budapest, had been wiped out or routed.

In German East Prussia a soviet bulletin said the 3d White Russian army repulsed enemy infantry and tank attacks north and south of Goldap and improved their positions in counter-thrusts.

Berlin told of heavy Russian attacks on a narrow front west of Ungvar, in Czechoslovakia.

3 U-BOATS SUNK IN ARCTIC AFTER CONVOY ATTACK

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Three U-boats which tried to break up a large convoy from England to Russia recently were sunk and several others were damaged, the admiralty announced today, disclosing that the convoy reached port with the loss of one escort vessel.

One German aircraft, which attempted to shadow the convoy, was shot down.

All the engagements were fought within the arctic circle, and an admiralty statement said the fight "ranks among the greatest triumphs yet achieved by naval aircraft during an operation of this kind."

EDEN BACK IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, returned home by plane today from Italy, where he had paused on his way from Moscow.

HAWAIIANS GET THEIR POLITICS IN OLD TRADITION

No Hold Barred in Hot Campaign.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 4.—While Hawaiians will not vote on Tuesday on the Presidential candidates, they will ballot on candidates for the territorial house of representatives, the senate or the board of supervisors. The campaign now closing is one in which politics burns bright in the old tradition, untrammeled and with no holds barred.

The morning paper, the Advertiser, spoke today of smoldering dissension resulting in a violent eruption climaxed by a "sulphurous verbal conflict." The candidates pull all the stops. Their lances are venom tipped and they don't smile when they tilt them.

Woman Stirs a Tempest.

Mrs. Kamokila Campbell is a colorful stormy petrel of the campaign. A holdover whose post is not in dispute this year, she nevertheless is in the thick of it, so much so that the other night her own Democratic rally refused to let her speak.

She had come out in favor of controled prostitution and her fellow partisans were shocked. Prostitution is a question of great moment here, the houses having recently been closed because people were offended by the sight of queues of service men standing in the streets. Many persons felt that controled prostitution is the lesser of two evils.

Mrs. Campbell countered by supporting Mrs. Thelma A. K. Akana, Republican senatorial candidate, but Mrs. Akana said she did not want her support.

An Opponent Described.

Today sulphur was distilled between feuding senatorial candidates, James G. Needles and Dave Trask. One of them—it doesn't matter which—was critical of his opponent last night. He said the opponent was "a traitor to you people, a crook; he robs the people, his record is blacker than hell. I am respectable and that is more than that immoral [opponent] can say."

BELGIANS WANT MILITARY RULE; ALLIES DEMUR

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 4.—Posters have appeared in Brussels and other cities of Belgium demanding abdication of the government and the setting up of allied military control over civilian affairs.

When the first news of this reached Maj. Gen. C. W. J. Erskine, head of the supreme allied headquarters mission to Belgium, he was shocked at its implication. It can be reported there is no thought on the part of the allied military authorities to assume direction of this country.

A few weeks ago when the food crisis brought on minor demonstrations and incidents thruout Belgium it was learned that uneasy SHAEF officials were discussing what could be done if the Pierlot cabinet collapsed. Since then the county has become steadier and the government has had a chance to make progress.

Advice Aids Cabinet.

This improvement is largely due to the advice and support of the SHAEF mission. For the sake of the record the government accepts credit for decisions which more often than not have their inspiration at SHAEF. It is allied policy to strengthen the Pierlot administration simply because it is an administration. SHAEF can achieve this objective best by remaining discreetly in the background of Belgian public affairs.

The government was unable to recruit strong support within the country and SHAEF was forced to buttress it.

Typical of SHAEF action in Belgium has been the revival under a new name of the Nazi-created Corporation National de l'Agriculture et de l'Alimentation, a vast organization employing 12,000 persons to distribute food.

It was abolished by the Belgian government in London and this decision was carried out on liberation of the country. The result was chaos in handling of food.

LAST GERMANS LEAVE GREECE; MORE BRITISH LANDED AT SALONIKA

ROME, Italy, Nov. 4 (AP).—British troops and Greek patriots have driven the Germans completely from Greece, allied headquarters announced today. The departure of the last Germans apparently came 38 days after British troops invaded Greece. The Germans overran the country in 27 days in 1941.

An allied announcement today said additional British troops had landed near Salonika, which had been captured by patriots and Britons.

Tonight the Germans were still on the run out of Albania and Serbia.

A German broadcast said Nazi troops had strong positions in northern Albania and were engaged in street fighting with "communist elements" in the capital of Tirana itself.

The Germans who fell back into Yugoslavia were under attack from Yugoslav Partisans at Bitolj, 13 miles north of the Greek border, and at Skoplje, 70 miles farther north, Marshal Tito's headquarters announced. British and Greek patrols were reported nearing Quvoslavia.

ALLIES BUILD SPANS TO SUPPLY FRONT IN ITALY

ROME, Italy, Nov. 4 (AP).—The muddy battle line in Italy barely moved today, but behind it allied engineers were performing amazing feats of road and bridge building to keep open the lines of supply and communications for the forward troops.

Rope bridges, assault boats, and ferries are being used to supply troops in some places on the front.

It was announced officially that allied casualties from May 11, start of the big push that took Rome, to Nov. 4 were 116,150. Gen. Harold Alexander, allied commander in Italy, told correspondents a few days ago that German casualties since May 11 had reached 194,000.

Marshal Kesselring's Wound Called Serious

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 4 (AP).—The Gazette de Lausanne reported today in a dispatch from the Italian frontier that Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, German commander in Italy, had been "very seriously" wounded, requiring long hospitalization. Information from Italy on Thursday said Kesselring was wounded when his automobile overturned near Bologna after being machine-gunned by an allied plane.

CARRIER FLYERS FROM MIDWEST TELL OF RAIDS

Happy Ending of Attack Their Biggest Thrill.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH PACIFIC FLEET, Off Philippine Islands, Oct. 21 [Delayed].—The pilots burst into the ready room, shedding flying suits and helmets. They were returning from blasting Jap bases in islands of the Philippines—Negros, Cebu, Panay, and Masbate—with bombs, torpedoes, and machine gun fire.

The box score of the ship's unit gave them 30 planes destroyed on the ground, one in the air, a small oiler and a coastal craft sunk, four warehouses left flaming and barracks destroyed. The only Jap plane encountered, a twin engine navy bomber, was knocked down off Panay by Lt. Comdr. Leonard Check. All the pilots were home or reported safe.

"I had to empty my cigaret lighter into the tank to get home," said one pilot. "What do you do with gas, drink it?" asked another. Before they are seated the pilots are seized by intelligence unit interrogators. One asks:

"What did you see? What did you hit? Was there much anti-aircraft fire?"

"Saw Them Go."

"I hit these warehouses and this dock at Cebu," reported Pilot Joe Geraghty, 1026 Forest av., Evanston, Ill., pointing to an intelligence photograph.

Pilot James Livingston, 1221 Granville av., Chicago, Ill., whose father is a chief specialist at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, reported anti-aircraft fire at Cebu.

"We were the last ones down on the target," he said. "We really plastered that [indicating a Cebu air field]. There were large buildings by that air strip there. Huge fires were going when we left."

Lt. [j. g.] J. B. Cuff, 1623 Tremont st., Boston, Mass., wished that somebody would get word back to Boston that he would like to see his friend, Tom Foley, an undertaker, but only socially. He recalled his first raid.

"We were going to hit Karenko," he said. "They told us there would be no anti-aircraft fire. I couldn't find much at Karenko so I joined another unit. I came out of the overcast and caught more flak than I knew the Japs had. I prayed a little and came back ready to give hell to the guy who said there would be no flak [anti-aircraft fire]. Then I discovered I had been over Kirrun, not Karenko, so I couldn't say much."

Asks About Chicago.

Roger T. Parish, an ensign-pilot of 15240 Paulina st., Harvey, Ill., dropped in to ask about the raiding flyers. He was over Formosa where he helped take apart an assembly plant with high explosives. Pilot Bill Colleran, 643 Belmont av., Chicago, asked about the home town. He said he got a thrill out of the Formosa raid.

"I thought I got hit by flak," he said. "I found out later that a bird had made the hole in my wing. I got in, tho, without too much trouble."

Jap Story an Excuse.

The pilots started a desultory conversation about Radio Tokyo reports that 45 United States ships, including their own, had been sunk. Some held that the Jap pilots, seeing the result of American fire power, had made a 180 degree turn, scuttled home, and used the report of sinking ships to excuse their safe return. Eight torpedo planes, one fighter and one bomber were unreported.

"They'll never make it," said some one, "they're out of gas." After more waiting, however, the ships' loud-speaker reported that all had landed safely.

"That's that," said a pilot and the group drifted away.

HOSPITAL WITH CHICAGO MEDICS SHOT UP BY JAPS

Middle West Nurses Also Under Fire.

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS ON LEYTE ISLAND, Nov. 5.—A 200 year old hospital in whose sanctuary Americans, Filipinos, and Japs lie side by side, was strafed by Jap planes last night. No matter how slant the eyes or thick the glasses, no one could have possibly mistaken the white washed masonry church for a military objective, yet machine gun bullets from low flying planes converged on the building. Only its position off the road prevented further injury to the wounded soldiers and the American and Filipino nurses and doctors attending them.

The church has been used as a hospital ever since the Americans first arrived, and for several days only Filipino civilians were cared for in the big building, but now all casualties are cared for there. Military police guard the Jap prisoners from irate Filipinos.

Chicagoan Operates.

Army cots rise from the black and white tiled floor and at night blankets hang over the stained glass windows. A dim light in the glass chandeliers picks up the bright colors of Biblical figures on the wall.

Nurses from Midwest.

Among the nurses are Lt. Anne Ginsterblum of Prairie du Chien, Wis., Lt. Rose Chapman, 659 Cornelia av., Chicago, and Lt. Olga K. Holder, 6351 N. Maplewood av., Chicago. Their assistants are Joe Bovuslawsky, 1860 S. Springfield av., Chicago; Red Fererro, a native of Luzon who worked at a Bartlett, Ill., inn 15 years as a pastry cook, and Lew Ayres, the former movie star.

As the strafing ends the grey haired hospital commander, Col. Sim Hulsey of Fort Worth, Tex., anxiously checks the cots spread before the altar where the nurses off duty are trying to rest.

"They need some sleep," he says. "The colonel could use some himself. He goes to his camp outside the church to find it pierced by a score of bullet holes."

5,000 U. S. PLANES BLAST FACTORIES IN 11 NAZI CITIES

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP). — More than 5,000 allied planes smashed at 11 reich industrial cities in day and night assaults today.

The day was rounded out by the attack tonight of more than 1,000 R. A. F. heavy bombers against Bochum, important industrial city in the Ruhr. During the day American heavyweights on widespread big scale raids met no opposition from the luftwaffe.

The United States 8th air force reported eight bombers and six fighters missing from a force of more than 1,900.

Thru heavy clouds they bombed oil refineries in the Hamburg-Harburg area of northern Germany and at Misburg near Hanover, a synthetic oil plant at Gelsenkirchen and railway yards at Hanover and Saarbrucken. Intense anti-aircraft fire was encountered over Hanover and Gelsenkirchen.

In a coördinated strike, 800 bombers and 400 fighters of the Italy based United States 15th air force struck oil plants at Regensburg and Augsburg and hit rail yards at Munich and Linz.

R. A. F. Lancasters during the afternoon attacked Solingen, city south of the Ruhr and famous for its light engineering industry.

Mosquitos last night gave Berlin its 182d raid of the war, and the German radio said more allied planes were over Germany tonight.

KWEILIN BATTLE RAGES ON THREE SIDES OF CITY

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 4 (AP) —Japanese troops have penetrated Kweilin's eastern, western and northern suburbs, and intense fighting is raging there, the Chinese high command announced tonight. An enemy column from the east which by-passed that defense pivot struck down the Hunan-Kwangsi railway toward Liuchow and reached a point six miles from Yungfu, 33 miles southwest of Kweilin.

Liuchow now is the most important rail center in all free China, and is also the site of an advanced American air base.

JAP RETREAT IN BURMA HINTS AT AN EVACUATION

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 4 (AP).—Allied forces are advancing so rapidly in North Burma against so little opposition as to raise the question of when and where the Japanese plan to put up further resistance.

One possibility is that the whole Japanese situation has deteriorated so badly on account of American successes in the Pacific that they are assembling in South Burma for a total withdrawal.

The Japanese long ago evidently accepted defeat in the air over Burma, but in recent months they have taken a land beating as well.

Two Forces Advance.

During the last month of steady advance the British 36th division has moved southward from the Mogaung vicinity along the main railroad line until it now is at Mawlu, 35 miles northwest of Katha. Katha is an important Irrawaddy river port and rail head 100 miles southwest of Myitkyina, which was taken from the Japanese Aug. 4.

During the same time Chinese forces operating more directly southward from Myitkyina have reached within 15 miles of Bhamo, important Irrawaddy river station. Bhamo and Katha are almost on a line east and west.

Chinese and British forces advancing southward on parallel lines about 70 miles apart have covered almost one-third of the distance to Mandalay. Repeatedly they have crossed streams and other natural defense points where the Japanese might have put up a stout defense, but little opposition was found.

The Japanese suffered heavy losses on the two Burma fronts this spring and summer. The British estimated that approximately 50,000 were killed on the Imphal-Kohima-Tiddim front, while Gen. Stilwell estimated he got only slightly fewer in the north Burma campaign which cleared the Ledo road as far as Myitkyina.

Burmese More Friendly.

Other Japanese were killed by Chinese advancing from Yunnan across the Salween river into northeast Burma. That represents the killing of six or seven divisions, without counting the number of wounded or dying of disease.

In addition the British forces which beat the Japanese back from Imphal now are advancing into Burma along the Chindwin river, and a spearhead has reached a point about 200 miles southwest of Katha.

There are indications that the Burmese, who before were either apathetic or hostile, now are changing their attitude because they are convinced the Japanese are losing the war.

Japs Flee from Lungling.

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 4 (AP). —The Japanese who lost the Burma road city of Lungling to the Chinese were fleeing across difficult mountain trails today with the Chinese in pursuit and pressing the enemy rear guard at Changchingshaw, three miles southwest of Lungling, the Chinese high command announced.

U. S. Planes Damage Two Jap Cargo Ships in Palaus

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—Raiding Japanese positions thruout the western Pacific, American planes damaged 2 enemy cargo ships, destroyed a number of barges and strafed and bombed island bases. The small cargo ships, the navy reported tonight, were heavily damaged at Babelthuap in the Palau group.

RUSSIA REJECTS SWISS BID TO RESUME TIES

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Russia has turned down Swiss proposals for reëstablishment of diplomatic relations between the two nations after more than a 20 year lapse because "the Swiss government, up to now, in no way has disavowed itself from its former policy hostile to the soviet union," the Moscow radio declared tonight.

The broadcast, quoting an official soviet government reply, said it was "a generally known fact that for many years the Swiss government, contrary to its ancient democratic traditions, has been pursuing a hostile pro-fascist policy toward the soviet which, together with other democratic countries, has been consistently fighting against Hitlerite Germany in the interests of peace loving peoples."

The Moscow radio on Oct. 29 announced Russia would not attend the Chicago international conference on civil aviation because "countries like Switzerland, Portugal, and Spain, which for many years have conducted a pro-fascist policy hostile to the soviet union, have also been invited."

Switzerland was among the first to recognize the U. S. R. R. in 1918, but relations were broken off later. The killing in Lausanne, Switzerland, of Vaslav Vorovsky, soviet delegate to the Lausanne conference of 1923, contributed largely to the break.

Tonight's broadcast said the Swiss proposal for reëstablishing relations was submitted by the Swiss minister plenipotentiary in London on Oct. 11, and that the negative reply was given Nov. 1.

Early in 1941, Switzerland negotiated a trade agreement with Russia, in the first formal contact since the suspension of relations.

BURGLARS GET $200 NARCOTICS.

Narcotics valued at $200 and $20 were taken by burglars who forced the front door of the Lauf pharmacy, 2659 W. 63d st., J. J. Lauf, owner, told police yesterday.

SOUTH DAKOTA GIVES HUNTERS "PHEASANT JACKPOT" in 1944

A bag limit increased to 10 birds daily, and a possession limit of 35, are high spots of the 1944 South Dakota pheasant season regulations. Non-resident hunters are permitted to ship a total of 50 pheasants out of the state.

Another bountiful crop of the giant brilliant bronze Ring Necks makes possible this "pheasant jackpot" for hunters of the nation . . . more evidence that South Dakota has no rival for the title "Pheasant Capital of the Nation".

SEASON OPENED SEPT. 20—CLOSES JAN. 17

Plan now to hunt this most beautiful of upland game in South Dakota this fall. There are hundreds of isolated, virgin spots teeming with Ring Necks where the call of the cock pheasant is the most familiar sound and hunters seldom penetrate. For their location and other information write

35,000 SANTAS ON TRIBUNE GIFT TO YANKS LIST

Rolls Are Closed as the Names Pour In.

Tribune readers who desire to send Christmas gifts to sick and wounded soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guardsmen, and merchant seamen in 18 military hospitals in nine central and middlewestern states have responded so generously to THE TRIBUNE's appeal that no more requests for names will be accepted.

Nearly 35,000 requests for names of service men in hospitals have been received and classified by THE TRIBUNE. These requests assure that none will be missed.

Names of the service men will be collected in the hospitals during the first few days in December and passed on to Tribune readers in time to allow those who send gifts about three weeks for selection, wrapping, and mailing.

Held to Christmas Eve.

When the Christmas gifts reach the hospitals they will be stored until the day before Christmas when there will be parties around trees for those who are able to go to auditoriums. Presents will be delivered thru the wards to those who are bedfast.

Cards bearing service men's names which will be sent to readers will list one or more gifts they would like to receive—something they need during their stay in the hospital or something to pass time. For those who are recovering from operations or medical treatment, passing time frequently is the greatest problem.

Thousands of service men in the military hospitals are ambulatory. They can get to the frequent shows and they can visit among their comrades, but there still is a need for cards, games, puzzles—anything to occupy their time and minds.

Personal Delivery Barred.

Hospitals to which Tribune readers will send Christmas gifts for service men are located in Chicago, Great Lakes, and Galesburg, Ill.; Clinton, Ia., Topeka and Fort Riley, Kas.; Springfield, Fort Leonard Wood, and Camp Crowder, Mo.; Indianapolis, and Camp Atterbury, Ind.; Louisville, and Fort Knox, Ky.; Cambridge, and Cleveland, O.

Many letters which accompanied the numerous requests for names of service men asked for those in hospitals close to the homes of the readers so delivery could be made in person. Personal delivery of the gifts is impossible, because only relatives are permitted to visit service men in hospitals.

Because relatives are encouraged to visit sick and wounded service men as frequently as possible every one of the 18 hospitals has as many visitors every visiting day as can be cared for. This is why strangers are not admitted.

CALLS ON YOUTH FOR MORE GIVE AND LESS TAKE

America has made the mistake of giving her young people too much and asking too little of them, Dr. Jay B. Nash, head of the physical education school of New York university, said last night at the 11th annual sports assembly of the Y. M. C. A. of Chicago, in the Lawson Y. M. C. A.

"The cause of some of the troubles into which youth has fallen lies in our giving too much and asking too little of boys and girls," he said. "They are more apt to appreciate that for which they have worked."

Dr. Nash recommended that every American boy and girl spend at least three summers during the high school period in the service of the nation. He addressed 155 representatives of the staffs and lay committees of the 23 departments of the Y. M. C. A.

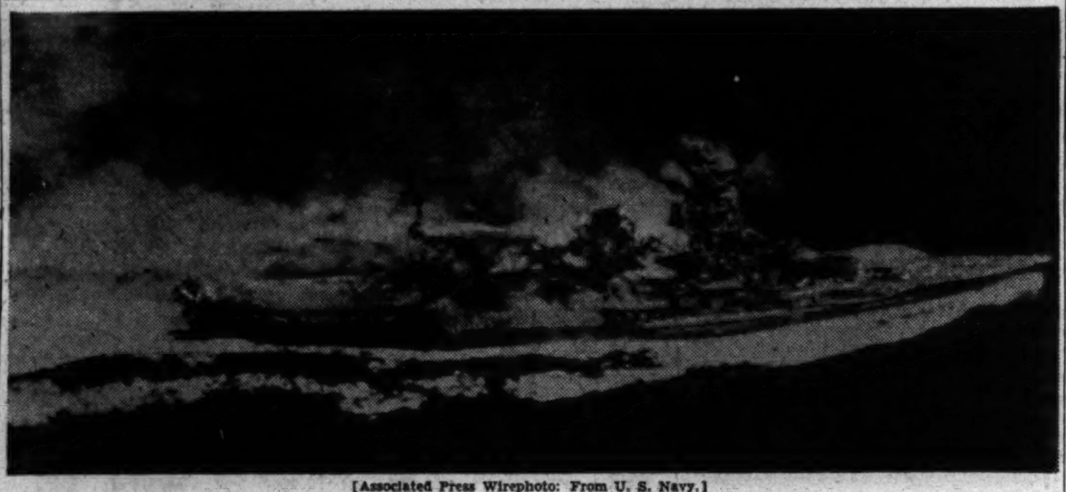
Japanese Battleship Flees in Philippines



[Associated Press Wirephoto: From U. S. Navy.]

This warship, described as a battleship-aircraft carrier, steams under full throttle toward hiding place during second battle of the Philippine sea. Under attack by aircraft of the U. S. Pacific fleet, it was hit by many bombs and perhaps seven to nine torpedoes before escaping.

REDS QUESTION STATUS OF U. S. TROOPS IN IRAN

Say No Agreement Covered Entry.

MOSCOW, Nov. 4 (AP).—Renewing soviet criticism of the Iranian government for refusing to discuss oil concessions to Russia until after the war, Izvestia, official soviet government paper, said today that American troops were in Iran without any agreement with Iran.

[Presence of American service troops in Iran was disclosed in 1942. Their mission has been to supply war materials to Russia by way of the Persian gulf route and the trans-Iranian railway. Russia and Britain took over in Iran in the summer of 1941, dividing the country into northern and southern spheres of influence. The soviet purpose in apparently questioning the propriety of American presence in Iran at this time, when the Persian gulf supply route is less vital to Russia, was not made entirely clear by the Izvestia article.]

U. S. Envoy's Note Quoted.

Izvestia's article said the Iran newspaper of Saed Zia-Zed-Din "has published a letter from the United States ambassador to the Iranian government saying that the decision not to grant an American oil concession until the end of the war would not cause the American government regret or alarm because Iran is an independent country. "But nobody," it added, "is fighting against the independence of Iran. The matter referred to oil concessions for the soviet union in northern Iran."

Izvestia said the presence of soviet and British troops in Iran was in conformity with treaty, but "there are also American troops, and these are in Iran without any agreement with the Iranian government."

Hits Iran "Reactionaries."

Izvestia said the soviet government "cannot fail to consider" that Iranian refusal of a soviet oil offer "is a manifestation of reactionary Iranian elements which aim to prevent a rapprochement between the U. S. S. R. and Iran."

After stating that Iran has granted oil concessions to Britons and Americans, Izvestia added that when Russia made an offer Premier Mohammed Saed's government "immediately adopted a negative attitude and desired not even to learn the conditions."

[When Premier Saed announced postponement of oil discussions until after the war, he said the oil question had caused the downfall of the cabinet that preceded his own.]

Iran Increases Demands.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—It was learned here tonight that for two years the United States has been negotiating with Iran on a treaty to regularize the presence of American troops in Iran. The Americans took over, at British request, the maintenance of the middle eastern supply road to Russia. Just as a treaty was about to be signed last year, Prime Minister Churchill, Marshal Stalin, and President Roosevelt made the declaration of Tehran promising withdrawal of their troops from Iran six months after hostilities.

The Persians then delayed signing the treaty. Since then they have indicated they want it to include clauses turning over without charge American military installations at the end of the war.

Parley Reported Planned.

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—It was authoritatively reported in London tonight that the United States, Russia, and Britain would hold special consultations to settle the question of Iranian oil concessions.

COL. MORROW KRUM MEMORIAL WILL BE SHORE PLAYGROUND

Col. Morrow Krum.

Col. Morrow Krum, former resident of Lake Forest and Chicago advertising executive, who was killed in an army plane crash in Iceland in May, 1943, is to be memorialized with a children's playground bearing his name, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Proehl Jaklon, chairman of the Morrow Krum Memorial Fund of the Arden Shore association. The playground will be in the Arden Shore camp in Lake Bluff. Col. Krum was press relations officer for the European theater of operations at the time of his death. He was an aviation cadet in World War I.

S. AFRICAN TOWN SENDS GIRL OF 11 TO U. S. SURGEON

Since they were told three months ago that only a famous American surgeon could perform the operation necessary to save Margaret's sight, Vereeniging citizens contributed $4,000 to enable the child to make the trip.

And now Margaret will soon be in a hospital in America where there is every chance of saving her from blindness.

Conductor Shot in Ankle in Poker Game Dispute

Ray Swital, 33, of 2801 N. Keating av., a street car conductor, was shot in the right ankle last night in a quarrel with John Conroy, 30, of 1518 N. Kilpatrick av., with whom Swital and two other street car men were playing poker in a tavern at 1549 N. Cicero av. Police said Conroy, a candy store clerk, opened fire when Swital won a $6 pot by turning up an ace. Conroy was held on an assault complaint and the other poker players were charged with disorderly conduct.

STRIKE CALLED ONCE MORE ON 2 SUBURBAN LINES

A strike of approximately 600 employes of the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee and the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin railroads was called for 4 a. m. Friday, Nov. 10, by the executive councils of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen in joint session in the Hamilton hotel yesterday.

The strike order followed rejection by the President's emergency board of a demand for a 9 cents an hour wage increase. An offer of 5 cents an hour was rejected by the executive boards.

A strike vote previously had been taken, and the 30 day cooling off period provided by law expired yesterday, said J. A. Zanger, vice president of the BRT, who made the strike announcement jointly with Dan B. Miller, vice president of the BFE. The railway mediation board was notified of the strike order.

PARIS TO BASE PRESS PAPER QUOTA ON SALES

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Nov. 4.—A revolution in the French press was brought about today by a decision of the minister of information compelling newspapers in the Paris district to print their total circulation figures each day.

Before the war newspapers, with few exceptions, were reluctant to reveal circulation figures. Selling arguments to advertisers were based on such abstract considerations as "prestige" and "influence."

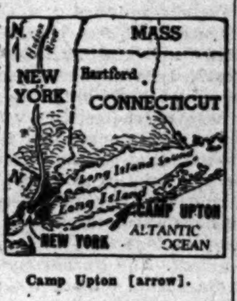
The scarcity of newsprint is responsible for the revolution. Since the liberation, almost 40 daily papers have blossomed forth in Paris alone, besides a relatively large number of weeklies.

CAMP REDEEMS ARMY PRISONERS FOR FULL DUTY

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—Camp Upton is making a good record in the rehabilitation of soldiers, camp officers reported today.



Camp Upton [arrow].

Of the men who have been sent to this Long Island center because they went A. W. O. L. or committed other military offenses, 55.7 per cent have redeemed themselves and been restored to full duty, the record showed. Others have been dishonorably discharged, transferred to disciplinary barracks, or have completed their sentences.

Maj. William H. Burke, a penal authority in civilian life who is on the staff of Lt. Col Frank T. Madigan, commanding officer, said the results were better than in the last war, when soldiers running afoul of military law wound up in prison or disciplinary barracks without much effort to redeem them.

Labor and Training.

The center houses a population of 1,900 to 2,000 general prisoners, all sentenced to six months or more by army courts martial. Men convicted of crimes more serious than desertion are sent elswhere.

All sentences against the prisoners include dishonorable discharges, which are suspended to give the men a chance to rehabilitate themselves. Meanwhile, they are confined behind 14 foot barbed wire fences and do hard labor half a day and military training the other half.

Under military regulations, they must come before a clemency board within the first six months of confinement, and thereafter at least once a year. Those who show progress are transferred from one of the two disciplinary battalions to the honor battalion, the last step before full restoration. In the honor group they perform only military duty.

Red Letter Day.

Graduation to full military service, marked by a colorful ceremony, is a red letter day for the former inmates. Usually when the graduate joins a regular outfit, only he and his new commanding officer know of his past record.

Maj. Burke said that many of the former inmates have distinguished themselves at the battle front.

Camp Upton is one of six centers thruout the country, and men are sent there from three service commands along the eastern seaboard.

DEWEY.

on his record as a public official. The opposition has examined it again and again in the utmost detail, hoping to find something that would reflect upon his capacity or integrity. Nothing came of all these efforts, as the voters well know. If anything which had even a suspicious look had been turned up, the charges would have been made public long before this.

We haven't always agreed with Dewey during this campaign. We did not share his views on foreign policy and we haven't hesitated to say so, but we can't question his candor and honesty. He is not saying anything again and again and again when he means the exact opposite. Dewey has a conscience that is in good working order and his whole record shows that he believes in keeping faith with the people. When he promises economy and a balanced budget, he does so, as his career in New York shows, without having the secret intention of spending more than ever was spent before.

We're for Dewey among other reasons because he's honestly persuaded that the New Deal has been doping the people to their great injury with socialist panaceas. Mr. Dewey doesn't believe in government-run-everything. He doesn't believe in deficits. In economic and social matters he can be expected to exercise good common sense and his judgment isn't going to be weakened by lack of experience in earning his own living or perverted by shame at never having done so.

Mr. Dewey has faith in America, faith in its future, and faith in its institutions of freedom. If elected, he will be a constitutional President. Congress will not be asked to pass laws regardless of doubts as to their constitutionality. There is going to be no talk of packing the courts. There will be no fears of dictatorship. There will be a new confidence, lacking these dozen years, in the integrity of the government, in its competence, and in its devotion to the Republic.

PICTURES TURNED TOWARD THE WALL.

Gov. Dewey has aptly described the New Deal as "old, tired, and quarrelsome." It has become old and tired with the years. Quarrelsome it was from the beginning. The list of defections among those in Mr. Roosevelt's inner circle is formidable. The list of those proscribed is equally extensive. One of them, Dr. Stanley High, the former head of Mr. Roosevelt's sardonically named Good Neighbor league, said: "In nothing and toward no one has a feud been forgotten, a hate relaxed, or an ambition shelved."

There were those who helped to create Mr. Roosevelt. The 1932 nomination would never have come had not William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, influenced the swing of the Texas and California delegations to Mr. Roosevelt. In that deal John Garner relinquished his quest for the nomination to accept nomination for Vice President. Hearst took a look at what he had helped bring into being when the New Deal came to bloom and departed. Garner lasted longer. The third term was more than he could stomach.

There was Jim Farley, wily political manipulator and dispenser of patronage. Came the third term and Mr. Farley went. He had hoped that turnabout might be considered fair play and that he would be given his chance for the nomination. Mr. Roosevelt disabused him.

There was Raymond Moley, leader of the original brain trust. Sadder but wiser, he eventually went his way, pouring forth in his memoirs the ingratitude and treachery that had been his reward and writing a memorable epitaph for the New Deal as "a cross between a soup kitchen and a pawn shop."

There was Al Smith, Mr. Roosevelt's patron in New York state politics, the unhappy warrior who was unseated at the 1932 convention by his scheming disciple. He "took a walk."

There was Gen. Hugh Johnson, a Roosevelt zealot in early NRA days, who found himself outmatched in a game where as often as not sleeves held hidden knives as well as fifth aces. He, with Moley, became one of the New Deal's most unrelenting critics.

There were the publishers whose support of Mr. Roosevelt continued well after Mr. Hearst's forbearance was exhausted. The reward of Roy Howard was to be dubbed a reactionary when he reacted from the New Deal. The reward of Capt. Joseph Patterson of the vastly influential New York News was to be read a lecture by the commander in chief because he could not subscribe to Mr. Roosevelt's hell-bent plunge toward war.

There was John L. Lewis, who found himself reviled after he had poured $800,000 into the second term campaign; Sen. Robert La Follette, condemned as an isolationist, and Lewis W. Douglas, the first budget director of the Roosevelt administration, who fell out with his boss over New Deal extravagance.

There was the author of the rubber dollar, Dr. George F. Warren, who had been Henry Morgenthau's instructor at Cornell. He found himself out one bright day and his pupil in. There was Prof. O. M. W. Sprague of Harvard, monetary expert, who resigned as adviser to the treasury department in protest against Mr. Roosevelt's tinkering with the dollar. Dean Acheson, undersecretary of the treasury, and Thomas Hewes, assistant secretary, lasted only a few months.

There was Rep. John O'Connor of New York, chairman of the house ways and means committee, who denounced the Communists in the New Deal and was purged in 1938. There was Secretary of War Harry Woodring, shoved out when Mr. Roosevelt made his bi-partisan deal to give the job to Henry Stimson in 1940. There was Rep. Hatton W, Sumners of Texas, chairman of the house committee on the judiciary, who said, when Mr. Roosevelt disclosed his scheme to pack the Supreme court, "Well, boys, here's where I turn in my chips."

There was Joseph Robinson of Arkansas, Mr. Roosevelt's senate majority leader, who had been given by his chief to understand that a place on the Supreme court would be his. Conscience compelled him to resist the court packing scheme. The appointment went instead to Hugo Black, and Robinson died of a broken heart.

There were all the southerners in congress who distrusted the radical bent of an administration that was destroying the Democratic party as they had always known it—Sen. Harry Byrd, with his demands for economy, and dozens of others, among them the late Pat Harrison, who pronounced this judgment upon the New Deal, "You can no more spend yourself into prosperity than you can drink yourself sober."

The list is still growing. Only the other day Joseph B. Ely, the former Democratic governor of Massachusetts, denounced Mr. Roosevelt and all his works, saying, "What was once the Democratic party has been taken over, lock, stock, and barrel, by a coterie of totalitarian Socialists, city bosses, Communists, and disciples of a disciplined—polite word for regimented—democracy. With me it is the United States of America against the PAC."

As Gov. Dewey said in Boston, "The New Deal is not a party. It is a collection of parties, all of which hate each other. The New Deal has become a collection of warring factions, tied together only by a consuming passion for power."

It is from this New Deal Washington, animated by a philosophy of dog eat dog, that the people are being given what is blandly described as an indispensable leadership in war which also is supposed to unify the nation and lead it back into peace. There is no unity there. Only those skilled in the arts of the Mafia, like Harold Ickes, can survive, and they, envenomed, suspicious, fearful of every other man, spend their days whetting their knives and looking about for fresh victims.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

THE TRIBUNE, believing that in the Republican party lies the hope of preserving the Republic and the institutions of freedom, recommends a straight Republican vote. That can be accomplished by placing a cross in the party circle at the top of the ballot.

The national candidates and the national issues, the state and local candidates and issues, have been discussed at length in our columns in recent weeks and months and there is no need now to repeat the arguments in detail. In the Metropolitan section today will be found editorial comment on the candidates for congress.

The Democrats this year have not only their party machine to get out the vote, but the highly organized Political Action committees as well. It is therefore doubly important that every Republican voter go to the polls and that he vote the straight ticket. The future of the Republic is at stake.

INSIDE THE JACKASS.

The stage horse is a two-man affair, and one might presume that the New Deal donkey would follow suit, with Mr. Roosevelt fore and Harry S. Truman aft. But it begins to appear from Mr. Truman's campaign utterances that there are a lot of other fellows with him and his partner under the skin.

Mr. Truman was recently questioned about the attitude of the New Deal toward Hal Styles, a candidate for congress in California with the blessing of the party and its communist subsidiary, Sidney Hillman's political action committee. It was discovered after Mr. Styles got the nomination that he had once been a wizard of sorts in the konklaves of the Ku Klux Klan.

"If he's ours, we're for him," Mr. Truman said simply, and the donkey thereupon acquired its fifth and sixth legs.

Then the other day in San Francisco Mr. Truman was asked how he and the New Deal stood on Earl Browder, the ex-convict boss of the Communists, whom the commander in chief professed recently not to want around. Mr. Truman's answer on this one was, "I welcome the support of Browder or any one else who will keep President Roosevelt in office and win the war and win the peace."

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman, as end men inside the donkey suit, were already giving a reasonably entertaining performance, but the audience really ought to be panicked now that the critter has got eight legs—and, if you can believe Mr. Truman, all going in the same way, at that.

THE G. O. P. CAR POOL.

No Republican voter need be kept home from the polls Tuesday because of bad weather or physical handicap. The Republican state central committee has organized a volunteer pool of 17,000 automobiles—5,000 for Cook county and 12,000 downstate—to take voters to and from the polls. Precinct leaders will see to it that any one who needs transportation will get it. The Republican organization is to be congratulated. We hope that its idea will be copied by Republicans all over the country.

NO SURPRISE.

[Fergus Falls (Minn.) Daily Journal.]

Sen. Ball, "Republican" senator from Minnesota, has stabbed Dewey in the back and come out for President Roosevelt. There is nothing surprising about this. We are informed that Mr. Ball was president of a CIO union before he was appointed senator by Ex-Gov. Stassen and it was natural that he should swing over to the Roosevelt camp.

ANSWERS.

1. Barrel. 2. Roosevelt. 3. Roosevelt. 4. Wheat. 5. Marconi. 6. Solomon, Adam, and Samson are Old Testament characters. The other two belong to the New Testament.

THE PHILIPPINES

[Following is the address delivered last night by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, on the Chicago Theater of the Air over W-G-N, WGNB, and Mutual Broadcasting system.]

BY COL. ROBERT R. McCORMICK.

To understand why the Asiatic races subject to the European empires welcomed the Japanese invaders while the Filipinos resisted them, we must look far back into history.

When Magellan rounded the Cape of Good Hope in 1797, war had been continuous between the Christians and the Mohammedans for a thousand years. Indeed, the Mohammedans had been driven out of Spain only five years earlier.

This war was characterized by the massacre or enslavement of prisoners and the sacking of captured towns. All of the Europeans, therefore, looked upon the Asiatics as enemies to be massacred and robbed. They did massacre and rob them and reduce them to slavery.

Ocean trade at that time was generally combined with piracy. The Netherlands were about to revolt from Spain, an act which, according to universal law then and for some centuries to follow, exposed them to massacre and torture.

War was to break out between England and Spain because of British pirates preying on Spanish gold, robbed from the unfortunate Central and South Americans. In such an atmosphere of violence and crime, colonial possessions were obtained and fought over.

With the passing of the centuries, virulent hatred turned to haughty contempt, and piracy by force to exploitation by rapacious legislation and administration, while the European countries fought each other over the spoils for centuries until they reached the present—or late—status reasonably satisfactory to all of them. This accounts for the hatred of the subject peoples for their oppressors.

As you all know, Columbus crossed the Atlantic ocean in 1492 in quest of Asia. His successors—Hudson, Cabot, Cartier, and others—sought passages thru North America to reach it.

When Balboa discovered the Pacific ocean at Panama and claimed all of the lands its waters touched for his master, the king of Spain, Magellan decided to try to find a passage thru South America, and to that end, persuaded King Charles V. of Spain that he knew of such a passageway—which he did not. The story of Magellan's voyage is one of the great epics of discovery, but it is enough for us that in 1520 he discovered the islands which were to become the Philippines.

Spanish possession was established in the face of Portuguese opposition. A Chinese invasion was repelled and at one time Manila fell into British hands.

By the time the Philippines were settled a generation later, the fury of Cortez and Pizarro had burned out. Unlike the conquests of the Americas, the Spanish occupation of the Philippines was benificent. When the Central and South Americans revolted early in the last century, the Filipinos remained content.

Trade at first was a government monopoly via ship to the west coast of Mexico. Later, it was opened to private trade and still later to foreign trade.

The violent fluctuations in Spain between self-government and autocracy unsettled the Filipinos. When the Cuban rebellion began in 1895, it was followed in 1896 by rebellion in the Philippines.

American public opinion, which was inflamed by Spanish methods of repression in Cuba, was utterly unaware of the existence of the Philippines.

As a boy from the west, where feeling for war to free Cuba ran high, at a school in the east, where the teachers and boys were opposed to the war, I was in constant argument, but never heard the Philippines mentioned. The news of the battle of Manila came as a complete surprise.

To Commodore Dewey, Spain was the enemy—the Filipino insurgents, natural allies. He landed Aguinaldo near Manila to fight the Spaniards, and shortly afterward the decision was taken in America to retain the islands.

Nothing is stranger in our history than that a war begun to free Cuba, and which had freed Cuba, should be continued to conquer the Philippines.

A variety of emotions and motives led to this decision: First, a feeling that the Filipinos should not be returned to Spanish tyranny, or conveyed by them to some other European despotism. There was the American missionary sense that we should bring enlightenment to the natives. There was a sense of national aggrandizement, and, not least, there was the astute diplomacy of Great Britain, which wanted us to stay there in order to keep the Germans out.

American government at first was, of necessity, military, but there was soon attached to it the Philippine commission. One of the members was Dean Worcester, who had visited the Philippines in the capacity of botanist. He was almost the only American acquainted with them. This commission suggested orders to the general in command, including habeas corpus. Shortly afterward President McKinley instructed the commission as follows:

". . . to bear in mind that the government which we are establishing is designed not for our satisfaction nor for the expression of our theoretical views, but for the happiness, peace, and prosperity of the people of the Philippine Islands. . . ."—a conception utterly new in the world of the relation between a dominant country and its dependency.

The Spaniards had kept the Filipinos illiterate. One of the first acts of the American administration was to open schools with American teachers. As these teachers taught the history of the United States, they inevitably taught the glory of freedom.

Our first civil government provided for participation by the Filipinos in the government. It was progressively and continuously increased. This was facilitated by the fact that in America there was no upper class to which earning a living by its own endeavor was demeaning, while support in a government sinecure was honorable. Hence, there were no Americans striving for political appointments in the Philippines, in contrast to the thousands of Europeans insisting upon holding all the good jobs in the European or Asiatic empires and forming strong political machines at home to maintain them. These machines, even more than the special privileges in shipping, communications, brokerage, and finance, are the causes of imperial tyranny of our time.

In the course of time, the imperial and missionary spirit, which caused our country to retain the Philippines, cooled, and was succeeded by an indifference which approximated the ignorance of them before 1898.

As early as 1929, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica, "the campaign of the Filipinos for independence had gained new allies in the United States among producers of sugar, tobacco, fats, and other products, and the labor unions which feared the competition of Filipino immigrants. A bill supported by these interests and providing for independence finally passed both houses of congress, was vetoed by President Hoover, and passed again over his veto in 1933, but failed of ratification by the Philippine legislature."

The next year another bill providing for independence in 1946 passed both houses of congress and received the Presidential approval on March 24, 1934, and was ratified by the Philippine legislature. This measure omitted the important provision in the first one that reserved to the United States sites for naval bases.

Such, in brief, is the history of the Philippines, the history of the first time a militarily inferior people was treated with Christian generosity—the first time that a people who were overcome by irresistible might came to love their conquerors and to stand by them with a loyalty absolutely unique in history.

HARD AND FAST RULES FOR CHILDREN.

I OFTEN wonder if we are not making a serious mistake in overregimenting our little ones. After all, they are persons and—while we can establish regulations for the rearing of the average youngster—the development of individuality must be given full play.

Certainly, to the intelligent mother we are prescribing entirely too much. We are saying, you must feed at such and such an hour exactly so much—one-third of an egg yolk or three-sixteenths of a bit of toast. To me this is rubbish. Surely the one who is responsible for the care of the infant should know that egg yolk is valuable at about a certain time of life and that probably the amount should be small.

There is just one consideration that must be paramount—is junior happy and gaining? Fat is not strength and obesity should be watched just as much as with an adult.

But to rear babies by hard and fast rules is undesirable. No doubt we need directions, reasonably explicit ones, but they should allow enough latitude to permit the youngster to grow up naturally. Specific hours of rest may suit one child exactly but such a program may not be applicable to the tot who lives across the street.

On one occasion a mother read in a book that 3 year olds should have two stools a day. Her son had one, wholly adequate movement, shortly after breakfast. Nevertheless, she obliged him to submit to an enema every night. After a time he rebelled and the family doctor was called upon to decide. The boy was perfectly well and the single stool was all that he required.

We should not be too fussy about table manners with our two year olds. Of course they will spill food on the floor and all over their faces and bibs. But this does not mean that the tike shall not be allowed to feed himself.

I wonder how much love has been lost, how much affection has been retarded, because of insistence upon a stereotyped schedule of conduct. One of the great compensations of parenthood is to observe the growth of the intellect, the beginning of coördination of muscles. The quiet voiced mother who plays with her offspring during hours of waking activity not only makes a deep impression with her personality but becomes his best friend. She learns to know him and he her. Bonds of understanding are forged far earlier than many of us have been led to believe. She will realize instinctively when it is best to permit him to cry himself to sleep. On the other hand, she will sense when help is essential.

There is room in a home for a goodly number of broken rules which probably will make for more naturalness. The sooner we can let our progeny start to shape their own destinies under wise parental guidance the quicker we will get away from dependent, incompetent adults.

ACUTE, NOT CHRONIC.

W. A. writes: Is there such a thing as chronic appendicitis?

REPLY.

Actually, no. An acute attack may subside, leaving scars behind. To all intents and purposes, the structure is not infected. A new episode may appear, however, months or years later. This is a second seizure—not a recurrence of the first.

MALARIA.

E. H. writes: My fiancé, who is on duty in the South seas, has contracted malaria. My mother tells me that after we are married he will be sterile. Is this true?

REPLY.

Bunk. This is a widespread but false rumor. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on malaria.

DIPHTHERIA.

P. J. writes: In the case of an epidemic of diphtheria should children be re-vaccinated?

REPLY.

By all means, if the Schick test is positive. Protection will be demanded for susceptible children.

HOME NURSING.

A. K. writes: Some time ago you offered a leaflet on taking care of an invalid in the home. Is this still available?

REPLY.

Yes. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for home nursing procedures.

IT'S YES OR NO.

F. T. writes: What is meant by "a touch of pneumonia?"

REPLY.

Probably a small area of lung congestion instead of one or more lobes. There really is no such thing. One has pneumonia or one doesn't.

SENSIBLE.

Mrs. P. D. writes: Am I considered fussy because I insist on washing fruit before eating it?

REPLY.

I should say not. You eliminate countless bacteria and possible metallic sprays used to destroy insects.

DAMP HAIR.

Mrs. J. writes: I use water every day when I am making my baby's curls. Is this dangerous?

REPLY.

No harm if the scalp and tresses are clean. If germs are present [dirt], the locks will smell sour.

NOT AERATED.

I. M. writes: What causes lack of oxygen in the blood?

REPLY.

Too few or unhealthy red cells. Trouble within the breathing apparatus should also be thought of.

DEMOCRACY AND THE REPUBLIC.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 1.—Beginning after the last World war, there has been increasing talk of "democracy"; I am under the impression that my school days spoke only of the "American Republic." Perhaps I am correct, for in the last Democratic convention, Josephus Daniels referred constantly to the "Republic," never to the "democracy." And there is a fundamental distinction between the two, despite the shillyshallying with words found in the latest Webster's.

The very idea of "democracy" is based upon the concept of power, as are its close kinsmen, "monarchy" and "oligarchy." This is fundamentally an oriental notion of government, unfortunately borrowed by the Greeks and subsequently propagated among other western people. The rule of the one in monarchy, the rule of the few in oligarchy, and the rule of the majority in democracy all imply that the power and the might which makes right must be exercised over somebody; that in the hierarchical pyramid of power there must always be some luckless individuals who are at the bottom and get trampled down. And democracy is only relatively better than the other two in that fewer individuals are kicked around.

A republic, on the other hand, is based upon the entirely different conception of responsibility and duty. Its etymological derivation shows that it is "res publica" where "publica" literally means of the "people" and implies that the state assumes the responsibility of safeguarding and maintaining the interests of the people, rather than of exercising the prerogative of power over a portion of the population on behalf of the other portion.

It would take a long argument to prove all that follows, but the fundamental idea is found in the clear cut distinction in Roman law between public law and private law. Public law specifies the ends which the state is to achieve and sets the limits to its sphere of action. In brief, the state has two duties to perform: To protect the people against aggression from without [vs. the centripetal forces which threaten to disrupt the structure of a given civilized community]; and to maintain order within a given political sphere [i.e., vs. the centrifugal forces within which likewise threaten the pattern of the organized community].

In all other respects, the rights of men are to be sought for in private law and a republic is an attempt to organize society in such a way that the majority and minority alike shall be free from the arbitrary exercise of power by the state itself. Such a state of affairs is the only sensible meaning that can be attached to the idea of Liberty. I have had many ding-dong battles with political scientists over this terminology, and with little success, since they persist in understanding liberty as a political concept, whereas if it has anything to do with the rights of men it must necessarily be a juridical concept.

A republic is usually organized in the form of the superior sovereignty of the state for the attainment of its aims, as above, and a series of subordinate sovereignties which prevent the power of the state from being exercised directly over individuals. Under the Greeks, cynical philosophers calculated that monarchy, oligarchy, and democracy all ended in the rule of one man [see Plato on this] and so we might as well be resigned to the rule of the tyrant and trust the philosophers and the moralists to persuade the tyrant to be "good"; for thus his rule must likewise be good. If the philosophers and preachers could ever agree on what is "good" they might actually get somewhere with this.

As it is, it is possible now and then to get a "good tyrant" in a government based on power, but there is one inescapable problem which even the philosophers have never solved, and that is the problem of succession. Because the goodness of the ruler in one man or power systems depends upon his own "charismatic authority," and that is entirely personal and nontransmissible. Now, nazilism and fascism are also types of "government by charismatic authority" and likewise, I am afraid, so is the New Deal. The essence of nazilism and fascism is not that its partisans dose dissenters with castor oil, murder Jews, and commit all the other atrocities charged to them, but the fact that the state has direct power over individuals which is supported by "charismatic authority." The latter is defined as "the quality of a person, which, adjudged to be something above everyday experience, causes such person to be looked upon as endowed with supernatural or superhuman or at least specifically noncommonplace powers or qualities, not attainable by ordinary persons, or as divinely inspired or as a model human being and, therefore, as a leader." [This definition is from Max Weber, "Wirtschaft und Gesellscraft."]

There you have the familiar rallying cries: "The duce is always right" for the Fascists; the "fuehrerprinzip" for the Nazis, and the "indispensable man" for the New Dealers. As a matter of fact, Mussolini and Hitler taught us a profound lesson which we have overlooked in the excitement; we laugh at their Ivory soap plebiscites [99.44% pure], but these sarcastic mockeries show how utterly simple it is to secure a majority when the state has power over the individual. And what difference does it make whether the state forces a man to vote at the point of a bayonet of steel or at the point of an economic bayonet which threatens his means of livelihood, if not his life directly?

Fascists and Nazis point to their plebiscites and mention "the will of the people"; what fault can we find with them, if we are committed to the great god majority? I think that nazilism and fascism are the ultimate evolutionary stage of democracy, and I infinitely prefer a republic, the kind we started out with.

If we are to discard the republic and become a democracy, why can't people be informed of the essential difference between the two and know that under democracy liberty is merely the power which the state arbitrarily decides not to use in the present instance; that in the republic, liberty is a juridical concept.

SHE FEARS THE FUTURE.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—This morning I was one of the throng that wended its way silently thru the darkness to the early services of a feast day. To me there is beauty and comfort merely in the soft light filtering thru the stained glass windows of a church. As I drew near I could not help wondering how long, under a fourth term and the apparent increasing strength of communism, we might retain this precious freedom of worship. It is generally believed that our faith is that most hated by Communists and would likely be the first to suffer persecution.

A PESSIMIST.

LINCOLN WAS RIGHT.

Lockport, Ill., Oct. 24.—Abraham Lincoln, while President, once remarked: "Sitting here where all the avenues to public patronage seem to come together in a knot, it does seem to me that our people are fast approaching the point where it can be said that seven-eighths of them are trying to find how to live at the expense of the other eighth."

Conditions, as they exist today, indicate that Lincoln really had foresight, for the New Deal is rapidly making this prophecy a reality. AN AMERICAN.

BUT HE'S A LABOR STATESMAN NOW.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 27.—I wish some one would clear two pants suits with Sidney. S. WADSWORTH.

Friend of the YANKS

[Draft, military, and veterans' questions are answered here or by mail if a stamped envelope is sent. Personal advice and assistance are given veterans by appointment.]

S. W. T. writes: "About a week ago you said the local boards should have received amended regulations instructing the local boards not to reinduct men honorably discharged from service. I had been discharged after two months in the army specialized training. My board has put me in 1-A and says I don't come under the new regulations. Can you explain why?"

As was expected the amended regulations have been modified and explained by later memorandums issued by selective service. On the basis of the memorandum just issued it appears that any person who had been enlisted in any reserve component of any branch of service but who has not served under orders to active duty may be reinducted. "Served under orders to active duty" means a person required by the army, navy, marine corps, Coast Guard, or maritime service, to report under orders to commence the training, who had taken the oath required by active duty, and who received government pay after being required to report. The purpose of the change is to permit the induction of persons enrolled or enlisted in a reserve training program [inactive] who were released because of the abandonment of the program or project as well as those who were held in an "inactive" status awaiting call who were subsequently released. However, persons who have had actual military or naval service and have been discharged are not included among the categories subject to reinduction.

SAMAR.

Waukegan, Ill., Oct. 31.—In the editorial, "Return to Samar," telling about the ill fated expedition of Maj. Waller's marines and their encounter with Moros on Mount Sohoton in the center of Samar island, THE TRIBUNE has been misinformed. There are no Moros on Samar. The Samar islanders are Visayan Filipinos. The Moros inhabit southern Mindanao and the Sulu archipelago.

In the days before steam navigation Moro pirates roamed the seas and raided the Visayans at will. Occasionally they raided the coast of Samar. Lookouts were built along the coasts on high hills or towers, and watchers scanned the horizon for those marauders from the south and gave the alarm. Those watch towers have now been abandoned many, many years. In 1900 one still stood near Toloso, on the east coast of Leyte between Tacloban and Dulag. It was an old ruin of a fort on a high, round hill in an open plain. It stood at the south entrance of San Pedro bay between Leyte and Samar. Those early Moro pirates were the only Moros on Samar Island and they were only along the coast.

Maj. Waller's skirmish was with some of Gen. Vicente Lukban's guerrillas who were still fighting the Philippine insurrection. Gen. Aguinaldo and many Filipino leaders had surrendered or been captured, but Gen. Lukban still held out for independence. I served with the infantry on Leyte and Samar during that war and we made several expeditions across Samar and fought many battles, among them Katubig, Gandara, Matuguinao, and Balangiga. All before Sohoton and with less troops than the marines had in their battle.

I wish to praise THE TRIBUNE's stories of the present war and its perfect war maps. I served on Leyte Island 44 years ago and know the east coast very well. By following THE TRIBUNE's war news and war maps, I imagine I am back on the old battlefields where Gen. MacArthur is making history. His father, Gen. Arthur MacArthur, visited us at Tacloban in May, 1900.

L. W. COLSON.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—In the editorial last Sunday, "Return to Samar," you state that, "late in 1901 . . . one company of marines, surrounded at mess, died to a man." This refers to the massacre of Company C, 9th United States infantry, at a place called Balungigi. They were surrounded at mess, and died to a man. The men were all in the mess hall, and their rifles were locked in the racks in Barracks some distance away. Things like that don't happen in the marine corps.

The prearranged signal for the natives to attack was the customary 12 o'clock noon ringing of the bells of the church of Santa Maria. These bells, together with a brief history, were on display at the upper end of the parade ground at Fort D. A. Russell [now Fort Francis E. Warren], Wyo., the last time I was there, in 1917. I had heard the story in detail years before from Myrl F. Jones, former signal corps telegraph operator at Taft, Samar.

CLARENCE EVANS.

ROOSEVELT'S LIMITATIONS.

Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 17.—The two enormous tasks confronting our President and his helpers in the next four years are to organize the country for peace time progress and to straighten out our finances. Out of the great confusion of war we must turn to orderly and constructive management of peace time problems. It will take a master administrator to accomplish this great task. And with far the greatest debt ever known for any nation, we will have to do some very skilful managing. So a master financier is required.

I have looked over the words of those who are urging a fourth term and I have not found one single fourth termer who has praised Roosevelt as a great financier or as an able administrator. In both roles he has always been unusually weak. How can any real thinking lead us to any other conclusion than that the fourth term will be a tragedy for our whole nation—indeed, a tragedy for the whole world if the United States fails to be strong and well organized for the change back to peace time economy?

LIABLE ON AGREEMENT.

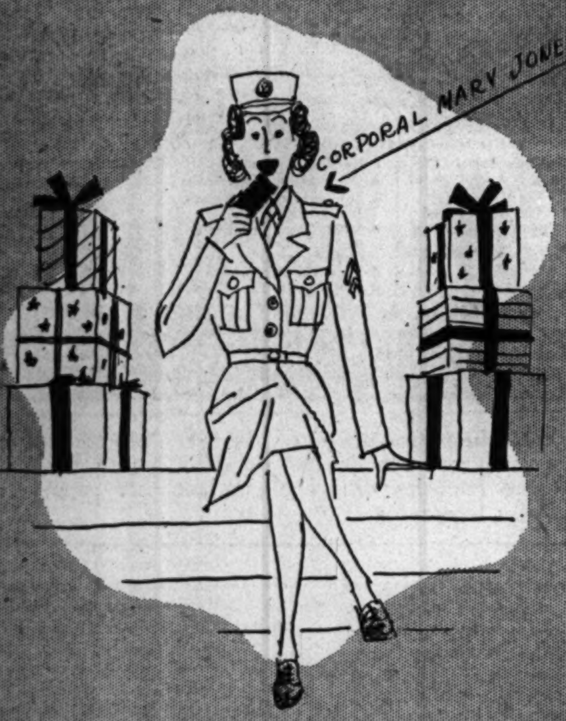
Chicago, Nov. 2.—I lost a home to a bank which held the mortgage. The bank, in turn, sold the property. At the time the bank took over I also owed a furnace company for the balance due them. I have just received a letter from the FHA stating that I owe this amount to FHA. Is the bank, the new owner, or am I responsible? P. A.

The mere fact that you have lost the real estate does not relieve you of liability on your agreement to pay the furnace company.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

November 5, 1944

Dear public...



Just before our Christmas gift canteen closed a WAC rushed in: "Six boxes of candy—send 'em to Corporal Mary Jones from Corporal Mary Jones". "Certainly," said we, a trifle bewildered. The WAC explained: "I just got my overseas orders and I'm wishing myself "Merry Christmas".

MORAL: "A GIFT IN TIME," SAID SHE "IS WORTH TWO IN THE BUSH."

LA MACDONALD'S DEBUT AS JULIET CHARMS THE EYE

She Keeps Her Poise When Romeo Drops Dagger.

"ROMEO AND JULIET."

Opera by Charles Gounod; book by Barbier and Carré after Shakespeare. Presented by the Chicago Opera company at the Civic Opera house Saturday afternoon, Nov. 4, 1944.

THE CAST.

Juliet	Jeanette MacDonald
Romeo	Michael Bartlett
Mercutio	Stephan Ballarini
Friar Laurence	Nicola Moscona
Gertrude, the Nurse	Doris Doe
Capulet	Jean Fardulli
Tybalt	Henry Cordy
Stephano	Lucielle Browning
Duke of Verona	Alexander Kulpak
Paris	Algerd Brazis
Conductor	Louis Hasselmans

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Jeanette MacDonald set her Juliet cap at opera Saturday afternoon, and to judge by the uproar, opera capitulated. The Civic Opera house was crowded to capacity for Miss MacDonald's debut in her own country. The Chicago Opera company had revived "Romeo and Juliet" in her honor, with Capt. Michael Bartlett of the marines charging to the rescue as a last minute Romeo, and Louis Hasselmans, long a familiar and distinguished figure in older opera days, back in the pit to give authority and style to the dark lyricism of Gounod's score.

Haunted and overshadowed by memories of "Faust," and dwarfed by the poetic splendors of a play it could not match in music, "Romeo and Juliet" long since subsided into an occasional opera. A few fortunate folk remember in it the glory of the great French style, and Chicago once knew the mesmerism of Muratore's performance. But those are things we have no more, and our last previous revival had chic little Elen Dosia playing Juliet like a kitten with a ball of yarn.

An Exquisite Performance.

So we take what we can get, and Miss MacDonald has not cheated. Her Juliet is breath-takingly beautiful to the eye and dulcet to the ear. Her voice is slender, a little reedy, but sweet, and she uses it delicately, with a sensitivity that accents the drama in music drama. Not quite able to cope with the bravura of the waltz song, she tosses it off airily with a beautifully timed little dance, touching the nurse's hands in blithe protest with a gesture that would do credit to a Tudor ballet.

Altogether her Juliet is an exquisite performance within her vocal limitations, and considering the way she looks, not many are going to quibble about a few notes here and there. If you thought Miss MacDonald attractive in technicolor, wait until you get a look at her in some of the loveliest costumes yet designed for a willowy redhead with a bewitching smile.

Gossip has said she coached the role with Lotte Lehmann, which would go far to explain her serenity of style and her poise when at the start of the fourth act Romeo lifted the head she had been stroking and the audience tittered, having, believe it or not, thought she had a cat in her lap. But it was sheer improvisation, and nice operatic going, when she rescued and hid the dagger dropped on her bedroom floor in Romeo's hasty exit before Capulet's ominous coming. When a débutante has that presence of mind I will take a lot on trust in her future.

Romeo Looks Like Romeo.

I doubt that the marines give even a captain much time to brush up on his French style, but Capt. Bartlett, without whose obliging presence there would have been no performance, has improved since we heard him last. He sometimes had more vocal courage than voice, but Romeo is a heady fellow given to stratospheric utterance. The captain made him look right [except for those white shoes] and the timbre of his tenor suited the score.

Nicola Moscona was a superb Friar Laurence, Jean Fardulli, a striking Capulet who should do his voice the honor of better use, and Lucielle Browning a saucy Stephano. Stephan Ballarini's Mercutio had more lead then quicksilver in the "Queen Mab" aria, but that may have been because it followed a serious stage jumble caused by a missed cue. The chorus in the prologue was extremely good, and those calla lilies gave a touch of stately beauty to Juliet's bier.

'IL TROVATORE'

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Altho two separate casts were printed in Saturday night's program of "Il Trovatore," those who were lucky enough to discover the insert calling attention to the printer's error, were aware that the soprano, tenor, and baritone roles were being sung by Selma Kaye, Arthur Carron, and Alexander Sved.

The occasion was Miss Kaye's debut. She is easily the best of the young singers presented this season, and as her talents ripen, she should prove a valuable asset. She has presence and poise and a voice of true operatic caliber, ample in volume, and rich and fruity in quality. Her low voice lags behind the rest of her range, but with this exception her vocal equipment is most promising.

The baritone quality of Mr. Carron's voice, in spite of some forced high tones, deprived Manrico's music of its essential brilliance. Mr. Sved was roundly applauded for his "Il Balen" but his exclamatory style is far from the bel canto tradition. Miss Thorborg repeated her fine characterization of Azucena and Mr. Bamboschek conducted.

Owing to the death of Rose Bampton's father, the role of Desdemona in tomorrow night's "Otello" will be sung by Irene Jessner.

GAMBLING LOSER TURNS TO CRIME AND LOSES AGAIN

To recoup gambling losses, Steven Stramaglio, 23, of 825 Avers av., embarked on a career of crime, he confessed yesterday to policemen of the pawnshop detail. Held with him is his alleged partner in a series of holdups on the south side, Norval Lawrence, 34, of 1621 Division st., a paroled convict.

Both were arrested after James Harrell, 23, of 1420 N. Western av., attempted to sell a stolen watch in a pawnshop at 354 S. State st. Harrell, who is held for investigation, told police he received the watch, which was stolen from Thomas Thompson, 7647 Eggleston av., from Lawrence.

Stramaglio said the watch was taken in the first holdup he and Lawrence committed, last July 20. Lawrence refused to talk.

Red Cross Seeking Men for Foreign Service Jobs

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 4 [Special].—The Red Cross needs men for assistant field directors in foreign service, Miss Margaret Sharp, director of the Milwaukee chapter, announced today. She said they must be American citizens, 30 to 45 years old, and be able to pass a physical examination.

WAITRESS STOLE DOCTOR'S LOVE, WIFE TESTIFIES

Mrs. Claire Martin, 44, blonde former Berlin actress, testified yesterday before Superior Judge William J. Lindsay that her marriage to Dr. Robert Martin, 35, a physician who has offices and lives at 1617 W. 93d st., was harmonious until he met a waitress in a south side night club.

"We went together to the Palm Grove inn near 55th st. and the Outer drive," Mrs. Martin testified in her suit for separate maintenance. "My husband was attracted to this waitress, who told him she was a medical student.

Tells of Infatuation.

"He asked her to work for him and took her into our home. He became infatuated with her," Mrs. Martin said under questioning by her attorneys, Joseph H. and Norman Becker.

Under the influence of his new affection, the witness said, her husband became cold toward her. He called her a foreigner and a "dumbkopf" and suggested she go back to Germany, she testified. On three occasions he threatened her with a gun and finally, last April 29, he locked her out of their home, she said. She since has been living at 1003 E. 53d st.

She testified she and Martin met in Berlin while he was attending a university there and were married in Berlin in September, 1939. He came to the United States in 1940 and she joined him nine months later. Their home on 93d st. was placed in joint tenancy, she said.

Smashed Windows with Ax.

On the day her husband locked her out, she asserted, she bought an ax, went back to the home, and smashed windows and some of her husband's instruments. She was the loser tho, she said, because her husband and his sister beat her.

Mrs. Martin is receiving $25 a week under a temporary court order. Dr. Martin has filed a cross-bill for separate maintenance, charging her with cruelty. Judge Lindsay recessed the hearing to Nov. 15.

SEEK TO AMEND LOAN CLAUSE IN VETERANS' BILL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—G. I. bill of rights appears to be headed back to congress for amendment.

A conflict has developed on a critical point—whether a veteran's disability compensation may be attached by the federal government if he is unable to keep up his payments on a home, farm, or business for which he obtained a G. I. loan.

The veterans' administration disclosed today that under its interpretation of the law such attachment is possible. The American Legion, which sponsored the measure, said the Legion never had knowledge such action would be permitted.

Sen. Clark [D., Mo.], who was active in the senate debate, said today such attachment was the intent of congress. Rep. Kearney [R., N. Y.] of the house veterans' committee said he will introduce counter-active legislation immediately after the election.

Hit and Run Driver Kills Packing Plant Worker, 70

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4 [Special].—Fred Swanson, 70, Oscar Mayer Packing company employe, was killed today when he was struck by a hit and run driver. Swanson, who lived at 1945 E. Dayton st., was on his way to work. Police are holding a 44 year old shop worker for questioning.

LEGION WOMEN CALLED FOR AID TO BLOOD BANK

Members of the American Legion auxiliary, 1st district, are called upon to visit the Red Cross blood bank, 5 N. Wabash, during the week beginning tomorrow, Mrs. Mary A. Wetter, past district director, announced yesterday. Presidents of all auxiliaries have been provided with necessary blanks for those wishing to sign up, she said.

The special drive among auxiliary members is an effort to offset the 200 pints of blood the director, Ralph A. Baier, reported Chicago has been short for two weeks.

"Headlines seem to set the pace for blood donors," Baier said yesterday. "When casualty lists grow, more people feel the patriotic urge to visit the blood bank and when good news comes from the battle fronts the home front relaxes."

Members of the Kiwanis club of Chicago have donated or aided in the donation of 1,326 pints of blood since the attack on Pearl Harbor, M. F. McCarty, club president, announced.

QUITS CHILDREN FOR A SOLDIER; GETS 2D CHANCE

Mrs. Dorothy Weiss, 23, of 9720 Yates av., yesterday was placed under court supervision by Judge Victor A. Kula in Boys' court where she appeared on a disorderly conduct charge brought by her husband, David, 34, a war worker. Weiss charged that his wife abandoned her two children last Wednesday and went out with a soldier. Judge Kula continued the disorderly conduct charge until June 22, 1945, and indicated that it would be dropped if Mrs. Weiss mended her ways.

JINGLING BELLS ARE DUE SOON; SO SHOP EARLY!

It's still a few weeks until the sleigh bell season but what with a shortage of department store help, mailing troubles, not to mention the chance for better selections, it's time to think of Christmas shopping.

"Shop in November or rue in December," is the warning given by the Chicago Retail Merchants' association in an effort to coax shoppers to make selections early. The plea to shop and mail early is made jointly by the association and federal agencies in an effort to meet the Dec. 1 deadline for shipment of packages to be delivered before Christmas.

Help Most Acute.

A survey of department store heads discloses help shortage will be the most acute since the war started. "There are few additional employes available, and unless we secure part time workers, late shoppers will be disappointed," one official warned. He urged housewives to coöperate by making their selections between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. in order to avoid rush hours.

There will be no extra help to wrap gift packages, store managers reported. They suggested wise shoppers will not only make selections early but carry packages home, together with holiday wrappings.

Shop Before Girls Get Tired.

As an extra inducement to coax shoppers to check their gift list early, store officials promise a more varied and complete stock for their selections. "Besides," one employer added, "the girls behind the gift counter will have the time and the disposition to be more helpful . . . and cheerful."

That hope alone should cause a stampede toward the toy, lingerie, Christmas card, and perfume counters!

Spaatz Gets New Honor for Air War on Germans

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz was presented yesterday with an oak leaf cluster to his distinguished service medal for commanding the strategic aerial bombardment of German held Europe since Jan. 5. Spaatz commands the United States strategic air forces, which consist of the 8th and the 15th air forces.

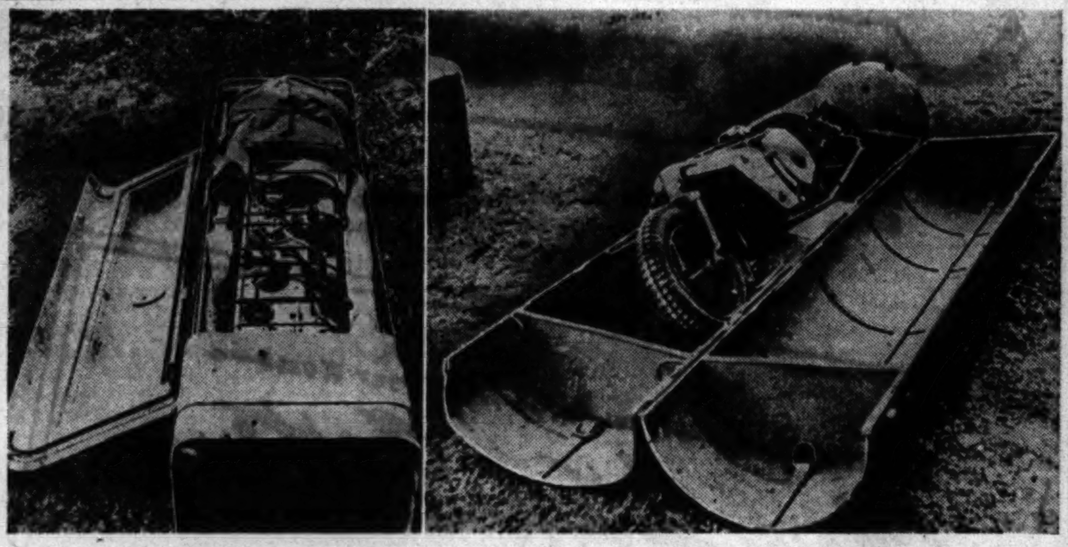
How British Chutists Get Radios and Cycles



[Acme Photos.]

PRIVATE FINDS CHECK CASHING CHAMPS STYLE

His uniform emblazoned with four ribbons for valorous conduct, Pvt. Richard F. McBride, 20, a radio operator at Bergstrom field, Austin, Tex., and a native of La Salle, Ill., set out yesterday to sample Chicago's hospitality, and he was prepared to pay for it, too.

McBride cashed a check for $300 in a currency exchange at 2345 Devon av. Three hours later he returned with a check for $500, which he said he needed to continue his "good time in Chicago." Melvin B. Thillens, 6549 N. Washtenaw av., the exchange owner, called the police.

Police said McBride admitted he had no account at La Salle, but he asserted his father was a "wealthy man" and the checks would not bounce. He admitted he had cashed $190 worth of other checks since he arrived here a few days ago, and several others in Texas.

Pvt. McBride admitted that all of his ribbons had been purchased in Chicago stores.

He was charged with drawing a check on a bank in which he had no account.

CHICAGO G. I.'S HANGING LAID TO ROW OVER DRINK

PARIS, Nov. 4 (AP).—An attempt to persuade a soldier not to take another drink cost 1st Sgt. Paul M. Robinson of Birmingham, Ala., his life. The incident also cost the life of the soldier, Pvt. Paul M. Kluxdal, 37, of Chicago, Ill. He was hanged Oct. 31 after being convicted by a court-martial of the murder of the sergeant.

According to court records, Robinson, seeing Kluxdal drinking, warned him he had better stop or he would get into trouble. On Kluxdal's refusal the sergeant attempted to take the bottle from him and was fatally shot.

Police Seize 14 Suspects in Palestine Terrorism

JERUSALEM, Nov. 4 [Reuter]—It was officially announced tonight that the police, coöperating with flying squads and a mobile constabulary force, detained 14 suspected terrorists while carrying out searches in the Tiberias and Safad areas.

WOMEN START DRIVE TOMORROW TO HELP QUOTA OF WAR FUND

Women volunteers will move tomorrow into residential districts not previously canvassed in the Community and War Fund drive to raise $12,980,000. Fund headquarters reported yesterday that 10 million dollars, or 77 per cent, of the quota has been subscribed.

Mrs. Bernice T. Van der Vries, chairman of the women's division, will direct the residential canvass.

Clarence B. Randall, general chairman, renewed an appeal for donations. "From experience," he said, "we know that the last 25 per cent is the hardest to raise in a campaign such as ours."

A business division meeting will be held at 12:15 p. m. Wednesday in the Standard club, and workers in the special gifts section will attend a victory luncheon at 12:30 p. m. Friday in the Shangri-La restaurant, 222 N. State st.

BULLET IN HEAD, PRIVATE TREATS 2 WOUNDED MEN

WITH A U. S. INFANTRY DIVISION IN GERMANY, Oct. 19 [Delayed] (AP).—Pvt. Joe Marez, first aid man from Lamar, Colo., who treated two American wounded despite a bullet in his head, has been awarded the distinguished service cross.

In Normandy, under machine gun and rifle fire, Marez began to treat Sgt. Bert Murtha of Exeter, Pa. Marez was struck in the head by a bullet. Ignoring his own wound, he finished applying a tourniquet to Murtha's leg, walked over to Pvt. Bert Weiss of Averill Park, N. Y., and treated him, also. Then he collapsed.

EXPERT FINDS VETS CAST OFF MENTAL SHOCKS

The outlook for recovery of men who develop nervous troubles in combat zones is good, Col. William J. Bleckwenn, consultant in neuropsychiatry in the 6th service command, yesterday told a regional meeting of the American College of Physicians at the Drake hotel. He said that, after treatment, few types of men who have suffered from combat nerves show a recurrence of their trouble. He stressed the importance of morale as a means of preventing war neuroses, and he listed good leadership and cheerful letters from home as important factors in maintaining morale.

Kidneys May Need Help to Clean Out Excess Acids

If you're feeling out o'sorts, Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. Worry, Colds, working too hard, or over-eating or drinking may create an excess of acids and overload your Kidneys so that they need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the blood pumps about 200 times an hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded.

Nearly 20 years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in three ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To palliate burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, which may easily make you feel years younger.

Liberal Trial Offer

To prove that Cystex may be the very medicine you need accept this fair-play trial offer: Get a supply of Cystex from your druggist today. Take it exactly as directed and watch for quick help, a rapid increase in pep, more youthful feeling and a new joy in living. You must be completely satisfied and highly delighted or you simply return the empty package and your money back is guaranteed.

Tear this out. Take it to your druggist. Be sure to get genuine, guaranteed Cystex which is scientifically produced under the direction of a licensed physician, and used by millions throughout the world. Three guaranteed Cystex sizes—35c, 75c, $1.50.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., Nov. 4. — Ohio State's title minded Buckeyes met the challenge from Indiana today with a burst of power, speed, and versatility before a crowd of 56,380. Aroused over an outburst that carried the Hoosiers to a one touchdown edge early in a gruelling struggle, the unbeaten, untied Ohioans countered with a relentless attack that culminated in a 21 to 7 score for their fourth triumph in the Big Nine race. For Indiana it was conference defeat No. 2 and the end of its championship hopes.

The Hoosiers, sweeping the Buckeyes along like dried leaves, had a seven point lead before the battle was nine minutes on its way. But soon thereafter the Buckeyes began to take command. Their numerous threats finally produced a tie in the second period. They continued to threaten but were held off until late in the third period and in the fourth quarter they roared back again with the touchdown that put them beyond the reach of the Hoosiers.

Horvath Stands Out.

Bob Hoernschemeyer, the Indiana wizard, gave the Ohioans the expected demonstration of passing but the victors had the answers. One was Les Horvath, who not only harvested 101 yards in 20 plays on the ground but pitched one touchdown pass and some others that twice created situations gratefully accepted by Freshman Bob Brugge's legs. The youngster charged over end for 9 yards to break the tie in the third period and did it again for 23 yards in the last quarter. Against the galloping of these two persistent fellows, Hoernschemeyer was able to muster only 33 yards in 12 attempts on foot.

The brace taken by the Ohioans after they had been challenged by the Hoosier touchdown is vividly demonstrated by the way in which the Indiana attack was whittled down. In the first half the Hoosiers rolled up 100 yards by rushing, about half of this on their touchdown march of 67 yards. In the second half Indiana's ground attack crumbled so completely that only 11 yards were netted. In these same two periods the Ohioans added 195 net yards to the 85 to which they were limited in the first half.

Hoosiers Vary Attack.

The fireworks began to pop shortly after Ohio had been on the receiving end of the opening kickoff. The Indiana defense proved strong enough to force the Buckeyes to a punt, Tom Keane's kick going out of bounds on the enemy 33 yard line. From this point the Hoosiers proceeded with the relentless attack that wound up behind the Ohio goal line. It started with dashes by Hoernschemeyer, Harry Jagade, and Dub Deranek driving back the Ohioans almost to midfield.

Then the Hoosiers went into the air. Hoernschemeyer passed to Bob Ravensberg and then to Ted Kluszewski to advance to the Ohioans' 42 yard line where they went back to running. Hoernschemeyer shot thru center to the 29 yard line and repeated for one yard. Deranek skipped over his left end for eight yards and Jagade made it first down by plunging for 2. Hoernschemeyer picked up a yard but lost it on the next play when he slipped. Then he passed to Kluszewski to the 8 yard line. After three running plays netted nothing Hoernschemeyer heaved a pass which Deranek

46,482 WATCH WILDCATS RALLY TWICE AND TIE GOPHERS, 14-14

BY HARRY WARREN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 4.—Northwestern's Wildcats demonstrated rather conclusively before a crowd of 46,482 in Memorial stadium today just why they're called that as they fought Minnesota's Golden Gophers to a 14 to 14 tie. Thus each still has to win its first Western conference game.

Northwestern had to come from behind twice to earn that tie, this feat casting a pall of gloom over the huge Minnesota homecoming crowd, which represented the largest attendance at a football game in Minneapolis since 1942.

The Wildcats completely confounded the statisticians and forecasters by carrying the battle to the Gophers and suffered two breaks that cost them the ball game when a pair of runs over the goal line were called back.

The game early resolved itself into a offensive duel between Henry Altepeter of Northwestern and Wayne [Red] Williams of Minnesota. Altepeter had a considerable margin, gaining 155 yards to Williams' 130. Altepeter was the ball carrier on both occasions when apparent touchdowns were called back.

Stars Play Themselves Out.

Both Altepeter and Williams showed results of their heavy labors. Williams did not play at all during the final quarter while the Northwestern athlete left the game because of sheer exhaustion with only a few minutes left.

Minnesota came up with 11 first downs, nine by rushing and two by passing, while the Wildcats turned in 13, 11 by rushing and two by passing. The Wildcats made 277 yards net by rushing and 52 by passing as against the Gophers' total of 234 by rushing and 45 by aerials.

The game was less than six minutes old when the Gophers scored their first touchdown, Vic Kulbitski going over from 1 yard out. The touchdown climaxed a 90 yard drive with Williams setting the pace by 13 and 12 yard dashes in addition to pitching a 25 yard pass to Bob Turnacliff. Altho Williams played with a brace on his back this proved no handicap when he was called on to run and he set up the first touchdown with a 12 yard charge over center, then added the extra point.

Wildcats Roar Back.

The Wildcats then executed the first of their tying scores in only five plays and two minutes. Much in the manner of a circus stunt man being shot from a cannon Altepeter broke off defensive right tackle, was slowed up five times by Gopher tacklers, but on each occasion broke loose and scored standing up, covering 33 yards in his path to the goal line. A 25 yard pass to Max Morris had preceded Altepeter's touchdown run. The catch was a work of art inasmuch as Morris had to wrest the ball from Half Back John Lundquist of Minnesota as they leaped simultaneously. Bob Funderburg added the point that tied the score and it remained that way thru the first half.

The third quarter had hardly started when Altepeter, on a quick burst at center, went straight down the middle 73 yards over the Minnesota goal, but the play was recalled because of an offside penalty. Then the Gophers held for downs on the Wildcats' 48 yard line, Kulbitski twice breaking thru to stop Funderburg on third and fourth down.

On the first play thereafter, Wil-

44,000 to See Bears Battle Packers Today

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Champions to be, the Green Bay Packers come to town today hoping to keep their spotless National Football league record intact, but a mite fearful this may be the day when they'll get their lumps from the Chicago Bears.

It's a strange setup for the 44,000 fans who will jam Wrigley field, in wet or dry weather. Usually when Curly Lambeau brings his warriors to Chicago for the annual November date with the Bears they are in a desperate position, needing a victory to get back in the running.

Different Tale Today.

It's so different today that even a Bear victory, which is not improbable, will do little more than ruffle the pride of the Packers. They've won their first six league games and, with four to go, even a loss will only delay the clinching of their first western championship since 1939.

The Bears are all but mathematically out of the running with two victories, two defeats, and a tie. Green Bay could lose this afternoon, drop one of its other three games, and still win as far as the Bears are concerned.

Tho the championship angle's lacking, it won't lessen the tempo of the game. Almost everything the Bears have proudly protected during their big years has been smashed this season, but they still have one item in their protective custody—an unbeaten record in Wrigley field since they lost to Green Bay in November, 1941. Since then they've won 16 league games and two league championship contests in 19 games. The other one, two weeks ago, was a 21 to 21 deadlock with the Detroit Lions.

Packers Biggest Hurdle.

This, then, is about all the one time masters of professional football are defending today, unless it's what they consider an inalienable right to smack down the Packers on sight. This they didn't do in Green Bay last September and the Bears never recovered from that 42 to 28 blow, their most humiliating whipping in 52 games in the series which started in 1921.

Today's hurdle is the biggest one

MICHIGAN ROLLS UP 41-19 MARGIN AGAINST PENN

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 4.—The University of Michigan Wolverines, after scoring one touchdown in the first quarter, four in the second and keeping Pennsylvania from making a first down until the final play of the first half, apparently decided to be a little gentler about everything. So the score, which was 34 to 0 at the half, became 41 to 19 at the finish in an interesting football spectacle witnessed by 48,000 in Franklin field today.

While it was the biggest score Michigan has run up in the 45 year history of the Penn series, it was not the most decisive, the 1914 Wolverines having beaten Pennsylvania, 34 to 3.

Quakers Put Up Battle.

The suggestion that Michigan might have chosen not to pour it on the easterners to the limit of its potentialities is not designed to take too much from the fine spirit of Penn's eager and spirited crew of youngsters, nor to discount, for instance, a 63 yard run by Tony Minisi that accounted for one of the Penn touchdowns, nor the neatness of two successive passes, Andy Gordon to Wayne Helman, which gained 64 yards and set up the last touchdown of the afternoon. Nor should the work of Gordon and others be discounted in the other, the first Penn touchdown, scored by Harry Edenborn.

With these preliminary compliments extended by this midwestern visitor to this eastern clime shouldn't we now turn to concentration on the skill of the lads from Ann Arbor?

Chubb Leads Attack.

Every Wolverine did his stuff in a big way but first, perhaps a bow to Ralph Chubb, replacement for the departed Bob Nussbaumer. Ralph made two touchdowns and carried the ball 21 times, for a net gain of 134 yards.

Excellent, too, on offensive were Gene Derricotte, who functioned in a big way in the going before the Wolverines were convinced they had a soft touch; Co-Capt. Don Lund, Warren Bentz, Co-Capt. Joe Ponsetto [who successfully made all of the five extra point kicks he attempted]; Jack Weisenburger and

GERALD WALKER IS HELD OVER IN DRAFT INDUCTION

Hattiesburg, Miss., Nov. 4 (AP).—The Camp Shelby public relations office said today that Outfielder Gerald Walker of the Cincinnati Reds is a holdover at the camp after being called up Friday for induction.

Walker is undergoing further examination at the post hospital and whether he will be accepted for service will not be determined until some time next week, probably Thursday.

Walker, who is 36 and the father of four children, was classified 1-A by the Winter Park, Fla., draft board. He and his family were visiting relatives here when his draft papers were transferred to the board here.

Purdue Gives Trophies to Four Stars of 1919

DAILY DOUBLE AT SPORTSMAN'S YIELDS $2,489

A season's Chicago record daily double of $2,489 and a $54.80 winner in the feature race highlighted the racing program at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon as the regular 16 day fall meeting at the Cicero oval closed and the decks were cleared for six days of racing next week under the auspices of The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

The astronomical daily double payoff got under way when Foot to Foot, which had not been closer than 11 lengths off the pace in any of his nine previous starts, came up to win in the final stride and reward his few backers with a $164.20 mutuel. Auley Carr rode the winner.

Sand Storm Wins Feature.

The second race was won by Gainer, a mild longshot, which was ridden by Kenny Robertson and paid $21.40. Seventeen fortunate patrons in the crowd of 13,213 had $2 tickets on the double but no $10 tickets were sold on the winning combination.

The feature race, the $3,000 National Jockey Club Welfare Fund, was won by Sand Storm, a 26 to 1 shot, piloted by Willie Gillespie.

The secondary feature, the $2,500 National Jockey Club handicap, a 2 mile and 70 yard endurance test, went to Mug's Game, ridden by Paul Glidewell which returned a $10.60 mutuel.

Mutuel Records Fall.

As Sportsman's Park closed its regular meeting yesterday all mutuel handle records for the track were erased. The total handle for 16 days of racing was $11,763,324, compared to the previous high of $8,479,245, established during a 14 day meeting last spring. The handle for the fall meeting of 1943, which lasted 12 days, was $7,255,165. The wagering total yesterday was $814,970.

Racing yesterday and Friday at the Cicero half mile track was held for the benefit of the National Jockey club welfare fund, which will distribute the net proceeds of the two days to designated charities.

The track management will act as agent for The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., next week. All track income for the six days of racing over operational expenses will be contributed to charity and war relief agencies.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 4.—Navy orders depleted Cecil Isbell's Purdue Boilermakers, or so it appeared until a civilian, agile and tricky Boris Dimancheff, pride of Indianapolis and the Big Nine co-champions and a candidate for All-American honors, took charge this afternoon and almost single handed gave the Boilermakers a 35 to 0 triumph over Harry Stuhldreher's Wisconsin Badgers.

Dimancheff scored four touchdowns, the first in the second quarter on a 15 yard line smash, the second a few minutes later on a 65 yard return of a pass interception, and the third and fourth in the final period, one on a 40 yard screen pass and the other on an off tackle dash for 33 yards.

Dimancheff gained 245 yards during the bright, cool afternoon in a game witnessed by 16,000 homecoming fans who were treated to as much bad football as good. Fumbles and penalties marred the play, but in the final analysis all was forgotten with the brilliant display by Dimancheff.

Boris Has Capable Help.

The big full back, however, had capable running mates in Ray Schultz, the Lane Tech graduate who ran the team in excellent fashion until forced out in the third period with a leg injury; Bob Pfohl, a freshman from Goshen, and Bill Canfield, the West Lafayette youngster. These lads took over for Chalmers Elliott, Stan Dubicki, Ted Held, and Ed Cody, the first three of whom drew navy transfers. Cody rested a torn ligament.

Wisconsin, highly touted as a greatly improved team in recent losing games with Great Lakes, Ohio State, and Notre Dame, lost its spark plug, Earl [Jug] Girard, on the second play of the afternoon and never really got going thereafter. However, while there were times when Jim Ackeret, T. A. Cox, and John Fee appeared to be able to take up the slack, Dimancheff's presence stalled all threats.

Almost the entire first period was played around midfield as a hard charging Purdue line stopped Wisconsin's running attack and butterfingered Boilermaker backs prevented any sustained action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4.—There comes a time in the life of every football team when fight and daring aren't enough. That occasion arrived for Notre Dame today and the Irish went down in defeat, 32 to 13, before one of the strongest squads that has come out of the United States Naval academy in many years.

A few minutes after play began it was apparent to the capacity throng of 63,108, which included Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal and Adm. Ernest King, that Notre Dame lacked the power to cope with Navy's rugged line and wealth of hard running backs.

This was the Naval academy's fourth victory in 18 years of gridiron warfare with Notre Dame, and it was the biggest score the Middies ever have rolled up in this series. Their last triumph over the team from South Bend was in 1936 and the margin was only 3 to 0.

Duplicates Michigan Score.

Only once since 1905 has a team piled up 32 points on the Irish. That was two years ago when Michigan won, 32 to 20.

The setback snapped Notre Dame's 1944 victory streak at five.

Notre Dame was beaten decisively today because its line was no match for Navy's forward wall. On defense, the Middies never gave Bob Kelly, Elmer Angsman, George Terlep, Nunzio Marino, or any other Irish ball carrier a chance to get into the open. On offense they gave a demonstration of blocking seldom seen on any football field. The end play of John Hansen and Leon Bramlett was particularly effective. They seldom failed to turn in Irish ball carriers for those giant tackles—Don Whitmire and Gail Gilliam—to nail at the scrimmage line. The down field blocking of the Navy backs was devastating.

Figures Tell the Story.

The figures on rushing provide a clearer picture, perhaps, of Navy's superiority along the line. Notre Dame made only 36 yards, compared with Navy's 338. The Middies earned 17 first downs by rushing to Notre Dame's five.

Outplayed completely on the ground, the Irish relied almost entirely on forward passes in the second half. The edge in this department prevented the game from developing into a rout. Frank Dancewicz and Joe Gasparella fired a total of 33 passes and connected with 15 for 160 yards. Navy completed only three in nine for 44.

Kelly Is Head Man.

While Kelly was fenced in much of the time, he nevertheless emerged as Notre Dame's outstanding performer. He scored both touchdowns and had another canceled when an official ruled he had stepped on the sideline in his 45 yard dash to the goal in the third quarter. He gained 39 yards from scrimmage to lead the Irish ball carriers and he did all the punting for an average of 42 yards per try.

There was no special star in the Navy's galaxy of backs. They all shone. Bob Jenkins, Bill Barron, Clyde Scott, Ralph Ellsworth, and Al Walton divided honors both in lugging the ball and as blockers. Lt. Col. Earl Blaik of the Army, who was scouting both Notre Dame and Navy, must have developed a severe headache as he contemplated a defense for the Navy steppers. They are the hardest hitting group this department has watched in many a day.

Excitement Starts Early.

Barron led the Navy ball carriers with 81 yards. Jenkins made 77. Scott got 71 and Ellsworth 42. Walton accounted for 31 and Bruce Smith, not the former Minnesota star, for 26. Adding insult to injury, the Middies even sent Fred Earley, who last year played for Notre Dame, thru the line for 10.

The big crowd didn't have to wait long for excitement. Navy's Barron fumbled Kelly's first punt and Angsman recovered for the Irish on the Middies' 19 yard line. Dancewicz whipped a pass to Kelly, who was crowded out of bounds on the 6. Kelly went inside his left tackle for 5. He was stopped at center

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 4.—The law of averages, not to mention a Seahawk team of sprinters, caught up with the University of Tulsa football team this afternoon in Skelly stadium. Thus, Tulsa's record crowd of 20,000, which occupied all seats and stood at the corners of the gridiron, watched the Golden Hurricane lose its second consecutive game of the season, 47 to 27.

Tulsa was beaten at home last week for the first time in three years. Today, the Tulsans never had a chance to remove the tarnish of that licking as the speedy, hard charging Seahawks rolled to a four touchdown lead at the intermission and then sparred cautiously for the final tabulation.

Defeat Spoils Bowl Chances.

Tulsa's civilians probably now have forfeited any chance to appear in a post-season bowl contest, as they have done for the last three years, just as last week's defeat cost them a place in the national ranking of first 10 teams. For the Seahawks, however, this game insured continued listing in the select decem and it also may mean honors as the best service team in the nation.

The game this afternoon was fought on a gridiron softened from yesterday's rain, but under excellent circumstances judged by northern standards. Weather conditions had no effect on the outcome, since Tulsa never matched the Seahawks' speed nor approached their standard in blocking and tackling.

Seahawks March to Goal.

The result was presaged by the Seahawks' first touchdown, a drive of 72 yards by the Navy in eight plays. Thereafter, the statistics of the scores set a modern record, for 15 plays from scrimmage by both teams produced the ensuing nine touchdowns. This deluge was followed by Tulsa's final drive of nine consecutive plays for its fourth touchdown.

Bob Sullivan and Don Samuels, the Seahawks' starting half backs, were sprinters who by-passed Tulsa's ends early in the game, but Bob Smith, who counted three times, delivered the most crushing blow to Tulsa, for whom he played last year. The Seahawk forwards, with Alex Kapter, 1943 Northwestern captain, Vic Schleich, one time Nebraska tackle, and George Strohmeyer, Navy center, provided the interference for these carriers. Tulsa could not match their power and experience.

Sullivan Sets Off Parade.

The Seahawks received the kick-off and Bus Mertes returned 14 yards to his own 28 yard line. Eight plays, grouped into four first downs, brought a touchdown. Sullivan swept around Tulsa's right end for 15 yards after his opening forward pass had failed. Samuels plunged for 2 yards and then Mertes skirted defensive left end for 26 yards.

Mertes plunged for 6 yards and Samuels went to Tulsa's 14 yard line on a quick opening play. Altho the Seahawks were penalized for holding on the next play, Sullivan's pass to Samuels netted 26 yards and, on a delayed plunge at defensive right guard, Samuels crossed the goal line. Schleich's kick for the point was blocked.

The Seahawks led, 6 to 0, at the end of the first period and had the ball on Tulsa's 40 yard line as the teams changed goals. On the first play, Samuels went outside of the Hurricane right tackle, cut sharply to his own right, and raced to the goal. Schleich's kick was good.

Kapter Intercepts Pass.

On the first play after the next kick-off Pre-Flight got the ball when Bob Phillips deflected Perry Moss' pass into Kapter's hands on Tulsa's 30. Lightning struck again as Sullivan passed over Al Kowalski's head to Bob Smith, who caught the ball on the 5 yard line and stepped into the end zone. Schleich's point by placement gave the Seahawks a 20 to 0 lead.

Five minutes before the end of the half, the Seahawks paraded once more with Quarter Back Dell Taylor, another former Tulsan, lateralling to Smith for a total gain of 64 yards and a touchdown around the vulnerable Hurricane left end. Thus, with Schleich's third successful placement, the Seahawks were in front, 27 to 0, at the rest period.

Tulsa came to life on the kick-off opening second half play when Camp Wilson, as fine a full back as you'll find anywhere, took Strohmeyer's boot and plowed thru an opening in the enfilading enemy line to run 94 yards to make it 27 to 7. Moss kicked the point and the Seahawks led, 27 to 7.

Forty-five Seahawks took part in the game but substitutes were removed toward the end of the third quarter. Immediately, the Navy attacked successfully with Bob Smith scoring again on a lateral from Taylor. The play covered 57 yards.

A Pass Causes Trouble.

Tulsa now restricted its offense almost completely to passes and one backfired. Moss' toss down center was intercepted by Charles Woodward, who ran 57 yards for a touchdown behind perfect alignment of his blue shirted mates. Schleich kicked the point—he had missed after the preceding touchdown—and the Navy had an unbeatable 40 to 7 command.

Bill Jarrett, Tulsa end, intercepted Bob Smith's pass on the Seahawk's 35 yard line on the first play of the last period. Bobby Stuart, Tulsa's freshman tail back, ran twice for a first down on the Navy's 22. He then passed to Ed Shedlosky over Dell Taylor's head for a touchdown. Moss' kick for the point was blocked.

Stuart and Shedlosky also negotiated the next score, with Stuart throwing to the latter for a 45 yard gain. Wilson plunged for 2 yards and then Stuart passed to Jarrett for the score. Moss' placement set the tabulation at Seahawks, 40; Tulsa, 20.

Regulars Go to Work.

Once more the Seahawk varsity returned to the field. This time on third down and with the ball on its 10 yard line, Samuels faked a punt, ran around defensive right end of a five man line, and would have scored save that he handed the ball to Taylor so that the quarter back might have official credit for six points. Schleich's kick produced the extra point.

Tulsa took the subsequent kick-off and drove 53 yards for the last touchdown of the game against Seahawk reserves. The Stuart-Shedlosky combination again fooled the Navy secondary, with the latter getting a 32 yard scoring pass in the end zone. Moss kicked the point.

Okla. Aggies Lose, 15-0, to Norman Navy

Stillwater, Okla., Nov. 4 (AP).—The Norman [Okla.] Navy Zoomers today slogged to their fifth straight football victory of the season, defeating Oklahoma A. and M., 15 to 0.

With the edge taken from their vaunted speed by a field made soggy by a two day rain, Bob Fenimore and his cowboy teammates lost their first game in six starts.

Len Eshmont, former Fordham back, and Emil Sitko, erstwhile Notre Dame ball carrier, paced the experienced Zoomers to two touchdowns and a field goal. Eshmont scored early in the first quarter on a 35 yard sprint. Miller kicked a 38 yard field goal in the second quarter to make the score 9 to 0 and L. A. Merriman punched one over from the 4 early in the third quarter for the final navy tally.

The Aggies pushed to the Zoomer 3 in the second quarter on passes by Fenimore, but the scoring threat was dispelled when Eshmont intercepted a pass and ran it back 41 yards to the Aggie 32.

TEXAS A. & M. UPSET.

College Station, Tex., Nov. 4 (AP).—The University of Arkansas hit thru the air for a third period touchdown and a 7 to 6 victory over Texas A. & M. today to move out of the southwest conference cellar and shove the Aggies out of the championship race.

TEXAS BEATS S. M. U.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 4 (AP). — The University of Texas Steers spotted Southern Methodist one touchdown and then came from behind to overpower their southwest conference opponent, 34 to 7, today. The victory, sparked by the Steers' ace passer, injured Bobby Layne, who entered the game at crucial moments, snuffed out Southern Methodist's already dim hopes for a conference title and retained a slim title chance for the Longhorns.

Navy Plunges, Runs to 32-13 Triumph Against Notre Dame

but on the next play, Angsman crashed over the goal line. The play was called back and Notre Dame penalized five yards for backs in motion. A short pass, Dancewicz to Kelly, was completed on the 4 yard line. Kelly, on fourth down, got 3, but was one yard short of a touchdown and Navy took over.

The Middies were in trouble again when John Adams partly blocked Hansen's punt on Navy's 25. Dancewicz hit Sullivan with a pass that was good for 15 yards, but the gain went for naught when a Notre Dame player was called for holding. Three successive passes failed and Kelly punted to Barron, who was downed on Navy's 16.

Scott Goes Thru to Goal.

Steve Nemeth had difficulty handling Hansen's long punt and the ball bounded back to Notre Dame's 8 yard line, a break from which the Irish never recovered. Kelly kicked to Barron on Notre Dame's 45 and the Navy flyer raced back to the 32. Barron found a big hole in Notre Dame's middle and sped to the 5 before John Ray caught him. Scott went over for a touchdown on the next play. Vic Finos missed the kick.

The Irish couldn't advance after taking the kickoff and Kelly punted out of bounds on his 43. Scott banged thru his left guard for 5 and Jenkins passed to Hansen for a first down on the 5 yard line. Scott made the touchdown, but Finos again missed the try for point.

Middies Shatter Irish Line.

There was no scoring during the rest of the half, but after the intermission Navy came back with a running attack that chopped Notre Dame's line to pieces. Let's review the parade which began on Navy's 35 after Hansen was downed on the kick-off:

Scott darted thru center for 12. Jenkins went over right guard for 13 yards. Scott earned a first down on the Irish 30. Barron swept around left end for 9. Scott got only two at center, but Jenkins, in two trips, gained a first down on the 5. Jenkins went thru center for the touchdown and Earley rushed in from the bench to kick the point.

Navy, in that march, went 65 yards in eight running plays. Seldom has a Notre Dame team yielded ground like that.

Losers Take to the Air.

The Irish now went into the air in earnest and the changed tactics brought results. Terlep ran back the kick-off 20 yards to his 22. Dancewicz passed to Guthrie for 9, to Kelly on Notre Dame's 44. He hit Guthrie again for 9. Kelly, after catching a pass, ran 45 yards in his stride, but the field judge ruled he had stepped out of bounds on Navy's 33. Dancewicz connected to Tom Guthrie on the 24. The drive ended when Dancewicz, on fourth down, was trapped for a 12 yard loss on Navy's 35.

Nemeth came to Notre Dame's aid by recovering Jenkins' fumble on Navy's 48. Dancewicz clicked with an aerial to Bill O'Conner on the Middies' 29. He fired one that Guthrie grabbed on the 20. Angsman picked up eight thru center and Dancewicz passed to Guthrie on the five. Kelly went thru his right guard for the touchdown and Nemeth kicked goal to narrow the score to 19 to 7.

Winners Make Certain.

Navy scored its last two touchdowns in the final period. The first came early in the quarter on another impressive demonstration of its strength by rushing. The drive carried for 57 yards and it was Ellsworth who went over for the touchdown. Earley missed the try for point.

Two long passes by Dancewicz, one to O'Conner and another to Kelly, gave Notre Dame its second scoring opportunity. Kelly, after catching the pass, lateraled to Terlep, who ran 19 yards before he was brought down on Navy's 33. O'Conner outjumped two defending backs to snare another pass on the 3 yard line. Kelly hit right guard for the touchdown. Nemeth failed to convert and the score was: Navy 25, Notre Dame 13.

De Kalb, Ill., Nov. 4 [Special].—De Kalb scored twice in the last quarter to snap a 6 to 6 tie and defeat Wheaton, 19 to 6, here today. It was De Kalb's sixth straight victory and Wheaton's first loss.

In second quarter Henningson plunged over after a Wheaton punt was blocked and recovered on the 3 yard line. Wheaton tied the score in the third period on a plunge by Schafer. Then in the final quarter Boudreau passed to Schuett, who lateraled to Henningson, who raced over for touchdown. Boudreau intercepted a pass and sprinted 50 yards for De Kalb's final marker.

NORTHWESTERN AND MINNESOTA PLAY 14-14 DRAW

liams went over guard, broke into the clear and dashed 48 yards for the touchdown that again put the Gophers in the lead. Williams added the extra point.

Northwestern wasted little time in tying the score with a touchdown three minutes before the end of the third quarter. Starting on their own 31 yard line the Wildcats marched right down the field, aided by a 15 yard roughing penalty against the Gophers. Frank Clawson smashed over guard from the 3 yard line. Funderburg made the score 14 to 14 by adding the final point of the game.

Pass Interception Stops N. U.

A threatening Wildcat drive at the start of the final period was stopped when Bob Kasper intercepted a pass on Minnesota's 32 yard line. The Gophers could make no progress and Northwestern started another excursion from its 13 to the Minnesota 13 where Minnesota held for downs.

The clock showed one minute and 14 seconds left when Altepeter raced over the Minnesota goal. But it was nullified when Northwestern was penalized to its 25 yard line for an off-side misdemeanor. Forty-four seconds from the finish Northwestern tried a field goal. Standing on the 35 yard line, John Kroeger kicked but the effort barely cleared the lineup scrimmage. Statistics:

The Ohioans took the kick-off and drilled their way to the Hoosiers' 33 yard where a long pass failed, Indiana taking the ball. The Buckeyes were back on the offensive at the start of the second period, galloping and passing from their own 19 yard line to the enemy 19 where the drive was broken up when Deranek intercepted Horvath's pass on the 4 yard line.

After the interception Hoernschemeyer punted into the wind and the ball traveled only to the Hoosiers' 39 yard line where Keane grabbed it. The Ohioans made short work of those 39 yards. Horvath tried to run but lost 2 yards. He sailed a long pass that Deranek slapped down. Undaunted by this, Horvath pitched another long one and Jack Dugger, after catching it on the 3 yard line, stumbled over the goal. Ollie Cline kicked the point that created the 7 to 7 tie.

Buckeyes Stop Threat.

Before the halfway point was reached the Hoosiers had made another touchdown bid. Hoernschemeyer carried the kick-off to his 47, a return of 42 yards. Then he joined Jagade and Deranek on a ground assault that Ohio State finally stopped on its 3 yard line. Ohio kicked out of danger and the Hoosiers tried to bounce back with long passes but the pitches missed the catchers.

The Ohioans resumed their attack early in the third period. They ran and passed, Horvath sprinting for 36 yards in one play, from their own 19 to Indiana's 1 foot line where they lost the ball on downs. It didn't take the Buckeyes long to break the tie. Hoernschemeyer punted out to his 37 and Horvath heaved a pass to Dick Flanagan on Indiana's 16. Then, after a 7 yard advance by Horvath, Brugge galloped over his left end for a touchdown and Dugger kicked the extra point to make it 14 to 7.

Horvath Keeps It Up.

In the first few minutes of the fourth period Brugge recovered Horvath's fumble on Indiana's 20 yard line but it was the latter's ball on downs. Hoernschemeyer punted to get out of danger but the kick put the Ohioans only 37 yards from the enemy goal. On the first play Horvath rounded his right end for 7 yards. Ken Boxwell, subbing for Cline, who suffered a shoulder injury, made it first down on Ohio's 49. After a short run by Brugge, a pass by Flanagan was incomplete, but Horvath heaved one to Traian Dendiu for 11 yards. Horvath tried to pass again but suddenly ran the ball for a first down on Indiana's 24. After Flanagan's 1 yard gain, Brugge plummeted over his left tackle, and wove his way to the third touchdown, Dugger kicking goal to complete the day's scoring.

With less than a minute to go Indiana found a way to get across the Ohio goal but it didn't count. From his own 26 yard line Hoernschemeyer pitched a long pass to Bill Armstrong, who galloped down field to the Ohio goal, only to find the ball called back and a 15 yard penalty inflicted on the Hoosiers for clipping. Ray has arranged a scrimmage with the 91st St. Coast guard Tuesday.

Hunters Wait Start of Big Push Saturday

BY BOB BECKER.

This week marks the beginning of the busiest and most exciting days for hunters of the whole year. All thru northern and central tier of states the ducks usually are on the move by this time which means fun for the waterfowlers. If the weatherman keeps his books straight we usually have a wintry blow up north about this time which moves thousands of mallards into the Illinois and Mississippi river areas.

In the northwest the pheasant hunters still are tramping around in South and North Dakota for pheasants. In Illinois the rabbit pheasant and quail hunters have only one more week to wait for their fun, because the 1944 season opens Nov. 11. With the opening day coming on Saturday there probably will be a big crowd in the field that morning.

It's for Relaxation.

While all these hunters are out for relaxation as well as some delicious game meat for the home, the deer hunters are scurrying around looking for cartridges for the deer seasons up north soon will be open. Michigan says that more deer have been counted in recent weeks than were seen a year ago in 34 of 39 counties in which the animals may be hunted legally. Increases are attributed to the light winter of 1943-'44 and with consequent reduction in starvation loss. Last year Michigan's record [we note that it is printed on our nonresident small game license] was 65,087 deer killed and 60 hunters killed or wounded.

In Illinois the annual upland game season means that again the hunters who live in cities [the city slickers] meet the farmers. This contact is inevitable because the farmer is the fellow who's on the land that raises the pheasants. Over in Michigan they have pioneered a system whereby the hunter and farmer work together the year round so that both get hunting together. As a result there is quite a large acreage open to hunters. The state also has many thousands of public shooting grounds available which help hunters to enjoy some sport with the ringnecks.

Here Are Illinois Regulations.

In Illinois the pheasant season permits the taking of two cock birds per day with six or three days' limit the maximum number that may be in possession during the season. The daily limit on rabbits is 10 and a 20 possession limit. Quail may be shot from Nov. 11 until Dec. 11 with 12 the daily limit and 36 the possession limit. [The squirrel season will be open until Nov. 15 in the northern zone.]

PHILLIES DRAFT FIELDER DINGES FROM COLONELS

The Philadelphia Phillies yesterday claimed Outfielder Vance Dinges property of Louisville in the American association, in the major leagues' annual player draft.

The office of Commission K. M. Landis said Dinges was purchased at the regular $7,500 fee for double A league players, altho he was optioned by Louisville to Scranton of the Eastern league last season.

NEW, INTERESTING PREFLIGHT COURSE NOW AVAILABLE
LEARN TO FLY WITHOUT LEAVING THE GROUND
CLASSES EVERY NIGHT STARTING NOV. 6

Every thrill of flying is yours when you take the controls of the new Penguin Preflight Trainer. This plane simulates all of the following flight maneuvers: straight and level, climbs, glides, turns, stalls and spins. The Penguin Trainer is equipped with conventional controls and standard instruments.

COME IN FOR A TRIAL SPIN IN THE PENGUIN — WE'RE OPEN WEEK DAYS AND SUNDAY FROM 10 A.M. TO 6 P.M.

PERSONALIZED INSTRUCTION IN THE NEW Penguin Trainer

Oral instruction on the fundamentals of flight, coordination of controls and plane maneuvers are presented by an experienced flight instructor. Projector placed on left wing of the plane projects a silhouette on a panorama screen. The student by the coordination of stick and rudder is required to control projected silhouette along the lines of level flight, climbs, glides and other fundamental flight maneuvers. This teaches the student by visual observation to simulated ground and sky screen the various attitudes of the aircraft in flight. Any pilot error in moving the image along the path of projected flight is pointed out by the instructor. You are the pilot of this plane which actually simulates flying conditions.

Thrilling New Way to Learn to Fly—Learn the basic fundamentals of flying without ever leaving the ground in the new Penguin Classroom Trainer which offers all of the thrills and sensations of actually flying a plane. Preflight School is the only school in the United States offering this low cost, newest of all practical methods of preflight training. It is interesting, practical, fundamental. In a few thrilling hours it will give you the feel of a plane—teach you orientation, coordination of controls and will assure you of your private pilot's ticket in less than the average time.

What the Course Includes—Preflight course includes a total of approximately 10 hours of flight, lecture and observation. At the completion of the preflight course, student will be given thirty minutes of actual flight time in modern training plane at the Lewis School of Aeronautics.

Classes Start November 6—Enrollments are being taken immediately for evening classes which start November 6. Course covers a period of 4 weeks. Phone WAbash 7760 or write today. Get all the facts on this revolutionary new Preflight Course.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 4.—Iowa's Hawkeyes, held to a starvation diet of 13 points in their first four games of this 1944 football season, gorged themselves today with a touchdown feast at the expense of Nebraska's Cornhuskers. The score was 27 to 6.

A crowd of 8,000 saw the Iowa youngsters have themselves a day, with Nelson Smith Jr. leading them with three touchdowns. The visitors couldn't make a first down in the first 57 minutes of the game, but when they did they engineered a couple of passes, 52 and 22 yards long, which produced their only score of the contest.

The Iowans led in first downs, 12 to 2, and in rushing yardage, 203 to 12. The home lads indicated that they might be annoying to their remaining foes—Wisconsin, Minnesota, and even their neighbors,' the potent Iowa Seahawks. Mr. Smith, a 21 year old citizen of Sac City, Ia., who won his letter at Coe college before going into the army air forces, wherefrom he received medical discharge last October, might be particularly pesky to all three of these future Iowa foes.

Hansen Goes Places.

So also might Jim Hansen, who once played for Nebraska, and who today led even Smith in ground gaining, picking up 81 yards in 15 tries, while Smith was getting 66 in the same number of attempts.

Nebraska was pushed deep into its own territory almost as soon as the game began, and remained there until its closing aerial outburst. A first quarter Husker fumble on their own 22 yard line led the Hawkeyes to the Nebraska 16, where the Huskers took possession only to duplicate the error and have Hansen recover for Iowa on the Nebraska 26 yard mark. Dick Woodard, Iowa right half back, was halted on the first play, then flipped a short pass to Quarter Back Jack Stewart, good on the Husker 21. Hansen hammered his way to a first down on the 14 yard line, and charged on to the 9 on the next play. Bill Kersten and Hansen then collaborated in bringing the ball to the 1 yard line, whence Woodard drove over for the first touchdown. Stewart's attempt for the extra point was blocked.

Smith Smashes Over.

The Iowans made another thrust at the end of the first period, traveling from the Nebraska 49 to the visitors' 2 before yielding the ball on downs, when a fourth down pass from Stewart to Smith was caught out of bounds by the latter. The Huskers punted out to their 33 yard line, and Smith hurled the ball to Right End Russ McLaughlin, who accepted it on the 13 yard line. Hansen picked up 3 yards and Smith, in three consecutive smashes at the defensive right tackle, went over for his first touchdown. Smith contributed the extra point to make the score 13 to 0.

Iowa kept pressing until just before the half, when a pass by Smith was intercepted by Doug Nelson, Nebraska back, who caught it in his end zone and was downed for safety, bringing about the intermission score of 15 to 0.

Husker Passes Click.

Smith scored his second touchdown early in the fourth period, after a session in which Woodard and Hansen proved to be valuable associates by completing a pass on the Nebraska 5 yard line. Hansen added a yard, then Smith went over for the touchdown. Smith missed the kick. A 48 yard drive shortly thereafter wound up with Smith scoring touchdown No. 3.

The Nebraska rally saw Ed Gradoville flying a pass to Jack Dedrick for a gain of 52 yards. Bill Perdew then took over the pitching chore, choosing Dedrick as his target on the Iowa 6 yard mark. Joe Kessler then drove thru the Iowa line for the score which averted a shutout for the Huskers, who hadn't made a point until their surprising conquest of Missouri last week. Perdew missed the try for the extra point.

Bunker Hill Navy Eleven Routs Camp Ellis, 32 to 10

Bunker Hill, Ind., Nov. 4 [Special].—Bunker Hill navy gained its sixth straight victory of the season by defeating Camp Ellis, 32 to 0, after holding a 12 to 0 half time lead. Charley Pollard ran for two Bunker Hill touchdowns while Martin Bendler passed to Ends Ray Schneck and Bernie Timmer for two more. Russ Harmon scored the other touchdown.

downs soon after the kick-off, but with the ball on Wisconsin's 49, Pfohl fumbled, Schultz recovering for a 13 yard loss, and the Boilermakers had to punt. Girard drove thru center for 4 yards and made 17 around end, but was injured on the play. He tried a pass, but Pfohl intercepted and ran the ball back to the Badger 29. Girard left the field at this point.

Then Dimancheff fumbled and Laubenheimer recovered on the Wisconsin 49. Lockwood intercepted a pass from Fee. Neither team could make any impression and the quarter ended with Wisconsin in possession on its 23 after taking a punt.

The Boilermakers, directed by Isbell from the photographers' booth at the top of the stands, got a break soon after the second period opened when T. A. Cox, back to kick, fumbled a bad pass from center and was thrown in the end zone by Pete Barbolak for a safety.

Boilermakers Click.

After Canfield had returned the kick-out to the Wisconsin 49, Purdue's offense took form and brought a touchdown. Schultz passed to Joe Collings for 13 yards and a first down on the Badger 36. Dimancheff made 7 thru center and Pfohl went for a first down on the 24. Canfield picked up 6 thru guard. Purdue lost 15 yards for holding, but Schultz picked up 10 with a pass to Canfield, whereupon Purdue was penalized 15 more for clipping. With the ball on the 35, Schultz passed to John Morton for a 20 yard gain to the 15 and on the next play Dimancheff drove over three tacklers and across the goal line. Tom Hughes kicked the extra point and Purdue led, 9 to 0.

Wisconsin was forced to punt soon after the kick-off, but after the Boilermakers had worked the ball to the Wisconsin 17 they lost it on downs. Cox and Fee moved it up to the 29 before Fee fumbled and Angelo Carnaghi recovered for Purdue on the Badger 15. With three minutes of the half remaining, Pfohl fumbled and John Davey recovered for the Badgers on their 7. Fee broke loose for 18 yards to the 25 and then passed to Shafer for first down on the 40. Another pass failed and Fee made 5 inside left end. With one second remaining, Fee attempted another pass. Dimancheff intercepted it on the Purdue 35 and twisted his way 65 yards for a touchdown. Hughes' kick was good and the score was Purdue, 16; Wisconsin, 0.

Schultz Is Hurt.

The third period was a see-saw affair which netted no scoring but saw Schultz forced to the sidelines with a knee injury. It also was productive of the first sustained drive by the Badgers as they took the ball from their own 38 to the Purdue 23 on line plays spearheaded by Fee and Cox before getting stalled. The ball was at midfield as the period ended.

Dimancheff picked up 5 yards as the last quarter opened and Pfohl hit tackle for a first down on the Badger 40. Then, on a perfectly executed screen pass, Canfield tossed to Dimancheff who ran virtually unmolested for his third touchdown. Hughes again kicked the goal.

On the first play after the following kickoff, Dimancheff intercepted a long pass from Dick Carpenter and returned to the Purdue 36. Pfohl made 6 and Dimancheff went around end for 26 to the Wisconsin 33. On the third play, Dimancheff broke off tackle for 33 yards and his fourth touchdown. Hughes' kick was wide.

Isbell sent in a host of reserves and with four minutes left, Ray Gunkel, 215 pound full back from Chicago's Kelvyn Park High school, plunged over from the 2 yard line for the fifth Purdue touchdown. The try for point after touchdown failed.

BASKETBALL BARGAIN.

Lawrence, Kas., Nov. 4 [AP].—A two night basketball double header program has been scheduled for the Municipal auditorium in Kansas City next month. On the night of Dec. 22, Missouri will play Colorado and Kansas will meet Kansas State. The next night Kansas will take on Missouri and Nebraska will be pitted against Kansas State.

Yale Defeats Dartmouth, 6-0, to Remain in Unbeaten Class

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 4 (AP).—A neat bit of strategy which set up a 25 yard touchdown gallop by Paul Walker of Oak Park, Ill., enabled the unbeaten and untied Yale eleven to blank Dartmouth, 6 to 0, today and record their fifth straight football victory.

The season's biggest Yale bowl crowd of 40,000 saw the ancient Ivy league rivals put on one of their typical shows, with the Blue emerging the victor in this 28th fracas only after halting a furious Dartmouth assault in the dying moments of the contest.

Taking a poor Dartmouth second period punt on the Indians' 36, Quarter Back George Loh called for several spread plays, then suddenly shot a pass to Walker who caught it on the 25, and ran for a touchdown.

Dartmouth's big moment came near the final when, led by Darrell Braatz, subback and marine trainee transfer from Marquette, its fury nearly blew Yale out of the unbeaten class. With Braatz taking charge, Dartmouth moved from the Yale 40 to the 9. But, Yale's defense tightened at that point.

BUCKNELL ROUTS N. Y. U.

Lewisburg, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP).—Bucknell defeated N. Y. U. today, 26 to 0, paced by Netski's accurate passing, which accounted for two of Bucknell's four touchdowns.

ARMY LOAFS: 83 TO 0.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 4 (AP).—Army's football team piled up an 83 to 0 score at the expense of Villanova today.

Amassing their highest score in six winning games this season and the third highest in Academy football records, the Cadets didn't even get much practice for next week's game with Notre Dame.

The last two periods were shortened to 10 minutes each and army used its third and fourth stringers virtually all thru the second half after leading 62 to 0 at the intermission.

The Cadets scored 12 touchdowns and Dick Walterhouse place kicked the extra points after 11 of them. Glenn Davis, the team's high scorer, made three of the touchdowns to bring his season total to 72 Arnold Tucker and John Sauer made two touchdowns apiece.

CORNELL 25-7 VICTOR.

New York, Nov. 4 (AP).—Cornell used passes, plunges, end around plays, and interceptions today to score touchdowns against on outmanned Columbia team, the Big Red coming from behind for a 25 to 7 victory as the Lions absorbed their third loss of the campaign.

Columbia scored in the first minute and 20 seconds when George Gilbert, end, who was named captain of the Lions only this week, snatched a Cornell fumble on his 45 and raced 55 yards for a touchdown, aided by a fine downfield block by End Bob Heller.

That was the last time Columbia was in the game, for Cornell stormed back for two touchdowns in the same period.

PENN STATE WINS, 41-0.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 4 (AP).—Syracuse university's football team took its worst drubbing of the season today from Penn State's Nittany Lions, 41 to 0.

John Chuckran, half back, led the Lions' scoring with two touchdowns, and contributed to a third with a third. Tom Einbecker, Homewood, Ill., substitute, and Bob Hicks, added two other touchdowns. Harry Muckle, sub full back, contributed another.

CADETS BEAT BROWN, 20-0.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 4 (AP).—Tommy Dorsey, who performed for Brown last season, returned today to pace the Coast Guard academy's Cadets to a 20 to 0 victory over the Bruins. Dorsey accounted for two of the visitors' touchdowns with 65 and 10 yard runs. It was the Cadets' first victory over a major rival this season.

Missouri Tops Mich. State on Rally, 13-7

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 4 (AP).—The Missouri Tigers spoiled the unbeaten and untied football record of Michigan State this afternoon by charging to two second half touchdowns to win, 13 to 7.

Sparked by Robert Hopkins, substituting for the Tigers' star runner, Bill Dellastatious, the Missourians scored without losing the ball after the second half kick-off. Paul Collins, quarter back went over for the first Tiger touchdown to culminate a 60 yard drive. Jim Kekeris, 272 pound Missouri tackle missed his placement for the extra point.

Undismayed at failing to tie the score, the Tigers continued to outplay the Spartans and early in the fourth quarter drove to the deciding touchdown. A pass interception by Max Riley, Missouri full back, set the stage for the second drive which began on the Missouri 35 yard line.

Collins passed to Bob Eigelberger, Tiger end, for 24 yards to take the ball to the Spartan 26. From this point Collins broke loose on a 13 yard jaunt to the 13 and a series of short gains took the ball to the 1 foot line where Collins again worked the quarter back sneak for the score.

Interceptions Help Winners.

Then there were Bruce Hilkene and Art Renner, each of whom helped the Wolverine cause with his pass receiving. A Ponsetto-Renner pass was good for 47 yards and Michigan's third touchdown and the fourth Michigan touchdown was accomplished on a 25 yard pass play, Howard Yerges to Hilkene. Pass interceptions by Charles Wahl and Lund twice chilled Penn zeal and helped set up Michigan touchdowns.

The fact that Penn didn't make a first down until the final play of the first half, compared with 12 by Michigan in the first two quarters, gives a pretty good idea of how the Michigan line outplayed its opponents. In the over all first down statistics Michigan made 20 to Penn's eight.

Penn Has Passing Edge.

Penn made only 28 yards rushing in the first half to Michigan's 192. All day Michigan netted 376 from rushing to Penn's 161. In yards gained from passing Penn enjoyed an edge, making 136 on 8 completions to 89 for Michigan's 5 completions.

The Michigan victory was its fifth straight over Penn and its 10th against eight Penn successes and two ties in their series.

HARVARD FINISHES UNBEATEN

Harvard football season, run on an informal basis, has ended with an undefeated and untied record. Four victories were scored and the Crimson drew enough spectators to pay all costs of the modest program.

LEAFS WIN 4TH IN ROW; SCORE OVER BRUINS, 7-2

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 4 (AP).—The league leading Toronto Maple Leafs kept their winning streak intact by defeating the Boston Bruins, 7 to 2, in a National Hockey league game played before 13,580 paid customers here tonight. It was the Leafs' fourth victory. They are unbeaten.

Only the classy work of Harvey Bennett in the Boston goal kept the Leafs from running up a higher count. The Leafs were credited with 41 shots on the goal and Boston had 26. Frank McCool also played heads-up hockey in the Leaf net. Lineups:

With a victory over the New York Rangers and a loss to the Toronto Maple Leafs as their record for the first week of play in the 1944-'45 National Hockey league campaign, the Blackhawks will go after victory No. 2 tonight when they clash with the once powerful Boston Bruins in the Stadium.

Time was when the Bruins were the scourge of the National Hockey league, rolling up one victory after another but Goalie Frankie Brimsek and the famed line of Schmidt, Dumart, and Bauer answered calls to service and Boston hasn't yet recovered from that shock. This season they also are without the services of Bep Guidolin, youthful left wing star, who has joined the Canadian army.

Dissatisfied with the loose play of Bert Gardiner in the nets last season, Manager Art Ross is using Harry Bennett, a promising youngster who played junior hockey in Canada, and he was outstanding in the losing battle with the Canadiens.

Aside from Bennett, newcomers on the Bruins' roster are Rookies Bill Cupulo, Ken Smith, and Paul Gladu, who received their first taste of pro competition in the season opener, and Bill Jennings, veteran right wing, purchased a week ago from Detroit.

CANADIENS WIN, 3-2

Montreal, Que., Nov. 4 (AP).—Toe Blake's goal with eight minutes to go gave the Montreal Canadiens a 3 to 2 victory over Detroit's Red Wings tonight in the first meeting of the two teams this season.

I'D ALMOST FORGOTTEN WHAT A DIFFERENCE THERE WAS—

SCHICK INJECTOR BLADES ARE BACK!

(Sorry—No New Razors Yet Except for the Armed Forces!)

Refresh your memory ; : : go back to real shaving comfort and ease once more. No need to keep your Schick Injector Razor on the shelf now that Schick Blades are back again in force!

'Though we're now able to supply civilian as well as military demands for keen-edged Schick Blades, we still can't get the material for new razors. So take 'lasting' care of your Schick Injector Razor. Let these revolutionary features...the only basic safety razor improvements in over 40 years : : . prove what a sharp difference there is, morning after morning.

SCHICK INJECTOR RAZOR BLADES

Magazine Repeating Razor Co., Bridgeport 1, Conn.

AUTOMATIC BLADE CHANGE

...an exclusive Schick Injector feature. A pull and push on the Injector shoots out the old blade, slides in a fresh one instantly. Nothing to take apart or re-assemble. No fumbling with sharp blade edges or messy paper wrappers.

SOLID GUIDE BAR

. . . has a sure-grip surface that stretches and flattens the skin just ahead of the blade. Pops up whiskers for closer, more comfortable shave. Corner guards protect against nicking and scraping.

DOUBLE-THICK BLADES

. . . just as long but twice as thick as ordinary blades. 3 times as thick as paper-thin ones. So they take and hold a really keen edge. Oil packed in special cartridge, their cutting edges are suspended in space.

Smith field vs. Portage park, 2600 W. Grand av., 1 p. m.
Franklin park vs. Ogden park, Franklin park, 14th st. and Kolin av., 1 p. m.

BY OFFSIDE.

Semi-final games in the B division of the National Soccer league's cup competition, in which the Swedes face the Necaxas and the Hakoah-Centers meet Spartas, are expected to attract the largest crowd of the season to Sparta stadium this afternoon. The first game is slated for 1 o'clock with the Hakoah-Sparta meeting at 3 p. m.

The Swedes, who apparently have the best team in the circuit but haven't been able to win a game, expect to hit their winning stride today. Three stars of the Milwaukee Falks have been added to the lineup including: Harold Anderson, John Petek, and Walter Schroeder. They will team up with Ernie Pearson, Billy Fraser, Tommy Reilly, and Kip Johnson to give the club its strongest starting team of the fall campaign.

Necaxas Strengthened.

The Necaxas have furnished most of the surprises in the cup matches with their clever play and figure to make a strong bid for the title. However, Manager Jimmy Niotis strengthened his lineup this week by signing Nelio Menoni, husky Italian goalie, and received more good news when Maximo Aguirre rejoined the squad after a two year layoff due to illness. There is a chance that Henry Bellagamba, speedy outside right will be unable to start because of a knee injury.

The second game on today's program also promises plenty of action since the Hakoahs hope to triumph as a sort of parting gift to their star forward, Eric Klaber, who is making his final appearance. Klaber will leave for the east immediately after the game for business reasons and expects to make his home there.

Seeks New Players.

Manager Harry Field is making an effort to secure new playing talent in New York and the team will have Lt. Justin Rosenbusch in the starting lineup. Rosenbusch hails from New York and has been scouting for players. The Hakoahs may be minus Maxie Pearlman, veteran forward, who is still limping from injuries sustained two weeks ago.

The Spartans, who gave the Vikings a scare a week ago before dropping a close decision, will be at full strength for the first time in several weeks. Jerry Bohm has indicated that he'll be available for action and Rudy Piskula, who is home on leave, will also be ready to play. Manager Charles Fencil also has induced Willie Jones, former Oak Park Acorn veteran, to come out of retirement and attempt a comeback. The remainder of the starters include Nudeino Marchino, Laddi Mrnka, Joe Werier, and Jimmy Wolf.

Norwegians Face Italians.

The Norwegians battle Guisti-Italians and Hansas clash with the Slovaks in fifth round matches of C division in Lane Tech stadium, starting at 1 o'clock in other high spots of the day.

The schedule also includes opening games of the juvenile school tournament, which includes teams sponsored under the program of the Chicago Sports association and the National Soccer league. Lineups of the B division contests:

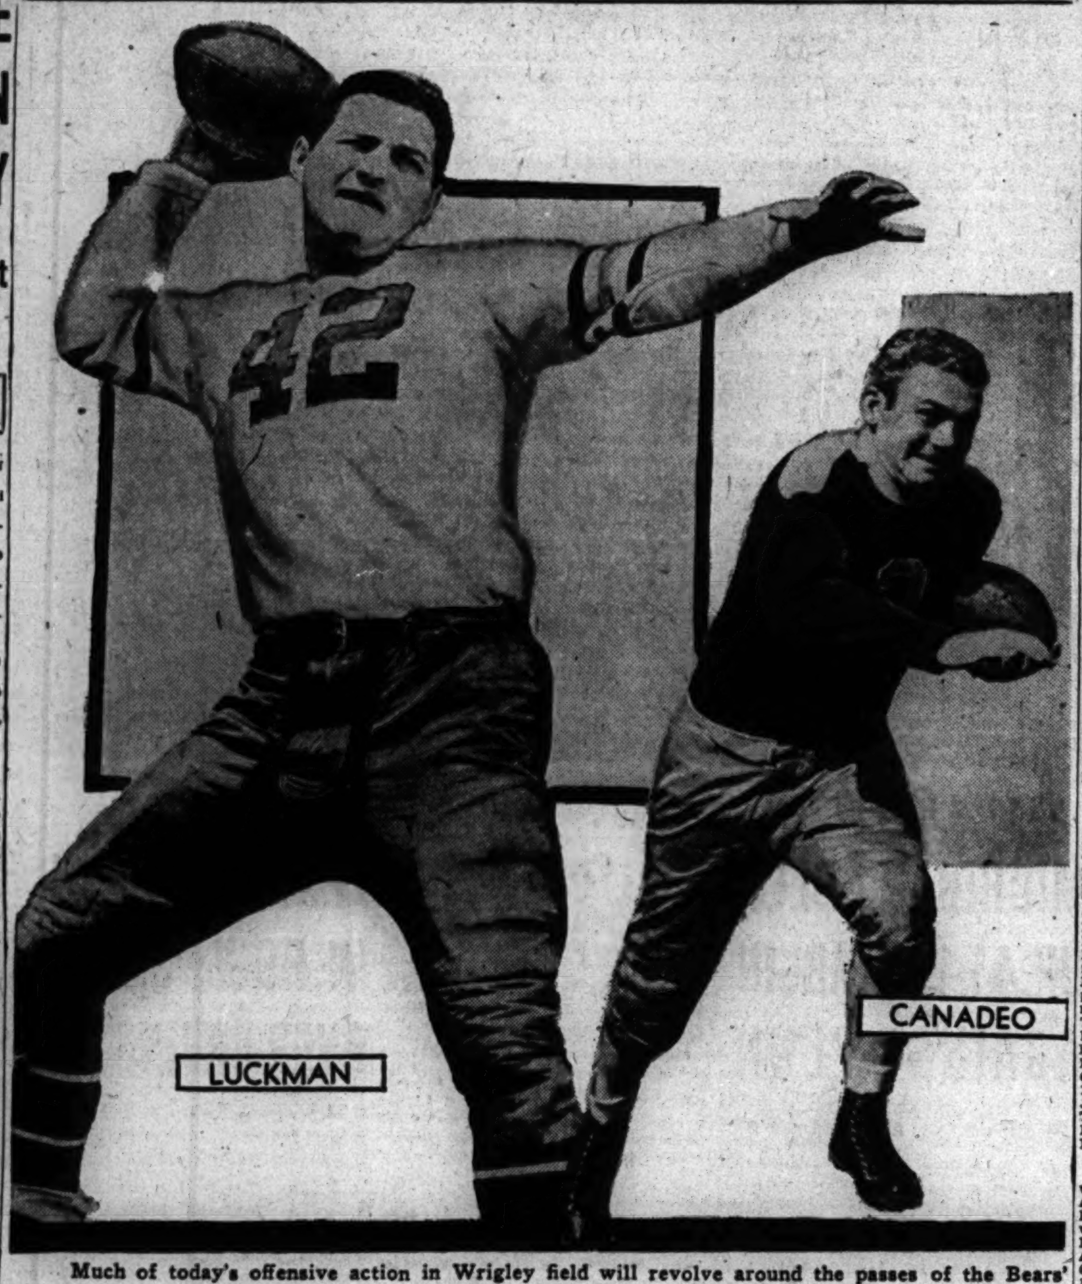
HEADLINERS IN HEADLINE BATTLE



Much of today's offensive action in Wrigley field will revolve around the passes of the Bears' Sid Luckman in competition with the pitching and running of the Green Bay Packers' Tony Canadeo.

Georgia Tech Streak Ended by Duke, 19-13

Durham, N. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—Undefeated, untied Georgia Tech, seeking its sixth straight triumph, bowed today before a Duke University team that scored in the fourth quarter to defeat the Engineers, 19 to 13.

The Blue Devils scored on the first running play of the game but were forced to come from behind twice to score one of the major upsets of the day. It was the Duke's second victory in six starts and provided a crowd of 30,000, largest of the season in this area, with thrills galore.

WAKE FOREST, 13; CLEMSON, 7.

Wake Forest, N. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—Wake Forest's deacons, their eyes on a New Year's day bowl bid, kept their undefeated and united record intact today by tripping a strong Clemson team, 13 to 7, in a Southern conference encounter that gave the Deacons the circuit lead. Wake Forest, which has rolled up seven straight victories, tallied in the first and third periods, big Rock Brinkley adding 12 points to his season total of 66 points by plunging over for both touchdowns.

SOUTH CAROLINA VICTOR.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—A second-quarter touchdown by Dan Haralson, 18-year-old 150-pound substitute from Dadeville, Ala., gave South Carolina's gamecocks a 6 to 0 victory over North Carolina in a Southern conference game today. Haralson plunged over center for 2 yards and the only score late in the second quarter, following a 32-yard drive started by his 15-yard end run with a lateral.

WEST VIRGINIA WINS.

Morgantown, W. Va., Nov. 4 (AP).—With Half Back Jimmy Walthall setting the pace West Virginia university today pushed across a touchdown late in the second period to give the Mountaineers a 6 to 0 victory over Temple before a homecoming day throng.

T. C. U. TRIUMPHS, 19-7.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 4 (AP).—Bringing the Southwest conference fazzle-dazzle to the Atlantic seaboard, Texas Christian university staged three touchdown drives in the second period today to defeat the Chatham field Blockbusters, 19 to 7.

KENTUCKY IS ROUTED.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 4 (AP). — Pouncing upon every mistake of the opposition, Mississippi State's rugged Maroons crashed over a jittery Kentucky team today, 26 to 0, for their fifth consecutive triumph.

GEORGIA UPSETS ALABAMA.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 4 (AP).—A determined Georgia eleven scaled the heights today to upset Alabama, 14 to 7.

SPOTTING THE PINS

BY ROBERT BEACH.

Bowling, as a game, has received many fine tributes, but here's the one which far surpasses improvement. It's the AP story from Battle Creek about Pvt. Norman Myhra.

Pvt. Myhra lost both hands in a mine explosion in France. He was returned to Battle Creek for treatment and recuperation. He liked to bowl, but now——

This young man, his hope for what most men call a normal life practically gone, is taking up bowling again. He bowls by having a comrade place the ball at the foul line. Then he pushes it with his foot. Recently he shot an 84 game which included two strikes.

"It's really easy," he said, "only I find myself leaning over to pick up the ball. I'm just getting started. Wait till I've had a little more practice."

Here is the living embodiment of courage and inspiration, wrapped up in the stout heart of a 19 year old lad.

Feminine Bowlers in Milwaukee Also Collect Plenty of Wood.

CHATTER—Ann Burgardt, secretary of the Hank Marino Ladies' league in Milwaukee, writes that when it comes to bowling, they're not so bad, either, as witness this past week's scores: Ruth Hoyer, 246—623; Leone Mueller, 258—611; Clara Medved, 247—627; Gladis Light, protege of Frank Benkovic, 246—613; Helen Braun, 619; and Olive Hermann, 607. No argument there. . . . Monarchs won the King Pin sweeper in Wilmette with 3133, thanks to a 713 by Buddy Bomar. Schaefer's Liquors, Skokie, took the junior division with 2,816. And nearly $1,000 was raised for the "Miss Chicago Bowler" plane fund. . . . Walter Baskovich of the Timing Gear team in the Bowlium's Monday Nite Mixed, wears an artificial left leg yet averages 148, reports League Secretary Glenn Campbell via Army Camille. Baskovich is an executive of a concern which manufactures artificial limbs. . . . Dates for the annual Chicago Printcraft Bowling association tournament have been announced for Feb. 17, 18, and 19. Eddie Herbeck is the group's new president, Ollie Johnson, vice president, Bernie Boyle, treasurer, and Harry McLaughlin secretary, the latter also named commissioner for the national body.

Harry Ledene of Monarch Bowls Final Game Before Draft Call.

Harry Ledene, member of the Monarch team of the Classic league, was presented with a war bond and a watch by fellow bowlers and sponsors at last week's session, Ledene's final before entering the service. He is the third member of this team to leave, following Matt Faetz Jr. and George Eland. . . . The Mount Prospect golf team in the N. W. Traveling shot a 1067 game, high for the circuit this season. Wally Heft's 648, Joe Hanley's 645, Frank Schultz' 643, and 640s by Dan Gullickson and Ed Riccio led the individual scoring. Evelyn Hogan's 563 with a 234 game topped Marzano's Thursday Ladies'. Ann Sarady had a 211 and Kathryn Corbett a 201. League Secretary Eleanor Bergen had a 530. Miss Hogan also set the pace in the Bruck's Monday Ladies with 582, followed by Marie Schoppen with 574, Marie Zeman with 550, and Sara Hannblom with 542. . . . The Dixie Specials are still leading the C. & E. I. R. R. league. Dick McLain of the Limiteds led the single games with 254. . . . Edelweiss Beers hold a slender one game margin over the Monarch Encores in Samuelson's Major. Both face second division opposition this week. Another double leader is Charlotte Caswell, who set the pace in Schalk's Evergreen Wednesday Nite Ladies with 570 ahead of Myrtle Piper's 548 and Helen Gresens' 541, and Sunday Nite Mixed feminine competition with 559 including a 222 game. Fred Harvey led the men with 618.

Madge Kass Leads Bowling Lanes Major, with 605 Series.

Madge's Kass' 605 topped the Bowling Lane Ladies' Major and included games of 215 and 202. Dorothy Miller had 579 with a 216, Lee Liepe had 574 with a 221, Macy Nathan had 570 with a 220 and Claire Zimmerlin had 569 with a 211. . . . Alf Colley and Russell Togatz, both of Los Angeles, rolled perfect games in sanctioned league play on Friday the 13th, last. . . . Joe Norris and Johnny Petro of the Strohs beat Chet Bukowski and Louie Sielaff of the E. & B. team in a Detroit match the other night, the margin being 274 pins. Funny part is Norris and Petro got exactly the same total to the very pin—7322—in 35 games, for a 209.7 average. . . . Bob Holdeman, Indianapolis rolled in an early league and shot 489. In his late league, the same night he got that total in his first two games. . . . Art Knighton of Oakland, Cal., knocked down the 4-6 twice in one game, each time hitting the 4-pin, bouncing it off the rear cushion to get the 6.

Kartheiser's 1,635 Leads in Bomar Meet

Frank Kartheiser, for many years one of Chicago's ablest bowlers, stepped off into the lead in Buddy Bomar's fourth annual Diamond Medal Individual Classic in Marigold Arcade last night by firing a big 1,635 series for eight games on the first shift, an advantage which was still good by 25 pins at the end of the third squad of bowling.

In second place was Wally Reppenhagen of Detroit, whose 1160 paced the third squad. He was followed by his fellow townsman, Joe Norris, with 1591; by Vic Schroeder, Chicago, with 1590, and by Vic Bliss, St. Louis, whose 1585 topped the second shift.

High individual games for the evening were a 255 and a 256, both scored by Omar Herppich, Detroit, who ranks sixth with a 1,576 total.

Following are the 10 leaders:

Frank Kartheiser, Chicago	1635
Wally Reppenhagen, Detroit	1610
Joes Norris, Detroit	1591
Chick Schroeder, Chicago	1590

LIFTED BUILDING CURBS PRESAGE MORE ACTIVITY

Scott Street Apartment to Be Remodeled.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

The first big project for converting large, outmoded apartments into small, modern living units, since the national housing agency lifted curbs on this type of construction, was announced yesterday. It will be at 6-12 Scott st., northeast corner of N. State st. The seven story apartment building, containing 12 suites of 8 rooms and 3 baths each, is to be rebuilt into 43 units of 3½ and 4 rooms. Completion is set for May 1 and a tentative rent schedule of from $90 to $125 has been set.

Julius Taxay.
[Swisher Photo.]

Under the recent designation by NHA of Chicago as a "congested area," where construction conversions are needed, any person who wants to remodel his residential property into more home units may do so if he can get the materials. Priorities, however, must be obtained. No longer will the owner be compelled to rent his flats only to war workers. He may rent to any one.

Builders Predict Activity.

In addition to lifting occupancy restrictions NHA removed all rent limits provided the designated rents receive the approval of the office of price administration. Chicago builders believe the revised regulations will lead to much remodeling of multiple unit buildings which could not have been rebuilt under the old restrictions and made to pay a fair return.

The State-Scott corner was bought for $120,000 by Julius Taxay, real estate operator, from the Goodman estate, which recently has been disposing of some holdings. It was built in 1918 by William O. Goodman, whose son, a World War I. hero, was memorialized in the Kenneth Sawyer Goodman theater, a part of the Art institute. It represented a total investment in land and building of approximately $300,000.

Designed by William Ernest Walker, architect, it was one of Chicago's most luxurious apartment buildings of that period. Each of the big suites has a woodburning fireplace. They probably will be retained in the smaller flats.

Second Scott St. Conversion.

Paul Frederick Olsen, architect, is drawing plans for the $100,000 remodeling program. The financing is being done partly with a 4 per cent $75,000 mortgage negotiated thru Dovenmuehle, Inc.

This is the second remodeling project sponsored by Taxay. In 1943 he rebuilt the seven 12-room suites in the eight story luxurious apartment building at Lake Shore dr. into 59 small flats for war workers.

This also is the second new Scott street conversion program. One block east, at 60-70 E. Scott, the nine story former coöperative apartment building, with 17 big suites, is being remodeled into 64 small flats. The program is about 60 per cent completed, Morris S. Bromberg, one of the owners, said yesterday.

Work was started yesterday on another big remodeling project at the southwest corner of Sheridan rd. and Barry av., first reported last month. The 12 large apartments in the three story building are to be converted into 48 small units.

$50,000 IS PAID FOR RESIDENCE IN INDIAN HILL

The 11 room fireproof Georgian type brick residence at the southwest corner of Locust st. and Winnetka av., in the Indian Hill club district, south of Winnetka, was purchased yesterday by Elinor T. Notz, wife of John K. Notz, attorney, for $50,000. The seller was Josephine G. Green, widow of William Ogden Green. Hart, Shaw & Co. was broker for the seller and Baumann-Cook for the buyer. The property comprises 3.6 acres.

Decca Records Leases Indiana Avenue Building

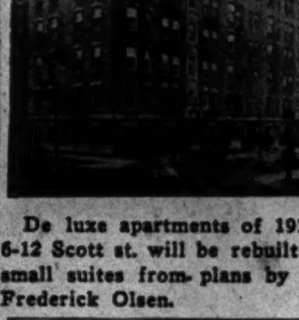
Decca Records, Inc., yesterday leased for 10 years the three story building, 79 by 162 feet, at 2338 Indiana av., from Joseph Stern. Saul A. Epton was attorney for the owner.

Realty Miscellany

Earl S. Draper, deputy commissioner of the federal housing administration, Washington, D. C., will speak on "The New Housing Program" at a dinner of the Chicago Metropolitan Home Builders' association in the Medinah club on Friday evening. Roger Kellogg of Commonwealth Edison company will describe the probable post-war house. John Cummings Lindop, president of the association, will preside.

Remodeling Planned

(Story in adjoining column.)



De luxe apartments of 1918 at 6-12 Scott st. will be rebuilt into small suites from plans by Paul Frederick Olsen.

List Speakers at Big Chicago Realty Parley

Some of the speakers at the realtors' post-war action conference, to be held in Chicago Nov. 27 to Dec. 2, were announced yesterday by Joseph B. Ford, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, which will be host to the expected 5,000 realty men. The "conference," which is the war time name for the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, will be in the Stevens hotel. Every state, Alaska, Hawaii, and Canada will be represented, Ford said.

Joseph B. Ford.

Louis Bromfield to Speak.

Louis Bromfield, author, farmer, and advocate of wider land ownership and of land conservation, will discuss "Under All Is the Land." Mayor John Tobin of Boston will discuss "Preserving the Foundations of Local Government." "Danger of Post-War Over Business" will be the subject of an address by Rep. Hartley [R., N. J.].

Negro housing as a responsibility of the real estate industry will be discussed by Newton C. Farr of Chicago, long nationally active in real estate planning. George Benson, president, of Harding college, Searcy, Ark., will advocate freer private enterprise in a speech, "American at the Crossroads."

Hugh Michels and Morgan Fitch, co-chairmen of the conference, announced names of some of the realtors who head committees in charge of the convention. Advance registrations will be handled by Michael J. Long. Mrs. Joseph B. Ford, wife of the board president, will head the ladies' committee.

Willmore Is Honored.

Other committee chairmen will be Joseph J. Day, entertainment; John J. Falvey, transportation; Percy Wilson, publicity; Newton C. Farr, reception; C. Wallace Johnson, open house; Frank Sorrentino, realtor display; Floyd G. Dana, information and "where to go bureau."

Cyrus Crane Willmore of St. Louis, former president of N. A. R. E. B., has been named honorary advisory chairman to the committee. He is a member of both the Chicago and St. Louis Real Estate boards.

CHICAGO BOARD PLANS SECOND REALTY AUCTION

The Chicago Real Estate board will hold the second of a series of public real estate auctions at 2:30 p. m. on Nov. 15 in the board rooms, 105 W. Madison st., it was announced yesterday. The majority of properties to be offered are industrial and apartment buildings and a group of commercial properties.

Included are a large industrial property at 17 N. Pulaski rd., a modern store building formerly occupied by a super market at 6335 N. Western av., flat buildings at 6218 South Park av. and 750 Junior ter., and five gasoline stations.

QUINLAN & TYSON, INC., CELEBRATES ITS 60TH BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Quinlan & Tyson is celebrating its 60th birthday. Organized in 1884 the firm, then known as Rose, Barry & Quinlan, began business in the Reaper block. In 1888 Howell N. Tyson was hired as a bookkeeper. Later he acquired the interest of Alfred Rose, who quit the firm, and the firm name was changed to Quinlan & Tyson. In 1924 the partnership was dissolved and a corporation was formed with Charles S. Quinlan, president; Tyson, vice president; Clyde D. Foster, treasurer, and Robert S. Crane, secretary. Tyson is now chairman of the board, Foster is president and treasurer; Archibald Jennings, Irving Shildein, and Roland H. Peterson, are vice presidents. President Foster said yesterday that 1944 sales already are more than 4 million dollars.

FENWICK HOPES TO WIN SECTION CROWN TODAY

Weber Risks South Lead in Joliet Game.

Games Today

CATHOLIC LEAGUE.

North Section.

St. Philip vs. Fenwick in Hanson park, 2:15 p. m.; St. Patrick vs. St. Mel in Key Branch stadium, 2:15 p. m.; St. Ignatius vs. St. George in Winnemac park, 2 p. m.

South Section.

De La Salle vs. Mount Carmel in Yates Avenue stadium, 2:30 p. m.; Weber at Joliet Catholic, 2:15 p. m.; St. Rita at Loyola, 2:15 p. m.

Fenwick High school's Friars, undefeated but once tied, will be out to clinch the North section title of the Catholic league when they meet St. Philip in Hanson park this afternoon. The Friars have won four contests, scoring 100 points, to lead the section, and St. Philip has won three, lost one, and tied one.

The Friars will go into the game with thoughts on the Kelly bowl, where in 1936 they battled Austin to a 19 to 19 deadlock. Coach Tony Lawless has the advantage in backs today and can place perhaps the best rounded backfield in the Catholic league against St. Philip. Coleman Caron, a junior, will start at quarter, Roger [Moose] Brown and Dick Martin, also juniors, will be at the half back posts, and senior Harold Abbinanti will start at full back. Besides this potent scoring group, Lawless also counts on End Bob Hanley, who has been on the receiving end of several touchdown passes this season.

Still Hopes for Iggies.

In second place in the north section race, and still with a chance to win, is the strong St. Ignatius eleven, whose only loss in four games was to Fenwick. St. Ignatius will meet St. George in Winnemac park. The Dragons, who won last year's Kelly bowl game, have dropped three sectional contests out of four.

The other north section game pits St. Patrick against St. Mel in Key Branch stadium.

Every one is watching the Weber-Catholic High south section game, which will be played in Joliet. The Weber Red Horde is undefeated but was tied last Sunday by St. Rita, 6 to 6. Joliet Catholic, despite being in the section cellar, made an impressive stand against Leo before losing, 18 to 12. An upset in this game could cost the Red Horde the title.

Caravan May Roll Today.

De La Salle, with only one league victory to its credit, meets Mount Carmel in 83d and Yates av. stadium.

The third south section game is at Loyola, where St. Rita, with two victories, a loss, and the Weber tie, will meet Loyola, winner of one game in four times out.

left for the Packers, who are heading for their first unbeaten, untied campaign. After the Bears, Green Bay meets Cleveland, New York, and the Card-Pitts. The Card-Pitt game, last on the Packers' schedule, will be played in Chicago on Nov. 26.

Sid Outshadows Others.

It's revenge day for Sid Luckman, who was in the Bears' lineup when they lost in Green Bay last September. He saw the Packers take a 28 to 0 lead and then drove the Chicagoans back into a 28 to 28 tie. The Bears might have won but for a penalty at a crucial point late in the game.

Luckman will be passing against Irv Comp, Lou Brock, and perhaps Tony Canadeo. None of the three can compare with Sid in this department, but each of the three is a running threat from the tail back spot. Mixed in with Luckman's pitches will be power driving by Gary Famiglietti and Jim Fordham, and slicing runs and sweeps by Freshmen Al Grygo, Bob Margarita, and Tipp Mooney. Ray McLean may be used as a spot player, but a pinched nerve in his leg still is bothering him.

Instructions for Fans.

Because there is little maneuvering space for fans in front of the Wrigley field gates, suggestions have been advanced to expedite the movement thru the turnstiles. There are three gates, No. 1 at Addison st. and Sheffield av.; No. 2 at Addison and Clark sts., and No. 3 at Waveland av. Gate numbers are marked on each ticket. It also has been suggested that holders of season tickets tear out the Green Bay ticket and have it ready to present to the gate man. Andy Frain, head of the usher corps, said this little item would save several minutes in handling the crowd. The gates will be opened at 11:30 a. m.

Sale of 5,000 bleacher tickets will start at 11 a. m. on a first come, first served basis.

Notice something strange about this story? No mention of Don Hutson? Right. Mr. Hutson will play left end for the Packers.

The Home Front

BY WILLIAM BAYLISS.

ORGANIZATION of a Chicago chapter of the Illinois Industrial and Commercial Recreation association will be completed at a meeting Tuesday, Nov. 14, in the Chicago park district's administration building at the north end of Soldiers' field. The proposed metropolitan section will work under the state organization, formed a week ago today at a meeting in Peoria.

The three officers of the state association all are Chicagoans, including Stanley J. Siedlecki of the Illinois Central railroad, president; George Ergang of Zenith Radio, vice president, and James E. Skinner of Howard Foundry, executive secretary. A preliminary Chicago organization meeting was held Tuesday night at which a general committee of three was named to contact industrial sports leaders in the three main metropolitan divisions.

Members of this group are Wayne Lemmon of Bell & Howell, north zone, chairman; Thomas I. Dunne of Foote Brothers Gear, south zone, and Thomas M. Herley of Webster-Chicago corporation, west zone.

State Industrial Tournament Will Be Strictly Amateur.

First activity of the I. I. C. R. A., which is chartered by the state of Illinois as a nonprofit organization, will be the sponsoring of a state industrial basketball tournament. It already has been decided that the tournament shall be strictly an amateur affair. Officials of the organization will strive to have member industries hold their own intraplant tournaments, with winners and possibly runners-up qualifying for the state meet. The park district already has promised full coöperation insofar as making its gymnasium and athletic field facilities available for basketball and other tournaments.

PURDUE university, a pioneer in the field of industrial recreation, will be host to its second industrial recreation clinic Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday in Lafayette, Ind. Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood, professor of industrial recreation at Purdue, will be in charge of the affair, which is sponsored by the university, the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce and the Indiana Manufacturers' association.

Indications already point to a record attendance for an affair of this sort, with 131 registrations received from 17 states. Those present will be chiefly personnel managers, directors of employe services and supervisors of recreation for workers in some of the nation's largest industrial plants. However, the program is intended for small, as well as large industries.

Reconversion Problems Will Have Place on Program.

Problems incidental to the reconversion of man power from war time production back into peace time channels will have an important place on the schedule. A list of subjects to be discussed includes:

Recreation and employe relations, promoting and publicizing recreation programs; practical music; policies governing amateur intercompany competition; recreation programs for small retail and manufacturing companies; programs for family recreation; ways and means of teaching recreational activities to novice groups; dividends of industrial recreation—present and post-war; the wheat, why and how of employe services, and a panel on problems.

Industrial bowlers last year made up 73,572 of the 151,825 teams affiliated with the American Bowling Congress, a survey made by E. H. Baumgarten, secretary of the A. B. C., reveals. This is by far the largest source of bowlers, the industrial enthusiasts being divided further into these classifications: Factory workers, 48,683 teams; automotive industry, 15,234; aviation, 6,978, and organized labor, 2,677. The most remarkable feature is the fact that altho the total number of teams listed with the A. B. C. has dropped from an all-time high of 190,000 in 1941-'42 to the 151,825 total of last year, the number of industrial teams has increased, the 1941-'42 total in this division having been 72,104.

RECREATION PRESCRIPTION.

Latest publication of the Industrial Recreation association is a brochure on employe recreation. It is profusely illustrated and graphically presents the aims and services of the association. Interested industries may secure copies from Ray Millard, executive secretary of the I. R. A., 1 N. La Salle st.

Ten Teams Battle for Lead in C. A. C. Industrial League.

Hohman & Hill, Inc., and Railway Express agency now are tied for first place in a red hot race for the lead in the Chicago Association of Commerce Industrial Bowling league. The competition for the lead is not limited to these two either, for 10 of the 20 teams in the league are so tightly bunched that the occupant of the 10th spot is only three games out of first place. R. Halko of Thompson Elevator and Electric company last week rolled a 287 game, high individual effort in league competition this season.

The Industrial Traveling league, which ordinarily operates at five different centers each Monday night, will have a get together Sunday, Dec. 10, when all 10 teams are scheduled to roll in the Chicago Bowling associations' tournament at the Congress Arcade.

Leaders in Women's Radio Industries League to Meet.

There were some high jinks in the Women's Radio Industries Bowling league last week, when the league leading Motorola Radios appeared in Halloween costumes and took two out of three from Majestic Radio, but Capt. Josephine Knoll and the other Motorola girls will not be fooling this week. The reason—they are down for a duel Tuesday at Congress Arcade with Belmont Radio, which is in second place, only two games behind. Crowe Plate is tied with Belmont in the runner-up spot and meets Admiral Radio this week.

After losing six straight games and slipping from the lead in the Division Street Y. M. C. A. Industrial Bowling league, the Thordarson Flashtrons did an about face Tuesday, taking three straight from U. S. Plywood and climbing to within one game of Chicago Rawhide, the new leader, which dropped two out of three to Churchill Cabinet.

Parker High school's football team dropped from the undefeated list last night, losing to Calumet, 19 to 12, in Shewbridge field. This gave the south section title in the City league to Fenger's Titans, who finished their campaign undefeated by trouncing Bowen, 40 to 0, in an afternoon game at Yates av. stadium.

The Calumet victory was an upset and plans already had been made for representatives of Parker and Fenger to meet tomorrow morning to flip a coin to determine the south section representative against Lane Tech, north section winner, in the league semi-final play-off next Saturday.

Konyar Leads Fenger Attack.

In the Fenger game, Pete Konyar led the attack with two touchdowns, while Bob Bolchini ran 49 yards for another score. Tim Madden, who also scored a Fenger touchdown, kicked four extra points.

Jim Fuchs scored two touchdowns and two extra points in the final quarter as Hyde Park defeated Harper, 20 to 6, in Yates av. stadium in a south side section morning game, while South Shore defeated Vocational, 19 to 13, on the same field in the afternoon. Richard Michelson paced South Shore with two touchdowns.

Austin High school won the west section title of the City league and the right to oppose Tilden Tech, central sectional champions in the city playoff next week, by trouncing Kelvyn Park, 34 to 0, in Hanson Park. Austin built up a 19 to 0 half time lead and coasted to victory as Jim Baer scored two touchdowns and Doug Rucker, Bill Moore, and Phil Tolemeo each scored once. The two extra points were made by George Zueng.

Hilliard Wykowski made three touchdowns, including two in the second quarter when he ran 45 and 25 yards, as Foreman routed Marshall, 34 to 6, in another west section contest.

Senn Rallies to Win.

Harrison defeated Tuley, 42 to 0, in Key Branch stadium, to finish in second place in the west section, while Crane and Steinmetz played a scoreless tie in Hanson Park.

In the north section, where the title was won by Lane Tech last week, Amundsen defeated Roosevelt, 32 to 19, in Winnemac Park. Senn rallied to defeat Schurz, 19 to 14, in Lane Tech stadium, for second place in the north section.

In the third north section game, Bob Walker led Taft to a victory over Sullivan, 26 to 7, in Winnemac Park by scoring two touchdowns. Walker scored first on a 9 yard run, and shortly after tallied on a 42 yard gallop.

Milwaukeeans Win Springer Spanial Trials

Milwaukee spaniel owners won both the amateur all age and puppy stakes yesterday at the 12th annual field trial held by the English Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois at Lake Bluff. Judges Maxwell Riddle, Cleveland, O., and Arthur Welch, Milwaukee, picked Kittyhawk Flight, owned by John Romadka, as the winner of the amateur all age, with Pennowin's Jill, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoffman, second, and Edward L. Abraham's Sudden Sue, third.

In the puppy stake Leisure's Little Jinx, owned by Ray W. Minette of Milwaukee, was first. The only Chicagoland dog among the winners of this stake was Prince of Davellis, owned by Edward P. Porgers of Highland Park, which placed second. Third place went to another Milwaukee Springer, Mutall Could Be, owned by L. H. Wagner.

More than 150 convalescent soldiers, sailors, and marines watched the trials. They were brought to the grounds by Red Cross workers who established service to serve hot coffee and doughnuts.

The trials continue all day today, with the finals of the amateur shooting dog stake to be run starting at 8:30 this morning, followed by the open all age event. Four champions are included in the entry of 16 dogs competing in this stake. The winner receives a $100 war bond, with $50 and $25 bonds going to second and third place dogs.

Latin Defeats Todd, 34-26, to Take Crown

Chicago Latin's football team, paced by high scoring Johnny Groth, yesterday won the Private league football championship by defeating Todd school of Woodstock, 34 to 26, on Latin's field. It was Latin's fifth straight victory and the first Todd defeat in six games. Latin led, 14 to 13, at the half and 28 to 26 at the end of the third quarter. Groth made two touchdowns and kicked three extra points while Willard Thompson made two touchdowns for Latin.

Russ Stern ran 10 yards for a touchdown and plunged for the extra point as North Shore defeated Harvard school, 7 to 6, at North Shore, after Bob Simmons had scored first for Harvard when he ran back a pass interception for 50 yards.

In the third Private league game, Francis Parker scored in the third and fourth periods to defeat North Park academy, 13 to 0, on Chicago Latin field. Al Bernheimer made both scores, plunging over from the 4 yard line in the third period, and running 11 yards for the second touchdown. The lineups:

New Trier Is Title Winner in Suburban

New Trier High school of Winnetka won the Suburban league football title yesterday by defeating Proviso, 27 to 12, in Winnetka. Proviso scored first when Vin Casselli went off tackle for 36 yards. Jim Smith scored for New Trier in the second quarter and Bill Jacob passed to Warren Ely in the end zone, with Larry Lauer converting, to give the host team a 13 to 12 half time lead. It was New Trier's fourth straight victory.

Evanston won its first Suburban league game in four starts by upsetting Waukegan, 12 to 6, in Evanston, with Gordon Johnson scoring two touchdowns, both on passes from Buck Chaney. The Waukegan score came in the final period when Larry Hanzel plunged over from the 1 yard line.

Marines Lose to U. S. C. in Upset, 28 to 21

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP).—Southern California rose to its greatest heights today to outscore the San Diego Naval Training station Bluejackets, 28 to 21.

The Trojans, without the services of three stars called to military duty last week, outsped the big and powerful sailors, and passed them dizzy on a flanker play.

The game was packed with sensational plays. The greatest was a 103 dash to a touchdown from a kick-off in the third period by the sailors' Gus White, fast stepping half back from La Mesa, Tex., who used to perform his football chores at Texas Aggies.

U. C. L. A. LOSES, 35-13.

Riverside, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP).—After being held to a 7 to 7 deadlock in the first half. The fourth air force team of March Field crushed U. C. L. A. 35 to 13, today.

The expert passing of Jack Jacobs turned the tide in the second half and two passes by Bob Waterfield that were intercepted for touchdowns helped make the final reckoning one-sided.

Three minutes before the end of the third quarter, the army men forged ahead on two great throws by Jacobs. An 18-yard toss to end Woodie Strode did the trick. This combination paid off with another tally in the fourth quarter.

CALIFORNIA BEATEN.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP).—Alameda's Coast Guard Sea Lions coupled a second period touchdown pass and a fourth quarter 53 yard scoring march today to defeat University of California, 12 to 6. The Bears chalked up their points in the third period on a spectacular 87 yard run to tie the count at 6 to 6.

Aside from the long touchdown run contributed by Joe Stuart, California left half back, the contest was lacking in thrills. It was played on a heavy field.

BOOSTED PRICES FOR UNDERWEAR HELD ESSENTIAL

Military underwear production will fail to meet requirements and civilian production will decrease unless price ceilings are revised, Roy A. Cheney, president of the Underwear institute, said yesterday. The institute, which represents 170 manufacturers, has applied to the office of price administration for relief.

The ceiling price difficulties of the industry reached a climax with the passage of the Bankhead amendment to the stabilization extension act, which by assuring parity prices for cotton to farmers, caused yarn prices to rise sharply, Cheney said. The act provided that ceilings on "major textile items" should be established high enough to compensate for additional yarn costs.

Light Underwear Omitted.

OPA ruled that heavyweight underwear was entitled to relief, but did not include lightweight underwear in the list of "major items" despite an average rise of 10 per cent in cost for the finer yarn counts that commonly go into the lightweight, Cheney said.

Navy needs for the first half of 1945 will be 40 million nainsook drawers, 30 million to be delivered by Jan. 1, and 30 million undershirts, 23 million to be delivered by Jan. 1. Recent army orders called for 22,926,000 woven shorts and 5,196,000 sleeveless shirts.

"These army and navy requirements can be handled only if proper pricing provisions permit all units of the industry to participate in the execution of these orders," Cheney said. "Unless the OPA consents to a change in lightweight ceiling prices, it will not be possible to handle army and navy requirements under present regulations governing such military procurement."

More and More Data Asked.

As the OPA adjustment provision now stands, mills applying for relief have experienced difficulty because after the information requested was supplied, OPA invariably asked for more and the result was indefinite delay, he said. As an example he told of an application for relief submitted Aug. 3, 1942, which was not answered finally until Sept. 11, 1944, when the application was denied, making refund to the government necessary.

Cheney charged that delays in action by the OPA are so notorious that an underwear mill does not dare follow this procedure because it does not know the price it is being paid by the government. Because of increases in yarn and labor costs, in a large number of cases the present ceiling prices for the mills on government business result in loss, he said.

SANDUSKY COAL TRANSFERS SET NEW HIGH MARK

The Pennsylvania railroad transferred 2,200,736 tons of coal in October at its Sandusky, O., docks, the largest amount of coal to be handled in one month by any port on the Great Lakes, J. M. Symes, vice president, reported yesterday. Unloadings at Sandusky for the 1944 season up to Oct. 31 reached 12,886,018 tons, 2,000,532 above a year ago.

October was the third consecutive month in which Sandusky coal dumpings exceeded 2 million tons.

Strike Cases in Hands of Conciliators

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—The United States conciliation service today listed 28 strikes in progress which it was handling as of 6 p. m. yesterday. Incomplete tabulation showed 5,624 workers involved. Other strikes, some handled solely by the war labor board, were not included. None was listed in Illinois, Wisconsin, or Iowa. The six shown for the midwest, unions involved and the number of workers affected were:

MICHIGAN—Sieweck Tool Works, Detroit, Mechanics Educational Society of America [a separate strike from the MESA walkout which affected 24 Detroit war plants yesterday], 77; Challenge Machinery company, Grand Haven, AFL United Automobile Workers, 109; Freuhauf Trailer company, Detroit, CIO United Automobile Workers, number of workers involved not announced; Timken-Detroit Axel company, Detroit, UAW-CIO, 575; Fuller Manufacturing company, Kalamazoo, UAW-AFL, 39.

INDIANA—Bike Web Manufacturing company, South Bend, CIO Textile Workers, 150.

EXPORT SUBSIDY PLANS FOR U. S. ANNOY BRITISH

Charge Unfair Post-War Trade Rivalry.

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 4.—British concern about American trade competition after the war was increased this week by reports that the Commodity Credit corporation plans to resume cotton and wheat export subsidies and that Washington is considering similar help for textile exports.

Financial and economic writers protested that this would discriminate unfairly against British exports. They maintained British industry during war time made much larger sacrifices than American industry, which the Economist said will "emerge from the war enriched in productive capacity."

British Reconversion Vital.

Reports that agreement in principle had been reached that American and British trade reconversion should be synchronized did little to allay misgivings. The Economist asserted reconversion will be more vital for Britain than the United States and criticized the government for delay in drawing up post-war blueprints.

For the United States international markets are merely a "contribution to solution of employment problem," whereas for Britain "recovery and expansion of export trade are almost matters of life and death," it said. There is no excuse for delay in the government's plans and "there is definite need for an overhaul of war time agreements, lend-lease and others, where they prove inimical to early execution of such plans."

Advertising Is Protested.

The Manchester Guardian protested editorially against measures "designed to put American surpluses on the world market at artificial prices." In addition to subsidies it mentioned a "propaganda campaign of American exporters" in Indian newspapers was introduced by series of full page advertisments signed, "Issued by government of the United States."

"There is good reason to fear American exports are going to be pressed forward irrespective of competitive quality or price," the Guardian said. "Even with free competition between private traders we wouldn't have an even start as we have large destruction to repair and immense overseas war debts to repay. But how shall we stand if we ourselves refrain, out of regard for American principles, from subsidies, quotas, and discrimination of all kinds only to find American exporters are able to override commercial competition by government aid?"

Revenue Bureau Refunds Rothschild Tax Excess

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—The international revenue bureau today reported an overassessment of $758,520 in income taxes against the estate of Melville N. Rothschild, Chicago, for the period July 18 to Dec. 31, 1941. The amount was refunded.

STOCKS EXTEND MODEST GAINS IN QUIET TRADE

Profits, Dividends Cause Buying.

New York, Nov. 4 (AP).—The stock market today made minor gains to extend the moderate advances of a week of quiet trade. Volume remained small at 358,030 shares in the two hours, but topped last Saturday's 296,150 share trade.

Advancing to 1944 peaks were Commonwealth Edison and Evans Products. Also higher were Chrysler, Santa Fe, Chicago & North Western common and preferred, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, American Telephone, Texas company, and Kennecott. Losers included United States Steel, Bethlehem, United States Rubber, J. I. Case, Southern Pacific, and General Electric.

Average Gains in Day, Week.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was up 0.1 of a point at 55.3 and for the week had a gain of 0.5.

On the Curb, advances were registered by Ken-Rad Tube, Ohio Brass B, Cities Services, Singer Manufacturing, and American Gas. Turnover was 118,702 shares, against 102,695 last Saturday.

The principal discussion in board rooms all week was the election, and opinions were sufficiently diversified to keep advancing trends in check. As the week ended wishful political thinking increased slightly in the financial sector, leading to some purchasing.

Earnings and dividends contributed as much as anything else to selective buying, but trading never pushed near the million share mark for any one day.

Advancing Tendency Is General.

Except for minor recessions Monday and Friday, advancing tendencies were the rule. The list had its best day Thursday, from both the activity and gain standpoints. Rails, motors, and blue chip industrials were leaders. Carriers were aided by expectations of year end dividends from several roads. New North Western common was the week's liveliest stock on the upside after an initial $5 payment. The preferred also pushed ahead briskly on a like payment.

Stocks of companies with reconversion problems stiffened Tuesday when Prime Minister Churchill predicted a possibly much longer war than had been expected. Some skepticism over international affairs, however, was an investment restraint.

MOST BONDS IRREGULAR.

New York, Nov. 4 (AP).—Speculative groups in the bond market were irregular today, tho higher rated investment issues were steady. Transactions totaled $3,491,000 face value, against $3,079,800 last Saturday.

Strongest among rail loans were Soo line 4s of '91, up 3⅜ points, and M-K-T 1st 4s, up 1. Fractional advances were registered by Milwaukee 5s of '75, Central of New Jersey 4s, North Western 4½s, Erie 4½s, and Detroit Edison 3s.

Lower closings included American & Foreign Power 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4s of '48, and Kansas City Southern 3s.

The Associated Press average of foreign bonds dipped 0.1 of a point. United States government loans were about even.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER.

Prices were higher in turnover of 19,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Among active issues were Ken-Rad Tube, up 1; North Western, up ½; La Salle Extension, up ⅛, and Commonwealth Edison and Chicago corporation, each unchanged. Five issues set new 1944 peaks.

United Aircraft Making 5 Helicopters Each 6 Days

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 4 (AP).—United Aircraft corporation has completed its 100th helicopter and is turning out five of the aircraft every six days, the company's Sikorsky Aircraft division announced today. Production has started on a larger and more powerful model than the R-4B type now being turned out, it was said.

LIQUOR CONSUMPTION LAGS IN COMPARISON WITH RISE OF INCOME

New York, Nov. 4 (AP).—Allied Liquor Industries, Ltd., trade organization for the distilling industry, today said consumption of liquor in the first half of 1944 increased "only 4½ per cent above the first half of 1943, altho national income registered a 12 per cent gain."

The organization said the ratio was at variance with normal trends in which distilled spirits consumption rises or falls generally in proportion to increases or decreases in national income. Consumption has lagged behind the rising income over the last two years "because of the relative scarcity of supplies and the record federal tax of $9 a gallon."

Whisky inventories remain below normal, about 255 million gallons compared with pre-war inventories of about 425 million gallons.

Rail Progress Thru 34 Years Told in Diary

Changes in railroading during the last 34 years are described in detail from the personal viewpoint in a four volume diary kept by Claude C. Rigg, Sante Fe railway conductor, who has set forth his experiences since starting on his first job with the road in October, 1910.

Claude C. Rigg.

During these years the railroad Samuel Pepys has made more than 10,000 trips, traveled more than 1,657,000 miles—about seven times the distance between the earth and moon—and earned $78,685.

The first entry notes that Rigg, who resides in Fort Madison, Ia., traveled deadhead from St. Joseph to Lexington Junction [now Henrietta], Mo.—a distance of 100 miles. Then a brakeman, he received $2.53 for the run.

Gets 39 Cents for "Coaling Up."

In January, 1911, he traveled 3,000 miles, with 11 hours' overtime, to earn $91.80, including 39 cents which he got for "coaling up." He explained that brakemen were paid 39 cents for coaling the engine at points between terminals.

The diary recorded that on Aug. 15, 1911, Rigg was married and in the entry telling about his first run after the wedding he wrote that he got "15 brownies." [Brownies are railroad parlance for demerits.] The demerits were for putting seven freight cars thru a switch and sideswiping another train with a cut of cars. He denied that his getting married had anything to do with the two incidents.

Rigg said that in his early days picnic trains were operated frequently and he commented on one occasion that a fellow brakeman was fired for violation of rule G covering the drinking of intoxicants.

First Auto Wreck Described.

In closing the first volume of his journal in 1918, Rigg's notes showed that he had earned $8,217.83 in his eight years with the Santa Fe. Volume II. entries carried a $4.48 basic pay rate, compared with the $2.53 of 1910.

An entry in November, 1919, told of the first train-auto accident he had encountered. His train hit an automobile after its owner, frightened by the approach of the locomotive, stalled his engine. The motorist was out of the car before the collision occurred. Highway tragedies later became less unusual and no longer were included in the notes.

Rigg became a conductor in 1922, and was in charge of the first Santa Fe streamlined train west of Fort Madison, Ia. His biggest month's pay came last year, more than $500 for 50 trips.

BORG-WARNER'S PROFITS LOWER THO SALES GAIN

Borg-Warner corporation profits in the first nine months of 1944 were substantially below year ago net income despite increased sales, the Chicago manufacturer reported yesterday.

Consolidated profits in the nine months were $5,774,072, equal to $2.47 a share, after setting aside $44,453,413 for federal and Canadian taxes and 1944 contract renegotiation, compared with $7,348,588, or $3.15 a share, in the 1943 period after tax provisions of $40,629,443. No provision for renegotiation refund was made in 1943.

Operating profits, after deduction of factory, administrative, and selling expenses, were $52,090,758, against $50,418,351 a year earlier, Borg-Warner said. Sales in the nine months were more than 20 per cent higher than year ago volume.

Treasury to Sell Armored Scout Cars to Civilians

The United States treasury's office of surplus property yesterday announced 2,000 standard army scout cars of the heavily armored type will be sold in civilian channels. The cars will be offered to law enforcement agencies, banks, haulers of valuables, and others who normally use armored equipment. An army spokesman said the cars were no longer needed for training purposes and were unfit for combat use.

WAR TIME SAVINGS.

On the favorable side of business prospects in the transition and early post-war periods is the large accumulation of funds in the hands of consumers. Altho described as savings, a substantial part represents war time income not spent because the durable goods wanted—whether in the form of new automobiles, washing machines, or homes—were not available. This portion presumably will begin to be spent as soon as production of such items is resumed.

Despite the decrease in sales of consumers' durable goods since Pearl Harbor, over-all consumer spending has increased each year since 1938.

The vast government expenditures have permitted an accumulation of individual savings notwithstanding the rise in taxes and living costs. From the end of 1939 to June, 1944, such savings have aggregated 100 billion dollars, the department of commerce estimates. Half was accumulated in the last 18 months. Net savings in the first six months of 1944 were estimated at an annual rate of 35 billion, and total war time savings are expected to exceed 115 billion by the end of this year.

By far the larger portion at mid-year was in currency, bank deposits, and war savings bonds. These three items, representing the most liquid forms of assets, aggregated almost 72 billion. Forty-three billion was in currency and bank deposits, including nearly 2 billion in savings and loan associations. Of the 41 billion remainder, more than two-fifths was in the form of additions to demand deposits of individuals, one-third was represented by increases in currency holdings, and one-quarter by expansion of savings and time deposits.

It is assumed that a substantial part of the war time savings of higher income groups will be employed as capital, but much of the increased cash and equivalent is held by groups which will be inclined to spend it for every day needs. On the whole it appears that industry and commerce can derive strong stimulus from cash accumulations without counting heavily on the use of that portion of the public's savings which has gone into war bonds. The only source of sustained purchasing power, however, is current production.

MAJESTIC RADIO LEASES FACTORY IN ST. CHARLES

Majestic Radio and Television corporation has completed negotiations for leasing a Defense Plant corporation factory in St. Charles, Eugene A. Tracey, president of Majestic, announced yesterday. The factory formerly was operated by Howard Aircraft corporation.

Constructed in 1942 for the production of trainer planes, the plant will provide Majestic 160,000 square feet more of floor space, entirely for war production at present. The length of the lease and the amount of money involved were not disclosed.

Tracey, whose company manufactures quartz crystals and electronic devices for the army and navy, said he believed the plant would be "ideal for the development of our war time and post-war programs." The removal of Majestic's executive offices there from the Chicago plant is under consideration.

New War Contracts Go to 25 Chicago Area Firms

New prime war contracts with a total value of $137,000 were awarded to 25 Chicago area companies last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Four of the companies had not appeared previously on the government's prime contract list.

Gift Selection for Christmas Will Be Wide

Altho scarcities in some lines are expected, the Christmas shopper will have a wide selection of gifts, from both the appeal and quality angles, department store representatives and wholesalers said yesterday. Shopping is heavy and indications are that gift sales will be larger this year than in 1943.

One retailer urged that shoppers, if they are not to be disappointed in their search for a specific item, do their Christmas buying now, because, unlike pre-war years, stores will be unable to replenish exhausted stocks.

Unable to Reorder.

"We will not be able to reorder on any lines of gift goods," he explained. "Christmas items were purchased two or three months ago and when any line runs out, there will be no more before Christmas."

He said a good indication of the volume of Christmas gift buying was his store's October sales of women's accessory items, including handbags, hosiery, gloves, handkerchiefs, and costume jewelry. Sales volume of these articles roughly was double that of the store as a whole. Buying of children's goods, art ware, and fancy goods was well above the average. Sections which included gift merchandise "showed better than the general trend," he said.

Supplies of women's clothing will be plentiful, including hose, negligees, house coats, and lingerie. Hose are of rayon, and of better quality than a year ago, he said.

Men's wear, such as neckties, scarves, robes, and sweaters, is expected to be plentiful. One retailer said the early shopping indicated that people are interested in clothing and other useful items as gifts.

More China Wanted.

Wholesalers said demand has increased for china and glassware and that much interest is shown in Mexican imports, including pottery and glassware.

Small ceramic gift items, decorative boxes, and ceramic jewelry have been bought heavily by retailers. Many of these articles were placed on the market in August and were "snapped up," a wholesaler said. Because of the lack of household appliances, which before the war formed a substantial part of Christmas gift sales, retailers are buying "almost anything" in the gift line, he added.

Buying by retailers of substitute lines, such as wastebaskets made of paper, has been light. In the last six months fewer so-called victory items in the gift line have been on the market. Wholesalers said demand was larger than a year ago and that sales to retailers have been made thru allotments.

INSURANCE FIRM POLICY HOLDERS ARE HELD LIABLE

Richmond, Va., Nov. 4 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today reversed a decision of the District court at Columbia, S. C., which had ruled that South Carolinians who held policies in the defunct Central Mutual Insurance company of Chicago were not subject to assessments to help pay company debts.

The higher court held that a clause in the policies which stated that the assured is given and hereby accepts notice that by virtue of this policy he is a member of the company, made the policy holders members, liable for assessments to discharge its obligations.

The defendants contended that under South Carolina laws they were not members and not subject to assessments equal to annual premiums on their policies.

Lawndale National Bank Will Retire Preferred

INSURANCE COMPANY LIBERALIZES RULE ON CIVILIAN AIR TRAVEL

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 4 [Special]—Connecticut General Life Insurance company has liberalized its provisions covering civilian air travelers in what is believed to be the first action of its kind, Frazer B. Wilde, president, announced.

The company has made available full life insurance coverage without extra premium to passengers on American operated air transport lines traveling anywhere in the world, Wilde said. In addition, coverage has been broadened to include pilots and crew members of these lines.

HOG SUPPORT PLANS FLIMSY, SAY FARMERS

Price Break Causes Apprehension.

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

The sudden break in hog prices early last week which developed on the first substantial increase in supplies from farms this fall brought producers new worries over the New Deal program for hogs. Prominent hog feeders said the support provided is flimsy and uncertain. The floor price not only has been lowered, but has been weakened by price planners themselves because it leaves the majority of hogs without support.

Producers are preparing their spring pig crop of more than 50 million head for market, and are making plans for breeding sows for the 1945 spring farrowing. Many in the Chicago stock yards with the first of their 1944 crop expressed consternation at the price plunge at a time when farm shipments were far from the expected winter peak. Many said the behavior of the market during the next few weeks will determine the extent of breeding for next year.

New Support Hinted.

Unofficial hints of a plan to force packers to pay at least a $13.50 average price have been made recently by spokesmen for the WFA, but the bureau refused to comment officially. Farmers said the only support officially announced is the $12.50 price for a small part of the hog supply and the 90 per cent of parity clause in the price control act for the bulk of the hogs. Only 200 to 240 pounders will be supported at $12.50, and to be eligible to the price hogs must grade good to choice, two provisions which will enable buyers to accept only a small number at the floor price if the market falls that low.

Monthly average weights of hogs sold in Chicago over the winter season during the last four years ranged from 242 to 261 pounds. The department of agriculture said the September hog parity price was $12.40. Ninety per cent of parity would be $11.15. Before Oct. 1 the WFA supported a $13.75 floor for good to choice kinds, which at various periods during the last year included hogs weighing all the way from 180 to 330 pounds. The government said the $12.50 support price will be terminated June 30, 1945.

Assert Packers Gain.

Some producers assert that part of the price rules and ration regulations have been written to favor packers. They recalled how the OPA refused to consider farm demands last winter to take ration points off pork. This meat was not removed from rationing until May 4, after the majority of last year's record pig crop had been sold by farmers. After packers had huge pork stocks stored the points were removed and civilians were permitted to buy all they could eat. The effects of the surplus holdings, built up on packers' hands directly by federal action, served as a bearish factor in the hog markets for several weeks.

ILLINOIS AUCTION OF WAR SURPLUS SET FOR NOV. 16

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 4 (AP).—Public auction of tools and equipment used in the construction of South Chicago war plants and owned by the Defense Plants corporation will be held Nov. 16 in Grayslake, Ill. Lee M. Gentry, state agricultural adjustment administration chairman, announcing the sale, said the material would include numerous items useful to farmers.

Army Reports on Surplus.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—The war department reported today that it turned over to government disposal agencies during September surplus property valued originally at $146,853,000. Property on hand at disposal centers on Sept. 30 was valued at $407,553,000. The materials range from nontechnical aircraft to snowshoes.

Eastern Air Lines Sets Passenger Traffic Record

September Munitions Output Falls 4 Pct. Behind Schedule

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—Munitions production fell 4 per cent below the goal for September with only one major category meeting its schedule. Output, valued at 5 billion 300 million dollars, was 2 per cent below the monthly average this year, the war production board reported today.

"Other equipment and supplies," which bring up the rear of the major categories, increased 4 per cent over August and exceeded the September schedule by 1 per cent. Ammunition, up 3 per cent, was the only other category to increase, but was 1 per cent below schedule.

Double Comparison Made.

September production compared with August and with September schedules, on a dollar basis, for other classifications:

Aircraft [airframes, engines, propellers, spare parts, and equipment], down 5 per cent and 5 per cent below schedule.

Ships [value of work done on army, navy, and maritime commission ships, including maintenance and repair], off 3 and 11 per cent.

Guns and fire control, off 9 and 6 per cent.

Combat and motor vehicles, down 4 and 9 per cent.

Big Engine Output Gains.

Communication and electronic equipment, no change and 5 per cent below.

For the first time both of the plants turning out engines for super-bombers exceeded schedule. Production of all plane engines, however, missed schedule by 6 per cent and was 12 per cent below the record reached in August.

The heavy field artillery schedule was met, but WPB cautioned that the September rate must be maintained to meet requirements for the remainder of the year.

Output of heavy artillery ammunition, including naval, was up 16 per cent from August, but missed schedule by 2 per cent. An increase of 36 per cent from the September rate is necessary to meet requirements, WPB said.

Acceptances of 500 pound general purpose bombs missed schedule "by a wide margin," and aerial bombs as a whole fell behind by 2 per cent, altho increasing 4 per cent from August.

More Big Bombers Planned.

Twenty-four major naval vessels were completed during the month.

The aircraft production program for 1945 has been cut another 5 per cent, it was learned today, under a new schedule calling for about 75,000 planes, compared with 1944's 100,000.

The drop was attributed to continued lower than anticipated losses in all combat zones and to the shift in production emphasis to aircraft adapted to the Pacific.

Despite the over-all cut in both tonnage and numbers, the adjustment was reported by informed sources to include a stepup in planned production of super bombers and at least one type of large transport plane.

Corn Declines When Country Offerings Rise

Grain markets weakened yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade led by a decided decline in corn. Clear and cold weather, ideal for improving the quality of the new crop, caused increased country offerings and general selling of corn futures. Prices declined 1 cent a bushel from an early high established when traders ignored weather conditions and the close was at the bottom at net losses of ¾ to 1⅛ cents.

Wheat closed ¼ cent lower to ⅜ cent higher, oats ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, rye ⅛ to ⅝ cent lower and barley unchanged to ⅛ cent lower.

Large Corn Purchases Reported.

Reports that more than 300,000 bushels of corn had been bought for deferred shipment from the country helped to depress the future market, but purchases of only 105,000 bushels could be confirmed. Quality of receipts is improving rapidly, 26 of 31 cars sold grading No. 4 or better.

Preëlection dullness prevailed in wheat. The government support program tended to restrict selling, brokers said. Soaking rains in parts of Oklahoma improved the outlook for the new crop. A department of agriculture report estimated the carryover of wheat at the end of the 1944-'45 season will be little changed from the 315 million bushels on hand at the end of the preceding crop year.

Australian Imports Expected.

Despite a large carryover of wheat, Australia may be forced to import wheat before another crop matures unless consumption is reduced. The rate of disappearance has been approximately 20 million bushels a month recently because of large feeding requirements.

Professional traders were buyers of rye futures early, but when corn weakened they tried to take profits only to find the market lightly supported, and the close was easy. Oats followed other grains, but finished slightly above the low.

Chicago Bank Clearings Increase to 564 Millions

Chicago bank clearings last week totaled $564,700,000, compared with $500,700,000 in the preceding week and $452,200,000 a year ago, the Chicago Clearing House association reported yesterday. The figures:

	Clearings.	Balances.
Monday	$ 97,100,000	$10,800,000
Tuesday	88,600,000	3,500,000
Wednesday	113,700,000	20,600,000
Thursday	97,700,000	5,600,000
Friday	85,300,000	6,200,000
Saturday	82,300,000	7,200,000

'EARLIEST' END OF WAR CURBS URGED BY FORD

Proposes Economy Free of Doles.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4 [Special].—Henry Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, today urged elimination of war time controls over materials, production, and distribution at the earliest possible moment and advocated a post-war economy free from doles and topheavy government.

Henry Ford.

"We have got to start thinking right now about the future that faces the millions of young men and women whose world this will be in a few years," said Ford's statement released by his office. "That future is none too bright as things stand now. There is no incentive for them to try to advance, to work out new ideas, or to get into business for themselves.

"Inspiration Almost Destroyed."

"The inspiration to work hard, to compete strongly with the other fellow in the same business has almost been destroyed. War time controls that tie up raw materials, restrict production, and limit the distribution of goods have got to be discontinued as rapidly as possible after the war if our American system is to be resumed.

"Today we find disciples of government preaching a doctrine of continued control over private enterprise and that means control over individual initiative. We had more than 150 years of the American way of life before we began to hear this kind of talk. It must be stopped now."

No Patronizing Gift Wanted.

Discussing the nation's obligations to returning soldiers and sailors, Ford said, "We owe [them] everything we can think of in the way of help and encouragement."

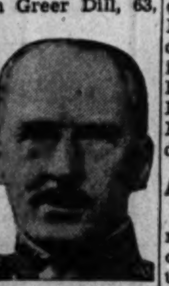
"They will want this help in the form of a chance to show what they can do—not in the form of a patronizing gift obtained by heavy taxes on their own families," he said. "No real American workman wants anything for nothing. What he wants is the chance to work and to get ahead on his own ability. Democracy and the dole won't mix."

He said only the men who come home from war and their brothers and sisters "can put an end to topheavy governing systems, to restrictive laws which serve no purpose in a nation built on freedom."

FIELD MARSHAL JOHN DILL DIES IN WASHINGTON

British General Victim of Anemia Attack.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP).—Field Marshal John Greer Dill, 63, head of the British joint staff mission in the United States, and military representative of Prime Minister Churchill, died tonight in Walter Reed army hospital. He had been ill for several months.



Field Marshal Dill.

The British Information service issued a statement which said:

"For some months the field marshal had been fighting a refractory type of anemia, for which no specific treatment is yet known to medical science. In spite of repeated transfusions of blood, in the long run the strain of this disorder proved too great for his constitution."

Secretary of War Stimson, Gen. Marshall, and Gen. H. H. Arnold issued statements paying tribute to the British officer.

Dill has been called by British admirers "our best general since Marlborough" and during the early days of the war a German commentator once referred to him as the only British general "worthy of our steel."

Born in Belfast on Christmas, 1880, he was educated at Cheltenham college and Sandhurst, the British military college. He served in the Boer war as a junior officer and in World War I. as a brigade major.

Made Full General.

Peace time tours of duty as posts in India and Palestine were followed by his recall to England in 1937 to take charge of the huge infantry base at Aldershot. The same year he was promoted to full general and knighted.

At the outbreak of the second World war he went to France as a corps commander but before the German smash into France was recalled to England and made vice chief of the imperial staff. In May, 1940, he was appointed chief of staff.

Gen. Marshall said:

"The fact that allied forces stand poised at the gates of Germany is due in no small measure to the breadth of vision and the selfless devotion of Field Marshall Sir John Dill to our common cause.

"I know of no man who has made a greater contribution to that most vital requirement to an allied victory, the complete military coöperation between British and American forces."

Tribute of Stimson.

Secretary Stimson asserted:

"Humanity stands indebted to Field Marshal Sir John Dill for his incomparable service in the common cause of the united nations. The people of the United States have lost one of their strongest friends."

Gen. Arnold declared:

"Field Marshal Sir John Dill has not lived to see his brilliant and devoted work crowned with ultimate triumph. But he has lived long enough to share our certainty that the fall of a cornered and desperate Germany is now only a matter of time—of a relatively short time."

MORE TURKEYS AVAILABLE FOR CIVILIAN TRADE

Turkeys processed after midnight tonight may be sold thru the usual trade channels, the war food administration's Chicago office of distribution said yesterday in announcing partial suspension of the war food order which required that all turkeys marketed in specified regions be offered to the quartermaster corps market center. Also, turkey producers no longer are obligated to sell to authorized processors.

Dimming the announcement was WFA's prediction that turkey supplies for civilian Thanksgiving dinners will fall short of demands. Turkeys processed prior to the suspension date must continue to be offered to the quartermaster corps.

Sufficient turkeys have not been offered the military to meet their requirements, the government agency said, and more must be purchased. However, officials believe that turkeys in storage or in transit and still subject to the order will help to complete the military's procurement program.

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned at an inquest yesterday into the death of George Altman Jr., 38, who died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound Friday in his home at 3420 W. 63d st. Three witnesses, all relatives, testified Altman was despondent over the death of his father, 60, who was shot in a double murder and suicide last Sunday in his home at 3615 W. 63d pl. The senior Altman and his wife, Florence, 40, were wounded fatally by Mrs. Altman's former husband, Edward Lynch, 58, of 3508 W. 58th pl.

JOHN LEEMING, PHYSICIAN HERE 60 YEARS, DIES

Dr. John Leeming, a physician in Chicago for more than 60 years and retired medical counsel of the Chicago Surface Lines, died yesterday in the Illinois Central hospital. He was 85. His home was in the South Shore Country club.

Born at Brantford, Ont., Dr. Leeming was a graduate of the University of Toronto, the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, and the Royal College of Physicians of London, England. He was professor of materia medica for 10 years at Northwestern university and professor of medical jurisprudence at the Chicago Kent College of Law.

Dr. Leeming, once an attending physician at County and other hospitals, was vice president of the American Medical association in 1918. He also was a member of the Chicago Medical and the Illinois State Medical societies, and the Chicago Athletic association.

Surviving are his widow, Margaret Sibley Leeming; a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Wilson, and four sons, Dr. Frank C., Tom, James W., and Mason S. Services will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Church of the Redeemer.

ALEXIS CARREL, NOTED FRENCH SCIENTIST, DIES

PARIS, Nov. 5 [Sunday]—(AP).—Dr. Alexis Carrel, scientist and former colleague of Charles A. Lindbergh, died early today, his office announced.

Carrel, the author of "Man, the Unknown," had been ill with heart trouble since the liberation of France.

Last September J. M. Boucher, director of cabinet for the prefect of police, said the scientist had founded the Carrel institute with the support of the Vichy government.

Boucher added that Carrel had been suspended from all functions in connection with the institute—a statement which was denied by the scientist's wife.

FINDS ACCIDENT VICTIM IS HIS DYING MOTHER

Elbowing his way thru a crowd that gathered in the street at 5138 Madison st., last night, Joseph Doran, a Chicago Surface Lines employe, found his mother, Mrs. Mary Doran, 63, of 5115 Monroe st., had been struck by an automobile. She died in his arms as she was being hurried to Loretto hospital. The car was driven by Edward Koerner, 17, of 5225 Washington blvd., a pupil in St. Mel's High school.

Mrs. Patricia Heenan, 40, of 3122 Emerald av., died yesterday in St. Mary's hospital, Kankakee, the seventh victim of an accident Friday in which an automobile with members of a wedding party as passengers struck a stalled truck on highway 54, four miles north of Kankakee.

METROPOLITAN OF UKRAINIAN CHURCH, 79, DIES

LWOW, Nov. 4 (AP).—Metropolitan Andreas Szeptycki, highest dignitary of the Uniat church, died today at the age of 79. Funeral services will be held Sunday. Josef Slepoy became acting metropolitan.

The late metropolitan, who was a count of a prominent family of Ukrainian origin, was the most noted prelate of the Uniat rite, having held his position since 1900. The Uniat church was created in 1596 as a sort of halfway house for Polish citizens of Greek Orthodox faith who recognized the supremacy of the pope at Rome but preserved their eastern ritual and liturgy.

Presented here as an election feature is a colored table showing the results by states of the Presidential elections of the last 80 years. It indicates the electoral votes recorded by each state from 1860 to 1940 inclusive. Readers are urged to have this page near them next Tuesday night while listening to the election returns. As each state's final decision is announced the 1944 electoral vote (see extreme left hand column) can be inserted in the 1944 column at right and the color of the winning party filled in to complete the table.

Raising Your Child

Is a series of First Steps

BABY'S first tottering footstep is a big event in any family circle. Yet many mental, social and emotional first steps are far more important. For example: the first smile of recognition, the first word spoken, the first act of kindness —these are of great importance, because oft repeated, they become part of your child's very personality and character.

MY BOOK HOUSE RECOMMENDS TRAINING BEGIN EARLY—To Guide First Steps Along Desirable Paths

It's much easier to form good habits than to correct bad ones. The sooner you begin the training of your child the better. In fact, six months is not too young to start with My Book House Plan of Child Training. It is interesting and entertaining, both to the child and the parent, and time-saving—never a wasted moment wondering "What to do next." The Plan is designed to keep pace with the child's growth and ability to learn as he progresses step by step.

THIS PLAN OF CHILD TRAINING

Requires No Special Ability or Experience on the Part of the Parent

—In fact, the use of this proven plan is made more simple and time-saving than ever by our new conveniently indexed book for parents, "In Your Hands." It makes clear each step from preschool to adolescence. Tells how to utilize My Book House Plan and where to find specific help when needed. Gives a year-by-year guide enabling you to chart your child's development.

It is your responsibility as a parent to investigate My Book House —the Plan of Child Training that encourages the development of all the fine qualities inherent in every normal child—that creates the capacity for living a fuller, more enjoyable life. NOW IS THE TIME to do something about your child's training! His happiness may largely depend upon your action TODAY. Just send the coupon for full information.

LOOKING AT HOLLYWOOD with HEDDA HOPPER

GILDING THE GALS!

Hollywood.

"SHOWGIRLS," said the late Flo Ziegfeld, "are a gift from heaven." But Bill Perlberg, Twentieth Century's new beauty impresario, thinks a little grooming on earth can do wonders. He believes in gilding the lily.

And with this in mind, he's put 14 showgirls under long term contract — and given them the tag Diamond Horseshoe Girls because they make their bow as a group in "Diamond Horseshoe," "Legs" Grable's new starring picture.

The way beauty salesmen work has fascinated the world ever since the day Paris slipped Helen of Troy a golden apple. I'll go back farther—to the Garden of Eden, and Eve and Adam. The girl that is one man's dish is a pain in the neck to the fellow in the next orchestra seat: so the impresario has to think fast to pick 'em to suit every taste and yet get a group that blends together. Most notable successes in this line have been Charles Cochrane of London, and the late Ziegfeld of Broadway. You can't omit Earl Carroll's garden, or George White's girls, Billy Rose's 6 footers, known as the Big Bruisers, or Sam Goldwyn's girls.

Musicals make an ideal setting for beauty, as every producer knows. And as Producer Bill Perlberg intends to make a goodly list of technicolor super-dupers during the coming two years, he sent out scouts to fine-comb the United States of America for the most dazzling girls to be had. The 14 Diamond Horseshoe Girls came from New York City, Syracuse, and Port Jefferson; from Springfield, Mass., and Minneapolis, Minn.; from Portland, Ore., Beverly Hills, and Tulsa, Okla.; Manhattan Beach, right down in our own back yard. And they were hand picked from 250 color tests of possible candidates made the length and breadth of the United States.

When Perlberg began adding up the personality list of his 14, he got some surprises. He found he had a millionairess on his hands; a fourth generation movie family provided another; a couple had been welders in war plants; one had been a saleslady for Standard Oil, taking the job to release a man to the army. Greatest shock of all was when his assistants told him he had looked over the entire group from "Cover Girl" and selected but one—blonde Carol Andrews.

Barbara Slater, of New York, lives at Town House while working—takes her millions as she does her glass of orange juice. Has long auburn hair, black eyes, and what Noel Coward calls "the perfect figgah!" She's been given the typical Junior leaguer's European education in such spots as Miss Fontaine's school at Cannes, and Le Grand Verger at Lausanne; diluted all this with a term or two at Tucson High, a look-in at Bishop's school at La Jolla, a go at the Art center in Los Angeles, and some coaching at Oliver Hinsdell's Dramatic school. No, she wasn't thrown out of these schools, but you must admit she moved around a lot. Her father is an artist (meaning he buys paintings) aside from being a toothpaste king, and her mother was on Broadway as June Keith, which probably accounts for Barbara's determination to have a career.

When you talk to Perlberg about beauty, he tells you it must have "impact." "Pretty girls are a dime a dozen, Hedda," he says, "especially in Hollywood. But very few have impact—it's a combination of beauty, personality and that intangible something we call magnetism for lack of a better word." Some even go so far as to call it sex appeal—a commodity that is in as much demand in our highly mechanized today as it was in King Edward's world. Recall the Jersey Lily — or aren't you that old?

Ellen Hall is a delicate brunette. I remember her mother, Ella Hall, of old silent films, and Arthur Johnson, her father. Some call him the Gary Cooper of his day. Her two grandmas were movieites, too. May Hall always played Ella's mother when Ella was co-starring with Robert Leonard, and Emilie Johnson, her paternal grandma, wrote scenarios and even produced pictures.

Another girl was a mail clerk on Twentieth Century's lot. Bill looked up one morning and there stood a goddess with a batch of mail in her hand. Bill seized her firmly by the wrist and hustled her over to the test stage. When the rushes were run, he had another Diamond Horseshoe Girl—Mary Jane Shores, daughter of Writer Lynn Shores.

Green-eyed Cathy Downs' father is a blueprint and pattern maker at Port Jefferson, L. I. She's east coast in manner, sings, dances, and went in for a classical education. She was a model for a spell, too. Quite a few of the girls had a bout at modeling: Alice Eyland, with Powers and Conover, and Carol Andrews. Tulsa, Oklahoma's, Mary Meade has blonde beauty, also ping along with it—whatever that is. Betty Jane Graham was another Conover girl. They prefer movies to a model's life, as movies present more opportunity for the future.

DON'T SAY "VITAMINS NEVER HELPED ME"

Let Thirty Vitamin Specialists and Doctors Tell You How B Vitamins Can Help

A Revelation to Thousands Who Have Taken B Vitamins and Been Disappointed

LITERALLY MILLIONS of people in this country are suffering from Vitamin B-Complex deficiency. A great number have taken extra B Vitamins—AND BEEN DISAPPOINTED!

Because we saw this and because, at the same time, we knew what wonderful things B vitamins could do, we asked vitamin authorities and doctors to tell us why. Here's what 30 of them replied.

What these Experts Approved

People who suffer from nervousness, tiredness, irritability, mental depression, lack of sleep and a generally rundown feeling, and many other conditions, due to an acute B-Complex deficiency, may quickly and easily be helped right in their own homes. BUT THEY MUST LEARN TO TAKE THESE VITAMINS PROPERLY.

With the help of these 30 vitamin specialists and doctors, we bring you the authoritative Stan-B Way of taking vitamins. This is fully described in an amazing, new booklet, The Stan-B Way to Better B Vitamin Health. Now, if you are in poor health because of an acute Vitamin B-Complex deficiency—if you sleep poorly—if you're nervous and irritable—if you're easily tired—if you lack that feeling of well-being, which is nature's gift to every healthy person —you should actually feel better in as little as 10 days— gain new vigor by following the Stan-B-Way.

Let this Amazing Booklet Help You

In this sensational booklet are listed the symptoms you may be suffering from. And, with each, is listed how you can relieve that symptom if due to an acute B vitamin deficiency.

We have printed this wonderful booklet compactly. You may obtain it, free, by mailing in the order blank at the right or simply ask your druggist for a copy. But act now. Get Stan-B tablets at your drug store, or mail in this order blank, today. Don't wait a minute to get your feet more firmly on the right road to B vitamin health.

THE 100 DAYS!

By JOHN THOMPSON
(Chicago Tribune War Correspondent.)

The story of the United States 1st army's historic sweep from the Normandy beachheads to the Siegfried line, written by a Tribune war correspondent who was there.

FROM the shell-raked beaches of the Normandy invasion to the pillboxes of the Siegfried line in 100 days. Now that the United States 1st army has completed this record, one of the most impressive in military history, and has gone on even farther into the Rhineland, it is the purpose of this article to sketch in the highlights of those 100 days and what they meant to the success of the allied landings on the European continent.

Those 100 days had many dramatic and historic moments. There were the landings themselves; the capture of Cherbourg; the capture of St. Lo and our subsequent break-thru there; the swing south which enabled Lt. Gen. George Patton's 3d army to break into the open; the Argentan-Falaise entrapment of Germany's 7th army; the next "trap," below Rouen; the hysterical liberation of Paris; the wild dash across eastern France into Belgium; the Mons massacre, and the plunge into Hitler's West-wall.

Of these the most important to the success of the campaign were the landings and the break-thru south from Normandy. The first gave General Eisenhower's American forces a strong beachhead on the continent from which to conduct operations against the enemy. By the second his brilliant field commander, Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, cracked the Germans' effort to maintain a static front, broke the back of their resistance in France, and swung his powerful armies out into the open where they had ample room to maneuver at will.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley

For their battle assignments in the invasion the British and Canadian troops of Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery's 21st army group drew the left flank, in the vicinity of Arromanches. They encountered surprisingly light resistance on the beaches, waded ashore, pushed inland to secure Bayeux and the area near Caen, then absorbed the first German counter-attacks.

For the Americans under General Bradley it was a different story. The 4th division, which landed near Carentan, on the Cotentin (Cherbourg) peninsula, had a fairly easy time, having attacked across an inundated area which the Germans thought impregnable, and sustained only 16 killed on the beaches.

It was easy on the beaches, but not later. And for the 82d and 101st air-borne divisions, which landed in the early morning of D-day, it was never easy. Their casualties and injuries on the landing were heavy but not excessive. Their arrival completely disrupted the German communications on the Cotentin peninsula and did much to neutralize the presence of an extra division the Germans had rushed there just before the invasion. But the paratroopers and glider soldiers were kept fighting in the line a long time as ground troops—they are considered our best assault soldiers—and by the time they were sent back to England to reorganize and refit they were down to about 40 per cent of their original strength.

This air-borne operation was the largest of its kind ever attempted by the allies. And the men of the 82d, under Maj. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, and those of the 101st, under Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, proved again the important role these shock soldiers of the skyways can play in any offensive.

The 1st and 29th divisions bore the brunt of the Germans' sea wall attack by landing west of Carentan near the villages of Colleville and Vierville. And the two assault regiments, the 16th of the 1st division and the 116th of the 29th, endured heavy casualties, each losing more than one-third of its strength.

The Germans had concentrated every type of beach obstacle at the water line. The entire beach was swept by fire from scores of well handled artillery batteries. In addition to the coastal defense battalions the assault teams had to take on an entire division which had been moved into the area on maneuver just before D-day, June 6.

The fury of the German resistance slowed up Bradley's attack on this beachhead and disarranged his supply schedules. D-day objectives were not taken until three days later. Because the ammunition supply had been predicated on a swift advance inland, and the advance was slow, ammunition had to be rationed stringently. There were heavy losses not only in men—nearly 2,500 on this beach alone—but critical losses of matériel.

Despite all this, the attack succeeded. While our own schedule of advance was below what had been planned, it was still faster than what the Germans had anticipated were American capabilities. And the overwhelming support of the American air force not only kept the Luftwaffe off the necks of the ground forces but so disrupted the enemy's communication and transport lines that none of his mobile divisions was able to get into position soon enough to deliver any kind of a damaging counter-attack. Enemy divisions which Bradley expected on D plus 2 didn't show up on the front until D plus 6 or later. It was clear to every American there that without such air superiority this beachhead might well have been lost.

The enemy tried to react to the allied landings swiftly and in force, but failed. His first counter-attacks with armor against the British failed because, with an easy landing, Montgomery had been able to land the bulk of the allied armor.

Hitler kept ordering his commanders to eliminate the beachheads immediately. On June 10 the chief of staff of German army group B was advised that "it is the view of the supreme commander [Hitler] that there should be neither a withdrawal, fighting to the rear, nor disengagement rearward, but that every man will fight and fall where he stands."

The Germans kept fighting slowly to the rear however, and the prisoners kept coming our way. They made desperate efforts to prevent the two American beachheads from being joined across the Vire river, and they failed. They also failed to prevent our junction with the British beachhead, and by D plus 7 Bradley had a solid beachhead 20 to 25 miles deep and more than 50 miles long.

But the Germans had disrupted our plans about the capture of Cherbourg. Bradley had planned to start using that harbor as a supply port on D plus 11. It was not opened for supplies until D plus 40.

After securing the beachhead Bradley started pushing his center slowly inland, while the 7th corps on the right, in the Cotentin peninsula, went after Cherbourg. First the peninsula was cut on the night of June 17. Maj. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the corps commander, then faced his troops north, attacked Cherbourg on the 22d, and on the 26th, after heavy fighting, the Fortress Cherbourg, as the Germans called it, fell. This was D plus 20.

While the naval shore parties went about the business of getting the clogged harbor ready to accept supply ships, Bradley turned his attention south. He believed the Germans would now try to hold us behind the line of Caumont, St. Lo, Coutances, and he was right. But before he could stage a power play break-thru, various key terrain features had to be taken. One of these was St. Lo, the provincial capital of the Cotentin peninsula. St. Lo controled a vital road net.

It was in this period that the worst of the hedgerow fighting occurred. The Norman countryside is broken up into a myriad of small fields, mostly orchards, separated by hedgerows centuries old. These in reality are earthen dikes surmounted by dense growths of bushes and trees, each hedgerow forming a natural breastwork.

In addition to hedgerows, the troops west of Carentan had to fight thru acres of swamps and marshlands intersected by numerous creeks and streams. It was country which gave the defender every advantage and the attacker none. And it seemed, as Bradley's divisions slowly fought into position for the next offensive, that the hedgerow fighting would go on interminably.

At length St. Lo fell, but not until the 29th division, which had the dirtiest job of all, suffered severe casualties. By the time Maj.

Gen. Charles Gerhardt, former West Point football star and polo player, had been able to get his troops into town, his division, since D-day, had run thru more than 100 per cent in personnel.

On the day St. Lo was captured, July 18—it remained untenable because of enemy artillery fire for several days—Field Marshal Montgomery launched his break-thru effort at Caen. Since the start of the invasion the British and Canadian troops had been engaging several strong German divisions and most of the enemy armor. Up until about this time, too, Montgomery had had the bulk of the allied armor with him, but had been unable to extend his beachhead greatly.

In his attack on Caen he concentrated 4,000 allied bombers, fighter-bombers, and fighters to pave the way for ground troops. His armored divisions plunged thru the gap, with the infantry following behind. But after initial gains of about 8,000 yards in the first two days the offensive bogged down, and again, with terrain favoring them, the Germans succeeded in holding Montgomery.

Various reasons have been ascribed for the failure of this drive to carry on to Falaise, its objective. For example, it might have succeeded had Montgomery concentrated his power on a narrower front for the break-thru; or had he kept his infantry closer to the armor, so that tanks did not become surrounded; or had he tried more outflanking envelopments, regardless of how unfavorable the wooded countryside was.

With the offensive of Montgomery's 21st army group stopped, Bradley then presented his own plan for the American break-thru west of St. Lo. As he told us, he had no intention of letting the Germans hem us in the hedgerow country forever. He believed that once their line was broken we could dash into the open, get behind them, and win the battle of France.

The plan for this action was prepared by Bradley and Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, his deputy commander, who later succeeded Bradley, and by the 1st army staff, which Bradley had hand-picked, selecting many men who had fought with him in the old 2d corps in Tunisia and Sicily. It was presented to Montgomery and General Eisenhower and received immediate approval.

The part of the plan which called for a concentrated air assault on a narrow front just ahead of the ground forces did not have the enthusiastic support of some of our air generals. They believed this was an incorrect use of B-17s and B-24s, because of the danger to ground soldiers from incorrectly aimed bombs, and because they thought heavy bombers were meant only for the strategic bombing of targets such as cities and railroad yards.

Field Marshal von Kluge

Bradley and his staff took the view that heavy bombers are only flying artillery. If you have all of this heavy fire power, use it to crush your immediate opponent, even if the book says it's wrong. This view eventually prevailed, and the attack was set for July 25. It actually started then, but after a few of the planes had started over the weather turned sour, and the attack was delayed until the next day, July 26.

Using the ruler-straight St. Lo-Perrier road as a marker, the heavy and medium bombers, followed by fighter-bombers, were to unload everything on a rectangle about 5,000 yards long. Behind this, and ready to attack the moment the bombing ended, Bradley concentrated six divisions, two armored and four infantry. These were the 2d and 3d armored and the 1st, 4th, 9th, and 30th infantry divisions.

The attack started as planned, altho the heavy bombers missed the eastern end of the bomb pattern and some of their bombs fell among our own troops, which had been withdrawn 1,000 yards behind the bomb line. Several hundred casualties occurred, but despite this shock and the loss of their own men the troops attacked.

On the first day, leading off, the 9th and 30th divisions hammered a short wedge into the enemy lines, which had been badly ripped by the carpet of bombs. Then on the 27th the two armored divisions burst thru.

The 2d, supported closely by the 4th infantry, went for St. Giles, and planned to swing toward the coast below Coutances. The 3d, with the 1st infantry on its tail, headed west for Coutances. At the same time the 9th and 30th pressed on, fanning out to take over more ground.

By this concentration of power on a narrow front Bradley achieved his break-thru. His infantry not only followed the tanks closely, but several battalions actually rode on the General Shermans, thus affording a system of mutual support for tanks and infantry, and the spearheads slashed in and thru the German lines.

This break-thru effort was under the immediate command of Major General Collins, known familiarly as Lightnin' Joe (his first name is Joseph) of the 7th corps. A day later on the right flank the 8th corps started driving south.

This corps later became part of the 3d army and at this time included several armored divisions. As soon as Coutances was taken these armored divisions, with infantry behind, began rumbling south along the coast toward Brittany, virtually without opposition.

Meanwhile Avranches, key coastal town, had been taken and the 1st army was pushing hard against the Germans trying to hold a line from Villedieu-les-Poeles to Tessy-sur-Vire. The German command in the west knew how desperate the situation was and realized the threat to Brittany, as well as to their whole line.

Our 9th fighter command smashed their every effort to move by daylight, blasted tanks, trucks, and guns, and gave close support to our leading troops. The German divisions were decimated. Their communications hung in shreds.

On July 31, just before Avranches and Villedieu fell, Field Marshal von Kluge, who had taken command in the west from Von Rundstedt, telephoned General Warlimont, Hitler's personal representative, and outlined with impressive eloquence just how serious the situation was:

"Enemy air superiority is terrific. Losses in men and equipment are extraordinary. Morale has suffered greatly from incessant, murderous artillery fire. In the rear areas the terrorists [F. F. I. French patriots], feeling the end approaching, are growing bolder. Loss of numerous signal installations makes an orderly command extremely difficult. Fresh troops must be brought from the 15th army [on the channel coast] or from somewhere at once."

Gen. Jacques Le Clerq, with cane, inspects French troops at Arc de Triomphe in Paris.

Von Kluge recalled World War I., when Parisian taxicabs were used to bring up reënforcements, and urged Warlimont to adopt similar measures.

At this point, too, the American 12th army group became operational, under General Bradley, with the 1st army coming under the command of General Hodges; the 3d going to Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. of Sicilian fame.

Patton raced into the Brittany peninsula, secured most of the roads and bridges intact with the aid of the F. F. I., and drove the remaining Germans back into the ports of Brest, St. Nazaire, L'Orient, and St. Malo. The rest of his troops then swung east and southeast. Bradley had made the decision to seize what appeared to be a chance of inflicting a lethal blow on the Germans rather than stopping to secure the ports. They were important, but he believed the other was a good risk.

While Hodges straightened out his corps and swung them slowly around down thru Mortain to come up from the south on Argentan, Patton sent an armored division to Argentan to hold the American end of what became known as the Argentan-Falaise pocket.

Meanwhile, too, the Germans made one last desperate effort to split Hodges and counter-attacked with three armored divisions at Mortain, trying to drive back to the coast at Avranches. This failed, and the trap began closing.

Hodges sent his 3d armored division to the Argentan area, relieving Patton's division, which went on back south where the 3d army was rolling along thru Lemans.

Bradley visualized the trap as a pincer movement between the 1st army and Montgomery's 21st army group. Unfortunately, the Canadians and British were unable to drive south fast enough to get Falaise and come on to close the gap. Von Kluge extracted several divisions and equipment, altho he still lost several thousand men and thousands of vehicles.

While Patton roamed thru central France and went east toward the Seine to take Chartres and Mansecourt north of Paris, Hodges was disengaging and regrouping his 1st army. He sent one veteran corps, the 19th, under Maj. Gen. Charles H. Corlett, which had taken St. Lo, east and then north along the west bank of the Seine.

This was another opportunity, as Bradley and Hodges saw it, to trap the remnants of Von Kluge's army before it could get back across the Seine. Again Montgomery's men were to close in from the north. With the Germans shaken loose from in front of them and fleeing eastward, Montgomery had been able to get his British 2d and Canadian 1st armies on the move east again.

This area where Hodges sent his 19th corps was properly the domain of the 21st army group, which was to remain always on the north flank along the channel. But it looked like a good chance, and so the Americans were given permission to send this corps north. It reached its objectives, but again the northern half of the pincer was slow in closing and more Germans got away. Eventually Hodges succeeded in passing the British 13th corps completely thru the 19th to take over the area, and again changed the direction of his army.

Gen. Courtney H. Hodges

Bradley had not meant to bother with Paris at this time. Paris, with its food and political problems, could only be a headache to a military commander interested primarily in defeating the enemy. He'd planned, after trying to trap the Germans west of the Seine, to send the 1st army around Paris on the north while Patton bypassed it on the south.

But while the 19th corps was driving toward Rouen for the trap an F. F. I. emissary came out from Paris to inform Bradley that the French underground fighters had risen and seized most of the capital. The German situation there had become so desperate, he said, that a truce had been arranged whereby the Germans would be permitted to withdraw their garrison unmolested. It was therefore necessary for Bradley to dispatch American troops immediately to occupy the city.

General Le Clerq, commanding the French 2d armored division, at this time serving with the United States 1st army, had been pleading for the honor of entering Paris. And he was given the chance. Hodges hastily withdrew the 5th corps, under Maj. Gen. L. T. Gerow, which was being regrouped, gave him Le Clerq and the 4th infantry division, and sent him for Paris.

The story of the truce turned out to be erroneous. The Germans made a fight—not a heavy one, but a fight—and the entry into Paris was delayed until Le Clerq could assemble his whole division, while Maj. Gen. R. O. Barton sent part of his 4th division into the city from the south. A few French patrols entered Paris late at night on Aug. 25, and the next day, Aug. 26, after much street fighting, the Germans capitulated and Paris was free, freed by the 5th corps of the United States 1st army.

But Bradley was still imbued with one aim, to keep hitting the Germans every day, never giving the enemy a chance to rest or reorganize. And so the 1st army again took up the pursuit, while Patton was sent southeast toward Metz, Nancy, and the Verdun gateway.

For the 1st army spearhead Hodges again used Lightnin' Joe Collins and the hard-hitting 7th corps, consisting of the 1st and 9th infantry divisions and the 3d armored. This was in the center and out in front. Behind on the right came the 5th corps, and behind on the left was the 19th corps.

Swinging south around Paris, Collins took off in the direction of the Argonne forest and Sedan. Soissons and Chateau Thiery were captured with hardly a shot being fired, where in World War I. the 1st army had fought its historic battles. And when the spearhead was only about 10 miles from Sedan, which the Germans had always used as their gateway into France, the 1st army received orders to change direction again.

With a squealing of brakes Collins' corps turned 90 degrees to the north, toward Belgium. The 9th division crossed into the lower southeast corner of Belgium on the morning of Sept. 2, and late in the afternoon the 3d armored crossed the Belgian frontier below Mons, with the 1st division close on its heels.

Only scattered German units had been encountered on this wild dash across France. Collins and Hodges knew, that on their left somewhere were what was left of Von Kluge's army, trying to get back to Germany. But no one knew just where they were.

That held for the Germans, too. They had completely lost track of the 1st army, which they thought was still around Sedan. And so they ordered Von Kluge to swing his men east between Maubeuge, France, and Mons, Belgium, regroup them below Brussels, and come back into the Siegfried line, fighting a rear guard action.

If the Germans had sent these troops farther north, around Mons, this maneuver would have been successful. For the spearhead of the British 2d army, racing along the channel coast, had not yet turned for Brussels, and we were

"—holding her White Hand* toward the dazzling sunrise"
"Sleep and Poetry"—John Keats

*White hands are easy—if you don't have to clean a Grimy Stove before sunset!

Housework and young-looking hands can go together!

NOW LOOK, Mr. Keats, maybe the gals sat on satin cushions back in your time. Anyone can keep her hands white that way! But nowadays, our gals are cookin' with gas, doing their own work and loving it! (Even if it does make their hands dingy, dry, old-looking.)

So much for Mr. Keats. As for you . . . don't neglect your hands, and they won't get old-looking before their time! Quick . . . like today . . . pick up a jar of Pacquins.

Snowy-white, fragrant Pacquins Hand Cream helps keep your hands smooth, white . . . looking as young as you are. Another plus—it's not greasy! It's so pleasant to use . . . from the moment you try it, you'll be partial to Pacquins!

CASE FOR CREAM ROUGE

By LOUISE DOOLEY

If nature didn't endow you with pink cheeks, try using a cream rouge. Applied with an easily acquired skill, it will give your cheeks a look of natural rosiness that would fool an expert.

A SUAVE, natural looking makeup that gives the effect of born-with rather than painted-on complexion loveliness is the goal women strive for when they use cosmetics. We want to look pretty and unpainted, with a bloom to the cheeks that looks as if it were put there by nature. As a rule we do a good job, but our biggest stumbling block is apt to be in applying color to the cheeks. It's here that we can fail miserably and give our secret away.

It takes a skilled hand to apply any kind of rouge with deftness. So, because they are often simplest to use, most women prefer the dry rouges. Professional makeup experts, however, are of the opinion that cream rouge, properly applied, is the surest way of achieving a pretty, pink-cheeked look. Because of its texture, it can be blended into the skin so that there are no sharp edges which make the color look as if it had been stenciled on. And for a makeup that lasts and stays fresh looking for hours, women who have mastered the art of using them will tell you that cream rouges definitely hold up longer and don't require frequent touching up during the day.

There really isn't much of a trick to applying cream rouge. Just don't let the prospect of using it scare you. Simply apply three tiny dots of color over your makeup foundation in a kind of triangle on the cheeks—one dot high on the cheekbone beneath the outer corner of the eye, one over toward the nose, and the other farther back toward the ear. Using the fingers, blend the color gently from these points, fading it at the edges so that there is no visible line of demarcation.

If you have even a sneaking suspicion that you've used too much rouge, wipe off the excess—better be under-rouged than over-rouged. Pat your powder on as usual and then watch the blush of your rouge glow thru with a look of natural rosiness.

It won't take much practice to develop dexterity in using cream rouge, and once you've acquired the knack you'll find you've made a big step toward achieving a smart, smooth, lasting makeup. Just don't make the mistake of trying your hand at it for the first time when you're dressing in a mad rush. Choose a time when you can go at it leisurely and can correct any mistakes you might make.

YOUTH ON THE CAMPUS

By ELEANOR NANGLE

New London, Conn.

CONNECTICUT'S isn't a city campus, tho its grounds lie within the limits of New London. Nor is it a country campus in the usual sense, altho it is serenely set apart on its hilltop overlooking Long Island sound and the Thames river. It combines many of the advantages of both, which may account in a subtle way for the poised verve that characterizes the typical Connecticut college girl.

Connecticut College for Women, privately endowed, is youthful as eastern colleges go. It is just 30 years old. What critics might say it lacks in 'way-back-when traditions and lush landscaping its friends can quite justly claim it more than makes up for in vitality and drive.

This year more than ever the number of qualified applicants exceeded the number of freshmen who could be accepted. The freshman class of 223 was chosen from a group of more than a thousand who sought and were qualified for admission. Connecticut's enrollment is and has for many years been limited to 750.

A certain purposefulness about her work is typical of the typical Connecticut girl. During these war years particularly she is apt to be more than ordinarily aware of the need in her country and the world for the soundly educated woman. The girl with a goal outnumbers at Connecticut the girl to whom college means only football and fun.

But academic isolation is not the pattern at Connecticut.

Since outgoing seniors make the written and the unwritten rules for the incoming freshmen, all things perpetuate themselves in a college—the approach toward one's work, the standards of behavior, even the customs of dress and grooming. Happily enough, the student influences that prevail on the individual at Connecticut appear to have had an admirable crispness. It's the custom here to do one's work, to spurn the imitation either of bored sophistication or sheer silliness, and to be well groomed.

Locale may have something to do with it, since Connecticut's campus is alert to urban influences even tho it is a small women's world in itself. New York and Boston are within easy reach, and New London itself, a huge submarine base as well as the home of the United States Coast Guard academy, provides the sort of social life that keeps girls on their toes. But we rather suspect that it's just the custom at Connecticut to be natural, nice, and well groomed—and a most attractive one it is!

Connecticut, incidentally, is luring more girls each year from the midwestern states, especially from Illinois. Catherine Tideman of Kenilworth, a junior, is chairman of the college modern dance group and vice president of its athletic association. Helen Evans of Wilmette and Lucy Keating of Chicago are freshmen; Nora and Mary King, Winnetka twins, are sophomores, classmates of Marianne Tudor of Wilmette, Nancy Newey of Highland Park, Marian Petersen of Kenilworth, and Nancy Noyes of Evanston. Shirley Mellor of Winnetka is a senior.

Ann Marie Williamson of Winnetka is a junior who will be one of the many married students at Connecticut after Nov. 22; naval orders permitting, she will be married on that date to Roland L. Miller of Peoria after he receives his ensign's commission and will return to college for the second semester.

Connecticut's 100 acre arboretum, adjoining the hilltop campus, which contains its magnificent outdoor theater, a lake, a brook, and acre upon acre of native trees and plants, links the college forever to the state of Illinois. Buck lodge, a recreation cabin for students there, is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Buck of Evanston, whose daughter, Frances Buck Taylor, was a graduate of '32.

In 1943 Mr. and Mrs. Buck made the college a gift to be retained as endowment for the upkeep of the arboretum, which is under constant development so as to provide eventually an outdoor laboratory of the natural sciences and a spectacularly beautiful place of recreation for Connecticut students.

SWEET and LOW on Sugar!

By MARY MEADE

These chocolate caramel rolls are full of crisp almonds. They'll be a fine holiday candy.

NONE OF US has sugar to throw around indiscriminately these days, so our candy making activities are limited. Most of us make candy only for service men's boxes and special occasions. Then we hunt up recipes for confections which don't require large amounts of sugar. Corn sirup is a popular sugar stretcher for candy.

Next time you pack a box for a man or woman in service in this country, tuck in wax paper wrapped pieces of chocolate almond caramel candy. If you plan to prepare Christmas boxes of goodies for friends and relatives this year, this is a good recipe to keep at hand:

ALMOND CARAMEL CANDY

(About 1½ pounds)

1½ cups granulated sugar
½ cup cold water
¾ cup light corn sirup
¼ cup margarine
3 1-ounce squares chocolate (unsweetened)
1 cup light cream
1 cup blanched almonds
2 teaspoons vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt

Combine sugar, water, sirup, and margarine and bring to a boil. Add chocolate (which has been melted over warm water) and stir to blend. Cook to 240 degrees by the candy thermometer; stir to prevent scorching. Add cream heated to boiling point, a small portion at a time. Cook to 250 degrees; stir to prevent scorching. Remove from heat, add almonds, flavoring, and salt, and stir to blend. Pour onto greased slab or pan and cool. When cool enough to handle, form into rolls. Cool further, cut into pieces of desired size, and wrap in waxed paper.

The other candy pictured is a confection resembling popcorn balls. These balls are made with a breakfast cereal, rice flakes. If you're having an autumn party, serve them in a pumpkin shell.

RICE FLAKE BALLS

1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
¾ cup dark corn sirup
½ cup water
1 tablespoon margarine
2 teaspoons cider vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package rice flakes
1 cup peanuts

Boil sugars, sirup, water, margarine, and vinegar to medium soft ball stage, 240 degrees. Cool slightly and add vanilla. Turn rice flakes and peanuts into a greased bowl and pour sirup gradually over them, stirring gently. Turn onto greased cookie sheet and cool until the mixture can be handled. Form into balls with the hands. Wrap in waxed paper if desired.

For a party serve rice flake balls in a hollowed half pumpkin lined with waxed paper.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

CARAMEL APPLE BREAD PUDDING (serves six)

1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup hot water
1 cup sliced apples
2 cups bread cubes or strips
3 cups scalded milk
½ cup sugar
3 eggs, beaten
Dash of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla (optional)
Dash of cinnamon

Melt sugar in heavy skillet and add hot water. Bring to a boil and turn sirup into baking dish. Place apple slices in sirup and top with bread. Add milk and sugar to beaten eggs, season, and add flavoring. Pour over bread and sprinkle with cinnamon. Bake in moderate (350) oven in a pan of hot water until custard is firm, about 40 minutes.—GERTRUDE STINCHCOMB, 912 E. 8th St., Michigan City, Ind.

New Spry's Easy One-Bowl Method

Dry Ingredients	Liquid Ingredients
2¼ cups sifted cake flour	½ cup sour milk (or ½ cup sweet milk plus 1 tablespoon vinegar)
2 cups sugar	1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ teaspoons salt	2 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon soda
½ cup Spry

YOU'LL bless New Easy-Mix Spry for this luscious, velvety, extra-light chocolate cake. You mix it in ⅓ the usual time—use only one bowl. It stays fresh to the last crumb.

Pour 1 cup boiling water over 4 oz. chocolate (cut in pieces) in mixing bowl; stir until melted. While it cools, measure other ingredients; mix Spry's easy 2-Step Way.

STEP 1. Sift flour, sugar, salt and soda into mixing bowl containing chocolate mixture. Just drop in Spry (no creaming needed) and beat 200 strokes (2 minutes). Scrape bowl and spoon often throughout entire mixing.

STEP 2. Add milk, vanilla and eggs—beat 250 strokes. Note the smoother, easier-pouring batter Spry gives you! Bake in 12 x 8 x 2-inch Spry-coated pan in moderate oven (350° F.) 45-55 minutes. Frost with your favorite chocolate or fudge frosting, adding ½ cup nuts.

"YOU don't have to be a fancy cook to please a man," says Aunt Jenny. "Men go for good plain cookin' that plays up the honest flavors of the food you buy.

"An' that's where pure, bland Spry helps you so much. See how it brings out the fresh, sweet flavor of this chicken an' the vegetables in the sauce. See what flaky, tender, delicate-tastin' pastry it helps you get.

"For the biggest surprise of all, change to Spry for your cakes an' discover its new secret. New Easy-Mix Spry and its One-Bowl cake method put magic in your hands to turn out lighter, more delicious cakes. It's easy to be a better cook now!"

Chicken Dinner

½ cup Spry
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Dash of cayenne
3-pound frying chicken, cut in serving pieces
½ cup flour
2 cups carrots, diced
2 cups celery, chopped
1 cup onion, chopped
Giblets, cut small
1 cup top milk

Melt Spry and pour into bowl which has been rubbed with garlic; add salt, pepper and cayenne. Place chicken in Spry and rub well into each piece. Roll in flour. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 40-50 minutes, or until brown on both sides. Remove chicken and place mixture of vegetables, giblets, 1 teaspoon salt and 1 cup water in roasting pan. Lay chicken on top. Cover and bake 45 minutes, or until tender. Remove chicken. Add milk to vegetables and heat thoroughly, stirring constantly. Serves 6.

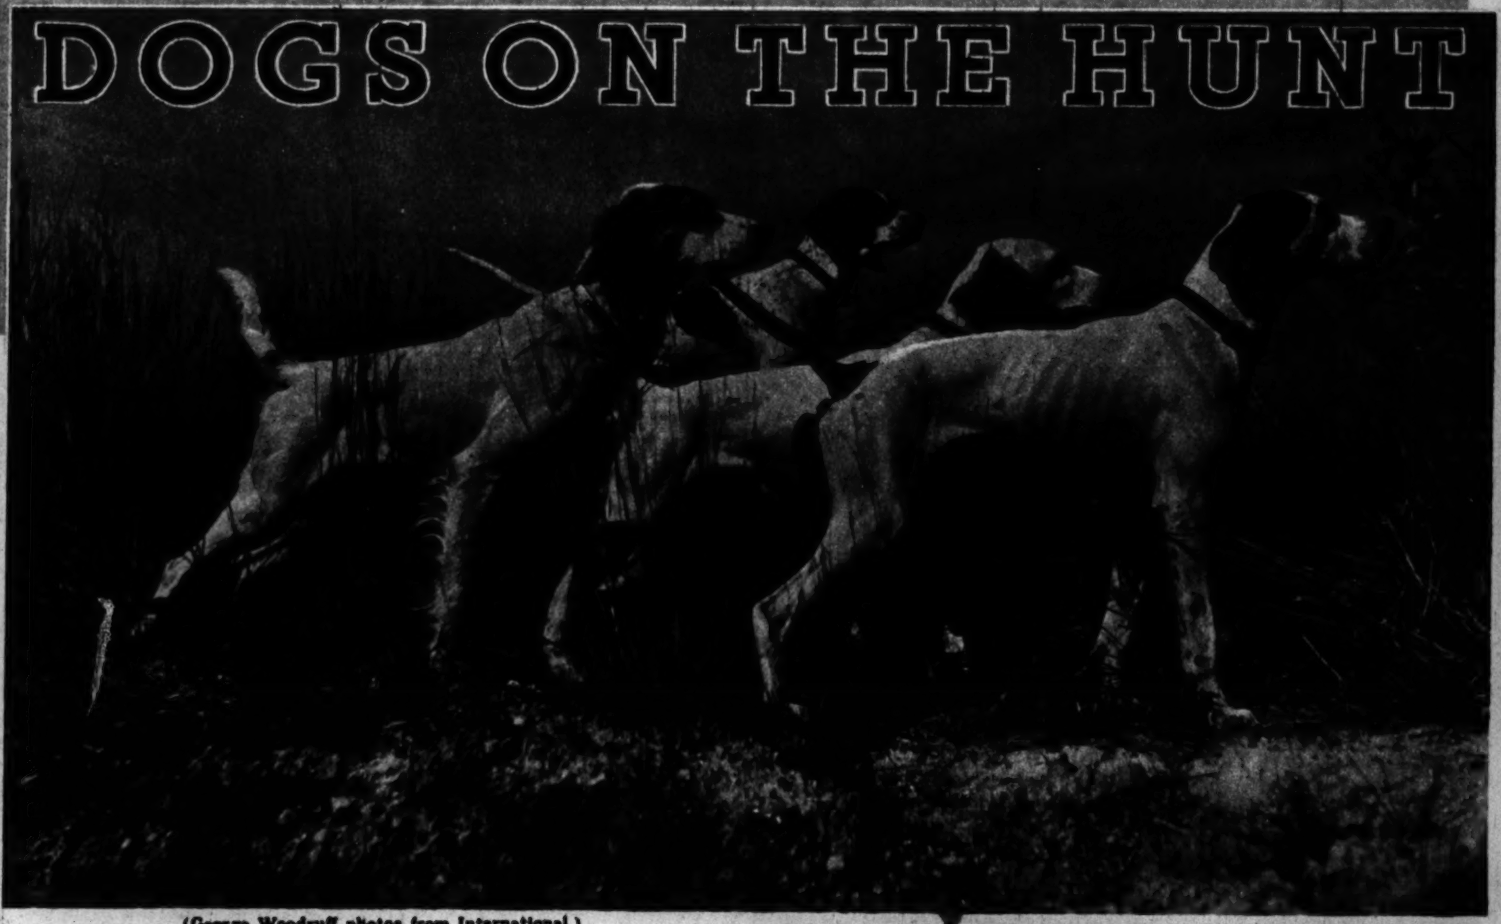
MOSTLY ABOUT DOGS

By BOB BECKER

● From early in the fall thru most of the winter well trained setters and pointers go afield on the hunt. They are the products of decades of careful breeding designed to perpetuate and improve their hunting ability. Most of them have learned invaluable lessons from professional trainers or skilled owners. All of them owe their status to the age-old desire of man to hunt game and his need of a dog to find it for him. There is another group, the field trial dogs, that are trained for the prize contests. All are beauties, and today we let the camera prove it once more on this page.

DOGS ON THE HUNT



(George Woodruff photos from International.)

Trained for field trials, these pointers and setters are on point.

Chocura Delight once was a problem dog, but years of training turned it into a winning setter.

Untrained, this 8-week-old pointer pup is pointing by instinct.

One of a trainer's problems with a pup is to teach it to freeze on point like these experienced dogs—not charge the bird.

Another dog ahead has found a bird and is pointing, so well trained Chief Masterman, a setter, honors that point by holding his position.

"ARSENIC AND OLD LACE"

1 Mortimer Brewster (Cary Grant), a drama critic, drops in to tell his Aunts Abby and Martha (Josephine Hull and Jean Adair) that he has just been married to Elaine Harper. His bride waits outside in a taxi. Incidentally Mortimer discovers a body in the window seat. He accuses his mildly insane brother Teddy, but the aunts claim the credit—just like the 12 others down cellar.

2 While Mortimer seeks a way out of this dilemma thru the window comes long lost Jonathan Brewster (Raymond Massey), an escaped killer, and his plastic surgeon, Dr. Einstein (Peter Lorre). The doctor is always changing Jonathan's face after every murder in fact.

3 Jonathan has the body of his latest victim to conceal and finds the ideal spot when Teddy, who thinks he's Teddy Roosevelt, shows him the new lock on the "Panama canal" down in the basement. It turns out to be a fresh grave.

4 Looking for Mortimer, Elaine (Priscilla Lane) is captured by Jonathan, only to be rescued by Mortimer. Then Mortimer discovers who Jonathan is and tells Elaine their marriage must be annulled, as insanity seems to run in his family.

5 After she's gone Abby discovers a strange body in the window seat and demands an explanation from Mortimer. He forces Jonathan to admit it is his latest victim, exacts a promise Jonathan will leave.

6 While Mortimer is explaining to Dr. Einstein the stupid nature of a current mystery play in which the hero is never warned by even the most obvious things, Jonathan binds and gags him, just as it happened in the play.

7 Mortimer is saved from death by the entrance of Officer O'Hara (Jack Carson), who is told they are enacting a play. O'Hara takes this chance to force Mortimer to listen to a play O'Hara has been writing. But more officers arrive to arrest O'Hara for not reporting for duty, and they recognize Jonathan as an escaped lunatic killer.

8 Comes Mr. Witherspoon of the Happydale sanitarium to take Teddy away. The aunts insist that if Teddy goes they go too. But Mortimer, delighted, must get a doctor's signature on commitment papers. Dr. Einstein fills the bill.

9 Just before they leave for the sanitarium the aunts reveal to Mortimer that he is only an adopted nephew. Free of the fear of insanity, Mortimer rushes to find Elaine—and the cab driver, who still is hopefully waiting. (THE END)

"The Great Waltz" on the Air

Marion Claire will be starred in the opening operatic performance of the Chicago Theater of the Air season next Saturday when W-G-N, WGNB, and the Mutual network broadcast "The Great Waltz" between 9 and 10 p. m. The time of broadcast is an hour later than in past seasons. Marion Bowe will have the male singing lead.

By ALBERT GOLDBERG

"THE GREAT WALTZ" was easily one of the most lavish productions in the history of the American theater. Its cost was so great—reported to have been $500,000—that after an entire season as the opening attraction of New York's Center theater, 18 weeks in Chicago, and enough road engagements to round out three years of life, the producer's books are said to have shown a profit of only $400.

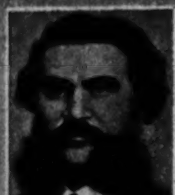
There was a chorus of 400, an Albertina Rasch ballet of 40, a full-sized symphony orchestra, three revolving stages, and a spectacular finale in which the orchestra rose majestically from the depths of the pit, floated by silent magic across the stage to join a second orchestra, three dazzling golden chandeliers descended from on high, the walls of a street scene were reversed to form the gold columns and white walls of a huge ballroom—and the stage was set for Johann Strauss the younger to conduct the first performance of his "Blue Danube" waltz in Dommayer's Casino in old Vienna. ("The Blue Danube" wasn't really born that way—but that's another story.)

The book of a musical extravaganza of this sort ordinarily merits only passing mention, but this one happened to be by a man who in the next 10 years was to rise to great renown in the theater as the co-author with George S. Kaufmann of such comedies as "You Can't Take It with You," and as the author of "Lady in the Dark" and the army air forces production, "Winged Victory"—Moss Hart. The story is that the book of "The Great Waltz" was originally Hart's second play, a piece called "Panic," based on a father-and-son motive inspired by the senior and junior Douglas Fairbanks. With a little fixing this became the tale of Johann Strauss the elder and his to-be-more-famous son, Johann the younger.



Johann Strauss Jr.

The subject was of course a natural for an operetta, with the music ready made for the purpose. Incidentally, the Strauss tunes utilized in the score underwent much less manhandling by adapters and arrangers than has often been the case in similar ventures.

How much of the jealous conflict between the two masters of the waltz, each vying with the other for the title of "Waltz King," is true, historians do not completely state.

No little part of the success of "The Great Waltz" was due to the casting of the leading roles. Marion Claire, a young American singer who had enjoyed a successful European grand opera career, later duplicated with the Chicago Opera company, was an instant success as Resi, the fiancee of Johann the younger, and Guy Robertson crowned a distinguished singing-acting career with the role of the sorely beset but finally triumphant "Waltz King." The same Marion Claire, for many seasons now the prima donna of the Theater of the Air operetta series, will re-create her original role.

THE BOYS WRITE IN

By MAUREEN DALY
(Author of "Seventeenth Summer" and "Smarter and Smoother.")

IT IS the same story of boy-meets-girl, but this time it is the fellows who come out lead characters in the unhappy ending. It isn't always gals who sit home in the evening reading old letters, mooning over dance music, and waiting for the phone to ring. And just to prove that dating is a fifty-fifty proposition, demanding fairness and kindness on both sides, here are some letters from mournful Joes still pining from recent brush-offs. The number one complaint gives out this way:

"I'm a senior in high school, and I've been dating a certain girl since I was a sophomore, but now one of my best friends is trying to get her away from me. I have many friends, both boys and girls, and get along with almost every one. I have been nicknamed the Baron because of an orchestra I have started with a group of my friends.

"Now, however, this boy friend of mine has wormed his way in with Sue (call her that for convenience), and they act as if they have been engaged for years, tho they have only known each other six months. I had meant to forget her and let him have her, but I can't. My parents and friends are not conscious of my real feelings for the girl, and in fact I don't believe that she knows.

"I didn't ask her for a date for three months, but then I came right back. I am working very hard lately from 7 in the morning till 6:30 at night, and with my orchestra work and my schoolwork (I always study pretty hard) I am up to my neck in work. I know that I have become very irritable, and I know that something must be done. I have thought of telling the girl just how I feel about her, but I am afraid to."

"You haven't asked her for a date for three months . . . so she thinks you HAVE forgotten her."

Save that sweet chatter until you get to know the gal all over again. You haven't asked her for a date for three months just to forget about her; she doesn't know how you feel, so she thinks you have forgotten her. She's probably a sensitive honey chile and hurt because you've neglected her; can you blame her for looking about for another tall, dark, and handy who is more appreciative? Forget about the orchestra and the homework one night a week—make it Friday or Saturday—and ask young sweet stuff for a date. You'll be surprised how quickly your disposition will improve!

"I'd like to get my girl back. You see, I like her a lot, but the reason I don't know how to get her back is that it was I who broke up with her over seven months ago. We dated each other for a year and had loads of fun together. She's wonderful and I like her more than any girl I ever went out with. I guess it's because she's different. I broke up with her because I thought, and was quite sure then, that she wasn't the girl for me.

"The fellows kept telling me that I could get some one better. I called her up once or twice, but once I ditched her I did a lot of means things to her—talked about her, etc. I know now that she's the one for me, but I don't think she'll believe me now after all the things I've done. She dates other fellows now as far as I know, but I still feel that she likes me and no one else.

"She's not on speaking terms with me because she said she's disappointed in me. A girl can get to hate a fellow for the things he does. I'm sorry for what I did, and I haven't the nerve to call her up."

You used stupid Cupid tactics with the gal, but then girls are understanding people, especially if they still like a boy more than somewhat, as you suggest. It may take a long time to win your way back, but why not start trying right away? Call the girl on the phone (if she's a well bred character you can be sure she won't hang up) and ask her for a date, at least three nights ahead of time. If she doesn't accept the first time, call her again.

Unless you have done something definite, something you can think of in black and white, to hurt her, don't apologize; just let her know by your new attitude that you think she's out of this atmosphere as far as smooth dolls are concerned. If she doesn't want to be friends at first, don't get discouraged. After all, you have a little cold shoulder coming. Stick to it till she's convinced that you're really the good fellow she once thought you to be.

Watch Philco in Refrigeration!

Wartime living has proved the importance of frozen storage in the home. Philco Refrigerator engineers foresaw the need for this modern method of food keeping by being the first to offer a complete line of refrigerators with full size, separate frozen food compartments in addition to the regular ice cube chamber. And today, fortunate owners of Philco Refrigerators have ample reason to appreciate the forward thinking of Philco engineers.

This is but one example of the independent engineering and Advanced Design which Philco has brought to refrigeration. It is a hint of the still greater developments that will come from the Philco laboratories when peacetime research is resumed. Practical progress in engineering and design has made the Philco name stand for Leadership over the years. Watch Philco in Refrigeration after the war!

Graumann's Chinese, then completed nine months of back breaking work as a welder. Ruth Lewis boasts she can take 150 words a minute; thinks the work she did as a Powers model harder than being a stenographer. Yvonne Vautrot is tiny, dark and intriguing. Was a saleslady for Standard Oil. Eve Miller, who reminds you of Barbara La Marr, also did a bit of welding at one of our aviation plants.

Three of the girls are married, two secretly engaged, all very career minded. The average Diamond Horseshoe girl spends 50 per cent of her income on clothes. Most of them manicure their own nails and do their own hair. Nearly all of them use plain white gloss on their nails (perhaps this marks a new trend). All of them can cook a little, some are good cooks and admit it shamelessly. Shoes are their main extravagance, some having as high as 50 pairs in top condition. Twenty pairs is average for them. Only three fur coats in the group. Average wardrobe has eight dating dresses, altho peak production lists 30 formals.

Strangely missing from their story is all the foo-faraw which surrounded the showgirl of yesteryear. Contrast them with Ziegfeld's famous beauties: Ziggy spent a fortune on costumes, and gave his girls $250 a week. They lived in an atmosphere of orchids and diamond bracelets under their dinner plates. Dolores hit a high for all time in 1920 with her $400 a week salary from Ziegfeld. Yes, and I'm right here to say not one of the newcomers has yet measured up to her.

Wonder where the fabulous girl is! Last I heard, she was in a Nazi prison camp.

Out of that Ziegfeld group came some famous movie names: Marion Davies, Mae Murray, Jacqueline Logan, Olive Thomas, and Lilyan Tashman. Mrs. Mark Hellinger (Gladys Glad) was a Ziegfeld girl, and so were Lorelle McCarver (Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Jr.), Marie Wallace (Mrs. Buddy De Sylva), Gladys Feldman (Mrs. Oliver Braham), Justine Johnstone (former Mrs. Walter Wanger), and Betty Browne (Mrs. Gene Towne).

Yesterday such beauty brought a brief and fabulous blooming on Broadway. Today it brings a long-term contract, a modest salary to begin with, and a chance to build into stardom if you've got what it takes. And in movies it takes less to become a star than it ever did on Broadway. Don't take my word for it—just look around you next time you see a picture and judge for yourself!

The Germans on Sept. 3 turned east between Maubeuge and Mons and ran head on into the Americans. First they bumped into the entire 3d armored division of Maj. Gen. Maurice T. Rose, and later that day into the leading battalions of the 1st division of Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner. And at the same time, from the air, came swarms of Maj. Gen. Pete Quesada's 9th tactical air force fighter-bombers.

The carnage was terrific. By Sept. 5, when the battle was over, our prisoner cages held about 25,000 Germans and the woods and plowed fields of the countryside held another 5,000 in dead and wounded. The side roads were choked with burned and abandoned guns and motor transport, and the stench of dead horses hung low over the whole area.

Leaving the cleanup to some one else, Collins turned east and started for Germany, with General Rose's 3d armored division out in front again. From Mons the armor went rolling on, held up only occasionally by fights; thru Charleroi, Namur, Liege, Verviers. Behind it on either flank came the other corps, the 19th plowing into Holland and heading for the Albert canal, while the 5th corps fought into the forests of Luxemburg.

Maj. Gen. C. R. Huebner

The 1st army had the bit between its teeth, and the smell of victory was sweet in its nostrils. But the long, elastic band of supply, stretching more than 250 miles back to the Normandy beaches, was stretching and stretching. Only by stripping the army of every available vehicle and running those trucks far back into the communication zone had Hodges been able to keep his divisions rolling.

Now the supply situation was so desperate that some parts of the fighting divisions could not move. Ammunition had to be rationed. Only the food supply remained normal. Everything else had been pared to the bone.

On Sept. 12 the 3d armored division crossed the German frontier near Rotgen, and 24 minutes later the 1st battalion of the 16th infantry of the 1st division (which had led the D-day assault) pushed over the old border. On the right flank elements of the 28th division and the 4th division also crossed.

The first or outpost wing of the Siegfried line, below Aachen, was cracked by the 1st division on Sept. 13. On the 14th the 1st and 3d armored divisions fought into the open area between the two lines, and on Sept. 15 the 1st division sent one company thru the main defenses of the Siegfried line.

In 100 days of constant fighting the 1st army of General Hodges had swept from the bloody Normandy beaches thru France and across Belgium, into Germany and thru the Siegfried line. And there it stopped.

It had the momentum but not the supplies. And while it waited the Germans rushed reënforcements. The days dragged by, and more enemy artillery appeared on the front. The fighting grew in intensity as the Germans rushed good troops and self-propelled guns into every section of the west wall to keep the Americans from making any further penetrations of the line or to exploit those they had made.

So that when the supplies had been brought up, and other divisions had been shifted in to add more weight to our punch, and the 1st army was again ready to attack, the opposition out in front was strong and solid. An opportunity which looked so golden to the fighting men up forward on Sept. 15 had gone glimmering.

ROMANTIC FIGURES OF AMERICAN HISTORY

ONE HUNDRED years ago a young lieutenant of artillery devoted months to a tour of Georgia for the purpose of acquainting himself with the geography and topography of that state. It was time and effort well spent, for 20 years later it became this man's task as commander of a Union field force of 100,000 troops to conquer the territory he had so carefully surveyed.

William Tecumseh Sherman's greatest claim to fame rests upon that conquest of Georgia in 1864. He is best remembered by some, however, for his famous definition of war as hell—a remark made in Columbus, O., Aug. 11, 1880.

Sherman was born at Lancaster, O., Feb. 8, 1820, and reared, after the age of 8, in the family of Thomas Ewing, whose daughter Ellen he married in 1850.

In 1840 Sherman was graduated from West Point and dispatched as a second lieutenant on field service in Florida. In 1842, as a first lieutenant, he was stationed at Fort Moultrie, S. C., where his duties provided him ample time to study law. He was assigned to the Augusta, Ga., arsenal in 1845.

He saw little action in the Mexican war. In the autumn of 1853 he resigned his commission as captain to become a partner in a San Francisco branch of a St. Louis bank. When the bank failed in 1857 he practiced law briefly in Leavenworth, Kas. Appointed superintendent of a new military college in Alexandria, La. (now Louisiana State university), in 1859, he served there until the secession of Louisiana early in 1861 compelled him to resign. The offer of a high commission in the Confederate army had no appeal to him.

Sherman was appointed colonel of the 13th United States infantry in May, 1861, and in July was given command of a brigade in McDowell's army, standing before Washington. He saw action at the first battle of Bull Run, was promoted to brigadier general of volunteers and sent in August to Kentucky to serve under Gen. Robert Anderson. Soon succeeding to the command of the Kentucky department, he asked for 200,000 troops to conduct the campaign there. For this he was relieved of his command.

At the head of a division of new troops, he joined Grant's army. For his gallant conduct at Shiloh he was elevated to major general of volunteers. He took part in the Union advance on Corinth, Miss., led a column in the first Vicksburg campaign, and commanded Grant's right in the final Vicksburg campaign. After Vicksburg fell in July, 1863, he was commissioned brigadier general of the regular army.

In May, 1864, he began the invasion of Georgia, where he was opposed by the able Confederate leader, Joseph Johnston. Then Johnston was replaced by Hood, who evacuated Atlanta on Sept. 1. For his victories in a number of engagements on the route to Atlanta Sherman was promoted to major general of the regulars.

Leaving part of his army to deal with Hood, Sherman, with 60,000 troops, began his celebrated march thru Georgia from Atlanta to Savannah. He has been condemned by some historians for the way his army behaved on this march, yet it was his contention that wanton destruction of private property always was prevented so far as possible. Much of the vandalism attributed to his men was the work of stragglers.

On April 13, 1865, Sherman reached Raleigh, N. C., after a 500 mile march from Savannah. In the meantime he had defeated Johnston, who had been recalled to service. When Lee finally surrendered to Grant, Johnston gave up the struggle against Sherman.

In the reorganization of the army after the war Sherman succeeded Grant as lieutenant general. Upon Grant's inauguration as President in March, 1869, Sherman became commanding general of the army. He retired from active service in November, 1883, lived for a while in St. Louis, then moved to New York City in 1886, where he died Feb. 14, 1891.

MEN and women all over the country report remarkable results in losing weight easily. Many report losing 20 pounds a month and more. They are following the Easy Reducing Plan of Dr. Edward Parrish, well-known physician and editor, former chief of a U. S. military hospital and a state public health officer.

Dr. Parrish's Easy Reducing Plan makes reducing a pleasure because it has absolutely NO STRICT DIETS, requires no exercises. HARMLESS, too, because it calls for no reducing drugs.

Here is Dr. Parrish's Easy Reducing Plan EXACTLY as given over the air to millions: For lunch take 2 teaspoonfuls of CAL-PAR in a glass of juice, water or any beverage. Take nothing else for lunch except a cup of coffee if desired. For breakfast and dinner EAT AS YOU USUALLY DO, but eat sensibly. Don't cut out fatty, starchy foods—just cut down on them. By following Dr. Parrish's Easy Reducing Plan, you cut down your daily caloric intake thus losing weight naturally. You needn't suffer a single hungry moment. CAL-PAR is not a harmful reducing drug. It is a special dietary product, fortifying your diet with certain essential minerals and vitamins. Most overweight people are helped by Dr. Parrish's Easy Reducing Plan. Try it. You and your friends will marvel at the vast improvement in your figure.

New Ideas for an Old-Time Thanksgiving!

COOK WITH CRISCO! It does more to make wartime meals EXCITING and DIGESTIBLE!

Want to be sure of a grand Thanksgiving Dinner this year? Count on Crisco to help you. For Crisco is tops when it comes to making good dishes that are exciting to eat —easy to digest!

It's true with all your cooking! Crisco does more than ordinary shortenings. For Crisco has a special cooking secret. Time after time, it gives you lighter, more tender cakes. A sure way to get flaky, tender pie crust every time. And with Crisco, there's no need to worry about digestions. Even Crisco fried foods are so digestible children may eat 'em!

So begin today! Make a flaky, tender crust for that Holiday Pie with Crisco. Fry those Sweet Potato Patties in Crisco, and you'll know they're digestible. Any time a recipe calls for shortening—reach for pure, all-vegetable Crisco and be sure!

HOLIDAY PIE

1 package lemon gelatin • 1 pint boiling water
¾ cup crushed dry cereal crumbs
1¼ cups seeded raisins
¾ cup walnuts, cut fine
¼ cup candied cherries, cut fine
¼ cup citron or candied orange peel
¼ tsp. cinnamon • ¼ tsp. cloves
Single recipe Crisco Pastry

Dissolve gelatin in water. While hot, add remaining ingredients. Cool; let thicken slightly. Pour into baked Crisco pie shell. (For flaky, tender, digestible pie crust every time, use Crisco and follow the sure-fire Pastry Method on the Crisco label! No more guesswork!) Chill until set. Decorate with "wreath" of creamy hard sauce. Garnish with candied cherries and citron. Chill before serving. All Measurements Level.

Crisco

9 OUT OF 10 DOCTORS SAY: "IT'S DIGESTIBLE!"

THANKSGIVING VEGETABLE PLATTER

SOUTHERN SWEET POTATO PATTIES: Mash seasoned sweet potatoes. Add grated rind of 1 orange (for 2 cups potatoes) and 2 tbsps. juice. Cool. Shape into flat patties and coat with crumbled cereal flakes. Pan-fry in Crisco. (Do all your frying with pure, snowy Crisco. Crisp, light Crisco fried foods are really digestible—even for children!)

HONEY-GLAZED ONIONS: Peel small white onions. Leave whole and lightly fry on all sides in 2-4 tbsps. hot digestible Crisco. Add ¼ cup honey and ¼ cup water. Cover skillet and simmer about 20 minutes—turning onions occasionally.

CAULIFLOWER WITH CHEESE SAUCE: Pour cheese-flavored Crisco white sauce over head of cooked cauliflower. (No need to use butter. Pure, all-vegetable Crisco makes smooth, delicious sauces.) Serve all three vegetables on large chop plate. All Measurements Level.

NEW CRISCO COOK BOOK
Send 10¢ in coin and a Crisco label (any size) to Crisco, Dept. B, Box 837, Cincinnati 1, Ohio, for the 64-page "Recipes for Good Eating." Offer good in United States.

HALF 'N' HALF CAKE

½ cup Crisco • 1¼ cups sugar
½ tsp. salt • 1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 tsps. baking powder • ¾ cup milk
3 egg whites • 2 squares melted chocolate
2 tbsps. sugar • 2 tbsps. hot water

Cream Crisco, sugar, salt and vanilla. (Crisco has a special success secret. It gives you lighter cakes than the most expensive shortening!) Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Beat egg whites till they stand in moist peaks; fold in well. Remove a generous third of batter to small bowl. Add sugar and water to melted chocolate; mix thoroughly with smaller amount of white batter; alternate by spoonful in an 8" x 8" pan lined with paper. With a knife, cut through batter several times. Bake in moderate oven (360°F.) 40-45 min. Frost half cake with chocolate icing; other half with white. All Measurements Level.

Local Business Man Retires Because of Lost Hearing

Edward D. Wilk, well-known sales promotional executive, was compelled to retire from an active business career because of a progressive hearing loss, and remained in retirement for some time.

Today, Mr. Wilk finds himself again an active, energetic, driving executive as of former years. Recently in a talk before a group of prominent Chicago business men, Mr. Wilk said in substance: "Through the miracle of modern science I have regained an amazing part of my life that I thought was utterly lost to me, lost to me for so long a time that I had actually forgotten how much it meant to me. You who are listening to me tonight cannot possibly imagine what a tremendous effect on one's whole well-being, on one's very personality, deafness or even a partial hearing loss can mean.

"When I realized fully that I was becoming progressively deaf, I tried everything in a frantic attempt to regain my hearing—all to no avail. People with normal hearing do not realize how easily they can offend the deafened . . . and often are unintentionally cruel, cutting short their conversation. It is then that the deafened individual usually gives up the effort to listen.

"I found myself making embarrassing or ridiculous comments because I misunderstood others, and felt that I was a kill-joy in a group. I had a tendency to back out smiling, nodding, and pretending.

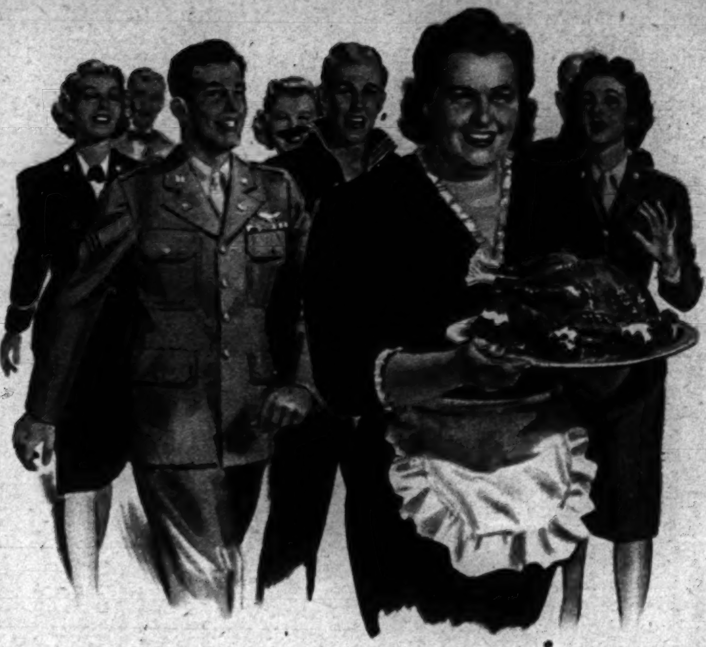
"A blind person makes no pretense at seeing, yet the deaf are always pretending that they hear and usually grumble at people, saying that all people mumble. Poems and music have been written about the blind, but only 'funny' stories have been told about the deaf. I felt that I had no friend to unlock the door of escape from the sound-proof cell of silence. In other words, my whole life was changing; I began to lose interest in business, friends, and even my own family.

"Then, just as I thought that everything was lost, through the help of a dear friend, science came to my assistance. My eyes widened in startled, joyful amazement, then filled with tears, for the first note of a new horizon of hearing burst on my consciousness and I realized with a sweep of emotional ecstasy that I could hear again, and was the Ed Wilk of old. With this realization came a decision to aid the many millions of those who, like myself, have been on the brink of despair, that they might rehabilitate themselves as I did and again be useful to society."

Mr. Wilk has not only regained his lost hearing, but has edited a booklet which he calls HE WHO HATH EARS LET HIM HEAR. This booklet is dedicated to the hard-of-hearing and brings them inspiration and hope. It is free; it will be sent in a plain wrapper to any one addressing E. D. Wilk, Suite 1602, 6 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.

EDWARD D. WILK after short retirement again enters business field.

"These days we need to find quicker, simpler ways to do things!" says Kate Smith



"Of course, none of us would want to change the traditional Thanksgiving menu . . . turkey and fixin's, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie . . .

"But wouldn't you love to learn some new, easier, thriftier ways to make the old favorites? . . . Well, folks, here they are—two surprising recipes!

A Cranberry Mold to do you proud

"What a joy to serve a cranberry mold that stands up proud and handsome like this—no leaning, no slumping! With this easy recipe you'll surely want to make your own.

"And I'll bet you've never tasted anything so good as that combination of rich Jell-O flavor and the tangy tartness of cranberries.

And try this Heavenly Pumpkin Pie!

"It's a pie to dream about—so creamy, so smooth, so spicily flavored. And listen! . . . you make the filling without eggs, without sugar . . . and in just eight minutes!

"Read the recipe and learn the secret! Instead of making the usual custard, you use Jell-O Pudding as the base for this smooth, melt-in-your-mouth, truly heavenly filling!

"How's that for a timesaving, thrifty, modern idea? Hope you'll try it on November 23rd.

"Have a nice Thanksgiving!"

Jell-O Cranberry Sauce

2½ cups cranberries
1⅔ cups water
⅔ cup sugar
Dash of salt
1 package Orange or Lemon Jell-O

Wash cranberries. Place in saucepan and add water, sugar, and salt. Cook slowly until skins pop and berries are soft, stirring occasionally. Drain; measure juice and add hot water to make 2 cups. Dissolve Jell-O in hot liquid. Add cranberries. Turn into 1-quart mold or small molds. Chill. When slightly thickened, stir to distribute berries. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with orange wedges, raw cranberries, and mint, if desired. Serve as relish with poultry or meat. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BROKEN!

. . . thank goodness

This is a declaration of independence.

For many years, we believe, the phonograph recording industry has lived in a sort of dreamy world of self-enchantment. It has put too much emphasis on grand opera, concert music . . . what they call "classical."

We, at Decca, have a completely different definition of "classical." As far as we are concerned, "classical" is the best of its kind . . . recorded the way you want to hear it, not the way somebody thinks you ought to hear it.

Decca has set its needle in a new groove . . . the groove of today . . . of a living, laughing, singing, vital America.

We have recorded the love of the land, the reverence for the flag, the joy of our people. You will find them in thousands of Decca records and albums, such as "Oklahoma!". . ."Porgy and Bess". . ."The Lonesome Train". . . Cowboy Songs and such favorites as "Silent Night" and "Sweet Leilani" as sung by Bing Crosby.

Rule number one at Decca is: consideration for the listener.

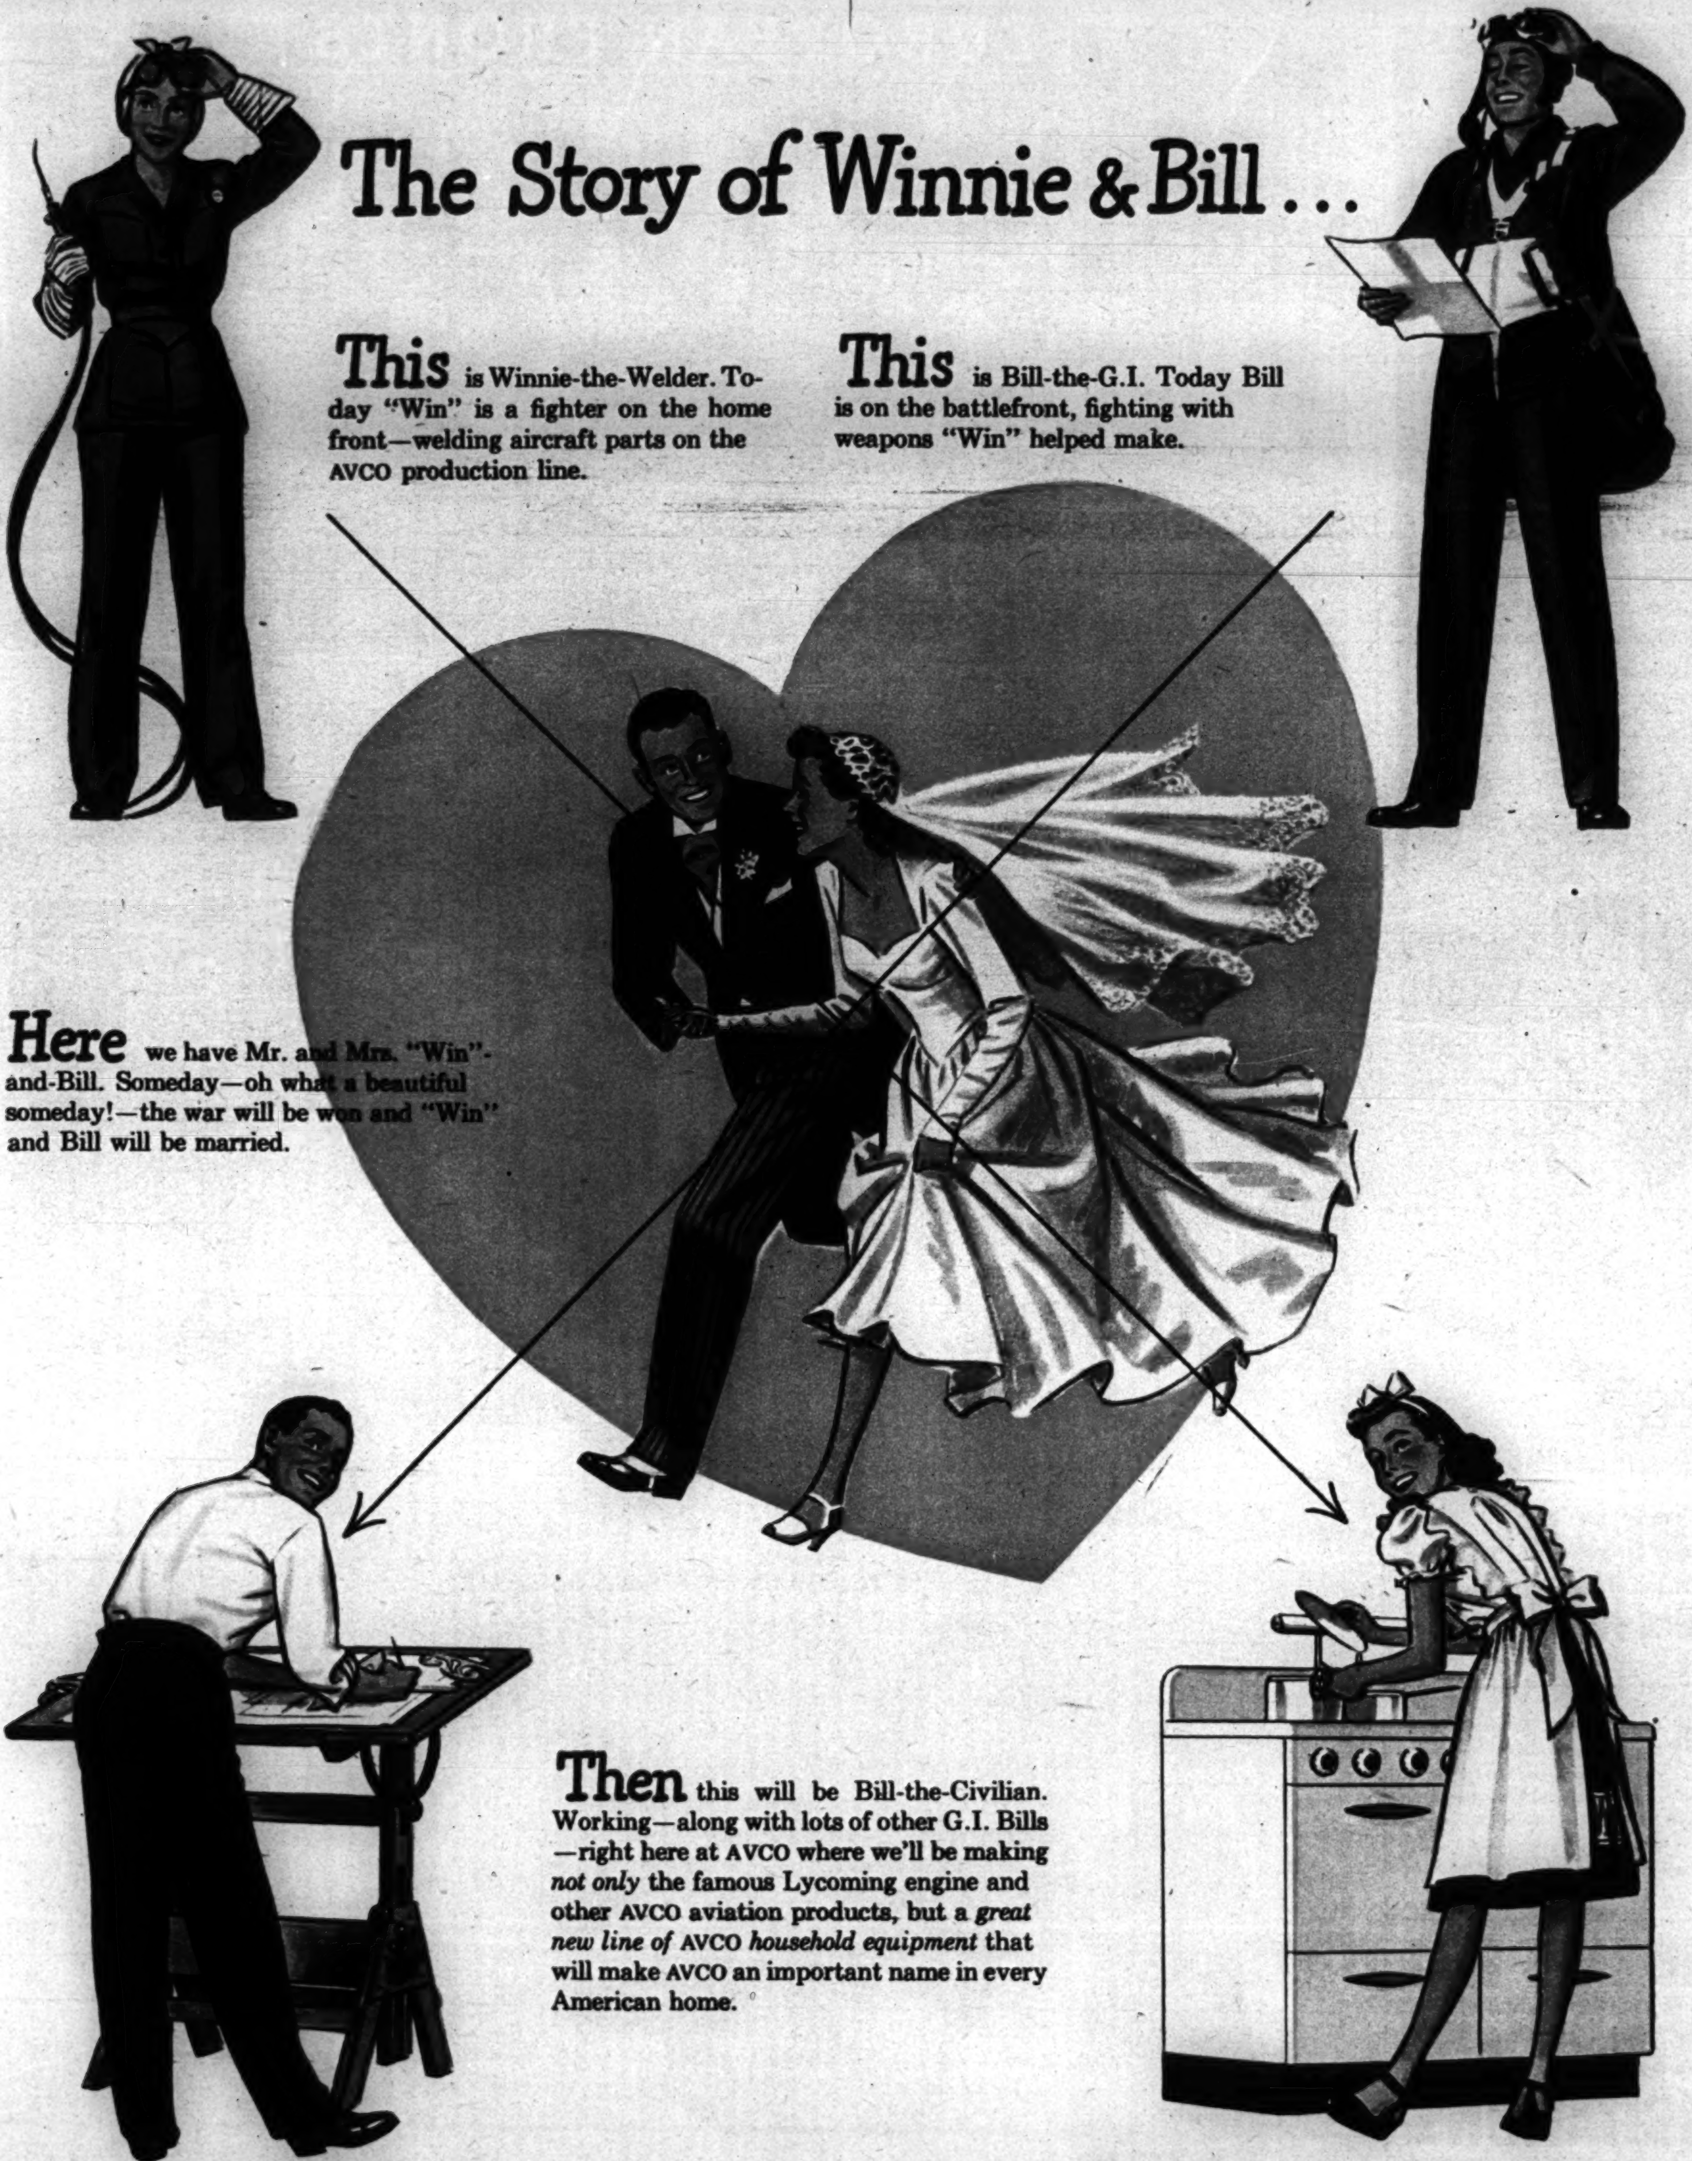
If it is a vocal record, you will hear and understand every word of the lyric. If it is a dance record, you will hear pure dance-able rhythm from beginning to end without any fancy overtures or signoffs. The American public is our boss, our conductor and our audience.

We will continue to pioneer in other fields besides music. Recordings that keep alive great words that have been spoken, great poems, great dramatic pieces. When you hear "Alice in Wonderland" with Ginger Rogers as Alice, "The Count of Monte Cristo" with Herbert Marshall, or Ronald Colman in Dickens' "Christmas Carol," you will see the possibilities of this vast new world of sound recording that is now being explored by Decca.

We believe that there are now in garrets and lodging houses the greatest musicians and singers in the world. They are struggling and practicing, economizing and learning. They are now unknown. It is part of Decca's policy to find them.

And finally, we believe that the greatest music in the world is yet unwritten, the greatest songs are yet unsung, the greatest records are yet to come. That is part of Decca's future, America's future, your future. DECCA RECORDS

The Story of Winnie & Bill . . .



This is Winnie-the-Welder. To-day "Win" is a fighter on the home front—welding aircraft parts on the AVCO production line.

This is Bill-the-G.I. Today Bill is on the battlefront, fighting with weapons "Win" helped make.

Here we have Mr. and Mrs. "Win"-and-Bill. Someday—oh what a beautiful someday!—the war will be won and "Win" and Bill will be married.

Then this will be Bill-the-Civilian. Working—along with lots of other G.I. Bills—right here at AVCO where we'll be making not only the famous Lycoming engine and other AVCO aviation products, but a great new line of AVCO household equipment that will make AVCO an important name in every American home.

And this will be Winnie-the-Housewife. Winnie will be cooking the best dinner in town—on an AVCO range (purchased with war bonds she and Bill bought). An AVCO heating unit will warm their house, an AVCO door-operator will open, close and lock their garage doors electrically. A whole variety of AVCO household appliances will make their home so much more comfortable and easier-to-run. And "Win" and Bill will live happily ever after.

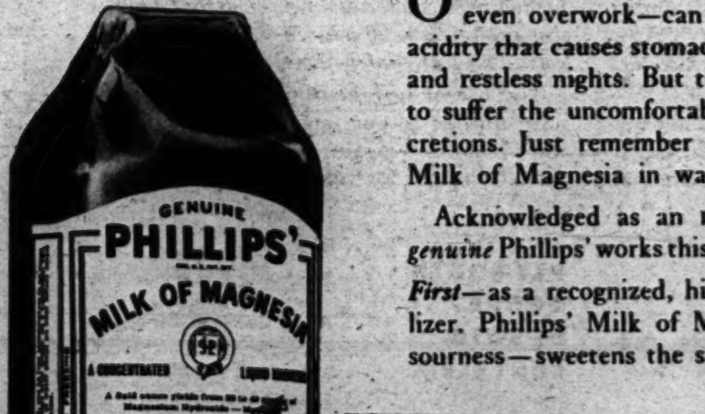
*Permission Leo Feist, Inc.



OVERINDULGENCE in food, drink or smoking—even overwork—can lead to excess stomach acidity that causes stomach distress, heartburn, gas and restless nights. But there is absolutely no need to suffer the uncomfortable results of these indiscretions. Just remember to take genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water before going to bed.

Acknowledged as an IDEAL LAXATIVE-ANTACID, genuine Phillips' works this double wonder overnight:

First—as a recognized, highly-rated scientific alkalizer. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes acid sourness—sweetens the stomach almost instantly.

Second—as a mild and pleasant laxative—Phillips' is so gentle in its action you can take it any time.

For more than 60 years Phillips' has been recommended by many doctors. Think what this means next time you need relief from overindulgence. But be sure you ask your druggist for genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Caution—take only as directed. Remember—take Phillips' tonight—you'll feel "on top of the world" tomorrow.

ECONOMY NOTE: Ask your druggist for the big 50c bottle containing three times as much as the 25c size. In tablet form, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia costs only 25c a box—less than a penny a tablet.

Imagination is the spirit of teamwork between Chrysler and many supplying companies – it helps give special character to all Chrysler Corporation products.

People all over America work as a team with Chrysler Corporation to make things for you.

Farmers, miners, ranchers, railroaders and truckers — and thousands of manufacturers — supply raw materials, parts or services for Chrysler-built war products, and for the cars and trucks we make in peacetime.

Such teamwork distributes wages and work to people in cities, villages and on farms. It uses the skills and facilities of thousands of small companies and many large ones. And it helps to get big war jobs done quickly.

12,152 businesses, in 41 states, have furnished parts, materials or services for Chrysler war production. 56 cents of every dollar we received on war contracts we paid out to them.

Burgundy

SO FINE AND FULL FLAVORED

it makes every Meal a Gala Occasion

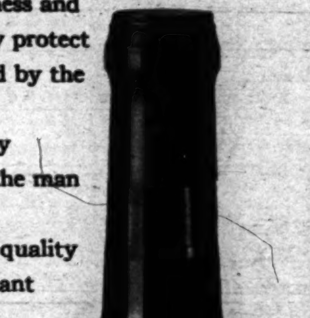
Think back to the moments you treasure most! Certainly among them is that gay dinner party at which you first discovered the glorious flavor of choice Burgundy.

Burgundy brings to your table such a festive air. And this is notably true of Valliant California Burgundy. Its deep ruby color and fine fruity flavor are proof that the vines of Valliant & Son boast an old world ancestry.

Conscientious blending and developing—in accordance with time-honored methods—further impart to Valliant Burgundy its delightful smoothness and well-rounded flavor. And to fully protect its precious bouquet, it is bottled by the winery in California.

Valliant Burgundy is particularly appreciated by men, for rare is the man who does not enjoy its zestful, pleasantly tart flavor—the very quality needed in a table wine. Sip Valliant Burgundy with food—and you will realize how its rich tang enlivens main course dishes. You will enjoy it day after day.

Also try the Valliant California appetizer and dessert wines: Valliant Dry Sherry, Valliant Sherry, Valliant Port, Valliant Muscatel. Sole distributors for U. S. A., W. A. Taylor & Company, New York City.



GOOD TASTE WITH ANY FOOD

Few households keep an assortment of table wines. Many choose Burgundy because they like its flavor best. So—forget the "do's and don'ts" you've heard about serving wine and just remember that "Valliant Burgundy is good taste with any food."

Fitch's Saponified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo
At Drug Counters Generous 6-OZ. BOTTLE 50c
A Shampoo for the whole Family

NOW..try shampooing with Natural Oils

CONTAINS NO HARSH CHEMICALS . . NOT A SYNTHETIC PRODUCT

NOW AVAILABLE for you . . . Fitch's Saponified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo combines mild Cocoanut Oil and vegetable oils into a perfectly blended shampoo. As recognized authorities on hair care for over 50 years, the F. W. Fitch Company ask you to try this beauty shampoo.

NO DULL FILM REMAINS ON YOUR HAIR after shampooing with this Saponified Cocoanut Oil Formula because it's double-filtered.

Not Drying . . . LEAVES HAIR SOFTER . . . Helps make your hair feel surprisingly softer . . . look silkier. Prevents that brittle feeling that is often caused by harsh chemicals found in ordinary shampoos.

"Mountains" of Lather . . . In either hard or soft water, a small amount of Fitch's Saponified Cocoanut Oil gives huge swirls of billowy lather that quickly and efficiently cleanse the hair and scalp.

Patented Rinsing Agent . . . Goes into action when the rinse water is applied. This special ingredient prevents the forming of "soap curd" on the hair and scalp. No special after-rinse is required and the damp hair combs out easily, without troublesome snarling.

Delightfully Fragrant . . . You'll like the clean, delicate scent of this clear liquid shampoo and the way it leaves your hair sweetly fragrant. It is antiseptic—yet has no "antiseptic" odor. Try Fitch today!

FOR DANDRUFF . . . ask for and use Fitch's Dandruff Remover Shampoo . . . the only shampoo made whose guarantee to remove dandruff with first application is backed by one of world's largest insurance firms. At drug counters . . . at barber and beauty shops.

MEN! my shave creams contain special SKIN CONDITIONER

Developed especially for super-sensitive faces . . . FITCH'S SKIN CONDITIONER brings "solid comfort" shaves to men who have "tried everything"

This great Fitch's No-Brush Cream with its soothing lubricating effect, prepares even the most sensitive face for a "solid comfort" shave. When Fitch's No-Brush is applied with the wet fingers, it spreads easily, and this special SKIN CONDITIONER begins acting immediately . . . When you start shaving, you'll actually feel the difference. For even against the grain, the razor glides along, giving you a closer, cooler shave. Then—there's the added fact that with Fitch's No-Brush you never need an after-shaving lotion . . . its ingredients are right in the shaving cream.

BRUSH USERS! Ask for Fitch's Brush Shaving Cream. It also contains this special "skin conditioner" and gives an abundance of lather.

OH, REALLY? WELL, TRISHA- I'M LEAVING TOMORROW MORNING- YOU'LL BE AT THE AIRPORT TO SEE ME OFF, WON'T YOU?
YOU BET, ANDY- AND FROM THEN ON, WHEREVER JON GOES, I GO-
THAT'S THE SPIRIT, TRISH- PARDON ME FOR A WHILE, WILL YOU? I'VE GOT TO PACK-- TRISHA DOESN'T KNOW IT, BUT SHE'S GOING EAST, TOO-- SURE IS A JOB- PACKING A WOMAN'S SUITCASE- HUH!!
AT THE AIRPORT NEXT MORNING-
I'M AFRAID IT'S GOOD-BY, ANDY-
GOOD-BY, MY EYE! YOU'RE COMING WITH US-- YOU SAID WHEREVER JON GOES, YOU GO-
-AND HE'S GOING HOME- WITH A MEDICAL DISCHARGE !!!

HELLO, MRS. RIPPLE? THIS IS MRS. BUDGET—NEXT DOOR! WOULD YOU MIND TURNING YOUR RADIO A BIT LOWER?
—MY HUSBAND SIMPLY CAN'T STAND THOSE MODERN SWING BANDS!

Miriam Audette of Glens Falls, New York, engaged to Ordnance Officer Frank L. Havel of St. Louis . . . They met at the Admirals' Club last October, and became engaged in March

POND'S
COLD CREAM
Cleansing

She's Engaged! She's Lovely! She uses Pond's

SKIPPER at the American Airlines Admirals' Club—Miriam as a charming hostess helped club members and their families "grounded" by priorities waiting between planes at New York's LaGuardia Field. War-workers like Miriam are needed in transportation, offices, stores. Consult local U. S. Employment Service to find where you can serve.

Miriam's exquisite skin has a flower-smooth texture—a dewy-soft freshness

MIRIAM'S complexion makes you think of a Romney portrait—her skin has such soft delicacy. She's another bride-to-be with that soft-smooth "Pond's look."

"I really do adore Pond's Cold Cream," she says. "It makes your face feel gorgeously clean and soft."

Miriam smooths on Pond's luscious Cold Cream and pats all over her face and throat to soften and remove dirt and make-up. Tissues off.

She rinses with more soft-smooth Pond's—sending her white-covered finger tips over her face in little whirls. Tissues off again. "It's this double creaming that makes my face feel extra special—so beautifully clean and soft," she says.

Use Pond's Cold Cream Miriam's way—every night and morning, for in-between clean-ups, too. It's no accident so many more girls and women use Pond's than any other face cream at any price. Ask for the big, luxury jar—large sizes save glass. And, you'll like being able to dip the fingers of both your hands in the wide-topped big Pond's jar.

HER RING—a handsome 2½ carat diamond in an unusual platinum setting. Two small diamonds are set on either side of the center stone.

The Lady of Fashion's Diary

THE Lady of Fashion keeps a diary. It's about one-ninth as big as a postage stamp. Here are some of the entries just as the little lady set them down.

June 18—"I am in need of a closet in which to hang my extra clothes. Will ask some of the men to build me one."

June 22—"The Turk has promised to build me a closet just as soon as he can find some boards."

July 9—"The men are busy hunting frogs and I can't get my closet built."

Aug. 7—"The Turk says he'll build my closet when he finds some boards. I'm getting tired of promises."

Oct. 8—"Have almost given up hoping for a closet. The men are all busy getting in vegetables for the winter. O, dear."

Nov. 4—"Now the men are busy cutting firewood. I never will get that closet."

The Lady of Fashion happened to glance thru the kitchen window one day while she was drying luncheon dishes for the Cook. She saw Gogo go past with a large box on his back. Running to the porch she stopped the little chap. "Isn't that a wooden matchbox?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am," answered Gogo.

"Well, you can put it right down," said the little lady. "I want it for my closet."

"Ah say!" protested the Dunce, who followed Gogo with a bundle of burned matches on his shoulder. "That's for kindling."

"You can get another box for kindling," announced the Lady of Fashion. "I'm going to have that box."

"Ah jimminie fishhooks!" bellowed the Dunce. "If you take that box we won't be able to go fishin' this afternoon. The General said we could go fishin' if we gathered so much kindling."

"I don't care whether you go fishing or not," said the little lady, sharply. "I'm going to have that box for a clothes closet."

The Dunce let out a blast of protest that could have been heard for half a block. That brought the General to the porch, who said the Lady of Fashion should have the box. "And you can go fishing just the same," he told Gogo and the Dunce.

The next day the Turk and Old Soldier cut enough boards from the matchbox to build a closet for the Lady of Fashion and she was so pleased she set down this entry in her diary:

Nov. 5—"I have a wonderful closet, but it took an awful lot of nagging to get it."

Where Success May Hang on a Smile...ARE THEY CHOOSY ABOUT TOOTH PASTE?

While dancing is important, it's a "come hither" smile that puts across the hundreds of attractive girls on night club floor shows, movie lots and musical comedy stages. Pay may range pleasantly from $45 to $75 a week. Prime yearning: a "spot" in the show—accompanied by dreams of eventual stardom. Prime requisites: constant practice, good health, a smile that "sells" ability and personality, and a fine tooth paste to clean the teeth.

To many a girl a radiant, friendly smile has been the stepping-stone from obscurity to fame. Up from college campus, choruses and contests, extras and "bit" parts, come today's starlets. Standard contracts often pay from $60 to $100 a week. On the lot, early and eager, each hopes the camera will recommend her as a new personality "find", worthy of a "meaty" role and ultimate full-fledged stardom.

Even the loveliest face is enhanced by a lovely smile! Favorite models of famous illustrators whose work you see in the magazines look beautiful in any kind of a costume . . . can register in any arrested emotion the artist demands. Their faces must make the written word come to life. Pay may run from $5 to $10 an hour. Many study drama, aspire to stage and films—or marry the artist. Takes endurance to hold the pose, a winning smile to stay in demand!

Once again a gracious smile is the most effective asset of the restaurant hostess. She's her company's official greeting committee of one! That smile of welcome, her cordial manners and well-groomed cleanliness set a cheerful mood for the guests and a good example for waitresses she supervises. Generally of high intelligence, many go on to executive positions. No wonder they're choosy about their dentifrice.

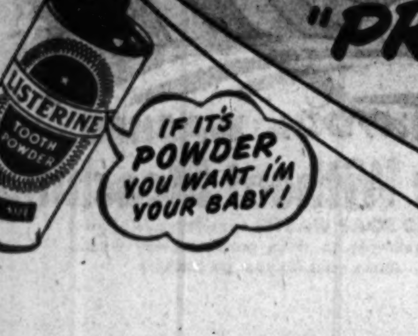
"PRESCRIPTION FOR YOUR TEETH!"



LISTERINE TOOTH POWDER
IF IT'S POWDER, YOU WANT I'M YOUR BABY!

Your smile often makes friends for you, unlocks hearts, helps you up the ladder of happiness and success. The secret so often is . . . nice teeth.

Isn't it just common sense to give your teeth special care every day? Remember, all dentifrices are not alike, so why not change now to Listerine Tooth Paste? This cleansing "prescription for your teeth" is specially created to get after many of those tiny, "pin-point" cracks in enamel . . . the very danger zones where so much beauty-robbing decay may begin . . . more than 75%, some authorities say. See how this "prescription" helps bring out the natural flash, brilliance and luster of enamel . . . what a wonderful wake-up sensation it gives your mouth!

WATCH STATE HOUSE RACES IN FIVE DISTRICTS

No Contest in 2 N. Side Areas.

BY LEE SHASSERE.

After weeks of intensive activity in the political arena, Illinois house of representative and state senate nominees in the Chicago area's north senatorial districts are winding up their campaigns with last minute appeals to voters.

Each district will elect three candidates to the Illinois house. Lively contests are featured in the 1st, 6th, 25th, 29th, and 31st districts, but there are none in the 7th and 8th.

State senators will be elected in the 6th and 8th as this is the year when even numbered senatorial districts chose members of the upper house. In addition, a state senator will be elected in the 31st to fill the vacancy created by the death of Sen. Milton D. Smith [D.].

Following is news of the Republican and Democratic candidates who are seeking election in each of the districts next Tuesday:

1ST DISTRICT

Dr. Edward A. Welters, 3116 Lake Park av., a former dentist, who is now in the tooth paste manufacturing business, won the single Republican nomination for the house of representatives last April. He defeated Rep. Ernest A. Greene [R.] of 3135 South Park way, a lawyer, now finishing his fourth consecutive term. After failing in an attempt to have the ballots recounted, Rep. Greene filed as an independent candidate.

The two Democratic candidates are Rep. Daniel M. Flanigan, 120 E. Cermak rd., a clerk in the Court of Domestic Relations, and Rep. Corneal A. Davis, 3223 Calumet av., an employe in the city clerk's office. Rep. Flanigan has been in the house of representatives since 1938. Rep. Davis is finishing his first term.

6TH DISTRICT

The house of representatives and state senate contests vie for interest in this district. Republicans hold two of the three representative seats, as well as the senate position, and are out to retain their superiority next Tuesday.

State Sen. William G. Knox, 1615 Chase av., the Republican nominee who is seeking reëlection, is the author of several bills promoting veterans' benefits and honest elections which were passed in the Illinois legislature last year. In campaign talks, Sen. Knox told voters that he was standing on his record which, he said, should earn him reëlection.

Ending First Term.

Sen. Knox, who is ending his first upper house term, is a metal manufacturer, and is past commander of Rogers Park American Legion post.

His Democratic opponent is Jerome Huppert, 1937 Farwell av., chief clerk in the Chicago park district's finance department. Huppert was named to fill the vacancy on the Democratic ticket caused by the death of Louis Rixmann, who had been nominated to make the senate race.

Keen rivalry has been the keynote in the house of representative contest in the 6th district where two Republicans and two Democrats are fighting it out for the three house seats.

Attorneys on G. O. P. Ticket.

Atty. Russell Arrington, 137 Custer av., Evanston, and Rep. Stanley C. Armstrong, 1918 Henderson st., also an attorney are the G. O. P. nominees who are facing Rep. Charles H. Weber, 2922 Southport av., and George H. Smith, 2200 Carmen av., the Democratic nominees. Weber is 45th ward Democratic committeeman. Smith, who served in the Illinois house from 1936 to 1940, is superintendent of construction for the Cook county forest preserve district.

Arrington replaced Rep. Alan E. Ashcraft Jr., who was nominated by the Republicans in the 6th, but who withdrew from the race after being appointed a Circuit court master in chancery last summer.

7TH DISTRICT

This district is without a house contest as two Republicans and one Democrat were nominated in April. This action made their nominations equivalent to election. Republicans are Rep. Bernice T. Van der Vries of Winnetka, and Rep. Frederick A. Virkus, La Grange. Rep. Emmett McGrath of Brookfield, is the Democratic nominee.

8TH DISTRICT

Absence of a house contest in this Republican stronghold finds interest centered about the state senate race altho G. O. P. leaders foresee little opposition from the Democratic nominee. Republican nominees who will be reëlected to the house of representatives are Rep. Nick Keller of Waukegan, and Rep. Harold D. Kelsey of Barrington. Democrats will return Rep. Thomas A. Bolger of McHenry.

State Sen. Ray Paddock [R.] of Round Lake, who has been in the upper house since 1928, is a candidate for reëlection. He is opposed by Charles F. Hayes [D.] a retired railroad conductor.

25TH DISTRICT

Keen rivalry marks the contest for the three house of representative seats now held by two Democrats and one Republican. The G. O. P. has nominated Rep. Elroy C. Sand-

UNITED AIR LINES

At a recent benefit sponsored by the young woman's auxiliary of the Evanston Woman's club, costumes suitable for a coast to coast flight were modeled by auxiliary and club members, and a discussion of post-war commercial aviation was given by Helen Olson, 1473 Rascher av., United Air Lines representative. Air line stewardesses welcomed members and guests and served a dessert luncheon. A book review was given by Mrs. Milton Youngren, Glencoe. Here Stewardess Katherine Guerin pours tea as Stewardess Lou Griffiths serves cake to Mrs. John A. Dienner Jr. (standing at left) of Evanston and Mrs. W. H. Karnebogen, a member of the community service committee which sponsored the benefit.

Practicality and elimination of excess weight should be considered in choosing clothes for air travel, Miss Olson emphasized. Here Mrs. R. M. Schwering of Evanston models a brown gabardine slack suit suitable for wear during a plane trip. The green wool suit and fur top coat shown by Mrs. R. L. Wescott, club member, was suggested as an arrival costume.

Mrs. George Schaffer (left), Evanston, and Mrs. Edwin Benson Jr., Winnetka, were among the young matrons who attended the benefit.

Church Marks Its Centennial in Waukegan

BY GENEVIEVE FLAVIN.

They crossed the prairies on horseback and in ox carts, or came down the lake in canoes and flat bottomed boats to attend mass at the log cabin church at Little Fort, as Waukegan was called in the early 1800s. The chapel, a forerunner of the present Church of the Immaculate Conception, then had 25 or 30 parishioners, and was served by clerics from the bishopric at Vincennes, Ind.

Since that time, the parish of the Immaculate Conception, known as St. Bernard's until 1864, has linked its history closely with that of the suburb. Today, celebrating 100 years of service and growth, communicants will participate in an anniversary mass at 11:15 a. m. Archbishop Stritch will preside. Celebrant will be the Rev. Francis J. Shea, pastor, with the Rev. Joseph A. Garrity, pastor of St. Anastasia church, Waukegan, as deacon, and the Rev. Anthony J. Gaughan, assistant pastor of Immaculate Conception church, subdeacon. Numbering 2,500 parishioners Immaculate Conception is the mother church of the 18 other parishes, and 20 parochial schools in Lake county.

Settled in 17th Century.

Tho the history of the white man settling in Waukegan and Catholic teaching in the settlement is believed to date back to the late 17th century, it is known that Father St. Cyr, founder of St. Mary's—first Catholic church in Chicago—built the log chapel in 1833. It was not, however, until the appointment of William Quarter as the first bishop of Chicago that the Waukegan parish was established.

On June 13, 1844, Michael Dulanty sold two lots at the northwest corner of County and Waters sts. to the new parish. Here the first church building was erected and stood until 1929.

Bishop Quarter recorded in his diary Nov. 29, 1844, "Rev. Bernard McGorish left for Little Fort, probably to remain as pastor." Father McGarish was replaced in 1845 by the Rev. John Brady, and in October of the same year Bishop Quarter presided at the first confirmation at which 56 persons received the sacrament.

Church Built in 1847.

In 1846 a notice appeared in the Porcupine, the village newspaper, that the Catholics of the district were planning to erect a church. The edifice, 34 by 70 feet, was opened for services Easter Sunday, 1847.

The first permanent rectory was built in 1850, and the first parish school was started by the Rev. Henry Coyle in 1857. Waukegan was then a bigger shipping port than its neighbor, Chicago. Farmers from Illinois and Wisconsin brought their grain to Little Fort for shipment to Buffalo, N. Y., and the eastern seaboard.

Immaculate Conception school, opened in 1857, was enlarged by the next pastor, the Rev. Michael Donohue. Then in 1871, the pastorate of the Immaculate Conception was taken over by the Rev. Edward A. Gavin, who remained as pastor 55 years. On Easter Sunday, 1926, Father Shea was named pastor.

Under the leadership of Father Shea, the present church at Grand and West sts. was erected, and the first mass was said in the new church on the feast of the Immaculate Conception, Dec. 8, 1929.

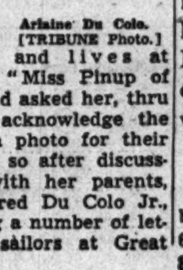
GREAT LAKES SAILORS VOTE LAKE VIEW MISS THEIR COMPANY PINUP

If a picture were worth a thousand words to the ancient Chinese, then a picture of a pretty girl—with personality plus a smile—is worth at least a pinup title, decided Great Lakes sailors after seeing a photo of Arlaine Du Colo in the Oct. 15 Metropolitan section of THE TRIBUNE.



Arlaine Du Colo.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

So 104 seamen of company 1835 named Miss Du Colo, who is 16 and lives at 3655 Janssen av., "Miss Pinup of Company 1835" and asked her, thru THE TRIBUNE, to acknowledge the title by sending a photo for their barracks. She did so after discussing the matter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Du Colo Jr., and after receiving a number of letters from other sailors at Great Lakes.

Your Congressman

(An Editorial.)

Voters of the north side's 9th congressional district will best serve their own interests and the interests of their country by voting a "double Dewey" next Tuesday—Thomas E. Dewey for President and Charles S. Dewey for representative. These are the Republican candidates. They stand for liberty and opportunity at home and for the maintenance of their country's deserved place in world affairs as the controling power over enemies and among allies.

Rep. Dewey, who has represented the district for two terms, is a man so preëminently able and respected that his opposition has been reduced to blind and impotent attacks upon an unassailable record. The character of those who oppose him does him credit. The opposition consists of the city hall statesman and clairvoyant, Boss Kelly, who predicts the war will be over in three days if Roosevelt gets the fourth term and that Roosevelt then will become "President of the World"; and of Sidney Hillman's political action committee and the communist tail of that sputtering comet. Mr. Dewey's nominal opponent, A. J. Resa, a Kelly pay roll lawyer, is of no account.

The Kelly-PAC combine has been circling around Mr. Dewey all thru this campaign without finding a vulnerable point of attack. They know that Mr. Dewey's stake in the war is supported by two sons and two sons-in-law in service. They know that the congressman, a cousin of Adm. George Dewey, the hero of Manila Bay in '98, commanded a gun turret on the battleship Mississippi in the first World war.

They know Mr. Dewey to be the admitted expert of the house on matters of finance, a hard working member of the important ways and means and banking and currency committees. They know that prior to entering congress he rendered such outstanding service to the treasury department that he was appointed financial adviser to the Polish government and director of the Bank of Poland. They know the first price control act was written in his house in Washington. They know that the house sent him as its observer to the Bretton Woods world monetary conference and that the plan he submitted as an alternative to the flapdoodle concocted there will save this country from being taken on a global buggy ride.

So what can they say or do against him? Nothing but offer a nonentity cleared with Sidney.

Voters of the north shore's 10th district have a choice equally clear. Rep. Ralph E. Church, who has served the district in congress for eight years, who served eight terms before that in the Illinois legislature, and who has two sons in the navy, is the Republican candidate. Opposing him with PAC blessings is a professor named Curtiss MacDougall, who has also been cleared with Sidney. He has a slight pink glow by the light of the moon.

Mr. Church's services in preparing the country for war during his six years as a member of the house naval affairs committee were achieved in the pre-war years, when they counted. He brought about the reopening of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, he was instrumental in the navy's acquisition of the Glenview air training center, and he was a leader in the fight to establish American air supremacy. In eight years in congress he has never missed a roll call or a vote. The 10th district can safely spare itself a rescue at the hands of Mr. MacDougall, the headless horseman of Sidney Hillman. Its interests and the country's work are in safe hands with Mr. Church.

CHARLES DEWEY DONS GLOVES IN FIGHT WITH PAC

Answers Charges; Hurls Them Back.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

In fighting speeches during the last week Congressman Charles S. Dewey of the 9th district, who is a candidate for reëlection, blasted the smear campaign waged against him by the communist dominated CIO political action committee and its satellite organizations.

Brushing thru the heckling of Communists in small numbers, who invaded one of his biggest meetings in an attempt to create disorder, Dewey took up in detail some of the charges made in broad outline against his candidacy by the so-called Independent Voters of Illinois, which he declared was a fake front for Sidney Hillman and the PAC.

Relates Service Record.

The congressman was particularly incensed over assertions that he had not done his utmost for an early end to the war and complete victory.

"Let me recall that in the first World war I served in the navy for 22 months," he told a capacity audience of 600 in the Belmont hotel Thursday evening. "I do not like to bring my family into this, but let me say this to those who falsely accuse me of being slow to become aware of the war:

"In June of 1940, 18 months before the United States became a belligerent, my son Peter, with my approval, enlisted in the Polish foreign legion and fought the Nazis on French soil. When French resistance ceased he escaped by way of Spain and Portugal.

Son in France Again.

"That son of mine is now an American paratrooper fighting again in France. I have another son fighting in Burma and two sons-in-law who are in the navy. Yes these elements are decrying my awareness of the war. Contrast the record with that of my Democratic opponent. He did not serve in the first World war, altho he is younger than I am.

"Perhaps he was barred for physical reasons. Well, I had only 10 per cent vision in one eye but I got by the examiners. The Democratic nominee has no sons in this war; he is a bachelor."

Tells Price Control Stand.

Dewey, regarded as one of the most able financial experts in congress, reviewed his actions and votes on lend-lease, OPA, and the Bretton Woods conference. He was one of the committee that drew up the original price control bill, but voted against it only because it was amended out of all semblance to the original.

He opposed lend-lease at first because it gave the executive too much power; he said that he would not have delegated such power to any President. He said that he had since voted to authorize many billions for foreign aid. He added that the government's Export-Import bank offered a tried and proven method of assistance to the world without the delays inherent in the Bretton Woods plan.

Dewey called his speech "a report to the 9th district on what I have been doing" and warned his constituents that if the country stays Democratic such reports in the future would come to them thru Sidney Hillman of the PAC.

At the Belmont hotel meeting, four Communists—three men and a woman—were expelled when they shouted that Dewey had to answer a series of questions of the "have you quit beating your wife" type that they had written in advance. The audience, which resented the attempt to ruin the meeting, cheered when the disturbing elements were escorted out.

Was Adviser to Poland.

Congressman Dewey was undersecretary of the treasury under the Coolidge administration and was later financial adviser to the Polish government. His opponent, Alexander J. Resa, is an assistant corporation counsel and was picked by Mayor Kelly to make the race. He has never held any elective office and is inexperienced in finance.

In another north side district, the 10th, Republican Congressman Ralph E. Church has been the target of an intensive smear that has been growing as election day nears. His opponent, Curtis D. MacDougall, professor of journalism at Northwestern university, has been describing Church as "obstructionist" and "isolationist"—among the much used cant words of the Communist fellow traveler movement.

Calls MacDougall PAC Choice.

Church has charged that the MacDougall campaign has the financial as well as verbal help of the Communist dominated CIO-PAC, and that the Democratic nominee is the Kelly machine choice as well.

MacDougall has admitted being a member of the Union for Democratic Action, which he depicts as merely a liberal group working within the framework of government—an opinion at variance with that of the house committee on un-American activities, which reported that the UDA leadership wanted a congress "that would not interfere with its schemes for social revolution." He denies money help from PAC.

Talks Browder Language.

"My opponent denies being a Communist," said Church, "but I do not believe he has ever said a word against communism. He de-

Batchelor will direct a chorus composed of Peirce and Trumbull PTA mothers. Pupils' work will be on display in classrooms preceding the meeting.

LeMoyne—A buffet luncheon will be sponsored by the LeMoyne PTA at 12:15 p. m. Wednesday at 75 E. Wacker dr. with Mrs. Sam Duxler, 616 Waveland av., in charge. Proceeds will be used to enlarge the school library. The group will attend a radio program, "The Milk Foundation House Party."

Making a tablecloth for the library is another PTA project. A square of the cloth is sold to each member who then embroiders her name on it. Mrs. Albert J. Cohn, 626 Waveland av., is in charge. Mrs. A. M. Hurwood, president, announces that the date of the board meeting has been changed to 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Jamieson—Sewing classes for the Jamieson PTA will be held from 1 to 3 p. m. tomorrow, Nov. 13, and Nov. 20 with an instructor furnished by the Commonwealth Edison company. Mrs. R. E. Koerting, homemaking chairman, has made arrangements. A rummage sale will be held from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Thursday in the Green Briar fieldhouse, Peterson and Washtenaw avs.

Lake View—Dr. Ernest Schwarz, founder and director of the Pan American forum of the Central Y. M. C. A. college, will speak on "Good Neighbor Policy and Latin America" before the Lake View PTA at 8 p. m. Thursday. The high school band will play and a reception for parents will be held at 7 p. m.

Blaine—Articles made by members for the Blaine PTA bazar Dec. 1 will be on display at 1:30 p. m. Friday. Catherine Adamson, children's librarian at Hild library, will speak on "Good Books, the Ideal Gift for Christmas," and Mrs. Erwin Goerlitz will read the Blaine PTA monthly news letter. Mrs. Harry Berg will be hostess during the social hour.

Jahn—Jahn PTA members will hear Mrs. L. A. Berghouse, Red Cross worker, discuss "Red Cross Services to the Armed Forces" Thursday in the school auditorium. Patricia O'Hara, school librarian, will direct pupils in a playlet in observance of book week.

Agassiz—Fathers' night will be observed by the Agassiz PTA at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday with Warden Frank Sain of the Cook county jail and Mrs. Charles R. Holton, president of the Chicago Better Films council, as speakers.

Amundsen—A discussion by Mrs. Anne R. Heisler of careers, a subject open to junior and senior pupils of Amundsen High school, will be heard by the PTA at 1:15 p. m. Thursday. McPherson PTA members will be guests. A social hour will follow the talk.

McPherson—Mrs. Anna Mullin, a former Chicago public school teacher, and Mrs. John Hoeger, great-grandmothers of Gail Neidecker, a McPherson pupil, will be guests of the PTA at 1:15 p. m. tomorrow. Ruth J. Williams will give a homemaking demonstration, and an open discussion on juvenile protection will be held.

Senn—Faculty members will be tea guests of the Senn PTA after its meeting at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday. Kathleen Cameron will direct the Girls' Glee club in a group of songs. Mrs. H. M. Losch, president, will preside.

Deerfield Stagers Open New Season

Play This Week

Kenneth Hunter.

The Deerfield Stagers will open their ninth season Friday and Saturday with performances of "The Late Christopher Bean," to be presented in the Deerfield Grammar school auditorium. The play, which has been in rehearsal for six weeks, is under the direction of Kenneth Hunter, who has directed the community group for most of the time it has been in existence.

Parts in the play will be taken by E. F. Nelson, Betty Mobbs, Helen Ross, Minnie Wecker, Terry Spahn, Robert Notz, Tom L. Yates, James Tibbetts, and Hubert Kelly.

The Stagers design and create their own sets for their plays, and give three two-night performances each season. James Russell is president of the group.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM SET FOR EVANSTON

The traditional Armistice day program in Fountain square, Evanston, will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday with members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, United Spanish War Veterans, Order of the Purple Heart, and the Canadian Legion participating. Comdr. Joseph Jans of the Evanston Legion post is in charge.

The Evanston Township High school band, the military corps, the girls' drill team, Boy Scouts, and Girl Scouts will take part. Mayor S. G. Ingraham will be on the reviewing stand.

The program will consist of band music, introduction of guests, the reading of names of men who were killed in World War I. and the present war, and a minute of silence at 11 o'clock. Taps will conclude the program.

A party with dancing and a floor show will be sponsored by the Legion at 8 p. m. in the Evanston Woman's club.

MUMS TO BRING CHEER IN EXHIBIT AT LINCOLN PARK

Mum is the word which will attract visitors to the 32d chrysanthemum show which opens Saturday at Lincoln park conservatory. The display continues thru Dec. 3.

More than 15,000 plants with half a million buds and blossoms will be on display. Garfield park conservatory also is staging an exhibit. More than 750 varieties will be represented at the two shows.

Have Special Exhibits.

The Lincoln park conservatory will show a waterfall winding thru a garden of chrysanthemums in one display and a fountain of cascading queen flowers in another.

Contrary to public belief the chrysanthemum is a native of China rather than Japan. It was known as early as 2300 and probably several centuries earlier.

Mum Introduced Early.

The chrysanthemum was introduced to the United States about 1800, and since 1860 a total of more than 2,000 varieties has been produced in this country.

The mum shows will be held daily, Sundays and holidays from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m., and the attendance is expected to exceed 275,000. The show is under direction of William C. Blessing, horticulturist of the Chicago park district, and Juston L. Ham, florist foreman, Lincoln Park conservatory.

Lake Shore Women.

The Lake Shore Woman's club will have a bridge luncheon at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Hostesses will include Mrs. John O'Neil, Mrs. S. N. Moe, Mrs. William R. Laws, and Mrs. A. J. Gaul.

CONG. C. S. DEWEY FRIEND INDEED OF THOSE IN NEED

Always Comes Thru for Folks Back Home.

BY LEWIS WILLIAMS.

A day in Washington means more than routine attendance of congressional sessions to Charles S. Dewey, Republican nominee for reëlection in the 9th district, his constituents have concluded.

It means research on bills pending before the house, it may mean work on a bill which he himself will introduce, and it definitely means helping one or more of his north side constituents who might wander aimlessly thru the maze of burocratic red tape without the guiding hand of a representative who knows whom to see and how.

Service Comes First.

Recognized as an authority on economic problems, Dewey has served the entire country in the house of representatives. In his office on capitol hill his first objective is service to the folks back home. Scores of north siders, Republicans and Democrats, will attest to Dewey's effectiveness in the latter role.

Altho many of the votes which sent him to congress two years ago came from the lake shore, Dewey has been of equal aid to all who have sought his assistance.

He has been cited by Thomas J. Haggerty, secretary-treasurer of local 753 of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union. When the ODT issued an order to cut milk deliveries Peter Hoban, vice president of the union, went to Washington to plead the case of drivers who would be thrown out of work by the order. He was directed before a hearing by Rep. Dewey.

Unionist Praises Dewey.

Haggerty wrote the congressman: "Please accept our sincere gratitude and appreciation for the time spent with and the courtesies extended to our union officers during their stay in Washington."

Benjamin Pohn, 3172 Sheridan rd., is one of Dewey's most ardent supporters on the north side. "He convinced me," the War I. veteran said, "with the way he handled my request for aid." Thru no fault of his own, Pohn had allowed his national service life insurance policy, carried since the last war, to lapse. He was informed by the veterans' administration that the only way he could pick up the $10,000 policy would be thru another physical.

Democratic Solon Fails.

Thru a mutual friend Pohn enlisted the services of Sen. Thomas [D., Okla.]. After several weeks, distinguished only by their lack of success, Pohn sought Dewey's aid. "In seven days he had my policy reinstated," Pohn declared.

Codfish tins are unimportant to many, but to P. V. Bright, 664 N. Wells st., they mean a livelihood. Accordingly, when he found he could get no tin for his packing process he enlisted Dewey's aid. The congressman found a supply of tin cut to size for codfish packing and fit for no other use. The tin was tied up but Dewey obtained clearance and Bright went back to packing codfish.

"Our district never has had so fine a congressman," Bright said. "It would be a shame to send a machine man to Washington whose only obligation would be to the city hall and the New Deal.

He Gets Results.

Practically no bureau in Washington has escaped the relentless Dewey appeals. A north side feed manufacturer was out of corn and there was none to be had on the open market. He asked the congressman if there were a chance of getting some thru the Commodity Credit corporation. Dewey asked and was assured by the CCC that there was none. Later he learned that nine carloads were to be released in the midwest and demanded that his constituent get some.

Service cases are the most numerous on the Dewey docket and each gets prompt attention. A young mother whose allotment checks hadn't come thru for several months went to Dewey for advice. Keeping in constant contact with the office of dependency benefits in Newark, N. J., he was able to clear her checks after untangling a maze of red tape.

Solutions to problems rarely come easy for the congressman. One ex-service man lost his mustering out check and Dewey made arrangements to have another one mailed. Checking to see if it had been, he discovered that the veteran had never received the second allotment.

A further check showed that the check had been mailed to a man of the same name at a different address who also had retirement pay coming. Weeks of effort finally were successful.

One north sider who had heeded the advice of a friend to "see your congressman only as a last resort; he'll really tangle it up," went to see Dewey and his congressman soon came up with the solution that had eluded others for weeks.

North and Northwest Side Congressional Districts

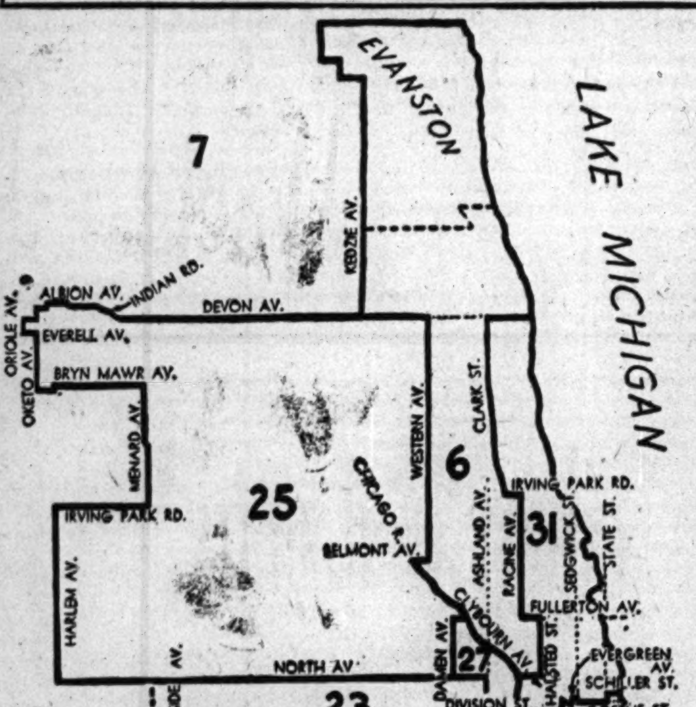
North Side Legislative Districts



Outlined are boundaries of legislative districts on the north and northwest sides which will elect representatives to the state assembly Tuesday. The 7th district includes all townships in Cook county outside Chicago not in the 6th, 19th, or 23d districts. Lake, McHenry, and Boone counties compose the 8th district, and Kane and Kendall counties make up the 14th. The loop is in the 1st district.

nies being financed by the Hillman-Browder PAC, which has endorsed him, but he talks the Hillman-Browder language. His attacks on me as a 'friend of American Fascists' mean nothing. I have never associated with any such people. I stand on a platform of real Americanism of the kind the 10th district approves."

Pointing to his record, Church said he had voted for lend-lease, for allocation of funds to UNRRA, for the Fulbright resolution, and for reciprocal trade agreements. He also voted, he said, for social security, price control, and anti-inflation measures.

Pushed Great Lakes Station.

He recalled that he helped to get Great Lakes naval station reopened in 1935, when he was a member of the house committee on naval affairs; also that he took the lead in having the government buy and expand the Glenview air field. He pioneered in urging the United States to gain supremacy in air power and plane manufacturing.

The 10th district includes all of Lake county, the northern suburbs in Cook county and a large part of Chicago. It gave the Republicans a majority of 73,000 in 1940.

4 NORTH SIDERS WIN AIR MEDALS POSTHUMOUSLY

Posthumous awards for heroism in action and for distinguished service were presented recently to relatives of four north side fighters reported killed or missing in action. Hans T. Raschke, 3651 N. Claremont av., accepted the air medal and oak leaf cluster awarded his son, 2d Lt. Gordon L. Raschke, who was killed while flying over Europe.

The air medal and three clusters were given to the father of Staff Sgt. Fred S. Wagner, 1437 Granville av. A prisoner of war, Wagner had completed 20 combat missions over Europe. The father of Lt. Fred A. Hicks, Winnetka, received the air medal and one cluster for his son killed in action.

The air medal was given to the parents of Lt. John K. Parshall Jr. in Wilmette. Missing in action, the lieutenant received the award for missions flown over Europe last February.

WATCH STATE HOUSE RACES IN FIVE DISTRICTS

No Contest in Two N. Side Areas.

quist, 4239 N. Whipple st., a war plant worker, now serving his fifth house term, and Alden J. Cowen, 4834 Addison st., secretary of the 38th ward regular Republican organization. Both Sandquist and Cowen are veterans of the first World war and are pledged to work for legislation which will benefit veterans of World War II.

Cowen is a former recreation director of the old northwest park system and vows that if elected he will vote to return the small parks to the people in their own districts.

The two Decocratic nominees, who are bidding for reëlection, are Rep. Stanley R. Kosinski, 5774 Lawrence av., real estate and insurance man, who has served two house terms, and Rep. Jacob A. Mueller, 4014 N. Leamington av., an auditor in the county treasurer's office.

29TH DISTRICT

Paul J. Randolph, 244 E. Pearson st., supervisor for a fuel oil company, and Samuel L. Workman, 900 N. Michigan av., former assistant state finance director, who resigned last year as 42d ward Republican committeeman, are the G. O. P. house nominees. Democratic house nominees are Rep. Edward P. O'Grady, 69 E. Cedar st., a real estate man, and Rep. Arthur J. Quinn, 629 N. Wells st., a merchant. O'Grady was elected state senator from the 29th in 1930, and state representative in 1934, a position he has held since then. Quinn is seeking his sixth house term.

31ST DISTRICT

Republicans are confident they will capture the state senate seat in this district, an office which the Democrats have controled for the last 14 years. Altho an odd numbered district, the senate contest is the result of a vacancy created by the death of Sen. Milton D. Smith [D.].

Rep. Edward P. Saltiel, now ending his fifth term in the Illinois legislature, is the Republican senate nominee. His Democratic opponent is Albert L. Schwartz, an attorney, who has been in the Chicago corporation counsel's office for nine years. Saltiel, also an attorney, is staking his chances for victory on his past legislative record which includes sponsorship of a law requiring a pre-marriage medical examination for venereal disease, and the prenatal examination law which was designed to prevent birth of children with syphilis.

Four Seek Three Seats.

The house of representative contest finds the Republican nominees, Rep. George A. Williston, 1245 Early av., and Atty. George Walter Johnson, 5419 N. Glenwood av., pitted against Rep. Pierce L. Shannon, 915 Buena av., and William J. Mullaley, 415 Fullerton pkwy., the Democratic candidates.

Williston is Republican committeeman of the 49th ward, and served that ward as alderman from 1930 to 1935. He now is ending his fifth house term. He is in the insurance and bond business.

EIGHT PRECINCTS ON N. SIDE WILL VOTE ON LIQUOR

Voters in eight precincts from wards 47, 48, and 50 will ballot on prohibiting the sale of alcoholic liquor when they go to the polls Tuesday.

"The liquor prohibition proposition will be given voters along with the large ballot containing the names of candidates for national, state, and county offices, and ballots for Municipal court judges, amendments to the Municipal court act, and for a $3 million bond issue for new street lights.

The prohibition ballot will be placed before voters of precincts 28, 29, 30, 31, and 32 in ward 47, precinct 18 in ward 48, and precinct 43 in ward 50 as the territories were bounded for the general election Nov. 8, 1932. Present boundaries incorporate part of precincts 31 and 32 in ward 47 within precinct 86 of the same ward.

Total Vote Decides Question.

The petition for the local option in precincts 28, 29, and 30 of ward 47 was filed as one, and the combined vote of the three precincts will decide the question.

The propositions resulted from action taken by residents when operators attempted to open taverns and liquor stores in the home areas. The protest movement was organized by the Rev. W. T. Wickstrom, pastor of Bethany Methodist church, 1617 Winnemac av., and has received support of the Church Federation of Edgewater, Summerdale, and Ravenswood.

Church Group Asks Action.

Petitions for local option were initiated last August when a group of parents and home owners gathered at Bethany church and asked the Rev. Mr. Wickstrom to organize opposition. Action came shortly after it was learned a vacant building at Ainslie st. and Ashland av. was considered as a liquor store.

The Rev. Mr. Wickstrom said previous attempts have been made to open taverns on Winnemac av., another residential street, but protests of home owners so far have been successful. He said the number of liquor stores is increasing in the area, spilling over from Clark st. and Foster av., two boundaries of the territory where residents have registered complaints. He estimated that there are approximately 18 taverns and stores on these streets.

GROUP MEETING TO HONOR LATE SPALDING HEAD

The next meeting of the Willing Helpers for Crippled Children at 1 p. m. Wednesday in the Spalding school, 1628 Washington blvd., will be a memorial to Jane Neil, first principal of Spalding school.

Miss Mary Sharkey, Spalding school alumna, will discuss the activities of the alumni camp at Brown's lake, Wis., and Norman Olsen, also an alumnus, will sing. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Bert Hites, ways and means chairman, has announced a party Nov. 14 at the Food Research institute, 14 E. Jackson blvd. The program will include a food demonstration in the morning, followed by luncheon and games.

Central Eleanor Club to Hear Story of Cruise

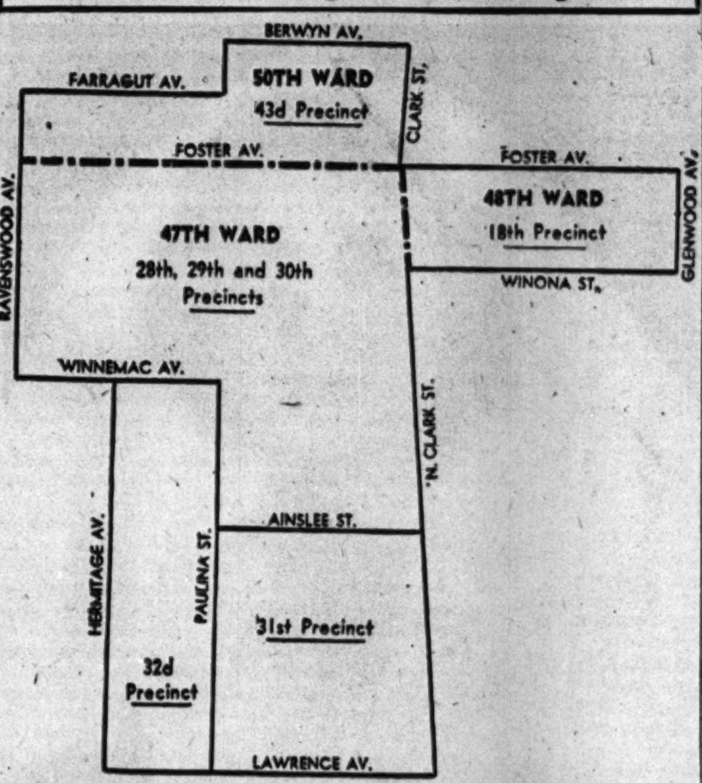
Precincts Voting on Local Option



Proposals to halt the sale of liquor will face voters at the polls Tuesday in seven precincts from three north side wards as the boundaries existed at the time of the Nov. 8, 1932, general election. Precincts 28, 29, and 30 in ward 47 will have a combined vote on the local option question as one petition was filed for them.

40 NORTH SIDERS TO HELP ASSURE CLEAN ELECTION

They'll Join Watch at Polls Tuesday.

The Joint Civic Committee on Elections, 105 S. La Salle st., has added 40 north side residents to its list of citizens who will serve as voluntary poll watchers on election day.

In a drive to eliminate vote frauds the committee has sought to enlist 5,000 citizen observers to man Chicago's 4,000 polling places. The watchers will serve in three shifts, beginning at 5:45 a. m. and ending when all ballots are counted and tabulated. They will receive instruction in detection of fraudulent voting. In polls requiring special attention, the shift of watchers will be doubled.

List New Workers.

Latest additions to the list of watchers include: Dolores L. Handleman, 2930 Pine Grove av.; George B. Bogart, 320 Melrose st.; Eleanor F. Dabrohua, Winnetka; Claude J. Smith, Evanston; Mrs. R. W. BUSINESS MEN AND LAWYERS INDORSE CHURCH

Ralph E. Church, incumbent Republican congressman of the 10th Illinois district, has been indorsed by a committee of lawyers and business men, who asserted that his election by a large majority is necessary if the United States is not to be governed by the communist dominated CIO political action committee.

The congressman's opponent, Curtis D. MacDougall, was described by the committee as "in bed with Browder and Hillman." George I. Haight and Ira E. Westbrook are co-chairmen of the group. Some of the members are: Hamilton Allport, J. A. Amos, Horace Armstrong, Edwin C. Austin, Alexander F. Beaubien, Wm. R. Bohanna.

Dwight Bobb, Clarence W. Diver, Leo J. Doyle, John Fugard, Sidney Gorham Jr., James F. Greenebaum, Charles F. Grey, George I. Haight, Albert L. Hall, Millard B. Kennedy, D. W. Lewis, Herman C. Litchfield, William J. Marshall, Charles E. Mason.

Harold O. McLain, George S. McGaughey, Nelson A. Oser, Conrad Poppenhusen, Howard I. Potter, H. L. Raclin, Isaac S. Rothschild, Charles Rundall, Gerald C. Snyder, Cranston Spray, James F. Stiles Jr., O. G. St. Peter, Harold J. Tallett, Dean Lake Traxler, Wm. H. Wark.

H. L. Wessling, Ira E. Westbrook, Bradley Williams, Benjamin Wham, A. H. Woodward, C. S. Woolman, and Austin L. Wyman.

The endorsement said that Church on his record of many years of service in public life deserved reëlection no matter what "smear artists said about him."

PREDICT RECORD G.O.P. BALLOTING IN LAKE COUNTY

Demo's Red Usurpers Spur Tidal Wave.

Lake county, one of the banner Republican counties in Illinois, will elect again Tuesday, according to all indications, all Republican candidates for county offices by overwhelming majorities. Five offices are to be filled, but the Democrats have put up only three candidates.

John J. Spell'nan, chairman of the Republican county central committee, upon completion of his survey of the 103 precincts in the county predicted that the three opposed Republican candidates will triumph by better than two to one pluralities.

G. O. P. at Peak Strength.

"Republicanism is stronger this year than ever in Lake county," Mr. Spellman said. "The sentiment is opposed strongly to the Roosevelt-Hillman-Browder clique and the people of this county are going to demonstrate disapproval of all New Dealers by an avalanche of straight Republican votes."

Only one Democratic candidate has been elected to a Lake county office since the Civil war. That was in 1938, wher Russ Alford, Democratic county clerk nominee, won by a small majority. Four years later Alford was beaten decisively by Jay B. Morse, present county clerk.

Wilmot and Hall Unopposed.

The unopposed Republican candidatets are Circuit Clerk L. J. Wilmot, dean of the county office holders who are running this year, and State's Atty. Harry A. Hall, both of Waukegan. Wilmot has been clerk of the Circuit court since 1924, having been elected five times. Hall is seeking his second term. Neither had opposition in the primary last spring.

Wilmot is pres!dent of the Waukegan council of the Navy League of the United States. Hall is a former star football player at the University of Illinois, where he was quarter back during the years Red Grange ran wild on the gridiron.

The other Republican candidates are also incumbents. They are Howard L. Scott of Fox Lake, recorder of deeds; Robert J. Pearsall of Waukegan, county auditor, and Garfield R. Leaf of Waukegan, coroner.

Scott Named to Vacancy.

Scott was appointed by the Lake county board of supervisors to fill a vacancy in January, 1935. He then was elected in 1936 and again in 1940. He is a former postmaster of Fox Lake. Pearsall has held the office of county auditor for 12 years, having been elected in 1932, when the office was created in Lake county. Pearsall is a former city commissioner of Waukegan.

Leaf has been coroner since last May 11, holding the office by appointment. He was the Republican nominee in April and a month later was named coroner by a unanimous vote of the Lake county board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. John L. Taylor.

Only Three Democrats.

The Democratic candidates are Mrs. Isabelle E. Bellows of Waukegan, for recorder of deeds; Henry H. Doty of Highland Park, for county auditor, and Dr. Donald Cook of Lake Zurich, for coroner.

Dr. Cook was a Republican coroner candidate last spring, having been defeated by Coroner Leaf by a vote of 7,868 to •,338. In the primary the Democratic coroner nomination went to Dr. Peter J. Stanul of North Chicago, who was unopposed on this ticket. In June Dr. Stanul withdrew and Dr. Cook was named to replace him by the executive committee of the Democratic county central committee.

There were no Democratic primary candidates for state's attorney or clerk of the Circuit court, but there was an organized write-in for both offices. Atty. Joseph A. Jadrich of North Chicago and Jack H. Hoff, a Waukegan realtor, were nominated in this manner for state's attorney and clerk of the Circuit court, respectively.

Everyone just loves Uncle Elbert

he always gives such wonderful presents . . . and, of course, he gets them here!

Uncle Elbert loves to give people things that are fun. So he's giving Grandma a ouija board for Christmas. When he came to see us in our wonderful games section, he found not only ouija boards, but plump stuffed animals, fascinating games! He just couldn't tear himself away. So he took care of his entire Christmas list right there. Wise man, Uncle Elbert!

Games—Second Floor, Evanston

1. Dumbo whose wonderful big floppy ears endeared him to Uncle Elbert. This will go to niece Ann for her room at college. $7.95. Smaller size $2.95

2. Handigolf. Dad will love this nine-hole golf game that can be laid out in the house with books, pillows or footstools for hazards $2

3. White Board, with soap crayons. Uncle Elbert's little niece Lucy will have hours of fun with this and her mother will appreciate the fact that there is no chalk dust. $3.50

4. Mexican chair. Uncle Elbert fell in love with this and who can blame him? It's hand-painted and only 18 inches high—just the right size for his 3-year-old niece Mary Lou. $2.95

5. Shufflette. For Grandpa, who loved playing shuffleboard in Florida last winter and who won't be able to get South this year. Combines all the excitement and thrills of shuffleboard and is for indoor or outdoor play. $3.50

6. Chessmen. For Uncle Fred, the ardent chess fiend, these hand-carved chessmen from China. $6.50. Others from $2.25 to $30

7. Rally Round. For the whole family, Uncle Elbert got this wonderful gift. It's 50 games and puzzles on one playing field. Fun for adults and children. $2.95

8. Sorry. Combines chance with skill—exciting and everchanging situations. Uncle Elbert knows that Aunt Molly and her family will have lots of fun with this game. $1.50

9. Baseball Game. Uncle George and his boys never miss a baseball game and will they love this gift that will carry their favorite sport into the winter months An exciting game based on the principles of big league baseball. $5

10. Monopoly. The perennial favorite among games for the entire family. Uncle Elbert is giving it to his nephew Paul who always goes next door to use the neighbors' monopoly game. $2

11. Ouija board. The mysterious talking board that "answers" your questions by spelling out words or counting figures. Uncle Elbert knows that Grandma will love this. $2

LOYOLA SETS UP ARMY HOSPITAL IN PARIS, FRANCE

Huge Institution Throngs with Wounded Men.

Behind the announcement by the 108th Army General hospital, now established in the outskirts of Paris, France, is the story of one of the largest single hospital units of the war.

Sponsored by Loyola university, the hospital's personnel consists of doctors and dentists from schools of the university, nurses from Loyola affiliated hospitals, and enlisted men, many of whom are former Loyola university students.

The Loyola group is staffing a hospital 11 stories high, with the top floors devoted to operating rooms. It has the newest and best equipment, and is receiving blood plasma from the United States.

Floors Throng With Wounded.

Lt. Col. William J. Vynalek, Riverside, wrote from France that the medical unit started work at the Clichy location Sept. 1, with seven operating tables in use day and night. He told of floors and corridors thronging with hundreds of badly wounded Germans, and the filling of the hospital, which is as large as Cook county hospital, in 48 hours. He also reported 20 German injured to every American.

The German prisoners have been evacuated and the hospital now is being used for American soldiers only. Patients recuperate in pleasant surroundings—there are sun rooms and gardens—and entertainment is supplied by visiting stars of stage, screen, and radio.

When the Loyola unit first arrived overseas in October, 1943, it took up quarters at an estate in Sudbury, England. It remained there until May, 1944, when it moved to Llandudne, Wales.

Founded in 1918.

The history of the Loyola unit, known as the 108th army general hospital group, dates back to 1918 when it was sponsored by Mercy hospital. The outfit disbanded after the World War I., then was reorganized in 1924 at Loyola as a reserve officers unit. Reactivated shortly after Pearl Harbor, the contingent reported to Le Garde general hospital, New Orleans, La., Jan. 1, 1943.

Fifteen freight cars are needed to carry the beds, linens, medicines, and operating room equipment used by the group. Despite its large personnel, 346 French citizens have hired to help maintain the hospital.

The only unit privileged to wear its own distinctive badge, Loyola medical workers show the insignia of a rampant lion with the motto "Pro Deo et Patria" [For God and Country], done in maroon and gold, official colors of the university.

LAKE VIEW SONS FIGHT TWO WARS WITH ENGINEERS

War I. Vets to Greet War II. Kin.

In two world wars a large number of men from the Lake View community have fought with the 23d armored engineers. Three members of the battalion during World War I. are among the 200 Lake View men who are with the group now fighting in Belgium and Germany. When a recruiting drive was begun in March, 1942, in the community by veterans of the unit 800 men volunteered.

Families of these 800 volunteers will be Armistice day guests of the 23d Armored Engineers association at 7:45 p. m. Saturday in the Morrison hotel, when a program to help returning members of the unit reenter civil life will be discussed.

Will Plan for Jobs.

The program will emphasize postwar employment for all of the volunteers as well as other veterans. Information on employment qualifications and the type of employment desired already is being sent to the association's rehabilitation committee by men overseas.

Speakers at the meeting will be E. A. Hurme, president of the association; William Brayton, rehabilitation chairman and commander of the 23d Engineers American Legion post; Jay H. Brown, Legion national field secretary; Edwin H. Felt, administrative assistant of Illinois selective service; Mrs. John Shimkus, department president of the Legion auxiliary; C. D. Hostetler, training and education chief of the veterans' administration, and C. M. Wilson, chairman of the Legion's liaison committee for the present war.

Four Leaders Listed.

When Lake View veterans of World War I. visited the new engineers unit at Camp Polk, La., early in 1942, it was proposed that they recruit a special contingent from Lake View for the battalion. Leaders in the plan, which was aided by 10 north side draft boards, were four 1918 veterans who volunteered to return to their unit: Robert Stack, 2750 Mildred av.; Art Nielsen, 5060½ N. Winchester av.; Otto Kulleck, 1240 School st., and Thomas McManus, 3130 Clifton av.

All are overseas except Stack, who edits the 23d Engineers' News, an association publication, and is head of a north side draft board. Some men were rejected at Camp Grant, and when the group began training at Fort Knox, Ky., it numbered approximately 350.

McManus and Nielsen became company sergeants, and Kulleck was made battalion sergeant major. The unit was sent overseas last July. In England a number of men was transferred from the group, among them Lt. Bill Bockins, 2139 Belmont av., the first Lake View man to volunteer.

WOMEN VOTERS UNIT TO DISCUSS RECONVERSION

"Reconversion," with emphasis on related problems of labor and legislation, will be discussed when the North Side League of Women Voters holds an all day meeting Wednesday in the Indian Boundary fieldhouse, 2500 Lunt av. Mrs. Maurice A. Pollak, board member of the national league and former Illinois chairman of government and economic welfare, will speak in the afternoon.

Mrs. A. T. Mettger, 1741 Columbia av., chairman of economic welfare, will conduct the morning study group. Mrs. C. A. Fargo, 7381 N. Damen av., and Anne Sundlof, 1737 Columbia av., will be hostesses.

A study group on international relations will be directed by Ruth moore, 1406 Jonquil terr., Nov. 15.

JEWISH WOMEN TO DEPICT WAR WORK RECORD

The Edgewater auxiliary of B'nai B'rith will witness a tableau, "B'nai B'rith Women in War Work," at their meeting Wednesday evening at the Ravenswood Masonic temple.

The program, which is based upon patriotic activities of the group, will include the presentation of a certificate of merit from the Red Cross to Mrs. Gilbert Arenson. Completing 4,000 hours of work in her three years of service Mrs. Arenson has been the outstanding volunteer of the Edgewater auxiliary.

An American flag also will be presented to the group by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yawitt. Mrs. Michael Grossman is president of the auxiliary.

COLLEGE PLANS HOLIDAY BAZAR, GIFTS MARKET

Evanston School Fete Is Set for Nov. 16.

Entertainment for children and adults has been planned by alumnae and student organizations of the National College of Education, Evanston, for the traditional Christmas bazar and gifts market beginning at 10 a. m. Nov. 16 in the college.

Booth exhibits will consist of toys, dolls, novelties, candles, Christmas decorations, handwork, and a display of scarves and blankets made by weavers at Berea college, Berea, Ky. The white elephant booth, directed by eighth grade pupils of the children's school and their mothers, will offer an opportunity to exchange gym shoes, galoshes, and other such articles difficult to buy.

Book Review on Program.

Vera Bantz Ward will review the book "Time for Each Other" by Margaret Runbeck at 2:15 p. m. under auspices of the Mary Crane league. Juvenile and adult books will be exhibited and four north shore authors—Genevieve Foster, Rowena Bennett, Frances Cavanah, and Edith Lovejoy Pierce—will autograph their books.

The college dramatic club, directed by Nellie McCaslin, will present a one act play for children in the afternoon. The cast will include Jeanne Davis, 4947 N. Whipple st.; Margaret Morris, 2438 Estes av., and Arlaine Wolff, 6214 N. Claremont av.

A tearoom, the Christmas Tree Inn, will be operated during the afternoon by the Town Girls Mothers' association and at 5:30 p. m. a buffet dinner will be served in the cafeteria with the Parent-teacher council in charge.

List Bazar Assistants.

Mrs. David Vandercook, Evanston, is bazar chairman. Her assistants and the groups they represent are: Alfreda Chalberg, Evanston, and Martha Springer, Wilmette, National Alumnae association; Mrs. Edwin George, Evanston, and Pearl Rogman, Winnetka, North Shore alumnae; Mrs. George Theisen, Evanston, and Mrs. Donald Bergman, Kenilworth, Mary Crane league; Mrs. Jay Burns, Evanston, Town Girls Mothers' association.

Betty Jane Dahlstrom and Jeanne Fredenhagen, students; Ruth Gibson, Winnetka, art advisor; and Mrs. Robert Sutherland, Wilmette, and Mrs. George Kelly, Mrs. Robert Whitfield, and Mrs. Palmer Jones, all of Evanston, Parent-Teacher council. The white elephant committee is composed of Mrs. Clyde Heichel, 1372 Greenleaf av.; Mrs. Samuel Otis, Winnetka; Mrs. Hugh Triplett, Wilmette; Mrs. Fred Beach, Kenilworth, and Mrs. Raymond Thompson, 1401 Glenlake av.

This WEEK in the GARDEN

Monday, Nov. 6.

Mulch all perennials and newly planted trees and shrubs as soon as the ground freezes. If strawy manure is obtainable use it for it decays during the winter and adds fertilizer and humus to the soil.

Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Planning the garden is one of the activities that occupies the gardener during the winter months. All the materials needed are a pencil, eraser, ruler, and paper. A simple planting plan is all that is necessary, but by making a first rough sketch of all buildings, walks, and existing vegetation a general study of possible changes can be made.

Wednesday, Nov. 8.

One of the best methods of protecting climbing roses is to take the plants down and cover with soil. Frequently the wood ripens so late the plants freeze back considerably but if taken down and covered the wood remains plump and in the moist soil will not freeze and be injured. If they cannot be removed from the support, protect with cornstalks, straw, and other materials and tie up in burlap.

Thursday, Nov. 9.

Tulips can still be planted if available and the ground is not frozen. A thin frozen crust will not prevent planting bulbs. Paperwhite narcissi and Chinese sacred lilies should be planted about the middle of this month to bloom at Christmastide. If the ground is still workable, be sure to spade it and allow it to remain in the rough all winter.

Friday, Nov. 10.

Examine the rhododendrons and fall set evergreens and water again if necessary. Outdoor window boxes will look well if planted with small evergreens now. The nurseries usually have plants for such a purpose. But keep them well watered at all times or they will turn brown and appear unkempt. Spruce, hemlock, or aborvitae are satisfactory for the boxes.

Saturday, Nov. 11.

Watch the cacti that they are not overwatered for they rest during winter. If the room in which they are standing is kept at a high temperature they will need watering more frequently than when placed in a room with a low temperature.

MARK 70 YEARS OF GAMMA PHI WITH TEA AT N. U.

North shore alumnae and active members of Gamma Phi Beta will mark the sorority's 70th anniversary with a homecoming tea and reception at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Northwestern university chapter house. New members and former alumnae presidents will be special guests.

A founders' day service will be presented by active members under direction of Beverley Williams. David Penn Moreton, travel lecturer, will give an illustrated talk on Mexico. The group will sing sorority songs during the tea hour.

In the receiving line will be Mrs. William W. Heusner, alumnae president; Lea Hanson Shaffer, active chapter president, and Mrs. Douglas Stevens, Mrs. George Grant, Mrs. Charles Swann, and Mrs. Joseph Stefan. Mrs. Stuart K. Fox, Mrs. J. P. Bauer, and Edith Bannon compose the planning committee.

POST KOLLEGE KLUB TO HEAR FOUR LECTURES

Post-war problems of European countries will be the subject of a series of four lectures to be presented this month before the Post Kollege Klub of the First Methodist church, Evanston. William D. Clark, the first speaker, will discuss "British Imperialism in the Post-War World" at 7:45 p. m. today. Miss Renee Brevune will sing English and French songs.

A former instructor in the University of Chicago, Clark is assistant director of the British information services in Chicago. He is an alumnus of an English university, and toured British manufacturing centers in 1943.

Other lecturers will include Joseph Martinek, who will speak on Czechoslovakia; Alexander Wieslelewski, on Poland, and Mrs. Betty Barzin, on Belgium.

PLAN ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAMS AT N. SIDE HIGHS

Students of north side high schools will gather for Armistice day assemblies this week to hear members of the Speakers bureau of the American Legion. R. O. T. C. units will unite in the presentation of colors and the bugle corps will sound taps.

The drama class of Amundsen High school will recall the problems confronting the people during the period of 1914-'18 in a playlet entitled "Memories of World War I." at 2 p. m. Friday. Lake View High school students will witness a drill by all units of the Lake View R. O. T. C. at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the auditorium of the school. The Lake View band will play.

Three Assemblies at Senn.

Three assemblies are scheduled for Wednesday at Senn High school. The chorus of 300 boys and girls, together with the Senn High school band, will present a program of military airs. Cadet Col. Howard Kane of the Sullivan High school R. O. T. C. will speak at the student assembly at 9:30 a. m. Friday. The program also includes a speaker from the American Legion, music by the R. O. T. C. drum and bugle corps, and the Sullivan symphonic choir.

Members of the faculty will be on the speakers' list at the Waller High school Armistice day observance at 10 a. m. Friday in the school auditorium. The R. O. T. C. color guard and Waller band will participate.

Plan R. O. T. C. Awards.

Also scheduled for Friday are assemblies at Lane Technical High school and the Washburne Trade school. The Lane program features addresses by Elliodor M. Libonati of the American Legion and James Smith, principal. Special awards and commissions to R. O. T. C. cadets will be awarded by Sgt. George Baxter. The color guard and the school band will take part.

The Washburne Trade school orchestra, chorus, and band will provide the program at a noon assembly in the school auditorium.

GLENCOE GROUP WILL HOLD FALL CARNIVAL FRIDAY

A box supper, community singing, games, and contests have been planned by the Woman's Library club of Glencoe for a fall carnival at 6:30 p. m. Friday in the clubhouse. Mrs. Willard L. Wheeler is chairman and Harold Buehl will be master of ceremonies.

The Rev. Robert B. Pierce will lead the singing, accompanied by Lyle Fischer at the piano. Guests and members will participate in sack races, a mystery contest, guessing games, and a quiz program.

Proceeds will be divided among the club's philanthropic projects—maintenance of the WAC dayroom at Fort Sheridan, Christmas bags for the Red Cross, the Community and War Fund, and the establishment of a greenhouse at Vaughn General hospital.

Don't Let OPPORTUNITY Pass You By Start Your POST-WAR FUTURE Today

You'll cruise in half-million dollar Mainliners
UNITED AIR LINES

United Air Lines advertisement, October, 1944.
"History was made recently when United Air Lines signed contracts with the Douglas Aircraft Company for fifty of these half-million dollar Mainliners—a $25,000,000 fleet of the finest planes in the world."

Read this message carefully . . . because it means opportunity. It may mean a profitable lifetime career for you. But you must act at once if this opportunity is not to be wasted.
If you have read recent War Manpower Commission articles or our advertisements in the last few weeks, you know that additional men and women are urgently needed on a two-year schedule to help us build the giant C-54, companion transport plane to the B-29 Super-Fortress for the war against Japan . . . and then to build the same plane after the war to fill orders already booked with us by the airlines. This means that a great new industry has come to Chicago . . . to stay. Maybe you've said to yourself, "I'll look into that someday."
Someday will be too late. You must join us now if you are to cash in on this opportunity. Don't let lack of experience hold you back. We train you so that you're bound to make good in fabricating, assembly, and installation work . . . what we call "beating on the airplane." As interesting work as you'll ever find. Good pay . . . Convenient transportation.
Act now. If not already employed in an essential industry, come to the WMC's U.S. Employment Service office at 5306 Lawrence Avenue. Or come to our own employment offices at 4070 Milwaukee Avenue, near Irving Park; 2717½ Milwaukee Avenue, near Logan Square; 6336 N. Western Avenue; or to the plant employment office at Mannheim, Higgins and Devon. COME TODAY.

NBC Orchestra Airs Beethoven's 'Eroica'

Arturo Toscanini will direct the NBC Symphony orchestra in Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E flat, better known as the "Eroica" Symphony, over WMAQ-NBC at 4 p. m. today. The presentation will be the orchestra's third offering of a nine week Beethoven cycle.

BEST ELECTION COVERAGE YET! W-G-N PROMISE

Reports to Be Broadcast for Loop Crowds.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The swiftest and most complete election coverage in its 20 years history—that is the promise of W-G-N for next Tuesday. As the election bulletins roll in during the evening, several regularly scheduled programs will be canceled; all others subject to interruption. WGNB, W-G-N's FM sister station, which normally signs off at 9 p. m., will stay on thru the night with W-G-N or until all important contests are decided.

To cover the election W-G-N, besides using 27 members of its own staff, will have supplementary services from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the Mutual Broadcasting system, Associated Press, United Press, Press association, and the City News bureau. W-G-N has arranged for direct broadcasting connections with major party headquarters in Chicago and tabulating headquarters in the county building. Leaders and candidates of both parties will speak over W-G-N from La Salle and Morrison hotel headquarters.

Air News in State Street.

To bring the news to the thousands who will be in the loop Tuesday night W-G-N has made arrangements with the State Street council for exclusive use of its new public address system. News returns and recorded music will be relayed from W-G-N thru the 80 horn system from Wacker dr. to Congress st. along State st.

W-G-N will also install loudspeakers at the corners of Madison and Clark sts., Randolph and Clark sts., and Randolph and Dearborn sts.

Mutual's Election Plans.

W-G-N will broadcast election news thruout the day, and the first tabulations as soon as they are available. Broadcasts over the loop system will begin at 6 p. m.

Mutual pickups will come from many cities of the nation. It is expected that key winning and losing candidates will be brought to the microphone. Mutual expects to make special pickups from the Philippines, Rome, and Paris, giving the reaction of service men to the news of election day.

Mutual's commentators will include Fulton Lewis, Cecil Brown, Archibald Crossley, Gabriel Heatter, Henry Gladstone, Ray Dady, Walter Compton, and Alexander Griffin. W-G-N election announcers include Jack Brickhouse, Tom Cafferty, Lee Bennett, Cy Harrice, Holland Engle, and Hal Lansing. Supplementing this corps will be Arthur Sears Henning, chief of the Washington bureau of THE TRIBUNE, and Arthur Evans, Tribune political writer.

All other major networks have made elaborate plans to provide complete election coverage.

LINDBLOM GIVES CITIZENS SHOW NEXT SATURDAY

On its Armistice day broadcast at 10 a. m. Saturday on W-G-N, the Citizens of Tomorrow program will salute Lindblom Technical High school. Principal Harry F. Yates will speak; the boys and girls choruses, directed by Hannah Rosenthal, and the a cappella choir, led by J. R. Taylor, will sing. Phyllis Ballin, Lindblom senior, will play the piano and Walter Robinson will present high school news. Philip Maxwell, master of ceremonies, will add two names to the roll of honor: Felice Michaels of Lindblom and George E. Heathcote of Milwaukee, Wis.

Benny Will Introduce New Singer Tonight

Jack Benny will introduce his new singer, Larry Stevens, on WMAQ-NBC at 6 o'clock tonight. Stevens, who served in the United States army air corps for approximately a year and received an honorable discharge, will make his radio debut with "I'll Be Seeing You." Another event on Benny's show tonight will be the guest appearance of Dunninger, mind reader.

In Mystery House

Nannette Sargent plays the lead in "Mystery House," now aired at 9:30 p. m. Sundays from W-G-N's main studio. Tickets are available free while they last.

THEATER OF AIR WILL OPEN WITH 'GREAT WALTZ'

Miss Claire Returns to Operettas.

Opening its fifth season of operetta and opera productions, The Chicago Theater of the Air will present "The Great Waltz" next Saturday, Armistice day, from the stage of the huge auditorium in Medinah temple before an audience of more than 4,000. The broadcast henceforth will be aired at a new time, from 9 to 10 p. m. over W-G-N, WGNB and the coast-to-coast Mutual network.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

Marion Claire will return to the series starring in the role of Resi. Singing opposite her in the role of the younger Johann Strauss will be Morton Bowe, tenor. Bruce Foote, baritone, will sing the role of Lt. Poldi.

Henry Weber to Conduct.

Strauss music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus under the baton of Henry Weber, W-G-N's director of music.

Speaking lines will be taken by an all-star dramatic cast, including Laurette Fillbrandt, John Barclay, Robert Murphy and Norman Gottschalk.

Miss Claire will sing "Morning," "With All My Heart," "We Love You Still," "Blue Danube" and, with Mr. Bowe, will offer "You Are My Songs," "Love Will Find You," and "While You Love Me." Mr. Bowe will also sing "One Hour."

Back to Medinah Temple.

Bruce Foote and the chorus will offer "In Love and War."

This broadcast marks the return of the Chicago Theater of the Air to Medinah temple, where weekly programs were presented last season before a combined audience of more than 90,000 people.

Jack LaFrandre, writer-director of the series, will produce the show, and the announcer will be John Holbrook.

Monteux Will Conduct Philharmonic Today

Pierre Monteux, conductor of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, will be guest conductor on the New York Philharmonic program over WBBM-CBS at 2 p. m. today. Leon Fleischer, 16 year old pianist, will also appear as a guest during the broadcast. He is to be featured as soloist in a presentation of Brahms' D minor Concerto. The orchestra will offer Beethoven's "Prometheus" overture, William Grant Still's "Old California," and Debussy's nocturnes, "Nuages" and "Fetes."

Cisco Kid to Return.

"The Cisco Kid," colorful cowboy series, will return to W-G-N from 8:30 to 9 p. m., Wednesday and will be broadcast weekly thereafter at the same time.

ARE YOU READY TO REPEL THOSE WINTRY BLASTS?

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Has your house its winter clothing? Various types of garments go into the winter wardrobe of a house. One type of garment, made from available insulating boards, can play an important part in the home's cold weather clothing.

Experts have figured that you can keep a properly insulated home comfortably warm a month or two longer than an uninsulated one, on the same amount of fuel.

Cover Screen Doors.

Screen doors can be made into storm doors by fastening panels of insulating board over the old frames.

Basement windows can hold in basement heat more effectively by pieces of insulating board. These should be cut to the right sizes and wedged into openings.

Recessed radiators can be given needed protection at vulnerable points if a panel of insulating board is fitted into wall area back of radiator so that less heat escapes to the outdoors.

Screen Unused Fireplaces.

Unused fireplaces can be screened off—so that little heat escapes—by a tight fitting screen of insulating board. Then cover this with wallpaper or give it a painted design.

Front and back doors can admit icy gusts of air if they are not protected by storm doors. Or better still, the installations of a winter vestibule will be a definite heat saver. These vestibules are really miniature anterooms. Have them large enough so that one door may be closed before the other is opened.

Windows of unused rooms can be covered with insulating board to cut down heat loss and keep entire home warmer with less fuel.

WORDS, MUSIC ARE HER WAYS TO WIN VOTES

Campaigning with words and music—that is the method used by Mrs. Grace Louise Bosworth, 2474 Lake View av., composer of "Republicans Are on the March to Victory."

Building her composition around her belief—"We did it before; we'll do it once more in '44"—Mrs. Bosworth wrote her song before the Republican national convention last June. It was first sung at the open house of the National Republican club at the Stevens hotel last June 24 and again at the banquet for Gov. Green. Mrs. Bosworth sang it at the Gov. Dewey rally at the Stadium Oct. 25.

Mrs. Bosworth's latest composition, "Indispensable," was introduced at a recent luncheon program of the National Republican Woman's club. Copies of "Republicans Are on the March to Victory," were presented to each of the 1,000 members.

SINGAPORE JOE WILL REEF SAIL ON N. U. CAMPUS

The University guild of Evanston will hear a lecture by Joe Fisher at 2:15 p. m. tomorrow in the auditorium of Scott hall on the Northwestern university campus. The lecture will be illustrated and tea will be served later.

Known to many audiences as Singapore Joe, Fisher has traveled 14 times around the world as a lecturer, philosopher, and business man. He was born in South Africa.

Mrs. George Whipple, president, and Mrs. Arthur H. Boettcher, program chairman, will preside. Mrs. Henry P. Dutton will have charge of the tea hour.

Discuss War Industry Reconversion on W-G-N

"The Reconversion of War Industry" is the topic for discussion on the Northwestern Reviewing Stand program over W-G-N-Mutual at 10:30 a. m. today. Wilfred Sykes, John Lovett, William Spriegel, and Corwin Edwards will participate.

NEW DEALERS' CRYSTAL BALL HIT BY FIFIELD

Socks Madden's All in Gary—Claim.

BY LEWIS WILLIAMS.

In a smashing attack on the New Deal's disregard of Poland's rights of sovereignty, Otto G. Fifield, Republican nominee for congress in the Indiana 1st district, embracing Lake county, struck the climax in his campaign to unseat his opponent, New Deal exponent, Ray Madden.

Asserting Russia had shipped thousands of Poles to Siberia, Fifield said that if the United States stands by and says nothing about such high handed acts, Stalin will take it for granted that this country is going to acquiesce in anything he does about Poland.

Hold Hush-Hush Views.

"If England, after running over the coast of Normandy, had sent millions of Frenchmen to Australia, we would have raised the roof," Fifield said. "Yet when Russia pursues such tactics in Poland the New Deal insists on a hush-hush attitude. The whole odorous setup should be aired thoroly."

Robert Moore, Gary attorney, recently described Madden as "the all-American rubber stamp" who without learning the desires and ideas of the American people and the people of Lake county, has gone down the line for the Browder-Hillman-Roosevelt axis. "The people are tired of crystal gazing," he said, "and will show on Nov. 7 that they are thru with the crystal trio." Moore called attention to the fact that Fifield was born in Lake county and has business and home interests there.

Will Eradicate Burocrats.

"When Madden is defeated," Moore continued, "nobody knows where he will go. It still is a mystery where he came from, but it is known that his only property here is a suit of underwear and a pair of sox in the Gary hotel."

Moore asserted that Fifield's experience in the state legislature and as secretary of state proves that he will adhere to American tradition and the Constitution, and will protect the American form of government from burocrats and "parlor pinkos."

Fights "Lynch" Law.

Fifield has pledged to fight for the rights of all men to vote in all states regardless of color, and for the passage of an anti-lynching law. He also has pledged to support a program guaranteeing the rights of labor.

He has promised to support a program for lasting peace thru cooperation of sovereign states and a bill for the immediate discharge of service men when the war is over. He has demanded adequate provision for the rehabilitation of disabled veterans and for care for their dependents.

OLIVET BAPTIST CHURCH HONORS MEN IN SERVICE

A bulletin board bearing names of members of Olivet Baptist church who are in military service will be unveiled at 7:45 o'clock tonight at the church, 3101 South Park way.

William E. King, Republican nominee for congress from the 1st district and a deacon of the church, will be the speaker. Relatives of service men and women will be seated in a special section of the church.

During the coming week the church will celebrate the third anniversary of the pastorate of Dr. J. H. Jackson. Dr. D. Albert Jackson, secretary of the Tennessee Baptist association and pastor of the Mount Zion Baptist church, Knoxville, Tenn., is guest minister.

S. SIDE WOMEN RAISE $15,000 FOR WAR FUND

The south side women's division of the Community Fund raised more than $15,000 during the first week of solicitation, Mrs. Henry T. Ricketts, 5607 Kimbark av., regional chairman, has announced.

Mrs. T. R. Hogness, 5758 Blackstone av., chairman of the Hyde Park district, has reported more than $6,400 collected, more than $1,200 of which was secured by Mrs. David Shillinglaw, 5801 Dorchester av., a captain.

South side businesses have contributed $20,544, David L. Sutton, chairman, and Arthur B. Knight, cochairman, have announced. Highest honors went to the team headed by Julius Leopold, 2135 Michigan av., which raised 153 per cent of its quota, or $1,569.

GROUP MEETING TO HONOR LATE SPALDING HEAD

The next meeting of the Willing Helpers for Crippled Children at 1 p. m. Wednesday in the Spalding school, 1628 Washington blvd., will be a memorial to Jane Neil, first principal of Spalding school.

Miss Mary Sharkey, Spalding school alumna, will discuss the activities of the alumni camp at Brown's lake, Wis., and Norman Olsen, also an alumnus, will sing. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Bert Hites, ways and means chairman, has announced a party Nov. 14 at the Food Research institute, 14 E. Jackson blvd. The program will include a food demonstration in the morning, followed by luncheon and games.

Saturday Children's Theater of Gary Starts New Season of Plays

Zan the tailor, played by Joseph Tokash, pleads with the empress (Shirley Figge) to persuade the emperor to allow Zan and his partner, Zar (Raymond Bobillo), to make him a suit of clothes that will be the finest ever seen. Zan waits hopefully for her answer. The play, "The Emperor's New Clothes," will be presented Nov. 18 by the junior class of Gary's Tolleston High school as its contribution to the Saturday Children's theater.

When the new teacher, who believes in permitting children to have their own way, comes to the settlement house the children are quick to take advantage of the situation. Jimmy, played by Richard Green, howls with glee as Mike (Gerry Levenberg) holds a dead mouse up to the cook, Lizetta (Mildred Zigich), who jumps on a chair in terror. Leita, the cook's helper, played by Beverly Lane, is petrified with fright. The sophomore class of Emerson High school yesterday presented the initial performance of the play, "The Seven Little Rebels." If there is sufficient demand the play will be presented again next Saturday.

With the giant (Mike Evodkiou) in close pursuit, Jack cuts down the bean stalk. The spectators are James Wimmer (left) as Sorin, Marilyn Maloney as the Giant's wife, and Helen MacKinzie as Granny Tyb. The year's program of the Saturday Children's theater was opened with a presentation of "Jack and the Beanstalk," by the junior class of Horace Mann High school. Five performances were witnessed by more than 4,000 persons.

3D WARD G. O. P. TO HOLD GIANT MEETING TODAY

Set Stage for Sinai Temple Rally.

Climaxing a strenuous campaign the 3d ward regular G. O. P. organization, headed by Ald. Oscar De Priest, committeeman, will hold a giant mass meeting at 3 p. m. today in Sinai temple, 4600 South Park way.

Gov. Green, seeking reëlection, and Richard J. Lyons, Republican senatorial nominee, will headline the speakers. George F. Barrett, nominee for attorney general, is the other state candidate scheduled to speak.

John T. Dempsey, Republican candidate for state's attorney, and Leo Carr, nominee for sheriff, will represent the county ticket. Thomas J. Downs, seeking the 2d district congressional seat, and William A. Booker, campaigning for reëlection to the state assembly in the 5th senatorial district, also will talk.

The meeting was moved to Sinai temple from Du Sable High school this year in anticipation of a large crowd. The temple will seat about 3,000 persons and preparations are being made to carry the nominees' messages on loud speakers to those who cannot find room inside.

In preparation for the meeting the 3d ward organization mailed 5,000 invitations to registered voters in the ward.

SOLDIER TO DISCLOSE HOW CHICAGO BECAME PANTRY FOR THE WAR

Col. John N. Gage.

Col. John N. Gage, 4032 Ellis av., will speak on "Chicago—A World Pantry," at a buffet dinner of the Harvard School for Boys PTA at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday in the school gymnasium, 4731 Ellis av.

Now serving as executive officer to Gen. Joseph E. Barznysi at the Chicago quartermaster depot, Col Gage served with the 1st division in France during the last war and was awarded the Purple Heart. He will explain how and why arrangements are made in Chicago for food and clothing sent to all theaters.

Mrs. Chauncey Maher, 4908 Ellis av., is president of the association.

Tilden High Students Elect Senior Officers

PI BETA PHI CLUB TO HOLD ANNUAL TEA NEXT FRIDAY

Chicago Alumnae Club South of the Pi Beta Phi sorority will hold its annual tea and display of handwoven articles from the Arrow Craft shop, Gatlinburg, Tenn., from 2 to 6 p. m. Friday in the home of Mrs. J. A. Lyons, 10744 S. Hoyne av.

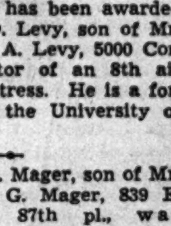
The weaving program carried on by residents of Gatlinburg helps to maintain the settlement school established there by the fraternity in early 1900s.

The south group is made up of members from Beverly Hills, Chatham, south shore, Woodlawn, Kenwood, and Hyde Park. Mrs. W. Benton Hicks, 9124 Ada st., is chairman of the tea, and Mrs. Oscar Cagann, 8015 Oglesby av., is president of the club.

Rodfei Zedek Institute Begins Second Year

The Rodfei Zedek Institute of Adult Studies sponsored by the congregation, sisterhood, and Men's club is beginning its second year. Classes dealing with Judaism and Jewish life are held every Tuesday from 8 to 10 p. m. at the synagog, 1022 E. 54th pl. The 12 week course, consisting of one hour each week, is entitled elementary, intermediate, and advanced Hebrew; "The Treasury of the Bible," and "The Ethics of the Fathers—Readings from the Talmud."

With AMERICA'S FIGHTERS



Sgt. John Harney.

Sgt. John Harney, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Harney, 1950 E. 71st st., is a gunner on an 8th air force Liberator bomber. His squadron has been cited by Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, 2d bombardment division commander "for distinguished and outstanding performance of duty from May 12 to July 18." During this period, without loss of aircraft or crew, the squadron bombed 20 targets in Germany and 34 in enemy occupied Europe "in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire and formidable enemy fighter opposition."

The air medal has been awarded 2d Lt. Charles D. Levy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Levy, 5000 Cornell av., navigator of an 8th air force Flying Fortress. He is a former student at the University of Illinois.

Your Congressman

(An Editorial.)

The same candidates who ran for congress from the south side's 1st and 2d congressional districts two years ago are opposing one another in Tuesday's election. In 1942 William E. Dawson, New Deal candidate, was returned by the narrow margin of 2,743 votes over William E. King, Republican, in the 1st district. In the 2d district, William A. Rowan, New Dealer, wriggled thru in a race almost equally close with Thomas J. Downs, Republican. Rowan's margin was only 3,500 votes in 216,000 cast.

In the two years since then the voters have had time to reflect on their decision. On Tuesday they will have the opportunity of reversing it. They know whether the representation they have been getting is good enough, and they know just how much representation they can expect to get as long as the New Deal continues on its course of offering salvation everywhere in the world but at home.

The representative of the 1st district is the spokesman of 140,000 constituents, the majority of them Negro citizens. By virtue of being the only Negro in congress, he must act in the interests of all 13 million Negroes in the United States—large segments of whom have been granted no voice in the conduct of their government because of the poll tax laws in the Democratic solid south which the New Deal, neither thru action nor by platform pledge, proposes to disturb.

Negro citizens will want the most effective representation they can get—and they must judge how they will be served if they are stuck with a New Deal congressman in what is likely to be a Republican administration and a Republican congress. They are also reminded that while the New Deal platform expresses only the vague generality that the rights of racial minorities should be observed, the Republican party is on record in its platform to abolish the poll tax by constitutional amendment, if necessary, and to investigate racial discrimination as it affects the army and delays the winning of the war.

Mr. Dawson, a creature of Boss Ed Kelly and who played a shabby role in bipartisan trading in the days he called himself a Republican, has been unable to give Negroes sincere and effective service in congress because the party to which he belongs is itself insincere and indifferent. Negroes will agree that "it's time for a change." By voting down the New Deal, they can rebuke a party whose candidate for Vice President goes around the country indorsing Ku Kluxers.

In the 2d district Mr. Downs, an able lawyer, will provide more than 600,000 constituents with intelligent and energetic representation in carrying out Thomas E. Dewey's pledges that business, big and small, will once more get a fair deal; that jobs will be created by lifting the taxes and regulations which under Mr. Roosevelt have always stifled peace time production and prevented recovery, and that the rights of labor will be protected without selling the working man into the bondage of a fascist labor control exercised thru Sidney Hillman and the totalitarian political action committee.

Mr. Rowan has had his chance, and there is little on the books to show for it. He cannot rise above the limitations imposed upon him by his allegiance to the New Deal. He has been carried along by the global concerns of Mr. Roosevelt so that he has paid scant attention to matters that affect the welfare and prosperity of the 2d district. Mr. Downs can be trusted to remember that the first job of a congressman is to represent the folks at home who sent him to Washington.

WATER CRISIS BLAME LAID AT ROWAN'S DOOR

Downs Raps Neglect of South Side.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Asserting that his opponent, William A. Rowan, obeyed the city hall in working to obtain essential materials for the subway but made no effort to get the south side filtration plant into operation, Thomas J. Downs, Republican nominee for congress in the 2d district, last week laid blame for the south side's miserable water conditions on the doorstep of the Kelly machine.

"For years south siders have been hoping that something would be done about the dirty and unsanitary water they have to drink," Downs said. "The Kelly machine answer has been that priorities could not be had for essential materials to complete the plant.

"Rep. Rowan was forced by the machine, which sponsors him, to help get the essential materials for the loop subway. He delivered for them but forgot completely about obtaining the essential metals for the filtration plant. Was this because the subway had more political importance? If not, why is the great south side discriminated against?

Gives Voters His Pledge.

"When I get into congress my first order of business will be to exert every pressure at my command to get that filtration plant finished. It is a pledge and the people know that the word of Tom Downs is good."

Downs also reiterated his other pledges—to work against all forms of racial and religious discrimination, to support the interests of small business, to speed benefits for returning veterans of the war and pensions for the aged, and to do everything possible to hasten postwar jobs for all who want them.

"We are now in the final stages of the campaign and I feel confident enough to forecast a solid victory for all Republican candidates," he said. "We are not working for any machine but for the people."

Calls Rowan "Rubber Stamp."

Fred Burt of 1115 E. 47th st., who ran against Downs in the primary, is active in the campaign and addressing civic groups in behalf of the nominee. He refers to Rowan as a "rubber stamp."

Downs, 40 years old, is an attorney. He was president of the Young Republican organization of Illinois in 1936-'37 and was elected national vice president of the organization in 1937. He is a director of the Illinois Small Business Men's association and its general counsel. He is active in Y. M. C. A. work and is a member of the Knights of Columbus. He was graduated from Georgetown university.

Rowan was for 10 years editor of the Daily Calumet. He attended the Catholic grammar and high schools and the University of Chicago. From 1927 until 1942 he was alderman from the 10th ward.

Race Believed Close.

The 2d is one of the most populous districts in the United States, with more than 611,000 residents. Political experts consider the Downs-Rowan race one of the closest in the county.

In the 1st district, including the loop and territory south to 43d street, a stiff contest has developed between William L. Dawson, the incumbent, and William E. King, the G. O. P. nominee. During the last week King has been borne down heavily on the theme that Harry S. Truman, if elected Vice President, might become President within the next four years, and that this would be a tragedy for all Negroes.

"Sen. Truman has been accused of being a Ku Kluxer and his denials are not completely convincing," he said. "Certainly there is nothing in his record to indicate he is a friend of the Negro. The best hope of our race is and always has been in the Republican party."

Congressman Dawson was born in Georgia in 1886 and was educated at the Albany [Ga.] Normal school and at Fisk university. Moving to Chicago, he attended the Kent College of Law and later was graduated from Northwestern university with a law degree.

During the first World war he served as a lieutenant in the 365th infantry regiment in the AEF. From 1930 to 1932 he was Republican state central committeeman from the 1st district. From 1933 to 1939 he was Republican alderman of the 2d ward. In 1938, running for congress as a Republican, he was defeated. Switching parties in 1942, he was elected as a Democrat.

Votes New Deal Line.

Except when discrimination is the issue — and on this Dawson and southern Democratic congressmen are always at odds—his voting record in general is that of a New Dealer.

King was born in Louisiana but came to Chicago in his childhood. He attended Howard university and was graduated from the John Marshall Law school in 1915. Soon after this he went into politics. He served four terms as state representative and two years as state senator. He was an assistant corporation counsel and later an assistant state's attorney.

At present King is a member of the state industrial commission, to which he was appointed by Gov. Green. For more than 10 years he has been Republican committeeman of the 2d ward. He was one of the commissioners of the Century of Progress exposition in 1934. For many years he has been identified with church affairs, and has been a Sunday school teacher at the Olivet Baptist church.

CHORAL GROUPS WILL APPEAR ON CITIZENS SHOW

Honor Lindblom High on W-G-N Broadcast.

Three Lindblom Technical High school choral groups will be heard on the 146th Citizens of Tomorrow program to be broadcast at 10 a. m. Saturday, Armistice day. The show, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S salute to high schools and students, will honor Lindblom.

The Boys' chorus, directed by Hannah Rosenthal, will give the school song, "Forever Lindblom"; the a cappella choir, led by J. R. Taylor, will sing "Your Land and My Land," by Romberg, and the Girls' chorus, will present "There Is No Death," by O'Hara.

Principal Yates Is Host.

Host for the broadcast will be Harry F. Yates, school principal. He will introduce Philip Maxwell, the master of ceremonies.

Maxwell will name two high school seniors to the show's honor roll. They are Felice Michaels, 16, of Lindblom, and George E. Heathcote, 17, of Pulaski High school at Greendale, Wis. Miss Michaels has been given the Golden Eagle, highest award at Lindblom, presented for achievement in scholarship and participation in extra-curricular activities. She also has seven scholarship certificates, is co-editor in chief of the Lindblom Weekly, chairman of the ways and means committee of the intercabinet council, and chairman of the arrangements committee of the Junior Girls' club.

Hear Other Students.

Other Lindblom students to be heard are Phyllis Ballin, 17 year old pianist; Walter Wendell Robinson, 16, who will read news from other Chicagoland high schools, and Isabel Glick, Chester Giermak, Jesse Jacobs, Yadviga Dowmont, Jeanne Lettiere, and William Kipnis, who will take part in the news quiz.

Cheer leaders will be Alfred Dryer, Richard Bergamn, Steve Cermak, and Eugene Carbonneau. Preceding the making of the transcription at 1:20 p. m. Wednesday, in the school auditorium, 6130 S. Wolcott av., the national and school colors will be posted by Evard Saladin, Erwin Stempinski, James Jones, Clifton Jackson, and Robert Ryan.

Many to Attend Recording.

Guests of Principal Yates at the recording will be Ben Ivkovitz, president of the Ogden-Hill Chamber of Commerce; Alfred Nilsen, president of the Southwest Civic federation; J. P. Cunnea, president of the Lindblom PTA; Charles J. Smith, commander of the Clearing American Legion post; Mrs. Robert Watson, president of the Lindblom Football Mothers' club; Frank R. McGarr, OCD community commander; Dr. J. H. DeLacy, pastor of Thoburn Methodist church, and Dr. C. C. Cox, pastor of the Drexel Park Presbyterian church.

Waye Dickson and Beryl Vaughan, professional radio artists, will portray the roles of Jimmy and Jerry on the transcription. John Wiederhirn will be the piano accompanist and Lewis James the producer.

U. of C. Dean Honored by Sociological Group

THE MUSIC CENTER ACCORDIONEERS

One of the outstanding accordion orchestras in the country. This popular group won the highest award which is possible for an organization of this type, by placing 1st in the Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' Field in August, 1944. Currently the Accordioneers are the official orchestra for the South Side War Loan and Community Fund campaign.

Each member of the group received his training at The Music Center—where instructions are easy to follow and advancement is rapid.

Every student at the Music Center has the opportunity of joining similar band groups. There is one for the beginner who has had just one lesson; an intermediate group; and one for the professional musician. You can learn to play your favorite instrument at the Music Center for a total cost of $1.50 per week. Use our instruments without charge. For complete details call, write or phone.

SCHOOL THEATER MOLDS LIVES OF GARY'S CHILDREN

Philosophy of Dr. Wirt Still Endures.

It was the theory of Dr. William A. Wirt, founder and first superintendent of the Gary schools, that the best way of Americanizing the 57 nationalities composing the school population was to give the children an opportunity to express themselves in English before their fellow pupils.

Moreover, he felt that the fine arts were as important to education as academic subjects. He believed that their study should be available to all people. He declared that the fine arts were the common property of all, that there was a real need in every child's life for beauty, fairy tales, and legends.

Basis for Children's Theater.

Stemming from these theories is the Saturday Children's theater, composed of the city's eight high schools which present a classic children's play every other Saturday thruout the year.

When the school system was established in 1906 under the work-study-play program one of the first things to be established was a daily auditorium hour. It was prescribed for all grammar school pupils and made available to high school pupils as an elective.

It aimed to teach the pupils processes of free and independent thought, coördination, coöperation, and tolerance. The program consisted of poetry recitals, current events summaries, impromptu speeches, dramatic skits, recitation, singing, and the study and observance of parliamentary procedure. The children elected their own officers and learned how the United States republic operates.

Department Set Up in 1926.

In 1926 one of the teachers was elevated to supervisor of the auditorium hour and a drama department was established. Interschool poetry meets, and dramatic meets in which one act plays were given by each school and judged on their respective merits and demerits, debate, and oratory were added to the program.

The meets were divided into four sections, primary, elementary, junior, and senior high school. The judges were brought from Northwestern university, Goodman theater, University of Chicago, University of Notre Dame, Indiana university, and the University of Iowa.

Judges Analyzed Plays.

Each judge gave an oral analysis before the pupils and parents. Prizes were awarded to the schools that presented the best play. Because certain parts of all the plays often had merit it was felt that the awarding of prizes was discriminatory and the practice has since been abandoned.

The high schools emphasize presentation of plays for the grammar schools. The students design and make their own costumes and scenery. Student stage crews make all scenery changes and handle the electrical equipment.

Saturday Theater Revived.

In previous years the plays were presented during the week and were not widely publicized. Consequently, they were witnessed by small groups only.

A children's theater established in 1935 was abandoned two years later because it was felt that there was not enough need for it. However, each school continued with its own program.

This year at the request of community and civic organizations and the children themselves the theater was revived. One adult and one child from each school is a member of the board. The adult handles the ticket sales while the child is responsible for publicizing the plays.

Every other Saturday a different high school presents a play. Each play is scheduled for at least two performances and if the demand is sufficient additional performances are presented the following Saturday.

The theater is directed by teachers of the auditorium department who are specially trained in dramatic work. In all the department has 60 dramatic and auditorium hour teachers and 35 music teachers.

FRIENDS TO FETE MARSHALL HIGH LATIN TEACHER

Several hundred friends and former students will gather at the Covenant club, 10 N. Dearborn st., at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at a dinner honoring Miss Mary Zimmerman of the Flamingo hotel, who for 40 years taught Latin at Marshall High school.

For many the occasion will be not only a celebration of the 75th anniversary of a much loved teacher, but an opportunity to give thanks, once again, to the person who made their educations possible. For Miss Zimmerman did not confine herself just to teaching but undertook to see that financial difficulties did not deny an education to those who were eager and able to benefit by it.

One of Four Pioneers.

One of four teachers who came to Marshall when it was established at Kedzie and Adams sts. in 1895, she was the last of the quartet when she retired in 1935. The school by then had grown from the original three story structure, housing grammar school students on the first two floors and 120 high school students on the third floor, into a massive structure covering almost an entire block and housing 5,500 students and 150 teachers. The grammar school occupied a separate building.

Saw Students' Needs.

She early realized that financial difficulties were threatening the educations of some of her students. She enlisted the aid of her fellow teachers and provided those who were in need with car fare, lunch money, text books, and clothing. In one or two instances she even found foster homes for students.

As a result the student aid fund was established which is still in existence today.

She also sought financial aid for those who had the ability for college educations but lacked the necessary money.

Suggested War Scholarships.

For some years she worked alone raising money from private sources but when World War I ended and the Marshall Alumni association sought to erect a memorial to those Marshall men and women who had served Miss Zimmerman saw the opportunity for a permanent scholarship fund. She suggested a world war service scholarship and assumed the leadership in raising $6,000.

She also founded the Grace Bartelme and Max Batt Loan scholarship fund in memory of two of her colleagues. The fund enables students to continue their work in college thru the aid of loans. Fifteen years ago the Almuni association, of which Miss Zimmerman is still the faculty adviser, established the Mary Zimmerman college scholarship of $5,000. Miss Zimmerman has missed only two meetings of the association since it was founded 35 years ago.

Still Active in City.

Her activities in raising money for educational purposes were not stilled with her retirement. She is chairman of a Chicago group of the Friends of the Hebrew university in Jerusalem. During her first year in office the group raised $200. Last year it raised $3,371, including 25 full scholarships and 25 half scholarships.

The money for her philanthropies sometimes comes from unexpected places. Take the $200 she received the other day from one of the early recipients of the Mary Zimmerman College scholarship now fighting somewhere in the Pacific.

Had Waited for Chance.

He wrote, "Perhaps by this time you've begun to wonder why the green slip of paper is enclosed. I think you'll understand when I say that from the day I was awarded the Mary Zimmerman College scholarship I've looked forward to the time when I might be able to return that money so that some other deserving youngster would have an opportunity to continue his education."

His spirit is typical of those who have received aid from her scholarships which were designed to get students started on the road to higher education. After the individual received his initial push he was expected to continue by himself. And the majority of them did, usually by the simple method of making such outstanding marks that the university would reward them with scholarships.

Legislative districts in which south and southwest side voters will cast ballots Tuesday are outlined on map. The 7th district includes all townships in Cook county outside Chicago not in the 6th, 19th, or 23d districts.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, Nov. 6.

Mulch all perennials and newly planted trees and shrubs as soon as the ground freezes. If strawy manure is obtainable use it for it decays during the winter and adds fertilizer and humus to the soil.

Those who have fruiting Boston ivy should collect the seeds and either stratify them in peat moss or sand or sow directly where the plants are to remain. Sowing seed is a good way to start plants along a brick or stone building. But see that the soil is good; replace poor soil with good fresh, fertile soil.

Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Planning the garden is one of the activities that occupies the gardener during the winter months. All the materials needed are a pencil, eraser, ruler, and paper. A simple planting plan is all that is necessary, but by making a first rough sketch of all buildings, walks, and existing vegetation a general study of possible changes can be made.

Wednesday, Nov. 8.

One of the best methods of protecting climbing roses is to take the plants down and cover with soil. Frequently the wood ripens so late the plants freeze back considerably but if taken down and covered the wood remains plump and in the moist soil will not freeze and be injured. If they cannot be removed from the support, protect with cornstalks, straw, and other materials and tie up in burlap.

Examine the potted bulbs that are rooting in a dark place and if well rooted bring a few pots out and place in a semi-dark, cool room for a few days and then bring to a light window for flowering. It usually takes about five weeks to bring the first batch into flower, which would be time enough to flower for the holidays.

Thursday, Nov. 9.

Tulips can still be planted if available and the ground is not frozen. A thin frozen crust will not prevent planting bulbs. Paperwhite narcissi and Chinese sacred lilies should be planted about the middle of this month to bloom at Christmastide. If the ground is still workable, be sure to spade it and allow it to remain in the rough all winter.

Friday, Nov. 10.

Examine the rhododendrons and fall set evergreens and water again if necessary. Outdoor window boxes will look well if planted with small evergreens now. The nurseries usually have plants for such a purpose. But keep them well watered at all times or they will turn brown and appear unkempt. Spruce, hemlock, or aborvitae are satisfactory for the boxes.

Saturday, Nov. 11.

Watch the cacti that they are not overwatered for they rest during winter. If the room in which they are standing is kept at a high temperature they will need watering more frequently than when placed in a room with a low temperature.

Young growing plants need more water than old, strong plants. Large barrels can be placed on a shelf without water and will keep in fine condition for spring planting out of doors.

VOTE APPEALS CLIMAX HARD FOUGHT RACES

BY LEE SHASSERE.

After weeks of intensive activity in the political arena, south side candidates for the Illinois house of representatives are winding up their campaigns with last minute appeals to voters.

The three house seats in each of the four south side districts have been hard sought. Following is news of the two Republicans and two Democrats who are seeking election in each of the districts next Tuesday:

FIRST DISTRICT

Dr. Edward A. Welters, 3116 Lake Park av., a former dentist who is now in the tooth paste manufacturing business, won the single Republican nomination for the house of representatives last April. He defeated Rep. Ernest A. Greene [R.] of 3135 South Park way, a lawyer, now finishing his fourth consecutive house term. After failing in an attempt to have the ballots recounted, Rep. Greene filed as an independent candidate.

The two Democratic candidates are Rep. Daniel M. Flanigan, 120 E. Cermak rd., a clerk in the court of domestic relations, and Rep. Corneal A. Davis, 3223 Calumet av., an employe in the city clerk's office. Rep. Flanigan has been in the house of representatives since 1938. Rep. Davis is finishing his first term.

THIRD DISTRICT

Rep. Charles J. Jenkins, 4127 Prairie av., a lawyer now serving his seventh consecutive term, and Dudley S. Martin, 3736 Indiana av., who served in the state legislature from 1940 to 1942, are the two Republican candidates.

On the Democratic ticket, Rep. George Garry Noonan, 3020 Parnell av., a cigar manufacturer, now finishing his 13th term in the house, and Rep. Fred J. Smith, a deputy Municipal court clerk, who is completing his first term, have teamed up to seek reëlection to the Illinois legislature.

FIFTH DISTRICT

The two Republican candidates are Rep. Noble W. Lee, 5541 Woodlawn av., dean of the John Marshall law school, and Atty. William A. Booker, 4806 South Park way, who since 1928 has been a member of the Republican national speakers' bureau. Lee seeks his third house term; Booker aspires to the house seat relinquished by Col. William J. Warfield [R] because of a prolonged illness.

Rep. Louis G. Berman, 5454 South Shore dr., a manufacturers' agent who has served in the last five general assemblies, and Charles M. Skyles, 4714 Champlain av., are the two Democratic candidates.

THIRTEENTH DISTRICT

Rep. Ragnar G. Nelson, 11320 Edbrooke av., who is the insurance business, and Edward Schneider, 8222 Ingleside av., a real estate man, are the Republican candidates for the house of representatives. Their two Democratic opponents are Rep. John G. Ryan, 1530 E. 83d pl., and Adam S. Mioduski, 8115 South Shore dr. Ryan is an insurance broker and is also a Municipal court employe. Mioduski is a chiropodist and has served two terms in the state legislature.

Rep. Nelson captured Mioduski's house seat in 1942 when the former was teamed up with the veteran state legislator, Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R.]. When Schnakenberg announced this year he would not seek reëlection, his place on the ticket was taken by Schneider, who is president of the 8th ward regular Republican organization and a leader in American Legion activities.

Am-Echod Sisterhood to Meet for Luncheon

Mrs. Abe Mormolstein, earning fund chairman, is in charge of the luncheon which will be given at 1 p. m. Wednesday at the Windermere East hotel for members of the Congregation Am-Echod Sisterhood. Mrs. Sidney Skom is co-chairman.

Madalyn Combs Becomes Bride

MRS. JOHN A. DRYSDALE.

After their recent marriage Mr. and Mrs. John A. Drysdale are at home at 3008 Cheltenham pl. The bride is the former Madalyn Joyce Combs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Combs, 7834 Paxton av. Her husband is the son of Mrs. J. A. Drysdale, 8141 Avalon av. Both are graduates of Hirsch High school.

G. O. P. BELIEVES VICTORY CERTAIN IN LAKE COUNTY

Hope to Make Clean Sweep of Race.

Lake county, Ind., Republicans enter the final two days of campaigning confident that their arduous work has left a mark with voters which will be recorded Tuesday at the polls.

Holding only one county office, the G. O. P. contemplates electing four nominees in the area and has not ruled out possibilities of a sweep, James H. McShane, county chairman, said.

Conceded leader of the Republican ticket is Charles W. Gannon, incumbent prosecuting attorney and only G. O. P. office holder. Gannon triumphed over the opposition in his first campaign two years ago, and independent observers have made him an odds-on favorite to succeed himself. Gannon's opponent is John E. Roszkowski.

Greenwald Looks Good.

Republican leaders have expressed a belief that Frank L. Greenwald will be swept into office as judge of the Circuit court over his Democratic opponent, Felix A. Kaul.

Otto G. Fifield, who waged a militant campaign for election to congress from the 1st Indiana district, is conceded a good chance of defeating his opponent, the Democratic incumbent, Ray J. Madden. Lake county comprises the 1st district. Republicans likewise believe they have a strong candidate in the race for sheriff in Frank M. Galloway.

Virgil E. Whitaker is the Republican opposing Judge William J. Murray of Criminal court who is seeking reëlection. Republican state senatorial nominees are Warner P. Christenson and Wilbur J. Hardaway.

Five Republicans and five Democrats are seeking election to the state legislature. The G. O. P. nominees are Albert W. Brown, Harry C. Geisen, Clyde Hunter, Robert Rogers, and Julia K. Schroeder. The Democratic opposition is supplied by James M. Callahan, James S. Hunter, Stanley Kwiat, Betty Malinka, and Frank J. O'Rourke. Nominees for joint representative of Lake and Porter counties are Louis F. Churilla [D.] and Donald C. Gardner [R.].

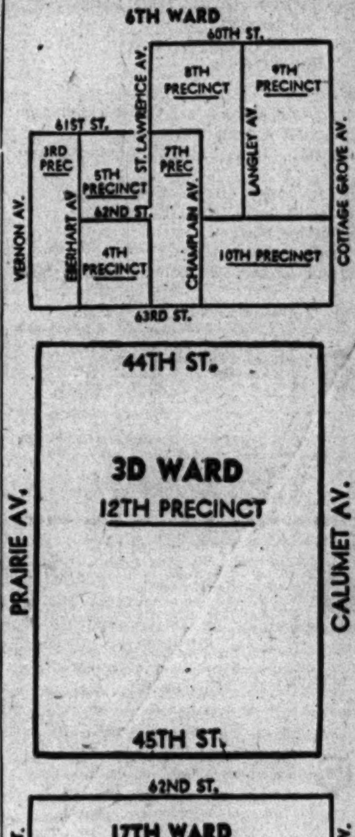
Two Seek Auditor's Post.

Kenneth V. Peterson [R.] and Eugene H. Swartz [D.] are in the race for county auditor while Stanley Wlekinski [R.] and John Knotts [D.] are vieing for the county treasurer's post.

Opponents for the county recorder's job are Ethyl C. Bremer [R.] and Paul P. Kozacik [D.]. The G. O. P. coroner nominee is Gottlieb C. Oexman.

William J. Krull is bearing the G. O. P. standard in the race for surveyor in opposition to William J. Schroeter [D.]. The Democrats have named John A. Hollenbaugh for the 1st district county commissioner post and Joseph D. Martin for the 3d district. The G. O. P. nominees are Fred Rose and Fred W. Minninger.

Vote on Local Option



Proposals to halt the sale of liquor will be presented to voters at the election polls Tuesday in nine precincts from three south side wards as the boundaries existed at the time of the general election on Nov. 8, 1932.

VOTERS OF SOUTH SIDE TO BALLOT ON PROHIBITION

Voters in nine precincts from wards 3, 6, and 17 will ballot on prohibiting sale of alcoholic liquor when they go to the polls Tuesday.

The prohibition proposition will be given voters along with the large ballots containing the names of candidates for national, state, and county offices, and ballots for Municipal court judges, amendments to the Municipal court act, and for a 3 million dollar bond issue for new street lights.

The local option ballot will be placed before voters of precinct 12 in ward 3, precincts 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, and 10 in ward 6, and precinct 15 in ward 17 as the territories were bounded for the general election Nov. 8, 1932.

Home Owners Lead Opposition.

Total prohibition of alcoholic liquor sale will be voted upon in six precincts. In precincts 5, 9, and 10 of the 6th ward ballots will be on restriction of the sale of liquor of more than 4 per cent alcohol by weight except in original packages and not for consumption on premises.

Balloting on the propositions is the result of action taken by residents of the area. In the 6th ward the local option movement was led by the Washington Park Improvement association of which Robert Carter, 6041 Eberhart av., is president.

The area in the 6th ward is a residential and business district occupied partially within the last five years by Negroes. Home owners sought aid of the association in resisting the large number of taverns opening in the area.

Objects to Taverns.

"Taverns only draw the rougher element from other parts of the city," Mrs. Rosa Kinney, 6215 Evans av., secretary of the association, declared. "Legitimate constructive businesses will suffer and our homes will lose their values.

"Negroes are proud of their homes in this area, which always has been a restricted district, and we do not want to lose the present character of the neighborhood."

Three Taverns in Two Blocks.

The 15th precinct in ward 17 has three taverns in two blocks along 63d st. Parents and home owners who supported the petition hope to make the precinct dry as was done in another district near 75th st. and Vincennes av. six years ago.

The 12th precinct in the 3d ward is a residential area with the exception of one grocery which sells liquor in the rear.

Three local option petitions were rejected on the south side by the board of election commissioners upon recommendation of its attorneys. One petition for the 14th precinct of the 17th ward was rejected because it did not contain the words, "as the precinct existed in 1932," a legal requirement. Two other petitions for the 63d and 71st precincts of the 19th ward were rejected because such precincts did not exist in 1932.

BEST ELECTION COVERAGE YET! W-G-N PROMISE

Reports to Be Broadcast for Loop Crowds.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The swiftest and most complete election coverage in its 20 years history—that is the promise of W-G-N for next Tuesday. As the election bulletins roll in during the evening, several regularly scheduled programs will be canceled; all others subject to interruption. WGNB, W-G-N's FM sister station, which normally signs off at 9 p. m., will stay on thru the night with W-G-N or until all important contests are decided.

To cover the election W-G-N, besides using 27 members of its own staff, will have supplementary services from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the Mutual Broadcasting system, Associated Press, United Press, Press association, and the City News bureau. W-G-N has arranged for direct broadcasting connections with major party headquarters in Chicago and tabulating headquarters in the county building. Leaders and candidates of both parties will speak over W-G-N from La Salle and Morrison hotel headquarters.

Air News in State Street.

To bring the news to the thousands who will be in the loop Tuesday night W-G-N has made arrangements with the State Street council for exclusive use of its new public address system. News returns and recorded music will be relayed from W-G-N thru the 80 horn system from Wacker dr. to Congress st. along State st.

W-G-N will also install loudspeakers at the corners of Madison and Clark sts., Randolph and Clark sts., and Randolph and Dearborn sts.

W-G-N will broadcast election news thruout the day, and the first tabulations as soon as they are available. Broadcasts over the loop system will begin at 6 p. m.

Mutual's Election Plans.

Mutual pickups will come from many cities of the nation. It is expected that key winning and losing candidates will be brought to the microphone. Mutual expects to make special pickups from the Philippines, Rome, and Paris, giving the reaction of service men to the news of election day.

Mutual's commentators will include Fulton Lewis, Cecil Brown, Archibald Crossley, Gabriel Heatter, Henry Gladstone, Ray Dady, Walter Compton, and Alexander Griffin. W-G-N election announcers include Jack Brickhouse, Tom Cafferty, Lee Bennett, Cy Harrice, Holland Engle, and Hal Lansing. Supplementing this corps will be Arthur Sears Henning, chief of the Washington bureau of THE TRIBUNE, and Arthur Evans, Tribune political writer.

All other major networks have made elaborate plans to provide complete election coverage.

NBC Orchestra Airs Beethoven's 'Eroica'

Arturo Toscanini will direct the NBC Symphony orchestra in Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E flat, better known as the "Eroica" Symphony, over WMAQ-NBC at 4 p. m. today. The presentation will be the orchestra's third offering of a nine week Beethoven cycle.

Father Perez Council to Hold Dinner-Dance

Father Perez council, Knights of Columbus, 6710 S. May st., will celebrate its 35th anniversary at 7 p. m. Wednesday with a dinner-dance in the Shoreland hotel. James J. Thompson, 1716 W. 83d st., is chairman.

Cisco Kid to Return.

"The Cisco Kid," colorful cowboy series, will return to W-G-N from 8:30 to 9 p. m., Wednesday and will be broadcast weekly thereafter at the same time.

ON SHORT WAVES

LONDON.

The North American service of the BBC from London includes the following programs today. The frequencies [in megacycles] employed after 4:15 p. m. are: 11.93, 9.58, 9.82, 6.11, 7.26, 9.51. 4:45 p. m.—News, 6:30 p. m.—Radio Newsreel, 8:15 p. m.—Sunday Service, 9:10 p. m.—Tomorrow's London Papers, 11:30 p. m.—News reports.

VETERAN GROUPS TO HOLD PARADE ARMISTICE DAY

Woodlawn American Legion post and Hyde Park High school have planned special programs for observance of Armistice day Friday and Saturday.

The R. O. T. C. color guard, school band, and a cappella choir will participate in the program in the school auditorium at 10:45 a. m. Friday. Lt. Col. W. P. Richardson of Gardiner General hospital will be speaker.

Saturday morning the Legion will parade from the high school to the post headquarters at 6308 Woodlawn av., where a squad will fire a volley. The Hyde Park High school band will lead the parade followed by units of the R. O. T. C., civilian air patrol, Catholic War Veterans, and a special honor group of the Legion. Other units will include the Mount Carmel High school band, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and other local bodies of the Woodlawn area.

Monteux Will Conduct Philharmonic Today

Pierre Monteux, conductor of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, will be guest conductor on the New York Philharmonic program over WBBM-CBS at 2 p. m. today. Leon Fleischer, 16 year old pianist, will also appear as a guest during the broadcast. He is to be featured as soloist in a presentation of Brahms' D minor Concerto. The orchestra will offer Beethoven's "Prometheus" overture, William Grant Still's "Old California," and Debussy's nocturnes, "Nuages" and "Fetes."

Benny Will Introduce New Singer Tonight

Jack Benny will introduce his new singer, Larry Stevens, on WMAQ-NBC at 6 o'clock tonight. Stevens, who served in the United States army air corps for approximately a year and received an honorable discharge, will make his radio debut with "I'll Be Seeing You." Another event on Benny's show tonight will be the guest appearance of Dunninger, mind reader.

De La Salle Mothers to Attend Memorial

Members of the De La Salle Mothers' club will attend their annual memorial mass tomorrow in the school chapel, 3455 Wabash av. The mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Frank Coyle. The club will hold a luncheon at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at the Food Research institute, 14 E. Jackson blvd. Mrs. George Pearce, 6817 South Park av., is chairman of the affair.

Discuss War Industry Reconversion on W-G-N

"The Reconversion of War Industry" is the topic for discussion on the Northwestern Reviewing Stand program over W-G-N-Mutual at 10:30 a. m. today. Wilfred Sykes, John Lovett, William Spriegel, and Corwin Edwards will participate.

THEATER OF AIR TO OPEN WITH 'GREAT WALTZ'

Opening its fifth season of operetta and opera productions, The Chicago Theater of the Air will present "The Great Waltz" next Saturday, Armistice day, from the stage of the huge auditorium in Medinah temple before an audience of more than 4,000. The broadcast henceforth will be aired at a new time, from 9 to 10 p. m. over W-G-N, WGNB and the coast-to-coast Mutual network.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

Marion Claire will return to the series starring in the role of Resi. Singing opposite her in the role of the younger Johann Strauss will be Morton Bowe, tenor. Bruce Foote, baritone, will sing the role of Lt. Poldi.

Henry Weber to Conduct.

Strauss music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus under the baton of Henry Weber, W-G-N's director of music.

Speaking lines will be taken by an all-star dramatic cast, including Laurette Fillbrandt, John Barclay, Robert Murphy and Norman Gottschalk.

Miss Claire will sing "Morning," "With All My Heart," "We Love You Still," "Blue Danube" and, with Mr. Bowe, will offer "You Are My Songs," "Love Will Find You," and "While You Love Me." Mr. Bowe will also sing "One Hour."

Back to Medinah Temple.

Bruce Foote and the chorus will offer "In Love and War."

This broadcast marks the return of the Chicago Theater of the Air to Medinah temple, where weekly programs were presented last season before a combined audience of more than 90,000 people.

Jack LaFrandre, writer-director of the series, will produce the show, and the announcer will be John Holbrook.

RADIO OPERATOR IN ASIA THEATER IS GIVEN D. F. C.

Sgt. Henry A. James, 4631 Ellis av., radio operator aboard a transport plane in the India-China theater of the air transport command, has been awarded the distinguished flying cross.

According to his citation he has completed "more than 300 hours of operational flight in transport aircraft over the difficult and dangerous Assam-China air routes where enemy interception and attack was probable and expected.

"Flying at night as well as by day, at high altitudes over impassable mountainous terrain thru areas characterized by extremely treacherous weather conditions necessitating long periods of operation on instruments—requiring courageous and superior performance of duties to overcome—the men accomplished their mission with distinction."

Southtown Singers Give Annual Concert Today

The Southtown singers under direction of Miss Ann Gordon will give their first concert of the season in conjunction with the special roll call and prayer service for men in service at 7:30 p. m. today in the Calvary Methodist church, 78th and Morgan sts. Also on the program will be Marion Olson Brown, 6829 Indiana av., who was the Cook county winner in the lyric soprano division of the 1944 Chicago Music Festival contest.

ARE YOU READY TO REPEL THOSE WINTRY BLASTS?

Insulate Your Home Now; Here's How.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Has your house its winter clothing? Various types of garments go into the winter wardrobe of a house. One type of garment, made from available insulating boards, can play an important part in the home's cold weather clothing.

Experts have figured that you can keep a properly insulated home comfortably warm a month or two longer than an uninsulated one, on the same amount of fuel.

Cover Screen Doors.

Screen doors can be made into storm doors by fastening panels of insulating board over the old frames.

Basement windows can hold in basement heat more effectively by pieces of insulating board. These should be cut to the right sizes and wedged into openings.

Recessed radiators can be given needed protection at vulnerable points if a panel of insulating board is fitted into wall area back of radiator so that less heat escapes to the outdoors.

Screen Unused Fireplaces.

Unused fireplaces can be screened off—so that little heat escapes—by a tight fitting screen of insulating board. Then cover this with wallpaper or give it a painted design.

Front and back doors can admit icy gusts of air if they are not protected by storm doors. Or better still, the installations of a winter vestibule will be a definite heat saver. These vestibules are really miniature anterooms. Have them large enough so that one door may be closed before the other is opened.

Windows of unused rooms can be covered with insulating board to cut down heat loss and keep entire home warmer with less fuel.

POETS TO HAVE SPECIAL NIGHT IN WOODLAWN

A poetry evening will be presented by the Woodlawn Writers' group at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the assembly hall of the Woodlawn regional library, 6247 Kimbark av.

Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, poet and composer who is a member of the Mosaic club and Chicago Poets' club, will speak on "Poetry—What Makes It Click." Poetry written by members of the group will be read.

HONOR TEACHER FOR 40 YRS. OF AIDING OTHERS

Mary Zimmerman 75 Tomorrow.

Several hundred friends and former students will gather at the Covenant club, 10 N. Dearborn st., at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at a dinner honoring Miss Mary Zimmerman of the Flamingo hotel, who for 40 years taught Latin at Marshall High school.

For many the occasion will be not only a celebration of the 75th anniversary of a much loved teacher, but an opportunity to give thanks, once again, to the person who made their educations possible. For Miss Zimmerman did not confine herself just to teaching but undertook to see that financial difficulties did not deny an education to those who were eager and able to benefit by it.

One of Four Pioneers.

Today three scholarship funds and a student aid fund are memorials to her efforts.

One of four teachers who came to Marshall when it was established at Kedzie and Adams sts. in 1895, she was the last of the quartet when she retired in 1935. The school by then had grown from the original three story structure, housing grammar school students on the first two floors and 120 high school students on the third floor, into a massive structure covering almost an entire block and housing 5,500 students and 150 teachers. The grammar school occupied a separate building.

Saw Students' Needs.

She early realized that financial difficulties were threatening the educations of some of her students. She enlisted the aid of her fellow teachers and provided those who were in need with car fare, lunch money, text books, and clothing. In one or two instances she even found foster homes for students.

As a result the student aid fund was established which is still in existence today.

She also sought financial aid for those who had the ability for college educations but lacked the necessary money.

Suggested War Scholarships.

For some years she worked alone raising money from private sources but when World War I ended and the Marshall Alumni association sought to erect a memorial to those Marshall men and women who had served Miss Zimmerman saw the opportunity for a permanent scholarship fund. She suggested a world war service scholarship and assumed the leadership in raising $5,000.

She also founded the Grace Barteime and Max Batt Loan scholarship fund in memory of two of her colleagues. The fund enables students to continue their work in college thru the aid of loans. Fifteen years ago the Almuni association, of which Miss Zimmerman is still the faculty adviser, established the Mary Zimmerman college scholarship of $5,000. Miss Zimmerman has missed only two meetings of the association since it was founded 35 years ago.

Still Active in City.

Her activities in raising money for educational purposes were not stilled with her retirement. She is chairman of a Chicago group of the Friends of the Hebrew university in Jerusalem. During her first year in office the group raised $200. Last year it raised $3,371, including 25 full scholarships and 25 half scholarships.

The money for her philanthropies sometimes comes from unexpected places. Take the $200 she received the other day from one of the early recipients of the Mary Zimmerman College scholarship now fighting somewhere in the Pacific.

Had Waited for Chance.

He wrote, "Perhaps by this time you've begun to wonder why the green slip of paper is enclosed. I think you'll understand when I say that from the day I was awarded the Mary Zimmerman College scholarship I've looked forward to the time when I might be able to return that money so that some other deserving youngster would have an opportunity to continue his education."

His spirit is typical of those who have received aid from her scholarships which were designed to get students started on the road to higher education. After the individual received his initial push he was expected to continue by himself. And the majority of them did, usually by the simple method of making such outstanding marks that the university would reward them with scholarships.

Name Principal Speaker.

Municipal Judge John Gutknecht, 1525 Hood av., will be the toastmaster. Principal speakers will include George Cassell, 136 S. Hamill av., assistant superintendent of schools in charge of high schools; Miss Helen Norris, 5626 Dorchester av., personnel director in charge of women at the Commonwealth Edison Co., and Leon B. Sager, 3400 Lake Shore dr., advertising executive.

Miss Pearl Franklin, 5427 Greenwood av., teacher at Wright Junior college, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Her assistants are Miss Ruth Dennen, 632 Stafford pl.; Mrs. Ignace E. Weiss, 5715 Kimbark av.; Miss Norris, Popel, Mrs. W. J. Peelle, Glen Ellyn, and Miss E. Myra Morgan, 5406 Foster av.

Wing Scouts.

The wing Scout program, a new project for senior Girl Scouts, is being conducted in Glen Ellyn with Mrs. C. G. Choyce as leader.

What Are Little Dolls Made Of? Everything Nice

Tommy Clusman, 3, admires a scene of choir boy dolls made by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Clusman, 4936 Maypole av. The dolls are dressed in red satin cassocks and white net surplices with black ties. The hair is made of cotton and tinted with water colors. Buckshot glazed with glue is used for the eyes.

(Story on page 6.)

A typical scene fashioned by the deft hands of Mrs. Clusman is that of carolers standing about a lamp post and children dancing around the Christmas tree. The figures of the girls are dressed in pastel shades of velvet and taffeta and those of the men are attired in darker shades of corduroy.

[TRIBUNE Photos by Julius Gantter.]

Mrs. Clusman also makes Christmas trees hung with ornaments made of paper, and small jewels and other objects to complete her scenes. The crib around which the children are standing is made of balsam wood and held together with pins. A hand crocheted blanket covers the baby and the clothes worn by the figures are handmade. Mrs. Clusman, who spends about three evenings on each doll, is shown using dental instruments to mold paper, wire, and cotton into a doll.

GARFIELD PARK TO SHOW MUMS DURING MONTH

The 32d Chrysanthemum show, sponsored by the Chicago park district, will open Saturday morning in the Garfield Park conservatory and will remain open daily from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. until Dec. 3.

Garfield park conservatory, displaying more than 750 varieties of chrysanthemums, will be arranged in a series of formal rectangular flower beds lined with banks of white, yellow, and bronze mums leading to a waterfall, rock garden, and pool at the west end of Horticultural hall.

According to William C. Blaesing, chief horticulturist of the park district, the Chrysanthemum is a native of China, known as early as 2300 B. C.

OAK PARK'S VET AID CENTER TO OPEN ON NOV. 18

Oak Park's new veterans information center, designed to aid veterans in making a speedier adjustment to civilian life, will be opened formally Saturday, Nov. 18. One of the first of its kind in the country, the center will be staffed by experts. It will serve as a coördinating agency between governmental and other organizations handling veterans' problems.

O. Allen Postlewaite, general chairman of the veterans commission, recently was appointed to create the center and construct a war memorial.

Mrs. V. E. Lindeberg is in charge of the center and Edward A. Sipp is chairman of committees.

LYONS TOWNSHIP YOUTH CAPTURES SCIENCE AWARD

Recognition of Lyons Township High school for furnishing one of 40 finalists in the 1944 national science talent research competition was given when a bronze plaque recently was presented to the school.

Ben Roy Mottelson, who was graduated from the school last spring, was awarded a trip to Washington, D. C., and a $100 scholarship as a finalist in the competition in which more than 15,000 high school students were entered.

The plaque was awarded by Science Clubs of America, which administer the research, and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, which awards scholarships totaling $11,000.

LOYOLA STUDENT BODY TO GREET NEW DEAN TODAY

Loyola university students will give a tea this afternoon in the Cudahy student lounge, 6525 Sheridan rd., welcoming the Rev. John C. Malloy as new dean of the university's downtown college.

Father Malloy, born in Chicago, attended St. Ignatius High school and college, 1076 Roosevelt rd. St. Ignatius college, which formerly was located on the site of the high school, is known now as Loyola university.

NOMINEES 'IN' IN 9 WEST SIDE STATE RACES

Campaign Centers in 23d, 27th.

BY LEE SHASSERE.

After weeks of intensive activity in the political arena, Illinois house of representative nominees in the Chicago area's 11 west senatorial districts are winding up their campaigns with last minute appeals to voters.

Each district will elect three candidates to the Illinois house of representatives. Lively house contests are featured in the 23d and 27th districts, but there are none in the 2d, 7th, 9th, 14th, 15th, 17th, 19th, 21st, and 41st—all west area districts.

State senators will be chosen in the 2d and 14th districts as this is the year when even numbered districts elect members of the upper house.

Following is news of the Republican and Democratic candidates who are seeking election in each of the districts next Tuesday:

2D DISTRICT

There is no house contest in this district. Nomination of one Republican and two Democrats for the three seats last April was tantamount to election. The Republican is Rep. James J. Adduci, 2250 Jackson blvd. The two Democrats are Rep. James J. Ryan, 312 S. Ashland av., and Rep. Vito Marzullo, 613 S. Leavitt st.

Anthony Fosco, 921 S. Oakley blvd., is the Republican nominee for state senator in the 2d district. He faces Sen. Frank Ryan [D.] of 1307 S. California blvd., who was first elected in 1940.

7TH DISTRICT

This district is without a house contest as a result of two Republicans and one Democrat being nominated in April. Republicans are Rep. Bernice T. Van der Vries of Winnetka, and Rep. Frederick A. Virkus, La Grange. Rep. Emmett McGrath of Brookfield, is the Democratic nominee.

9TH DISTRICT

There is no house contest in this district. The two Democratic nominess are Rep. Peter P. Jezierny, 2244 Marshall blvd., and Rep. William J. Gormley, 3359 S. Western av. Rep. William S. Finucane, 2912 Loomis st., is the G. O. P. nominee.

14TH DISTRICT

Another no contest is billed here with two Republicans and one Democrat scheduled to romp into the three house offices. Republicans are Rep. Maud N. Peffers of Aurora, and J. Lisle Laufer of Hampshire. Rep. Peffers is seeking her fourth house term. Laufer, a newcomer, will take the place vacated by Rep. John C. Friedland [R.] who did not file for the house of representatives in order to make a bid for the state senate seat relinquished by Sen. Arnold P. Benson, present G. O. P. candidate for secretary of state. Rep. Leon M. Schuler, Aurora, is the Democratic house nominee.

Merritt J. Little, Aurora, chairman of the Kane county Republican central committee, is the Republican nominee for state senator in the 14th. Little defeated Friedland last April and now faces James T. Walsh [D.] of St. Charles. As the 14th is predominately a Republican district, Little anticipates only minor opposition from Walsh.

15TH DISTRICT

There is no house contest in this district which is regarded as a Democratic stronghold. The two Democratic nominees are Matt Franz, 1720 S. Halsted st., veteran state legislator, and Edward J. Zeman, 1163 18th st., who is replacing Rep. Edward Skarda [D.] who died Sept. 17, 1943. The Republican nominee is Rep. Joseph Zientek, 2001 18th st.

17TH DISTRICT

There is little interest in the house election in this no contest district. The two Democrats who will be elected are Rep. Andrew A. Euzzino, 917 Blue Island av., and John D'Arco, 1116 Polk st., who has replaced Rep. Alfred J. Cilella [D.]. The Republican candidate is Peter C. Granata, veteran politician, of 771 Arthington st., who will take over the house seat now held by Rep. Frank Novelli [R.].

19TH DISTRICT

The no contest sign has been hung out in this district with the only apparent interest centering around one question—which candidate will get the most votes? The two Democratic nominees who will coast to victory are Rep. John O. Hruby, 2758 S. Hamlin av., and Rep. John J. Gorman, 4109 Van Buren st. The Republican candidate is Rep. Frank Houcek of Cicero.

21ST DISTRICT

23D DISTRICT

A lively house contest has developed in this district where the Dem-

Your Congressman

(An Editorial.)

John F. Uczciwek, a fighting lawyer and real estate dealer, has the city hall machine worried in the 8th congressional district. That district in the past has been overwhelmingly Democratic. It is one of the so-called pocket boroughs with only about 125,000 population, many of them Americans of Polish ancestry who in former years were strongly Democratic.

Mr. Uczciwek has set out to change that and if a courageous political fight will do the job he may yet accomplish it. Unlike some previous Republican nominees in the district, he refused to concede defeat when he was nominated. He felt that a strong campaign would accrue to the benefit of county and state candidates, even if it did not win him a seat in congress. Recently, however, he has thrown a scare into his Democratic opponent, Thomas S. Gordon, a city hall wheel horse before he was given what was supposed to be a sinecure in the 8th district.

A prime issue in the campaign is the backroom deal in Teheran that betrayed Poland to Stalin. As a candidate obligated equally to the Roosevelt administration and to Sidney Hillman and his Communists, Gordon has been unable to do or say anything against that deal, in or out of congress. Mr. Uczciwek has sought to pound home to the voters of the district the lesson that if they want anything beyond supine approval of Roosevelt's toadying foreign policy and the incompetence of the New Deal in administering rationing and other domestic policies, they will have to look elsewhere than to the Democratic nominee. Because of his courageous campaign against admitted odds, his candidacy is recommended to all Republican and independent voters.

In the 6th congressional district, also on the west side, The Tribune recommends the support of Iva J. Henderson, a nominal independent who has the backing of the regular Republican organization in the western wards of Chicago and the suburban townships of the district. Henderson entered the race with the support of the Republican organization after the regular Republican nomination had been won in a very lightly contested primary by a man whose appeals to race and religious hatred disqualify him for office.

Unlike Vice President Truman and the PAC, both of whom have embraced a former Ku Kluxer nominated by the Democrats, Cook county Republicans refused to compromise with breeders of intolerance and hatred. Their choice was a courageous one, since it left two candidates contending for the vote against the Democratic nominee. Inasmuch as the Democrat is the notorious Blind Tom O'Brien, decent voters, regardless of party, have no choice except to give their support to Mr. Henderson.

Adolph Sabath, the Democratic nominee in the tiny 5th congressional district, has been the associate of political gangsters and vote stealers, and a rubber stamp for the Kelly machine and the New Dealers thruout his political career. He now adds senility to his other disqualifications for office. His Republican opponent is Max Price.

There are also small portions of the 4th and 7th districts on the west side. Support of the Republican nominees, Leo J. Kozicki in the 4th and Charles H. Garland, the exceptionally capable mayor of Des Plaines, in the 7th is recommended.

Names Hinsdale Student Group to Aid Principal

George Marek, president of the student council at Hinsdale High school, recently appointed a student administrative committee to act as an advisory board to the principal. Members of the committee are two seniors, Phyllis Kurtz and Katherine Burt; two juniors, Peggy Keller and Connie Creed; one sophomore, Rodney Rawlins, and one freshman, Henry Soukup.

John Uczciwek.

With congressional campaigns drawing to an end, supporters of two Republican nominees on the west and northwest sides are emphasizing the personal qualities and independence of their leaders, as contrasted to the supine obedience of their opponents to the city hall machine.

The G. O. P. candidates are Charles H. Garland, mayor of Des Plaines and former radio executive, in the big 7th district, and John F. Uczciwek, business man who has been active in Polish-American fraternal and civic affairs, in the 8th. Their opponents are William W. Link [in the 7th], who has held appointive political jobs for the last dozen years, and Thomas S. Gordon, former city treasurer and a strictly orthodox machine Democrat.

Garland Target of PAC.

Garland, who has been made the target of a smear campaign by the CIO political action committee [communist dominated] and its little ally, the Independent Voters of Illinois, which supports Democrats only, is reported to be more than matching their efforts by the vigor of his drive. As an example, he has made 159 speeches.

"I am plugging along, preaching Americanism," Garland said. "Once the people know what I represent I have no fears.

"Thinking Done by Kelly."

"Mayor Kelly by all accounts is an able man, but he is not able enough to do all the thinking for seven Chicago congressmen. That, however, is what he is attempting.

"My opponent, tho of Polish ancestry, dares not criticize the Polish policy of the administration, which is a policy of appeasing Stalin. My voice will always be raised in favor of a free and whole Poland, and that goes for all the smaller nations which have been our allies."

Garland has urged a return to private enterprise not bound in burocratic red tape, so that jobs may be created for the post-war era. He favors real jobs for the service men, and adequate benefits for them. He has advocated the retention of the great Douglas airport near Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

Garland was sales manager for radio station WBBM until his nomination last spring, when he resigned to devote himself to the campaign. He is a veteran of the first World war and has two sons in the fighting services. Link also has two sons in service.

Uczciwek Defends Poland.

Uczciwek referred to Gordon as "a mute, inglorious congressman" who had never been "recognized on the floor of the house, either because the mayor wasn't there to prompt him or because the discussions were over his head."

"There is an old proverb to the effect that a man swears when he has nothing to say," said Pczciwek. "Cong. Gordon did not have the courage even to cuss in the name of humanity the butchery of Polish people, nor to decry the rape of his ancestral homeland or its fate as outlined by the soviets.

"It is time now to change congressmen, if the Polish and Italian Americans of the 8th district are to have some one really represent them and work for justice in their behalf. Either we get that change or the city hall, which can't even keep the alleys clean, will continue to boss some Chicago congressmen."

Native of Chicago.

Uczciwek is 41 years old and a native of Chicago. He is a real estate and insurance broker. He is also a lawyer. For some years before going into business for himself he was real estate manager for the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America. He is president of the St. George society. Married, he has five children.

In another west side district, the 4th, the G. O. P. nominee is Leo J. Kozicki, real estate dealer. He is waging an unusually active fight—for this traditionally Democratic territory. Among his talking points are the confusions and inequities of war time rationing under the OPA, the unsatisfactory Polish policy of the Roosevelt regime and the loss of independence by small business men under the impact of Washington burocracy.

His opponent is Martin Gorski, the incumbent Democrat. Gorski is a bachelor, 57 years old, and is serving his first term. He was formerly an assistant state's attorney and is the choice of the city hall for his job.

Other West Side Districts.

Two other west side districts, despite the nearness of the election, are displaying no tremendous interest in the congressional races. In the 5th, a Democratic stronghold, Cong. Adolph Sabath, distinguished by his long attachment to pay rolls, is opposed by Max Price. In the 6th, Cong. Thomas J. O'Brien, Democrat, has two opponents—Charles J. Anderson Jr., G. O. P. nominee, and Iva J. Henderson, independent. O'Brien is the probable winner.

Chauncey W. Reed, Republican incumbent, will win easily over Otto J. Hruby in the 11th. Du Page, McHenry, Kane, and Will counties compose this district.

WELSH CHURCH TO BEGIN RITES OF CENTENNIAL

First Services Held at Shoemaker's.

A century ago a few Welsh people who wanted to worship God together and in their native tongue organized the Hebron Welsh Presbyterian church in the home of a shoemaker. Tomorrow, the descendents of that group will begin a week's celebration in honor of their centennial.

The church has been moved from a room in a building at Randolph and Canal sts., to a modern edifice at Adams st. and Francisco av. The Rev. William J. Griffith, pastor for the last five years, organized plans a year ago for the centennial celebration.

The anniversary program, beginning tomorrow evening with greetings by the Rev. Mr. Griffith, will end next Sunday. Tuesday evening Dr. John C. Jones of Milwaukee, Wis., will be the guest speaker; Wednesday evening at Fellowship night church members will be addressed by the Rev. Ivor Griffith of Philadelphia, Pa.; Thursday evening the Rev. E. Cynolwyn Pugh of New York City and the Rev. E. Arvon Jones will speak a worship service.

Saturday evening a dinner and bazar will be held in the church, and a concert will be given by Gwilyn Jones and Mrs. Mair Jones Judson, vocalists. Sunday morning the Rev. Mr. Griffith will conduct a Welsh service at 10:30 o'clock, which will be followed by Cymanfa Ganu [music festival] in the afternoon and evening.

NO CONTEST IN 9 OF 11 CONGRESS AREAS ON W. SIDE

ocrats now control two of the three house seats. Republican nominees are Rep. William G. Thon, 432 S. Lombard av., Oak Park, and Atty. Daniel A. Roberts, 1451 N. Avers av., a former state representative, now 31st ward Republican committeeman. Thon is seeking his 14th consecutive house term.

Seeking reëlection on the Democratic ticket are Rep. Arthur M. Kaindl, 2600 Chicago av., a civil engineer, who has served six terms in the house, and Rep. Stanley A. Halick, 1216 N. Maplewood av., an auditor, who has been in the house since 1934.

27TH DISTRICT

Democrats now hold all three house seats in this district, having gained control in 1942. The three incumbents, who are seeking reëlection, are Representatives A. L. Luth, 1100 Van Buren st.; John C. Kuklinski, 1813 Armitage av., and Anthony C. Prusinski, 1924 Armitage av. Their efforts to make another clean sweep are being challenged by Joseph D. Day, 25 N. Morgan st., the Republican nominee.

Day's task, in a predominately Democratic district, presented a difficult assignment at the beginning of the campaign, but his aggressive fight, political students say, has gained many votes for him. Day's fearless demands that Poland remain independent and undivided has so aroused many of the district's Polish voters that last week he was unanimously endorsed by the Polish-American committee for Free Poland.

41ST DISTRICT

There is no contest for the three house seats, Republicans having nominated two candidates and the Democrats one. Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, and Morton H. Hollingsworth, Joliet real estate man, are the Republican nominees. The Democrat is J. Harold Downey, a Joliet lawyer. Hollingsworth will replace Rep. Warren L. Wood [R.] now in military service. Downey will take over the seat which was held by Rep. John J. Maloney [D.] until his death Dec. 17, 1943.

BUSINESS GROUP OFFERS FUND TO SURVEY CICERO

The proposed survey of the administration of the town of Cicero was discussed at the recent monthly dinner of the Cicero Manufacturers' association.

The survey and service submitted to the board of trustees by the Public Administration service is to cost not to exceed $15,000.

The service was founded thru the assistance of the Rockerfeller Foundation and has made a practice of studying the administration of city and town governments and government activities.

The service, it further was explained, knows from research what should be government costs and how to curtail overlapping expenses. The proposed program would analyze all departments of the Cicero government. As Cicero has no funds for the purpose, the Cicero Manufacturers' association resolved to underwrite the expense, contingent upon the town board adopting a resolution ordering the survey.

A spokesman for the manufacturers' association said the work would proceed as soon as it was authorized by town officials, and that it would take six months to develop and make the suggested changes. He added:

"It is fortunate that the services of the Public Administration service can be obtained as all departments of the town undoubtedly would be benefited. The association is benefited by better government, and is anxious to coöperate in guaranteeing the expense of the survey. It will benefit all property owners and every one residing in Cicero."

Officers of the Cicero Manufacturers' association are: E. O. Walker, president; D. B. Alexander, vice president; W. W. Knight, second vice president; R. H. Coolidge, treasurer, and B. N. Braun, secretary.

EDUCATION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED BY PROVISO HIGH

Amplifying the general theme of "Education for New Tasks," speakers from both the faculty and student body of Proviso High school will, on request, appear this week before churches, women's clubs, and other civic organizations. The activity will be part of American education week starting today.

Open house will be observed at the school Tuesday night. Special assemblies for all students will be held Tuesday in the auditorium. Friday night, the junior class will present the play, "Spring Green."

In addition to the special activities, a number of other features have been planned. In the showcase in the south corridor of the school building will be a collection of war souvenirs. For the most part, these souvenirs have been sent by men in the service, and loaned to the school by their families.

Delano Legion to Hold Armistice Tea Sunday

Jane A. Delano post of the American Legion will hold its annual Armistice day tea from 4 to 7 p. m. Sunday at the Nurses' club, 8 S. Michigan av. The executive committee will meet at 3 p. m.

LOYOLA SETS UP ARMY HOSPITAL IN PARIS, FRANCE

Huge Institution Throngs with Wounded Men.

Behind the announcement by the 108th Army General hospital, now established in the outskirts of Paris, France, is the story of one of the largest single hospital units of the war.

Sponsored by Loyola university, the hospital's personnel consists of doctors and dentists from schools of the university, nurses from Loyola affiliated hospitals, and enlisted men, many of whom are former Loyola university students.

The Loyola group is staffing a hospital 11 stories high, with the top floors devoted to operating rooms. It has the newest and best equipment, and is receiving blood plasma from the United States.

Floors Throng With Wounded.

Lt. Col. William J. Vynalek, Riverside, wrote from France that the medical unit started work at the Clichy location Sept. 1 with seven operating tables in use day and night. He told of floors and corridors thronging with hundreds of badly wounded Germans, and the filling of the hospital, which is as large as Cook county hospital, in 48 hours. He also reported 20 German injured to every American. For the most part, he said, the Americans had been treated previously at an evacuation hospital.

The German prisoners have been evacuated and the hospital now is being used for American soldiers only. Patients recuperate in pleasant surroundings—there are sun rooms and gardens—and entertainment is supplied by visiting stars of stage, screen, and radio.

When the Loyola unit first arrived overseas in October, 1943, it took up quarters at an estate in Sudbury, England. It remained there until May, 1944, when it moved to Llandudne, Wales. From there the unit moved to Clichy, France.

Founded in 1918.

The history of the Loyola unit, known as the 108th army general hospital group, dates back to 1918 when it was sponsored by Mercy hospital. The outfit disbanded after the World War I., then was reorganized in 1924 at Loyola as a reserve officers unit. Reactivated shortly after Pearl Harbor, the contingent reported to Le Garde general hospital, New Orleans, La., Jan. 1, 1943.

Fifteen freight cars are needed to carry the beds, linens, medicines, and operating room equipment used by the group. Despite its large personnel, 346 French citizens have hired to help maintain the hospital.

The only unit privileged to wear its own distinctive badge, Loyola medical workers show the insignia of a rampant lion with the motto "Pro Deo et Patria" [For God and Country], done in maroon and gold, official colors of the university.

SUBWAY, BABIES CHICAGO'S ONLY CHANGES TO VET

Pvt. Henry Fitzmaurice, 25, 4819 Van Buren st., recently returned home after 33 months in the South Pacific. After looking around his home town, he decided the only noticeable changes in Chicago are the subway and his sister's two baby daughters.

Pvt. Henry Fitzmaurice.

Pvt. Fitzmaurice, the son of Mrs. Bridget Fitzmaurice, is a graduate of Marshall High school and joined the army in August, 1941. He wears the combat infantry man badge, the American defense ribbon, and the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with two stars for the battles of New Guinea and Biak.

He has two brothers in service. They are Pvt. James, 23, and Pvt. Thomas, 28, both stationed in the Pacific. Another brother, John, and two sisters, Eileen, and Mrs. Julie McLaughlin, reside with their mother. Pvt. Fitzmaurice has reported to Miami, Fla., for further assignment.

Visit Opera.

Trips to the opera in Chicago are this year being sponsored for students by the Glenbard High school music department.

SON PENS LIFE STORY OF DAD 84 ON TUESDAY

Octogenarian in Cicero Recalls Big Fire.

In planning for the observance of the 84th birthday of Herman Henry Wiegman, 1418 S. 60th court, Cicero, his son, Henry John Wiegman, has prepared a brief family history which dates back to Chicago's early days. Henry, an armless artist, and his brother, Clarence, reside with their father in a bungalow into which they moved 20 years ago.

"At family parties," Henry has written, "the father of seven living children, grandfather of nine, and a great-grandfather of two children, likes to entertain with his memories of the great Chicago fire.

Born in Burlington, Ia.

"The story, often told, runs something like this: 'I was born in Burlington, Ia., before the Civil war. For some reason my father yearned for Chicago even in those days. So the family moved here and when I was a littel shaver my Dad ran a boarding house and saloon. Our boarders were sailors on the Great Lakes.

"One day there was a big fire in one of the lumber yards and because of it he tended bar for two straight days. When he became so tired he couldn't stand he closed the saloon and went to bed. He told mother he wouldn't get up until the walls got hot, but looking out the window he saw the sky was a bright red. We kids were told to stay in bed which we did because we were scared.

Freight Train Carried Family.

"As soon as the saloon doors opened again carpenters from the mills near-by streamed in to store their wooden tool chests along the wall. They thought the place would never burn because it was surrounded by vacant lots. About midnight a freight train stopped in the back of the saloon, and the conductor told father he better put his family aboard so they could be taken out of the fire zone.

"Father thought it a grand idea. So we kids hurriedly dressed. On the way out of the building I noticed a violin and started to take it with me but mother told me to put it back. She said I was lucky to save my skin without worrying about the fiddle.

Train Runs Thru Fire.

"There were four box cars and two flat cars on the train, and the flat cars were piled high with all kinds of household goods. We climbed into one of the box cars, the doors were closed, and we started thru the fire. Flames were big and hot, and we'd only gone a short distance when it became necessary to unhitch the two flat cars because they had become a mass of flames.

"After what seemed a long time the train stopped, the doors were opened, and we got out. We had been brought to a large freight yard where we found hundreds of other families. Later we were taken in an open wagon to a little cottage where 15 people crowded together for many days. It was fun for us kids but not for our folks.

"After the fire, we kids could walk for miles and see nothing but piles of ashes. One day I went to where our home had stood and found that even the dishes had melted together. Soldiers were patroling the area."

Retired in 1925.

After attaining manhood Mr. Wiegman engaged in several businesses, including a cigar store, a pool room, a tea and spice store, and a barrel store. He conducted a grocery and market of his own until 1913, after which he worked for a grocery store in Oak Park. He moved to Cicero and retired in 1925. Mrs. Wiegman died in 1935.

Plans have been made for the annual birthday party to be held Tuesday night at the elder Mr. Wiegman's home. Sons of Mr. Wiegman are Henry and Clarence, residing at home; Herman C., 321 N. Pine av.; Arthur F., 6060 Marmora av., and Willard, 3534 Nora av. Daughters are Mrs. Mable Voss, 4120 Blanchan av., Congress Park, and Mrs. Ruth Holpuch, 3440 Vernon av., Brookfield.

PTA OF MORTON TO HOLD DINNER, HEAR SCHACHER

The Morton High school PTA will conduct the most pretentious program in its history Wednesday night when the annual fathers and daughters' banquet will be held in the school cafeteria. After the dinner a meeting will be held in the school auditorium.

Rudolph H. Tillman, president of the organization, will be in charge of the business session at which J. B. Royse, program chairman, will introduce the speaker, Dr. Gerhard Schacher, radio news interpreter. The talk will be followed by a question period.

The Morton band, directed by Louis M. Blaha, will give a half hour program of patriotic music. Berwyn and Cicero posts of the American Legion and of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled War Veterans post will present the colors. Members of auxiliaries of the posts will attend in uniform.

Maj. W. P. MacLean, superintendent of the high school, has invited all Morton service men and women and their relatives to attend the program. Tribute will be paid to the memory of those who are represented by the 97 gold stars in the school's service flag.

Glenbard High Juniors to Present 'What a Life'

"What a Life" will be presented Nov. 17 by the junior class of Glenbard High school under direction of Miss Rachel Whitfield. The story concerns a high school boy, played by Rollin Tomberlin, who has trouble remembering history dates and the raising of money to take his girl, played by Dorothy Tomenendal, to a dance.

TRIBUTE IS PAID FOR WAR RELIEF OF MORTON HIGH

Book Given School by British.

A book entitled "Sixteen Famous British Plays" recently was awarded Morton High school for its five years of service with the British War Relief. Accompanying the book was a card which read: "A special award to the Morton High school students for five years of constant coöperation for relief work for the British war sufferers."

Miss J. M. Austin, director of the personnel bureau and adviser of the welfare committee at Morton, said the award was given the school because it had been given credit for more coöperation with the British War Relief society than any other high school in the Chicago area.

Aid Children of Europe.

Morton's first aid to the society was the initial clothing drive for refugees conducted in 1941. The annual drives have been sponsored by the Junior-Senior Girls' club, senior council, and the welfare committee.

Each year Morton sends, not only to British war orphans but to the homeless and needy children of every country in war torn Europe, boxes packed with used clothing, aprons, bibs, baby jackets, and toys made by students in classes and clubs at the school.

Toys Made and Repaired.

Last year the Morton Almega club made more than 50 stuffed animals, and the shop boys made and repaired numerous wooden toys. Knitted garments have been made by the Junior-Seniors Girls' club, Almega club, Red Cross, and other organizations at the school.

Plans are in progress for displaying the clothing and toys made by the students. Also on display will be the book that has been awarded by the British War Relief. Later, the book will be given a place in the Morton library.

Sponsor Drive This Week.

This week the Junior-Senior Girls' club and the Morton High School Senior council will sponsor a clothes campaign for the needy of all allied nations. Any article of clothing that is wearable will be welcomed.

Members of a committee of students who recently visited the British War Relief society to find what is done with clothing when it is packed and shipped were Gladys Hejmalik, Donna Drought, Joan Travnicek, Marilyn Carter, Bernadine Kuras, Dolores Kufrin, Sylvia Marohnic, Richard Carlson, Charles Randa, James Griffes, Thomas Drabek, and Donald Abram.

G.O.P. QUINTET SEEKS TO HOLD KANE CO. POSTS

Five incumbents are candidates on the Republican ticket for the county offices to be filled in the general election Tuesday in Kane county. Only two of the offices are being contested by the Democrats.

Republican candidates are Charles G. Seidel, Elgin, for state's attorney; Charles F. Farmiloe, Aurora, for clerk of the circuit court; M. H. Agnew, Elgin, for recorder of deeds; George A. Chapman, Elgin, for county auditor, and L. Victor Peterson, Elgin, for coroner.

Democratic candidates are John Vincent, Aurora, for state's attorney, and Richard E. Gieser, Aurora, for coroner.

Voters will be given a special ballot on the question of establishing a retirement fund for county employes.

In Aurora, voters will not only pass on the county-wide special ballot but on a separate ballot posing the same question for Aurora municipal employes.

A registration of at least 40,000 in Kane county, outside Aurora, is estimated by Charles Lowry, county clerk. The estimate for Aurora is 27,000, making a total of 67,000 for the entire county.

Mr. Lowry said that in working to meet permanent registration rules for the first time as they pertain to a national election, 38,000 postal cards were sent out weeks ago. Some 6,000 of these were returned because of a change of address, and it was found that when a second attempt was made to reach the voter some of these had moved a second time.

Hal J. Carr, chief clerk of the Aurora board of election commissioners, said 23,250 of the estimated 27,000 who would be eligible to vote Tuesday had registered by Sept. 15. Soldier ballots sent out by the city totaled 1,610, and there were applications for 250 civilian absentee ballots.

Everyone just loves

he always gives such wonderful presents... and, of course, he gets them here!

Uncle Elbert loves to give people things that are fun. So he's giving Grandma a ouija board for Christmas. When he came to see us in our wonderful games section, he found not only ouija boards, but plump stuffed animals, fascinating games! He just couldn't tear himself away. So he took care of his entire Christmas list right there. Wise man, Uncle Elbert!

Games—Second Floor, Oak Park

1. Basket Bowl Game. Uncle Elbert is going to give this exciting game to the whole family. It combines the features of bowling and basketball. $5

2. Big Floppy Horse whose wobbly legs assume hilarious positions. Uncle Elbert got this for his niece Joan's room at college. $4.95

3. Raggedy Ann games. Uncle Elbert knew right away that this was the perfect gift for little Sue, who always has her head in a Raggedy Ann book. Now she can play games with her favorite characters. $1.50

4. Mexican chair. Uncle Elbert fell in love with this and who can blame him? It's hand-painted and only 18 inches high—just the right size for his 3-year-old niece Mary Lou. $2.95

5. Shufflette. For Grandpa, who loved playing shuffleboard in Florida last winter and who won't be able to get South this year. Combines all the excitement and thrills of shuffleboard and is for indoor or outdoor play. $3.50

6. Five Famous Favorites. Mom and Dad will love their present from Uncle Elbert. It's their five favorite games—Tripoly, Backgammon, Number Chek, Horse Race and Checkers. What fun for winter evenings. $2

7. Bombs Away. Uncle Elbert's nephew, Dickie, is an avid air corps fan and will love this eagle bombsight with four blockbuster bombs and a soft board target depicting an enemy industrial town. $2

8. Sorry. Combines chance with skill—exciting and everchanging situations. Uncle Elbert knows that Aunt Molly and her family will have lots of fun with this game. $1.50

9. Checards. Uncle Elbert chose this fascinating game for Uncle Harry. It combines the skill of checkers with the luck of cards. $2

10. Monopoly. The perennial favorite among games for the entire family. Uncle Elbert is giving it to his nephew Paul, who always goes next door to use the neighbors' monopoly game. $2

11. Ouija board. The mysterious talking board that "answers" your questions by spelling out words or counting figures. Uncle Elbert knows that Grandma will love this. $2

HER DOLLS LIVE FOR GALA DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Hobby Realized in Dickens' Models.

BY BETTY CASEY.

What are little dolls made of? Why, paper and wire, and cotton and wool. These are what Mrs. Margaret Clusman, who discovered quite by accident four years ago she had a talent for creating dolls, makes her characters from.

In her home at 4936 Maypole av. the 34 year old doll-maker pursues the hobby she began when, as a department store worker, she was confronted with the problem of making a snow man for display. "I never had attempted anything like that," Mrs. Clusman confided, "but I took a paper bag, stuffed it and covered it with cotton. Much to my surprise I had a snow man."

Her Work for Christmas.

Inspired by her first achievement, she embarked on a hobby that has since grown into a small business. The beautiful centerpieces she made for her friends attracted such wide attention that she was persuaded to sell them.

While other artisans work full time making Easter bunnies, valentines, and other objects characteristic of the holidays, Mrs. Clusman works on displays to be used only during the Christmas season. Her daylight hours are occupied with the customary duties of a housewife and in the evening she makes her dolls while her 3 year old son, Tommy, is asleep and her husband, Louis, is at work.

Uses Dental Instruments.

Because her work is so minute Mrs. Clusman uses dental instruments in modeling her Dickensian characters.

Mrs. Clusman's scenes are laid on white cotton, giving an effect of snow. Child dolls dance around Christmas trees hung with ornaments and street singers are grouped under lamp posts ready for their carols.

Mrs. Clusman's figures are complete to the smallest detail. The faces of her characters all are different and each little figure requires about three evenings' work.

Mrs. Clusman loves her little characters and after seeing her at her work one gets the impression that they come from her heart guiding, of course, a pair of very artistic hands.

Benny Will Introduce New Singer Tonight

Jack Benny will introduce his new singer, Larry Stevens, on WMAQ-NBC at 6 o'clock tonight. Stevens, who served in the United States army air corps for approximately a year and received an honorable discharge, will make his radio debut with "I'll Be Seeing You." Another event on Benny's show tonight will be the guest appearance of Dunninger, mind reader.

Discuss War Industry Reconversion on W-G-N

"The Reconversion of War Industry" is the topic for discussion on the Northwestern Reviewing Stand program over W-G-N-Mutual at 10:30 a. m. today. Wilfred Sykes, John Lovett, William Spriegel, and Corwin Edwards will participate.

NBC Orchestra Airs Beethoven's 'Eroica'

Arturo Toscanini will direct the NBC Symphony orchestra in Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E flat, better known as the "Eroica" Symphony, over WMAQ-NBC at 4 p. m.

BEST ELECTION COVERAGE YET! W-G-N PROMISE

Reports to Be Broadcast for Loop Crowds.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The swiftest and most complete election coverage in its 20 years history—that is the promise of W-G-N for next Tuesday. As the election bulletins roll in during the evening, several regularly scheduled programs will be canceled; all others subject to interruption. WGNB, W-G-N's FM sister station, which normally signs off at 9 p. m., will stay on thru the night with W-G-N or until all important contests are decided.

To cover the election W-G-N, besides using 27 members of its own staff, will have supplementary services from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the Mutual Broadcasting system, Associated Press, United Press, Press association, and the City News bureau. W-G-N has arranged for direct broadcasting connections with major party headquarters in Chicago and tabulating headquarters in the county building. Leaders and candidates of both parties will speak over W-G-N from La Salle and Morrison hotel headquarters.

Air News in State Street.

To bring the news to the thousands who will be in the loop Tuesday night W-G-N has made arrangements with the State Street council for exclusive use of its new public address system. News returns and recorded music will be relayed from W-G-N thru the 80 horn system from Wacker dr. to Congress st. along State st.

W-G-N will also install loudspeakers at the corners of Madison and Clark sts., Randolph and Clark sts., and Randolph and Dearborn sts.

Mutual's Election Plans.

W-G-N will broadcast election news thruout the day, and the first tabulations as soon as they are available. Broadcasts over the loop system will begin at 6 p. m.

Mutual pickups will come from many cities of the nation. It is expected that key winning and losing candidates will be brought to the microphone. Mutual expects to make special pickups from the Philippines, Rome, and Paris, giving the reaction of service men to the news of election day.

THEATER OF THE AIR TO OPEN SATURDAY WITH 'GREAT WALTZ'

Opening its fifth season of operetta and opera productions, The Chicago Theater of the Air will present "The Great Waltz" next Saturday, Armistice day, from the stage of the huge auditorium in Medinah temple before an audience of more than 4,000. The broadcast henceforth will be aired at a new time, from 9 to 10 p. m. over W-G-N, WGNB and the coast-to-coast Mutual network.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

Marion Claire will return to the series starring in the role of Resi. Singing opposite her in the role of the younger Johann Strauss will be Morton Bowe, tenor. Bruce Foote, baritone, will sing the role of Lt. Poldi.

Strauss music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus under the baton of Henry Weber, W-G-N's director of music.

Speaking lines will be taken by an all-star dramatic cast, including Laurette Fillbrandt, John Barclay, Robert Murphy and Norman Gottschalk.

Miss Claire will sing "Morning," "With All My Heart," "We Love You Still," "Blue Danube" and, with Mr. Bowe, will offer "You Are My Songs," "Love Will Find You," and "While You Love Me." Mr. Bowe will also sing "One Hour."

Bruce Foote and the chorus will offer "In Love and War."

This broadcast marks the return of the Chicago Theater of the Air to Medinah temple, where weekly programs were presented last season before a combined audience of more than 90,000 people.

Paragraphs About People You May Know

RICHARD G. MURPHY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Murphy, 1104 Fair Oaks av., Oak Park, received a bachelor degree in commerce at convocation ceremonies at the University of Notre Dame. Murphy has been active in many campus organizations. He was president of the Commerce forum; a staff member of Scholastica, campus news weekly; chairman of the junior-senior prom and the sophomore cotillion; and was active in promoting the Knights of Columbus charity carnival.

Richard G. Murphy.

Mrs. Arthur Taube, 1018 N. Grove av., Oak Park, recently was reelected for the third time to the presidency of the Valparaiso University Women's guild, Valparaiso, Ind.

WHAT is considered its prize thank-you letter for cigarets recently was received by the Riverside Chamber of Commerce from Capt. John E. Estabrook of the United States marine corps, who wrote from the Marianas Islands. His long letter includes the following paragraph: "I had been on duty for 36 hours and had just awakened from a three hour sleep, which is all I could allow myself at the time. All the problems of the last few days were surging about me on awakening and there was a terrible feeling of frustration and loneliness. All I desired at the moment was the comfort of a smoke. I had none. It was then that I was presented with the pack from you, . . . I suddenly found my little faraway world peopled by a thousand friends—the business men, school children, housewives, newspaper boys—all the grand people who had contributed their pennies and nickels to send me a package of cigarets and 'the best wishes of Riverside.'"

THAT no one with talent may lose an opportunity to sing in the "Messiah," now under rehearsal in Elmhurst, Caroline Hohmann, chairman of the music division of the recreation department of the Elmhurst park board, announces that extra rehearsals have been arranged for those who cannot attend on Monday nights. Work is progressing nicely on the choruses, but the group would welcome a few more voices familiar with the "Messiah" score.

In a recent poll taken at Glenbard High school 44 boys and 50 girls chose Dewey and 22 boys and 15 girls picked Roosevelt. Two boys and three girls polled had no opinion.

AUGUST C. HENNIG, Maywood, recently gave his views on why he intends to vote for Gov. Green's reëlection. Hennig said: "I am voting for Gov. Green not only because of the great interest he has shown in behalf of our returning soldiers, but because he is one of those outstanding public officials who puts his country before his politics." Hennig, a recent winner of the Carnegie medal, has been active in disabled war veterans' affairs at government hospitals for many years, and is a former service officer and past commander of an American Legion post.

Kenneth Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sanders, Maywood, recently received a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from the Illinois Institute of Technology.

NEW DEAL BLOTS NEGROES' HOPES, LEADERS ASSERT

BY LEWIS WILLIAMS.

Pledged to the support of Charles H. Garland, G. O. P. nominee for congress in the 7th district, is a group of west side Negro business leaders who see in the Republican party the only hope of obtaining the rights of their race in America.

Many have been lifelong Republicans. Others have deserted the New Deal, which they believe is hamstrung by a desire for a solid block of southern votes at the expense of a minority group, to return to the Republican fold.

One of the spokesmen, Dr. E. P. Boatwright, a dentist of 2050 Maypole av., summed up the group's interest in the election of Garland and the entire Republican ticket.

Says South Impedes Negroes.

"Whether it wants to or not, the Democratic party must bow to the wishes of the south and the south has always formed the biggest barrier to the advancement of the Negro," Dr. Boatwright charged.

"It is a blot on the Negroes' claim to freedom of thought that we of our race in the north are not as solidly Republican as the southern whites are Democratic," he said. "For a few nickel nursing jobs some of the Negroes of the north have sold their greatest privilege—the vote.

Raps Soldier Treatment.

"It is time for us to realize that our salvation lies not in a few insignificant political jobs provided as salve by the New Deal but in the true freedom of opportunity promised by the Republican party and Mr. Garland."

General Hudley, 2500 Lake st., a garage owner, in announcing he would support Garland, called attention to the humiliating treatment accorded the Negro soldier by the war department.

"The Democratic party never has been and never will be the friend of the Negro," he said. "It has sought our votes with paltry favors but in matters of importance has given us no more consideration than an elephant would a mosquito.

"If, for no other reason," Hudley added, "Negroes thruout the nation who can vote, should, on Nov. 7, register a protest against the treatment of Negro soldiers. Sent to camps in the south, they are subjected to treatment more humiliating than that ever accorded a slave."

"Denied Battle Service."

Negro service men, for the most part, have been denied the honor of battle service, but have, instead, "been assigned to menial tasks which the New Deal supposes to be beneath the dignity of the white man," asserted Hudley.

"Because they have been kept in the country as janitors, mess boys, and scavengers, the Negro soldiers will be the last discharged under the New Deal plan," he added.

He further declared that the Republican record is clear. "They have given the Negro an opportunity in civilian life and they will in military circles. Our soldiers will vote Republican and we can do no better than follow their lead," he urged.

Hudley said a vote for Garland is a vote for Joe Martin of Massachusetts, a friend of the Negro, as speaker of the house of representatives, and that a vote for the "city hall puppet" opposing Garland is a vote for Sam Rayburn of Texas as speaker and accordingly a vote for continued control by the Democrats of congressional committees important to Negro welfare.

WATCH THREE N.W. DISTRICTS IN STATE RACES

Interest Centers in 23d, 25th, 27th.

BY LEE SHASSERE.

After weeks of intensive activity in the political arena, Illinois house of representative candidates in the Chicago area's eight northwest senatorial districts are winding up their campaigns with last minute appeals to voters.

Each district will elect three. Lively contests are featured in the 23d, 25th, and 27th districts, but there are none in the 7th, 8th, 14th, 21st, and 41st.

State senators will be chosen in the 8th and 14th districts, as this is the year when even-numbered senatorial districts elect members of the upper house.

Following is news of the Republican and Democratic candidates who are seeking election in each of the districts next Tuesday:

7TH DISTRICT

This district is without a house contest as two Republicans and one Democrat were nominated in April. Such action was tantamount to election. Republican nominees are Rep. Bernice T. Van der Vried of Winnetka and Rep. Frederick A. Virkus, La Grange. Rep. Emmett McGrath of Brookfield is the Democratic nominee.

8TH DISTRICT

There is no state house contest in this Republican stronghold. As for the state senate race, G. O. P. leaders say they foresee little opposition from the Democrats. Republican nominees who will be reëlected to the house of representatives are Rep. Nick Keller of Waukegan and Rep. Harold D. Kelsey of Barrington. Democrats will return Rep. Thomas A. Bolger of McHenry.

State Sen. Ray Paddock [R.] of Round Lake, who has been in the upper house since 1928, is a candidate for reëlection. He is opposed by Charles F. Hayes, a retired railroad conductor.

14TH DISTRICT

Another no-contest is billed here with the two Republicans and one Democrat scheduled to romp into the three house offices. Republicans are Rep. Maud N. Peffers of Aurora and J. Lisle Laufer of Hampshire. Rep. Peffers is seeking her fourth consecutive house term. Laufer, a newcomer, will take the place vacated by Rep. John C. Friedland [R.], who did not file for the house of representatives in order to make a bid for the state senate seat relinquished by Sen. Arnold P. Benson, present G. O. P. candidate for secretary of state. Rep. Leon M. Schuler of Aurora is the Democratic house nominee.

Merritt J. Little, Aurora, chairman of the Kane county Republican central committee, is the Republican nominee for state senator in the 14th. Little defeated Friedland last April and now faces James T. Walsh [D.] of St. Charles. As the 14th is predominately a Republican district, Little anticipates only minor opposition from Walsh.

21ST DISTRICT

23D DISTRICT

A lively house contest has developed in this district where the Democrats now control two of the three house seats. Republican nominees are Rep. William G. Thon, 432 S. Lombard av., Oak Park, and Atty. Daniel A. Roberts, 1451 N. Avers av., a former state representative and now 31st ward Republican committeeman. Thon is seeking his 14th consecutive term.

Seeking reëlection on the Democratic ticket are Rep. Arthur M. Kaindl, 2600 Chicago av., a civil engineer, who has served six terms in the house, and Rep. Stanley A. Halick, 1216 N. Maplewood av., an auditor, who has held a seat since 1934.

25TH DISTRICT

Keen rivlary marks the contest for the three house seats now held by two Democrats and one Republican. Republicans have nominated Rep. Elroy C. Sandquist, 4239 N. Whipple st., a war plant worker, now serving his fifth house term, and Alden J. Cowen, 4834 Addison st., secretary of the 38th ward regular Republican organization. Both Sandquist and Cowen are veterans of the first World war and are pledged to work for legislation which will benefit veterans of World war II.

Cowen is a former recreation director of the old North West park system and vows that if elected he will vote to return the small parks to the people in their own districts.

The two Democratic nominees who are bidding for reëlection are Rep. Stanley R. Kosinski, 5774 Lawrence av., real estate and insurance man, who has served two terms in the Illinois house, and Rep. Jacob A. Mueller, 4014 N. Leamington av.,

Arlington Heights Lutheran School Is 80 Years Old This Week

The kindergarten pupils at St. Peter's Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, know that big things are in the air this week. Beginning today, the school will hold a one week celebration of its 80th anniversary. Established in 1864 with an enrollment of 16, the school now has 262 pupils. At work on handicraft projects in the kindergarten room (clockwise from lower left) are Lynn Stolley, Marjorie Stutz, Tommy Stephan, Myra Lee Clausing, Duane Hogreve, Geraldine Gerhke, and Leroy Engelking. Watching from an adjacent table are Audrey Gronert and Dennis Horcher. There are 19 pupils in the kindergarten, taught by Mrs. Paul Weinrich.

Longtime member of the St. Peter's faculty is Ottomar A. Kolb (left), who came to the school in 1920. As he leaves school after a busy day of classes, he is accompanied by Ruth Wilkins, who joined the faculty this year, and Arnold W. Bathje, principal. Kolb teaches English and science, Miss Wilkins is 1st grade teacher, and Bathje's duties include instructing of social studies and art.

The yellow brick schoolhouse, with its crowning white bell tower, was built in 1899 to accommodate 175 pupils. Enrollment has increased to 262 this year and an adjacent residence has been converted into classrooms. Accompanying the anniversary celebration is a drive to raise funds to expand the school building.

Most exciting part of the day for many of the younger pupils is the ride to and from school in the shiny yellow bus. Driver Andrew Giesen Jr. helps the pupils enter the bus to return home after the last afternoon class. The school maintains two such buses, carrying 80 students to and from school each day.

DINNER TO MARK HOSPITAL'S 50TH YEAR OF SERVICE

N. W. Side Institution Tells of Plans.

The 50th anniversary of Norwegian-American hospital, 1044 N. Francisco av., will be celebrated at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, when the board of trustees will be hosts at a banquet in the Palmer House. Birger Osland, president of the board, will preside.

The program following the banquet will include addresses by Miss Jane Taylor, R. N., nurse education consultant for the division of nurse education, United States public health service; Dr. Josiah J. Moore, pathologist, president of the Chicago Medical society; and Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association and Hygeia magazine.

Opened with 50 Beds.

In charge of plans for the banquet are Mr. Osland, Arne E. Williamson of the board of trustees; James E. Moore, superintendent; Dr. H. W. Nilssen, chief of staff; Dr. F. H. Fowler, Dr. Warren Johnson, Dr. L. A. Garness, Mrs. R. H. Warden, Mrs. L. A. Garness, and Miss Hjordis Krabol.

Norwegian-American hospital has grown from a small, unpretentious building established in 1894 with 50 beds, to the present well equipped institution which cared for more than 7,389 patients last year.

Contrasts between the early hospital and today's expanded facilities are marked. The original hospital had two operating rooms, the present has six, and a total of 2,485 operations were performed last year.

Special Schools Added.

The institution also houses a school of anesthesiology, a department of radiology, and a tumor clinic. The school of nursing maintained by the hospital has graduated 527 nurses, and currently has a class of 102, 96 of whom are members of the cadet nurses corps.

Thru scientific and improved procedures, the new born death rate has been reduced greatly from the early stages of the Norwegian-American hospital. For the year ending last Sept. 30, 1,438 babies were born in the hospital.

Assisting materially with the work of the hospital during the last four years has been the women's auxiliary. Thru its efforts, two waiting rooms, the surgeon's lounge, and a sun deck have been furnished.

WINS TRIP HOME AFTER FLYING 15 MONTHS IN EAST

Folks in Des Plaines 'Standing By.'

Lt. Albert M. North, 21, Des Plaines, navigator with the 14th air force, is on his way home after 15 months' duty in the China-Burma-India theater of operations. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earle M. North, 1617 Walnut av., Des Plaines, are expecting him some time around Christmas. His last letter mentioned that he was afraid he wouldn't "get home in time to vote."

Lt. Albert M. North.

Holder of the air medal and the distinguished flying cross, with an oak leaf cluster to each, Lt. North has spent six months in India and nine months in China.

He was cited four times for meritorious and exceptional achievement, completing more than 700 combat hours as navigator of unarmed transport planes. Many of the missions were over enemy lines delivering supplies and personnel to forward air bases.

During the siege of the Chinese city of Hengyang by the Japanese, Lt. North was navigator on five missions to the city to drop food and supplies to the beseiged Chinese troops. He was commended for the job by Lt. Col. John H. Williamson, commanding officer of the 14th air force transport section.

The Des Plaines flyer was graduated from Maine Township High school in 1941, and was employed by the Oakwood dairy before entering the air forces in April, 1942. He was commissioned and awarded navigator's wings at Selman field, La., in March, 1943. For four months he was stationed at Chicago municipal airport.

MARINE AND BROTHER, PARTED TWO YEARS, REUNITED IN HAWAII

Letters received by Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Burns, 2532 N. Central Park av., from their two sons told of a memorable day they spent together in Hawaii. The boys, who had not seen each other for almost two years are George L. Burns, pharmacist's mate 2d class, attached to the marine corps, and James J. Burns, electrician's mate 3d class.

George L. Burns.

James J. Burns.

They met when James' ship drew into the harbor for repairs after the Saipan engagement. There, alongside, was the ship he knew his brother was on. The brothers spent the day together, swapping stories and experiences.

The brothers are St. Patrick High school graduates and both enlisted in the navy. George later was attached to the marines.

With AMERICA'S FIGHTERS

Clarence M. Peterson recently was graduated from Great Lakes Naval Training center as honor man of his company. He was nominated by fellow bluejackets and selected honor man by his company commander. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ingvald Peterson, 3518 Cortland st., he is a graduate of Kelvyn Park High school.

Your Congressman

(An Editorial.)

The 7th congressional district, which includes most of the northwest side of Chicago as well as a number of suburban townships, has the largest population in the nation. It deserves a representative in congress of a caliber to serve it properly and to express the voice of its citizens in the affairs of the nation—something it has not had for more than a decade.

In Charles H. Garland, a successful business man with a long interest in civic affairs and local public service, the Republican party has presented to the voters of the district a nominee capable of serving its million people properly.

Mr. Garland interrupted his education to serve for 30 months in the last war, during which he was commissioned from the ranks. He has two sons in the air corps in the present war. Trained in law, he entered the radio industry during its formative stages, 19 years ago, and rose to executive rank in a national broadcasting chain. He resigned that position when nominated to devote his full time to the campaign and will continue to devote full time to public duties if elected.

As a resident of suburban Des Plaines, he has engaged actively in the civic affairs of that and neighboring communities. He entered the party organization as a precinct captain in 1928, was elected an alderman of the town in 1937, and has been mayor since 1941.

Mr. Garland has taken a deep interest in activities designed to prevent juvenile delinquency. He presides over a Boy Scout court of honor. He has sponsored the Garland Youth club, in which youngsters in his town get boxing and other athletic instruction from expert leaders, and the Young People's forum, which trains boys and girls for the duties of citizenship thru a program of debates and discussions of public questions.

One of his campaign pledges has been to work for the conversion of the huge Douglas airport, near Park Ridge, into the post-war commercial air terminal for the Chicago metropolitan area. He has pointed out that it can be expanded to 3,000 acres, if need be, at moderate cost, and that it will be available for civilian use long before the present Chicago airport becomes obsolete.

The Democrats, in a racial appeal to the large Polish-American population in the 7th district, nominated William W. Link, who is of Polish descent. Mr. Garland was quick to challenge his opponent on the issue of free Poland. He pointed out that Link is obligated for political support to the communistic PAC, and thus cannot be expected to take a stand against the Roosevelt sell-out of Poland to Stalin, to which the Communists refer as the Teheran charter.

Support of Mr. Garland is recommended. He measures up to the requirements of a district more populous than many states of the Union.

In the 8th district, parts of which lie on the northwest side, John F. Uczciwek, the Republican nominee, is waging the most courageous and effective campaign undertaken by a member of his party in the district in a score of years. Because of the predominately Polish-American population of the district, the Teheran sell-out has been an important issue. Mr. Uczciwek has stressed the fact that the voters of the district can expect no support for Poland's claims to its pre-war borders from his Democratic opponent, who is one of the headless horsemen of Sidney Hillman and the PAC.

Holy Family's Musical Groups to Roller Skate

The orchestra and band of Holy Family academy, 1444 Division st., will have a private roller skating party at the Riverview roller rink, 2500 Belmont av., tomorrow evening.

PRAISE CALIBER OF G.O.P. TICKET FOR CONGRESS

Cite Contrast with City Hall Choices.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

(Map on page 2.)

With congressional campaigns drawing to an end, supporters of two Republican nominees on the west and north-west side are emphasizing the personal qualities and independence of their leaders, as contrasted to the supine obedience of their opponents to the city hall machine.

John Uczciwek.

The G. O. P. candidates are Charles H. Garland, mayor of Des Plaines and former radio executive, in the big 7th district, and John F. Uczciwek, business man who has been active in Polish-American fraternal and civic affairs, in the 8th. Their opponents are William W. Link [in the 7th], who has held appointive political jobs for the last dozen years, and Thomas S. Gordon, former city treasurer and a strictly orthodox machine Democrat.

Garland Target of PAC.

Garland, who has been made the target of a smear campaign by the CIO political action committee [communist dominated] and its little ally, the Independent Voters of Illinois, which supports Democrats only, is reported to be more than matching their efforts by the vigor of his drive. As an example, he has made 159 speeches.

"I am plugging along, preaching Americanism," Garland said. "Once the people know what I represent I have no fears.

"Thinking Done by Kelly."

"Mayor Kelly by all accounts is an able man, but he is not able enough to do all the thinking for seven Chicago congressmen. That, however, is what he is attempting.

"My opponent, tho of Polish ancestry, dares not criticize the Polish policy of the administration, which is a policy of appeasing Stalin. My voice will always be raised in favor of a free and whole Poland, and that goes for all the smaller nations which have been our allies."

Garland has urged a return to private enterprise not bound in burocratic red tape, so that jobs may be created for the post-war era. He favors real jobs for the service men, and adequate benefits for them. He has advocated the retention of the great Douglas airport near Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

Garland was sales manager for radio station WBBM until his nomination last spring, when he resigned to devote himself to the campaign. He is a veteran of the first World war and has two sons in the fighting services. Link also has two sons in service.

Uczciwek Defends Poland.

Uczciwek referred to Gordon as "a mute, inglorious congressman" who had never been "recognized on the floor of the house, either because the mayor wasn't there to prompt him or because the discussions were over his head."

"There is an old proverb to the effect that a man swears when he has nothing to say," said Pczciwek. "Cong. Gordon did not have the courage even to cuss in the name of humanity the butchery of Polish people, nor to decry the rape of his ancestral homeland or its fate as outlined by the soviets.

"It is time now to change congressmen, if the Polish and Italian Americans of the 8th district are to have some one really represent them and work for justice in their behalf. Either we get that change or the city hall, which can't even keep the alleys clean, will continue to boss some Chicago congressmen."

Native of Chicago.

Uczciwek is 41 years old and a native of Chicago. He is a real estate and insurance broker. He is also a lawyer. For some years before going into business for himself he was real estate manager for the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America. He is president of the St. George society. Married, he has five children.

In another west side district, the 4th, the G. O. P. nominee is Leo J. Kozicki, real estate dealer. He is waging an unusually active fight—for this traditionally Democratic territory. Among his talking points are the confusions and inequities of war time rationing under the OPA, the unsatisfactory Polish policy of the Roosevelt regime and the loss of independence by small business men under the impact of Washington burocracy.

His opponent is Martin Gorski, the incumbent Democrat. Gorski is a bachelor, 57 years old, and is serving his first term. He was formerly an assistant state's attorney and is the choice of the city hall for his job.

Other West Side Districts.

Two other west side districts, despite the nearness of the election, are displaying no tremendous interest in the congressional races. In the 5th, a Democratic stronghold, Cong. Adolph Sabath, distinguished by his long attachment to pay rolls, is opposed by Max Price. In the 6th, Cong. Thomas J. O'Brien, Democrat, has two opponents—Charles J. Anderson Jr., G. O. P. nominee, and Iva J. Henderson, independent. O'Brien is the probable winner.

Chauncey W. Reed, Republican incumbent, will win easily over Otto J. Hruby in the 11th. Du Page, McHenry, Kane, and Will counties compose this district.

ARMISTICE DAY RITES PLANNED BY WAR I. VETS

Taps to Sound Again for Lost Comrades.

Veterans' organizations thruout the northwest side are planning special events this week in observance of Armistice day. Several will hold church services, some have planned dances and parties for Saturday evening, and the majority will hold memorial services at 11 a. m. Saturday.

Logan Square post of the American Legion commanded, by Niels I. Hoff, will hold its memorial service at 11 a. m. Saturday at the World War I monument in Logan Square. The junior drum and bugle corps will play, and there will be an address by Lawrence Fenlon, past post, 9th District, and Cook County Council commander.

Plan Dance Saturday Night.

An Armistice dance will be given by the Logan Square post Saturday night in the Logan Square Masonic temple, 2451 N. Kedzie av. Members will meet at headquarters at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, Nov. 12, to march in a body to church services at the Bethany Presbyterian church, 1847 Humboldt blvd.

Members of Lafayette American Legion post will meet for mass at 8 a. m. today at St. Hedwig's Little Mission church, 2435 N. Washtenaw av. The post's Armistice day program will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday at Fullerton and Western avs. The Logan school drum and bugle corps will play, and there will be an address by Joe Skokna, member of the post.

Albany Park Post Lays Plans.

Armistice day observance by the Albany Park American Legion post will be held in coöperation with the congregation of Temple Beth Israel, 4850 N. Bernard st., Friday night.

Victory Legion post will hold its memorial services at Elston av. and Irving Park rd. at 11 a. m. Saturday. The Rev. R. R. Fillbrandt will give the address. Coöperating with the Legion in the service will be Irving Park post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The post will hold a dance at 8:30 p. m. Saturday at Ivar temple, 4146 Elston av.

Conley Post to Parade.

Taps will be played at 11 a. m. Saturday in the service by the John F. Conley Legion post at North and Crawford avs. The post's firing squad and the junior drum and bugle corps will participate in the program. Following the service, there will be a parade to post headquarters at 3868 Grand av.

The auxiliary unit of Conley will sponsor a dance at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday at the club rooms. Luke McGuff, past post commander, will be speaker of the evening program, which has been planned by Mrs. Minnie Cunningham, Americanism chairman, assisted by Mrs. Edith Dryz. Refreshments will be served by a committee which includes Mrs. Harriet Conley, Mrs. Ann Phelan, Mrs. Anna Mester, Mrs. Minerva Baumgartner, and Mrs. Kathryn Doucet.

North and Northwest Side Congressional Districts

27TH DISTRICT

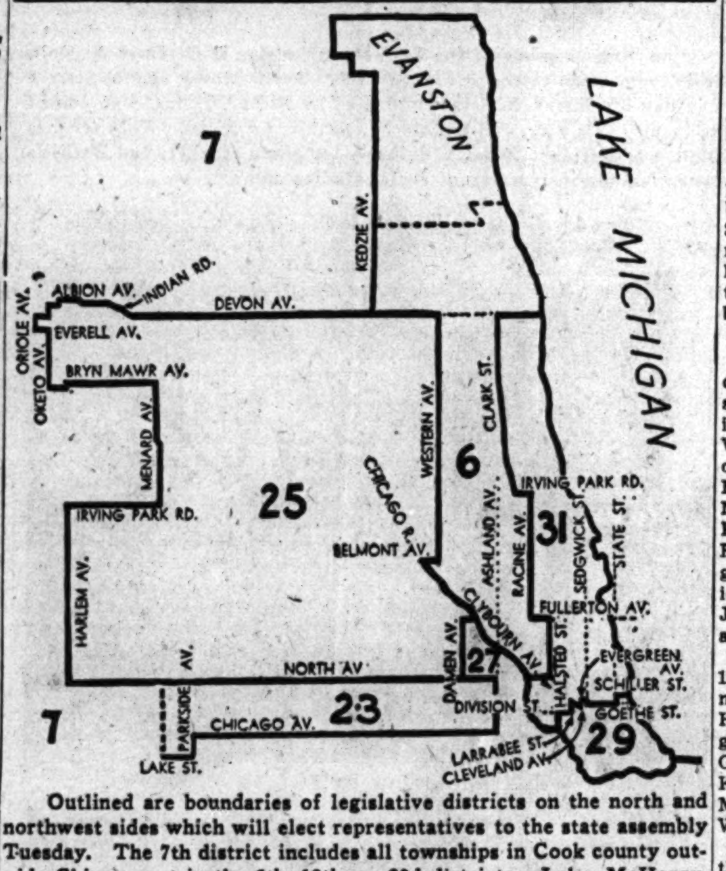
Democrats now hold all three house of representative seats in this district, having gained control in 1942. The three incumbents, who are seeking reëlection, are Representatives A. L. Auth, 1100 Van Buren st.; John C. Kuklinski, 1813 Armitage av., and Anthony C. Prusinski, 1924 Armitage av. Their efforts to make another clean sweep are being challenged by Joseph D. Day, 25 N. Morgan st., the Republican nominee.

Day's task, in a predominately Democratic district, presented a difficult assignment at the beginning of the campaign, but his aggressive drive, political students say, has gained many votes for him. Day's demands that Poland remain independent and undivided has so aroused many of the district's Polish voters that last week he was unanimously endorsed by the Polish-American Committee for Free Poland.

41ST DISTRICT

There is no contest for the three house seats, Republicans having nominated two candidates and the Democrats one. Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, and Morton H. Hollingsworth, Joliet real estate man, are the Republican nominees. The Democrat is J. Harold Downey, a Joliet lawyer. Hollingsworth will replace Rep. Warren L. Wood [R.] now in military service. Downey will take over the seat which was held by Rep. John J. Maloney [D.] until his death Dec. 17, 1943.

North Side Legislative Districts



Outlined are boundaries of legislative districts on the north and northwest sides which will elect representatives to the state assembly Tuesday. The 7th district includes all townships in Cook county outside Chicago not in the 6th, 19th, or 23d districts. Lake, McHenry, and Boone counties compose the 8th district, and Kane and Kendall counties make up the 14th. The loop is in the 1st district.

MAINE TO MARK ARMISTICE DAY WITH 6 AIR VETS

Six veteran flyers who have seen action over Europe, Africa, India, China, and the South Pacific will relate some of their experiences at the Maine Township High school Armistice day assembly Friday morning. The group has held ranks in the A. A. F. and R. C. A. F. ranging from lieutenant to major. They have been given honorable medical discharges and are employed by Douglas Aircraft as flight inspectors.

Larry P. Tanguay, who will be chairman for this part of the program, has three and one-half years of flying service to his credit, divided equally between the Canadian and American forces. He has crossed the Atlantic seven times, and covered the African, Chinese, and Indian theaters of operations. He finally was injured so severely that 126 stitches and 72 days of convalescence were necessary before he was able to return to this country.

A Cappella Choir to Perform.

The other five flyers have service records that equal Tanguay's. All have been awarded the Purple Heart, two the distinguished flying cross with oak leaf clusters, and one the silver star.

Also appearing on the platform will be Fred Ballard, John Welch, Thorp H. Boyd, Bill Gilmour, and Bryant Rinehart.

The program will open with the presentation of the colors by members of the Sea Scout ship Viking. Singing of modern war songs, directed by E. R. Sarig, will be followed by two patriotic numbers by the Maine a cappella choir, directed by A. M. Harley.

Honor Maine's War Dead.

The program will include a dedicatory service, paying homage to seven former Maine boys who died in service during the last year. Wreaths will be placed in memory of Pvt. William Elling, Pvt. Mike Fitzpatrick, Pvt. Richard Deithlott, Maj. Charles Jernberg, Lt. Herbert Rothery, Lt. John Ryan, and Lt. Roy Tagtmeier. Students who will give brief biographies of these service men include Robert Lynch, Doris Jobst, Marliss Jones, Don Brodie, and Richard Busch.

Recognition also will be given to 11 members of the maine faculty now in service: William B. Ashley, Harlod Browman, Thomas J. Corgan, John Downs, Ralph Frost, George Johnson, Milo Johnston, Kenneth Lund, Miss Helen Koehler, Miss Catherine Putnam, and Robert Wells.

The program will be sponsored by the social science department with E. M. North as chairman assisted by E. J. Anderson, J. W. Anderson, Miss Elaine Leeka, Miss Jeanne Humphreys, and Miss Libbie Kukral.

Wing Scouts.

The wing Scout program, a new project for senior Girl Scouts, is being conducted in Glen Ellyn with Mrs. C. C. Choyce as leader.

Veterans to Speak at Maine High

Six flyers will take time out from their work as flight inspectors at Douglas Aircraft to appear on the Maine Township High school Armistice day program at 10 a. m. Friday. They are (left to right) Bryant Rinehart, Larry P. Tanguay, Bill Gilmour, Fred Ballard, John Welch, and Thorp H. Boyd. Each holds the Purple Heart, and all have seen action in Europe, Africa, India, China, or the South Pacific. All have medical discharges from the service. [Glassenhart Photo.]

You'll cruise in half-million dollar Mainliners
UNITED AIR LINES

United Air Lines advertisement, October, 1944.

"History was made recently when United Air Lines signed contracts with the Douglas Aircraft Company for fifty of these half-million dollar Mainliners—a $25,000,000 fleet of the finest planes in the world."

Read this message carefully . . . because it means opportunity. It may mean a profitable lifetime career for you. But you must act at once if this opportunity is not to be wasted.

If you have read recent War Manpower Commission articles or our advertisements in the last few weeks, you know that additional men and women are urgently needed on a two-year schedule to help us build the giant C-54, companion transport plane to the B-29 Super-Fortress for the war against Japan . . . and then to build the same plane after the war to fill orders already booked with us by the airlines. This means that a great new industry has come to Chicago . . . to stay. Maybe you've said to yourself, "I'll look into that someday."

Someday will be too late. You must join us now if you are to cash in on this opportunity. Don't let lack of experience hold you back. We train you so that you're bound to make good in fabricating, assembly, and installation work . . . what we call "beating on the airplane." As interesting work as you'll ever find. Good pay . . . Convenient transportation.

Act now. If not already employed in an essential industry, come to the WMC's U.S. Employment Service office at 5306 Lawrence Avenue. Or come to our own employment offices at 4070 Milwaukee Avenue, near Irving Park; 2717½ Milwaukee Avenue, near Logan Square; 6336 N. Western Avenue; or to the plant employment office at Mannheim, Higgins and Devon. COME TODAY.

MARK 80 YEARS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS SCHOOL

St. Peter's Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, will be a busy place this week as students, alumni, and congregation members join to celebrate the school's 80th anniversary. Beginning this morning and continuing thru next Sunday there will be a series of special services and programs commemorating the anniversary.

The regular worship services at 9:30 and 11 a. m. in St. Peter's church, across the street from the school, will include addresses by Dr. H. O. A. Keinrath, professor at Concordia college, River Forest. The school faculty, the board, and subcommittees under direction of Arnold W. Bathje, principal, will present the school children in a history of the school.

Old Pupils to Gather Today.

The school bell will ring at 7 p. m. today, to summon former pupils to the special reunion assembly. Those attending will register in the auditorium and be directed by a committee to the meeting places of the various classes. Alumni will march into the church according to classes.

An alumnus of the school, the Rev. Rud Geffert of Harvey, will preach the sermon for this reunion service. An open house and reception will follow in the school, with refreshments in the dining room.

Plan Prayer for Fighters.

During the reunion service, a special prayer will be said for the 186 former students now in service. A letter has been sent to each of these men, carrying the prayer, the time it will be offered on the program, and the comparative time at the various stations of the men. It is hoped that most of the men unable to attend the reunion will be able to join simultaneously in reading this prayer.

Parents and friends have been invited to attend the open house at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow sponsored by the three Bible classes. Following this the Walther league will hold open house in the auditorium, with an address by the Rev. A. R. Kretzmann, and a display of the league's accomplishments.

The school will hold its open house from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, when regular classes are scheduled. Exhibits will be on view in the auditorium later. The Mothers' club will serve refreshments.

Parents Invited for Friday.

All parents of St. Peter's pupils are invited to attend the meeting on Friday evening, sponsored by the Mothers' club.

Closing services at 9:30 and 11 a. m. next Sunday will include an open house for the two Sunday schools at the first service, and a sermon by the Rev. L. V. Stephan, pastor, on "Building Today for Tomorrow" at both services.

St. Peter's school was opened in the fall of 1864, when Henry Knickriem, a carpenter, was hired to instruct 16 children in the rear room of a shoemaker's shop in Arlington Heights. After a succession of four lay teachers, Theo Militzer, the first resident teacher, was called in 1873, and served the school for 56 years.

Built School in 1899.

When the enrollment numbered 175 in 1899, the present two story brick building was erected. With the continued growth of the student body to the present 262, further expansion was necessary. Now some classes are held in an adjacent building which was formerly a residence. Funds will be sought during the anniversary week for the construction of a gymnasium and additional classrooms to relieve the congestion.

Many St. Peter's faculty members have long time records of service. Rudolph Kranz served for 51 years; Herman Landek resigned this year after having taught for 44 years and Ottomar A. Kolb has been on the faculty since 1920.

List Teachers on Staff.

On the present staff together with subjects taught and the year they came to St. Peter's, are the following: Theo Preuss, literature and music, 1928; Karl Busse, mathematics and civics, 1929; Arnold W. Bathje, principal, social studies and art, 1940; Mrs. Lorraine Glaesel Pautsch, second grade, 1940; H. Eugene Burger, third grade, 1942; Mrs. Paul Weinrich, kindergarten, 1942, and Miss Ruth Wilkins, first grade, 1944.

Adolph Oberman will replace Mrs. Pautsch later this month. The Rev. Mr. Stephan is adviser of the school and pastor of St. Peter Lutheran church. The Rev. H. C. Fricke, formerly pastor of St. Peter's church, is now on leave serving as an army chaplain.

G.O.P. Leader's Son Wins Croix de Guerre, Palm

Corp. Jacob A. Mueller, 4014 N. Leamington av., and other members of his bombardment squadron have been awarded the croix de guerre with palm by France. He is the son of State Rep. Jacob A. Mueller [R., 25th]. Corp. Mueller has two brothers in service, Robert M. Mueller, with the infantry in the South Pacific, and Francis J. Meuller, who is in the Seabees.

SEE NEW CHURCH FOR WOODDALE BY CHRISTMAS

Christmas mass in the new church—that is the goal of the Catholic mission members of Wooddale, and it looks like they're going to attain it.

Ground has been broken and construction started on a large church basement over which will be moved the complete church edifice built originally for St. Vincent's in River Forest. The building was sold to the Wooddale mission when the River Forest congregation outgrew it. Thru this purchase the Wooddale mission will have its church much sooner than otherwise would be possible.

Started Fund Year Ago.

Less than a year ago the 150 Catholic families began to raise their church fund. A committee headed by Mrs. Emil Anderson, Mrs. Charlotte Muldoon, and Mrs. Anne Meehan initiated Thursday afternoon business meetings to discuss ways and means of making money.

Various picnics and parties were given. Finally in September they were able to purchase land and start building arrangements.

School Now Used.

Originally, Catholic residents of Wooddale attended mass at Bensenville. Last March arrangements were made for a priest to conduct Sunday mass in the basement of the Wooddale elementary school.

The committee declares that with the coöperation they have been receiving, plus a number of new Catholic families expected to become members, the church should be paid for within three years. "We're starting out small," said Mrs. Meehan, chairman, "but with the luck we've been having Wooddale will have a real parish some day."

Benny Will Introduce New Singer Tonight

Jack Benny will introduce his new singer, Larry Stevens, on WMAQ-NBC at 6 o'clock tonight. Stevens, who served in the United States army air corps for approximately a year and received an honorable discharge, will make his radio debut with "I'll Be Seeing You." Another event on Benny's show tonight will be the guest appearance of Dunninger, mind reader.

BEST ELECTION COVERAGE YET! W-G-N PROMISE

Reports to Be Broadcast for Loop Crowds.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The swiftest and most complete election coverage in its 20 years history—that is the promise of W-G-N for next Tuesday. As the election bulletins roll in during the evening, several regularly scheduled programs will be canceled; all others subject to interruption. WGNB, W-G-N's FM sister station, which normally signs off at 9 p. m., will stay on thru the night with W-G-N or until all important contests are decided.

To cover the election W-G-N, besides using 27 members of its own staff, will have supplementary services from The Chicago Tribune, the Mutual Broadcasting system, Associated Press, United Press, Press association, and the City News bureau. W-G-N has arranged for direct broadcasting connections with major party headquarters in Chicago and tabulating headquarters in the county building. Leaders and candidates of both parties will speak over W-G-N from La Salle and Morrison hotel headquarters.

Air News in State Street.

To bring the news to the thousands who will be in the loop Tuesday night W-G-N has made arrangements with the State Street council for exclusive use of its new public address system. News returns and recorded music will be relayed from W-G-N thru the 80 horn system from Wacker dr. to Congress st. along State st.

W-G-N will also install loudspeakers at the corners of Madison and Clark sts., Randolph and Clark sts., and Randolph and Dearborn sts.

W-G-N will broadcast election news thruout the day, and the first tabulations as soon as they are available. Broadcasts over the loop system will begin at 6 p. m.

Mutual's Election Plans.

Mutual pickups will come from many cities of the nation. It is expected that key winning and losing candidates will be brought to the microphone. Mutual expects to make special pickups from the Philippines, Rome, and Paris, giving the reaction of service men to the news of election day.

Mutual's commentators will include Fulton Lewis, Cecil Brown, Archibald Crossley, Gabriel Heatter, Henry Gladstone, Ray Dady, Walter Compton, and Alexander Griffin. W-G-N election announcers include Jack Brickhouse, Tom Cafferty, Lee Bennett, Cy Harrice, Holland Engle, and Hal Lansing. Supplementing this corps will be Arthur Sears Henning, chief of the Washington bureau of The Tribune, and Arthur Evans, Tribune political writer.

All other major networks have made elaborate plans to provide complete election coverage.

NBC Orchestra Airs Beethoven's 'Eroica'

Arturo Toscanini will direct the NBC Symphony orchestra in Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E flat, better known as the "Eroica" Symphony, over WMAQ-NBC at 4 p. m. today. The presentation will be the orchestra's third offering of a nine week Beethoven cycle.

Discuss War Industry Reconversion on W-G-N

"The Reconversion of War Industry" is the topic for discussion on the Northwestern Reviewing Stand program over W-G-N-Mutual at 10:30 a. m. today. Wilfred Sykes, John Lovett, William Spriegel, and Corwin Edwards will participate.

Sisterhood at Emanuel Will Meet on Tuesday

Frankie Srambro, soprano, and Ethel Minns Lucas, reader, will present a program before the Temple Emanuel sisterhood at 1 p. m. Tuesday in the recreation rooms of the synagog, 701 Buckingham pl.

Cisco Kid to Return.

"The Cisco Kid," colorful cowboy series, will return to W-G-N from 8:30 to 9 p. m., Wednesday and will be broadcast weekly thereafter at the same time.

In Mystery House

Nannette Sargent plays the lead in "Mystery House," now aired at 9:30 p. m. Sundays from W-G-N's main studio. Tickets are available free while they last.

This WEEK in the GARDEN

Monday, Nov. 6.

Mulch all perennials and newly planted trees and shrubs as soon as the ground freezes. If strawy manure is obtainable use it for it decays during the winter and adds fertilizer and humus to the soil.

Those who have fruiting Boston ivy should collect the seeds and either stratify them in peat moss or sand or sow directly where the plants are to remain. Sowing seed is a good way to start plants along a brick or stone building.

Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Planning the garden is one of the activities that occupies the gardener during the winter months. All the materials needed are a pencil, eraser, ruler, and paper. A simple planting plan is all that is necessary, but by making a first rough sketch of all buildings, walks, and existing vegetation a general study of possible changes can be made.

Wednesday, Nov. 8.

One of the best methods of protecting climbing roses is to take the plants down and cover with soil. Frequently the wood ripens so late the plants freeze back considerably but if taken down and covered the wood remains plump and in the moist soil will not freeze and be injured. If they cannot be removed from the support, protect with cornstalks, straw, and other materials and tie up in burlap.

Thursday, Nov. 9.

Tulips can still be planted if available and the ground is not frozen. A thin frozen crust will not prevent planting bulbs. Paperwhite narcissi and Chinese sacred lilies should be planted about the middle of this month to bloom at Christmastide. If the ground is still workable, be sure to spade it and allow it to remain in the rough all winter.

Friday, Nov. 10.

Examine the rhododendrons and fall set evergreens and water again if necessary. Outdoor window boxes will look well if planted with small evergreens now. The nurseries usually have plants for such a purpose. But keep them well watered at all times or they will turn brown and appear unkempt. Spruce, hemlock, or aborvitae are satisfactory for the boxes.

Saturday, Nov. 11.

Watch the cacti that they are not overwatered for they rest during winter. If the room in which they are standing is kept at a high temperature they will need watering more frequently than when placed in a room with a low temperature.

Young growing plants need more water than old, strong plants. Large barrels can be placed on a shelf without water and will keep in fine condition for spring planting out of doors.

Prepared in coöperation with Garfield park conservatory.

THEATER OF AIR TO OPEN WITH 'GREAT WALTZ'

Opening its fifth season of operetta and opera productions, The Chicago Theater of the Air will present "The Great Waltz" next Saturday, Armistice day, from the stage of the huge auditorium in Medinah temple before an audience of more than 4,000. The broadcast henceforth will be aired at a new time, from 9 to 10 p. m. over W-G-N, WGNB and the coast-to-coast Mutual network.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of The Chicago Tribune, will speak.

Marion Claire will return to the series starring in the role of Resi. Singing opposite her in the role of the younger Johann Strauss will be Morton Bowe, tenor. Bruce Foote, baritone, will sing the role of Lt. Poldi.

Henry Weber to Conduct.

Strauss music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus under the baton of Henry Weber, W-G-N's director of music.

Speaking lines will be taken by an all-star dramatic cast, including Laurette Fillbrandt, John Barclay, Robert Murphy and Norman Gottschalk.

Miss Claire will sing "Morning," "With All My Heart," "We Love You Still," "Blue Danube" and, with Mr. Bowe, will offer "You Are My Songs," "Love Will Find You," and "While You Love Me." Mr. Bowe will also sing "One Hour."

Back to Medinah Temple.

Bruce Foote and the chorus will offer "In Love and War."

This broadcast marks the return of the Chicago Theater of the Air to Medinah temple, where weekly programs were presented last season before a combined audience of more than 90,000 people.

Jack LaFrandre, writer-director of the series, will produce the show, and the announcer will be John Holbrook.

LINDBLOM GIVES CITIZENS SHOW NEXT SATURDAY

On its Armistice day broadcast at 10 a. m. Saturday on W-G-N, the Citizens of Tomorrow program will salute Lindblom Technical High school. Principal Harry F. Yates will speak; the boys and girls choruses, directed by Hannah Rosenthal, and the a cappella choir, led by J. R. Taylor, will sing. Phyllis Ballin, Lindblom senior, will play the piano and Walter Robinson will present high school news. Philip Maxwell, master of ceremonies, will add two names to the roll of honor: Felice Michaels of Lindblom and George E. Heathcote of Milwaukee, Wis.

Monteux Will Conduct Philharmonic Today

Pierre Monteux, conductor of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, will be guest conductor on the New York Philharmonic program over WBBM-CBS at 2 p. m. today. Leon Fleischer, 16 year old pianist, will also appear as a guest during the broadcast. He is to be featured as soloist in a presentation of Brahms' D minor Concerto. The orchestra will offer Beethoven's "Prometheus" overture, William Grant Still's "Old California," and Debussy's nocturnes, "Nuages" and "Fetes."

NOMINEES SEEK STRAY BALLOTS AS DRIVES END

3 Close Contests in Legis Race.

BY LEE SHASSERE.

After weeks of intensive activity in the political arena, Illinois house of representative candidates in eight southwest area senatorial districts are winding up their campaigns with last minute appeals to voters.

Each district will elect three candidates to the Illinois house of representatives. Lively house contests have been waged in the 3d, 11th, and 13th districts but there are none in the 4th, 7th, 9th, 14th, and 41st—all southwest area districts. State senators will be chosen in the 4th and 14th districts as this is the year when even numbered senatorial districts elect members of the upper house.

Following is news of the Republican and Democratic candidates who are seeking election in each of the districts next Tuesday:

THIRD DISTRICT

Rep. Charles J. Jenkins, 4127 Prairie av., a lawyer, now serving his seventh consecutive house term, and Dudley S. Matrin, 3736 Indiana av., who served in the state legislature from 1940 to 1942, are the two Republican candidates.

On the Democratic ticket, Rep. George Garry Noonan, 3020 Parnell av., a cigar manufacturer, now finishing his 13th term, and Rep. Fred J. Smith, a deputy Municipal court clerk, serving his first term, are seeking reëlection.

FOURTH DISTRICT

There is no house contest in this district. Nomination of one Republican and two Democrats last April for the three house seats was tantamount to election. The Republican is Rep. Michael A. Ruddy, 1901 51st st. The two Democrats are Rep. John C. Kluczynski, 1754 Garfield blvd., and Rep. John F. Boyle, 4716 S. Wells st.

Former State Sen. Robert W. Schulze, 2700 55th st., president of the Gage Park Citizens' Improvement club, is the G. O. P. candidate for senator from the 4th district. He is opposed by Sen. Frank J. McDermott [D], of 2230 Garfield blvd., who has served in the upper house since 1924.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

This district is without a house contest because two Republicans and one Democrat were nominated. This action made their nominations equivalent to election. Republicans are Rep. Bernice T. Van de Vries of Winnetka, and Rep. Frederick A. Virkus, La Grange. Rep. Emmett McGrath of Brookfield is the Democratic nominee.

NINTH DISTRICT

There is no house contest in this district. The two Democratic nominees are Rep. Peter P. Jezierny, 2244 Marshall blvd., and Rep. William J. Gormley, 3359 S. Western av. Rep. William S. Finucane, 2912 Loomis st., is the G. O. P. nominee.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

There is plenty of action for the three house seats. Republicans now control two of them and are campaigning vigorously to retain their hold. The G. O. P. nominees are Rep. David I. Swanson, 7842 S. Marshfield av., a lawyer, who is finishing his 10th term, and Rep. Walter McAvoy, 6039 S. California av., a beverage distributor, now serving his first term. Democratic candidates are Rep. Michael E. Hannigan, 6646 S. Honore st., real estate and insurance man, serving his sixth term, and George A. Fitzgerald, 8350 May st., who served as 11th district assemblyman for seven terms until defeated in 1942.

THIRTEENTH DISTRICT

Rep. Ragnar G. Nelson, 11320 Edbrooke av., an insurance man, and Edward Schneider, 8222 Ingleside av., a real estate man, are the Republican candidates for the house of representatives.

Their two Democratic opponents are Rep. John G. Ryan, 1530 E. 83d pl., and Adam S. Mioduski, 8115 South Shore dr. Ryan is an insurance broker and also is a Municipal court employe. Mioduski, a chiropodist, has served two terms in the state legislature.

Rep. Nelson captured Mioduski's legislative seat in 1942 when the former was teamed up with the veteran state legislator, Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R]. When Schnackenberg announced this year he would not seek reëlection, his place on the ticket was taken by Schneider, who is president of the 8th ward regular Republican organization, and a leader in American Legion activities.

FOURTEENTH DISTRICT

Another no-contest, with two Republicans and one Democrat nominated in April. Republicans are Rep. Maud N. Peffers of Aurora and J. Lisle Laufer of Hampshire. Rep. Peffers is seeking her fourth term in the house. Laufer, a newcomer in politics, will take the place vacated by Rep. John C. Friedland [R.], who unsuccessfully sought the nomination for the state senate seat relinquished by Sen. Arnold P. Benson, G. O. P. candidate for secretary of state. The Democratic nominee

MARK 15 YEARS OF ST. JOHN'S AT VESPERS TODAY

The 15th anniversary of St. John the Divine Lutheran church, 105th st. and Oakley av., will be observed at a 4 p. m. vesper service today. The Rev. William Pieske, pastor of Redeemer church, Joliet, and secretary of the Northwestern pastoral conference of the English district, Missouri synod, will be the speaker.

Two missions, now prominent southwest side churches, were formed by members of St. John the Divine congregation: Bethel church, Evergreen Park, and Mount Greenwood church, 3124 W. 111th st.

Members first met in a store building at 10241 S. Western av. in 1929. The congregation purchased a 200 foot frontage at 105th st. and Oakley av. in 1932, built a church in 1933, and dedicated an organ in 1937. The church was extended, property added, and a parsonage completed in 1942.

MUNDELEIN COLLEGE PLAYERS TO PRESENT YEATS DRAMA TODAY

Jeanne O'Connor.

Jeanne O'Connor, 5515 S. Winchester av., will play a leading role in "The Hour Glass," by William Butler Yeats, one of four one act plays to be given by the Mundelein college drama department at 8 o'clock tonight in the college theater, 6363 Sheridan rd. Ruth Shmigelsky is technical director; Catherine Denny Phelps is in charge of production, and the college orchestra will be directed by Joseph J. Grill.

American Women at War

Mildred Reeks.

Mildred Reeks, who has six brothers in service, recently was promoted to technician 5th grade with the WAC in Italy. Her brothers are Sgt. Melvin, Pvt. Nelson, and Pvt. Leonard Reeks, all of the army; Harold Reeks, and Ralph Reeks, navy, and Gilbert Reeks, Coast Guard. Their mother is Mrs. Lettie Reeks, 5932 S. Green st. Miss Reeks enlisted in September, 1943, and was stationed at Fort Dix, N. J., and Camp Upton, N. Y., before being sent overseas. She is a graduate of Englewood High school.

Seaman Kelly has been assigned to the naval hospital, Bethesda, Md. She attended Kelly and Argo Community High schools. Her brother is with the navy in European theater and her husband, James J. Kelly, is in the navy in the Southwest Pacific.

Pvt. Anne Mary Blasgen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blasgen, 1406 W. 69th st., is attending radio school at Scott field, Ill. A graduate of Harper High school, she enlisted last June and received basic training at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. She has two brothers in service: Charles, with the navy, and John, with the army in England.

Four southwest side girls have completed their basic training and indoctrination courses at the WAVES training school in New York City and have been assigned to new posts. They are Seamen Harriet Kelly, daughter of Mrs. Ann Klasek, 5522 S. Neva av.; Irene T. Palus, 4457 Archer av.; Anne Loretta Dorgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dorgan, 5831 S. Fairfield av.; and Laverne Rita Riley, 7718 S. Carpenter st.

Seaman Dorgan has been assigned to Washington, D. C. She attended St. Joseph's academy.

Seaman Palus has been assigned to Alameda, Cal. She is a graduate of Kelly High school.

Seaman Riley has been assigned to the naval air station at San Francisco, Cal. She is a graduate of Calumet High school.

Enemies to Be Proud Of

(An Editorial.)

Frequently in public life a man's best recommendation lies in the enemies he makes by reason of his courage and patriotism. That is the case for Congressman Fred E. Busbey of the 3d district.

Of the 64 Republican congressmen who went to Washington as freshmen two years ago, Mr. Busbey has probably made the most impressive record. He has shown himself to be a capable legislative workman by his labors on behalf of men and women in uniform and he has fought a magnificent fight against the betrayal of his country thru his activities in exposing the alliance of communism with the New Deal.

This has drawn the bitter enmity of the Communists, who have searched his record without success for material for a smear campaign against him, but have gone ahead with the smear anyway. It has caused the bosses of CIO unions, whom Mr. Busbey denounced to their members in the district for betraying members' interests to the communistic PAC, to overstrain themselves in the fight against him.

His disclosures of communist infiltration of the New Deal stung the fourth term candidate to make a personal attack upon him. By contrast, the city hall hack whom Mr. Busbey defeated two years ago, and who has been put up against him again this year, spent 12 years in Washington without attracting the attention of any one, even the voters whose marks in the party circle elected him.

Congressman Busbey knows soldiers and their problems from his own experience in the last war. He made himself active in their interest as soon as he arrived in Washington. His work on behalf of the G. I. bill of rights, written and sponsored by the American Legion, was so effective that he received a letter of congratulation from a former Democratic governor of Illinois, John Stelle. When other veterans' bills were before the house, Mr. Busbey denounced the $300 limitation on mustering out pay as inadequate compensation for men who will have served three or four years overseas, and voted against it in the effort to substitute a provision for a $700 maximum in suitable cases.

Both the nation and his district need Congressman Busbey in Washington. He is a capable representative of the interests of his neighbors and the patriotic guardian of his country against those who would destroy its government and enslave its people. His enemies are active against him. His friends must be equally active, and vigilant against fraud, on Tuesday.

Leo J. Kozicki, the Republican nominee for congress in the other southwest side district, the 4th, has made the issues of the campaign clear. If the people of his district want the bungling and administrative red tape continued which have inflicted unnecessary hardships in carrying out the war ration program; if they want to ratify the backroom deal of Teheran which gave Stalin a free hand to dispose of Poland and the Baltic countries as he saw fit; and want the making of peace and the creation of post-war jobs left in the same incompetent hands, they need only vote for Mr. Kozicki's opponent. The latter was one of Boss Kelly's rubber stamps who were delivered to the New Dealers in a bundle. The only change in prospect, if Mr. Kozicki does not replace him, is that Kelly will turn the rubber stamp over to Sidney.

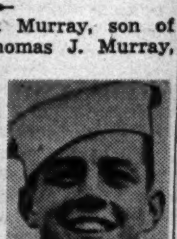
With AMERICA'S FIGHTERS

Donald J. Hiller.

Donald J. Hiller, 7643 S. Seeley av., was graduated from basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training center as honor man of his company and assigned to radio technician's school at Wright Junior college. Prior to his induction he was a student at Illinois Institute of Technology.

William J. Conlisk, 1315 W. Marquette rd., seaman 1st class, recently returned home on leave for the first time in more than three years. He entered the navy Sept. 8, 1941, served on convoy duty in the Atlantic and was in action at Attu, Guam, and Wake Island.

Donald D. Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan G. Perkins, Palos Park, has been promoted to captain at an 8th army air force fighter station in England. A pilot, he has been awarded the air medal with three oak leaf clusters.



Robert E. Murray.

Robert Emmett Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Murray, 9630 Longwood dr., a seaman 1st class, is a member of an antiaircraft gun crew aboard a battleship which recently shelled Leyte Island in preparation for landing United States troops. He enlisted in the navy the day after he was graduated from Leo High school. He has three brothers in service: Thomas, serving aboard a submarine tender. Sgt. James, serving at an army air base in Puerto Rico, and Lt. John Francis Murray, a flight leader bombardier with the 15th air force in Italy, who has 38 missions accomplished and has received the distinguished flying cross, the air medal with three oak leaf clusters, and two Presidential citations.

George C. Eckl.

Sgt. George C. Eckl, son of Mrs. Catherine Eckl, 6935 S. Loomis blvd., was awarded the Purple Heart at an army hospital in England. Wounded in Holland, he also wears five stars for participation in major battles in the European theater with the 82d air borne division. He is a graduate of Parker High school. His brother, Harvey, recently returned to the United States after serving for nine months in Alaska with the army.

Louis J. Bilek.

Technician Louis J. Bilek, 6010 S. Rockwell st., has been awarded the silver star and a citation. During an advance by American forces near the Hollandia, New Guinea, air strip, an enlisted man in Bilek's unit was wounded by shell fragments. Answering his call for aid, Bilek proceeded 75 yards under enemy fire to the wounded man. He ordered other soldiers near the casualty to return to safety while he gave first aid and remained until the wounded man was evacuated. Bilek is in the army medical corps.

Norman Anderson.

Norman R. Anderson, 10401 Claremont av., has been promoted to major at an 8th air force station in England. He is a graduate of Morgan Park Military academy and Cornell university. He attended ordnance schools at Aberdeen proving ground, Md., and was stationed at Selfridge field, Mich., and Glendale army air base, Cal., before going overseas more than two years ago. He is in charge of an ordnance section.

Frank W. McClory.

Pvt. Frank W. McClory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClory, 3213 S. Racine av., has been transferred from a field artillery battalion at Camp Funston, Kas., to the parachute school at Fort Benning, Ga.

Jack McLaughlin, son of Mrs. Irene Fraser, 619 W. 72d st., has been promoted to technician 5th grade. He is a member of Lt. Gen. Alexander Patch's 7th army fighting in France.

Sgt. Dave Broche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Broche, Summit, who has been overseas for 27 months, returned home recently on a furlough.

John O. Barriball, 11251 Vernon av., was promoted to sergeant with an infantry unit at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

Pvt. John P. Prendergast, husband of Mrs. R. E. Prendergast, 5718 S. Green st., has been commended for the second time by the commanding officer of his infantry regiment for bravery in action in France. He won his second citation when he voluntarily exposed

BUSBEY SEES VICTORY OVER SMEAR BY PAC

Foe of Communists Is Confident.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Confronted by the thickest smear campaign in the United States, based on his record as an all out foe of Communists and fellow travelers, Rep. Fred E. Busby of the 3d district said yesterday that he was confident he would be reëlected by a substantial majority.

"My record speaks for itself," the congressman asserted. "Deceit and misrepresentation, and nothing else could do it, might bring about my defeat. But the people won't be fooled. The big lies and the little ones against me are being discovered and squelched by the fine men and women and the patriotic organizations that are supporting me.

Conducts Clear Campaign.

"I have waged my campaign on the basis of truth alone. I am against communism and against the Communist dominated leadership of the CIO political action committee, these are the elements which originated and are carrying thru the huge smear drive to beat me. They do not represent the rank and file of CIO and never did."

Busbey said that he had repeatedly challenged the PAC to let him attend their meetings and tell his story, and that he had received no answer.

"They don't dare let me talk to the people they are trying to deceive," he averred.

Ready to Meet All Groups.

Busbey supporters said that he had addressed every civic, business, labor, and religious group in the district that had invited him. On the other side, it was reported that the Beverly Hills League of Women Voters had asked his opponent, Edward A. Kelly, to appear before them and that if he received the invitation it was ignored.

Friends of Busbey said that his work against Communists over a quarter of a century was returning dividends in unexpected ways. As an example, the Boston speech of Gov. Dewey on Wednesday contained a great deal of material Busbey dug up as a member of the house committee on un-American activities, they said.

Gets Vigorous Support.

A vigorous helper of Busbey is Mrs. Vinton Earl Sisson, past president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She has mailed out letters urging his retention in congress because he is fighting against people whose object is to overthrow the traditional American form of government.

Another Busbey helper is Mrs. W. Glenn Suthers, president of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs of America. She has sent out 2,000 letters to women voters in the district, describing Busbey as "a fighting American who will keep faith in peace, as he has in war, with our fighting sons and daughters."

An active group behind Busbey is the Mount Greenwood Nonpartisan Ex-Servicemen's club, composed of 45 veterans of the first and the present World wars, who have sent letters, urging Busbey's reëlection, to every voter in Mount Greenwood. The letters call attention to the congressman's great work in veterans' legislation.

Supported by Physicians.

Still another group plugging for Busbey is the Illinois State Medical society, which has given him its indorsement. John W. Neal, secretary of the society, has circularized all physicians in the 3d, calling attention to the congressman's work against the socialization of medicine.

Special committees of real estate and insurance men [Busbey was in the investment, insurance, and real estate business before going to congress] are campaigning for him, as well as dentists, small business men and a number of veterans' organizations.

"The going is tough," Busbey admitted. "I know that I am the No. 1 purgee of the PAC, largely because of my work on the Dies committee. But such groups as these, plus tens of thousands of union men who know I am their friend, will guarantee victory."

Some Fears Backfire.

He added that the smears of PAC and its satellites like the miscalled Independent Voters of Illinois, which supports only Democrats, were falling flat and in many instances making voters angry.

Busbey was Americanism director of the Illinois department of the American Legion before his election two years ago. He defeated Kelly then by about 6,000 votes. His work in Washington was of unusual importance for a first termer. His labor record was satisfactory to every one he said, "except to the PAC and Communists."

He has been independent in his voting, opposing the Smith-Connally bill and voting to uphold the President's veto of it.

Kelly, who is making a quiet campaign with the help of the city machine and the PAC, was elected to congress in 1930 and was five times reëlected.

In another southwest side district, the 4th, the G. O. P. nominee is Leo J. Kozicki, real estate dealer. He is waging an unusually active fight—for this traditionally Democratic territory. Among his talking points are the inequities of war time rationing under the OPA, the unsatisfactory Polish policy of the Roosevelt regime, and the loss of independence by small business men under the impact of Washington burocracy.

ARMISTICE DAY BRINGS MEMORY OF ABSENT BABY

V-Mail Photos Soon Will Be on Way to Dads.

(Pictures on page 1.)

Six more southwest side service men stationed overseas soon will receive pictures of their wives and the babies whom they have never seen. The photographs will be printed on V-mail stationery and sent to the wives to forward to the service men. This is a service of the metropolitan department of THE TRIBUNE.

Joined Navy in 1942.

Overbeek entered the navy in October, 1942, and has been overseas since August, 1943. He has seen service at Guam, Saipan, and the Marshall Islands.

Mrs. Overbeek is living with her sister, Mrs. Herbert Hanko, whose husband is also in the navy. The Hankos also have a baby daughter, Marcia, 10 months old.

Thomas Michael Quinn was born just two days after his father, Radioman Thomas J. Quinn, left for overseas duty. Mrs. Quinn, who lives at 3137 W. 64th st., was expecting Thomas Michael between April 2 and 10. Her husband was granted a furlough during that time. He reported for duty in Norfolk, Va., April 23 and left the United States. Two days later Thomas Michael arrived.

Overseas 16 Months.

George Daniel Roat's father, George W. Roat, enlisted in the navy in February, 1942, and has been in the Southwest Pacific 16 months. George Daniel, who is 9 months old, and his mother are living with her parents at 8619 Wolcott st.

Stanley John Kozacek probably will hear many tales of adventure when he is old enough to understand for he has a father and four uncles in service. He and his mother are living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Korman, 7516 W. 61st st., Argo.

Staff Sgt. Stanley Kozacek is a gunner with the 9th army air force in England. He has been overseas since December, 1943. His brothers in service are Corp. Edward, stationed in Belgium; Staff Sgt. Anthony, stationed in England, and John, who is in the navy. Mrs. Kozacek's brother, Joseph, recently returned to this country after serving 32 months in the South Pacific with the army signal corps.

Father in Marines.

Judith Faye Strickland's father is Staff Sgt. Ben W. Strickland who is in the Central Pacific with the marine air corps. She and her mother are living with Mrs. Strickland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. McCauley, 10627 Eberhart av. Judith Faye also has two uncles in service. Corp. John A. McCauley, her mother's brother, has been in the army three and one-half years and is now in France with the field artillery. Staff Sgt. William Strickland of the marines, her father's brother, has been in the South Pacific two years.

Mrs. Lynn G. Thompson, 8812 S. Bishop st., thinks her husband may continue his army career after the war is won. He was a member of the R. O. T. C. while attending the University of Illinois and entered active service in January, 1944. He has been in North Africa since last February. David George was born Aug. 12. The Thompsons have another son, Lyle, 4.

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding

MR. AND MRS. C. CONRAD ANDERSON.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Conrad Anderson, 9952 Wentworth av., recently celebrated their golden wedding. Anderson is 83 and his wife is 78. Natives of Norway, they have lived in Roseland since their marriage. Anderson was a foreman of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co. for 35 years, retiring in 1927. They are members of the Roseland Mission church and Mrs. Anderson is a member of the Idun society of Roseland.

Their five daughters are Mrs. Margaret Larson, 227 W. 107th pl.; Mrs. Myrtle Anderson, Glenwood; Mrs. Jemima Bennett, Homewood; Mrs. Ruth Fogle, 9952 Wentworth av., and Mrs. Sarah Kampe, 129 W. 109th st.

They have eight grandchildren and one great-grandson. One grandson in service is Seaman Edmund C. Golbeck, son of the late Mrs. Nellie Golbeck.

LEMONT SENDS SPARK OF HOME FIRES TO SONS

Monthly Letters, Gifts Mailed to 600.

Once every month for the past two and a half years service men from Lemont have been reminded that they are uppermost in the minds and hearts of their parents and friends thru the medium of the Back Our Boys in Service organization.

Walter Bush.

From the Lemont fire department, headquarters of the organization, have gone 7,868 gift boxes, 5,900 packages of cigarets, 9,000 copies of Victory News and approximately 100,000 different items requested by service men.

Spend $7,100 on Mail.

In addition to a Christmas box containing a military brush set, all 600 Lemont service men received the October box containing sox, cigarets, candy, shoe strings, razor blades, soap, handkerchiefs, and air mail envelopes. The two service women from Lemont receive feminine gifts.

Since its inception in May, 1942, the organization has spent $7,100 on its monthly mail to Lemont's service men and women. It was organized by Walter Bush, mayor of Lemont. Practically all of the 350 families in the town are represented in its list of volunteer officials and workers. Present officers are Constantine Shafranski, president; Mrs. Paul Ferry, vice president, and Mrs. Nellie Splitt, secretary.

Raise Money Thru Activities.

Among its fund raising activities have been bakery sales, a ball, a circus sponsored by the Lions club, and a musical comedy written and produced by three members of the organization's planning board: Charles Nicholls, editor of Victory News, which is mailed monthly to all service men; Joseph Driscoll, a member of the fire department, and Bernard Shafranski.

Hundreds of letters of gratitude from service men whose days have been lightened by the remembrances from home are testimonials to the success of the organization's program.

Women of Lemont who have packed the gift boxes are Mrs. Henry Nissen, Mrs. Edith Walker, Mrs. Herbert Eckman, Mrs. William Meehan, Mrs. John Rogers, Mrs. I. C. Sniegowski, Mrs. Carl Nelson, Mrs. August Rohder, Mrs. William Moos, Miss Rita-Ann Reid, and Miss Dorothy Carlson.

BUSBEY ASSISTS LOST SOULS THRU BUROCRAT MAZE

Charts Way Thru OPA in Single Day.

BY LEWIS WILLIAMS.

In two years—ask constituents who have sought his aid—Rep. Fred E. Busbey, Republican, who is seeking reëlection to congress in the 3d district, has learned his way around Washington.

That doesn't mean, friends quickly learn, that he knows only his way from his office to the capitol building. It means he can follow a logical path thru the labyrinth of bureaus set up under the New Deal.

Always on Job.

Being a congressman for the 3d district has been a comparatively simple task in the past, but for Busbey it's been a full time job for himself and an efficient secretary. He attends sessions of congress, presents bills before the house, and does research work on bills being considered to insure a vote that would be representative of the folks back home.

But more important to his constituents, his office always is open to a resident of the sprawling district on the southwest side. Requests for aid from service men, and there have been hundreds, come first but no one is overlooked. No request is too small for consideration and none is so large as to defy consideration.

Discharged veterans look on Busbey as one of their best friends in Washington and many have used his office as a stepping stone to a successful civilian life. Men still in service often call on their congressman.

One soldier, a lad who had learned the Japanese language in school, sought aid from Busbey in finding a spot in the army where he could put his knowledge to use. The representative directed him to the proper authorities, and both the soldier and the country have benefited.

Helps with Many Problems.

While service men come first, civilians have found in Busbey a sympathetic listener when they air problems arising from the spreading and ever changing authority of the OPA, WPB, WMC, and countless other bureaus. Arthur W. Draper Jr., 10834 Prospect av., found Busbey always "prompt, courteous, alert, and direct" in response to requests for directions thru the maze of restrictions facing real estate men.

Walter Wiles of Flossmoor calls Busbey "the best congressman the district ever has had." He speaks from experience, too. For three days Wiles wandered thru Washington seeking an allocation of glass. During the three days he talked to many men, each of whom said he was the man with final authority, and each of whom Wiles left feeling he had yet to see the right man.

In desperation he went to Busbey's office. "The congressman got on the phone," Wiles said, "and in one hour had talked to the right man, one I had never seen, and had gotten a satisfactory answer to my request. Kelly lives in my block," Wiles added, "and he's a nice neighbor but he was a nonentity as a congressman." He referred to Edward A. Kelly, Busbey's opponent and the district's representative for 10 years.

Another Tells His Experience.

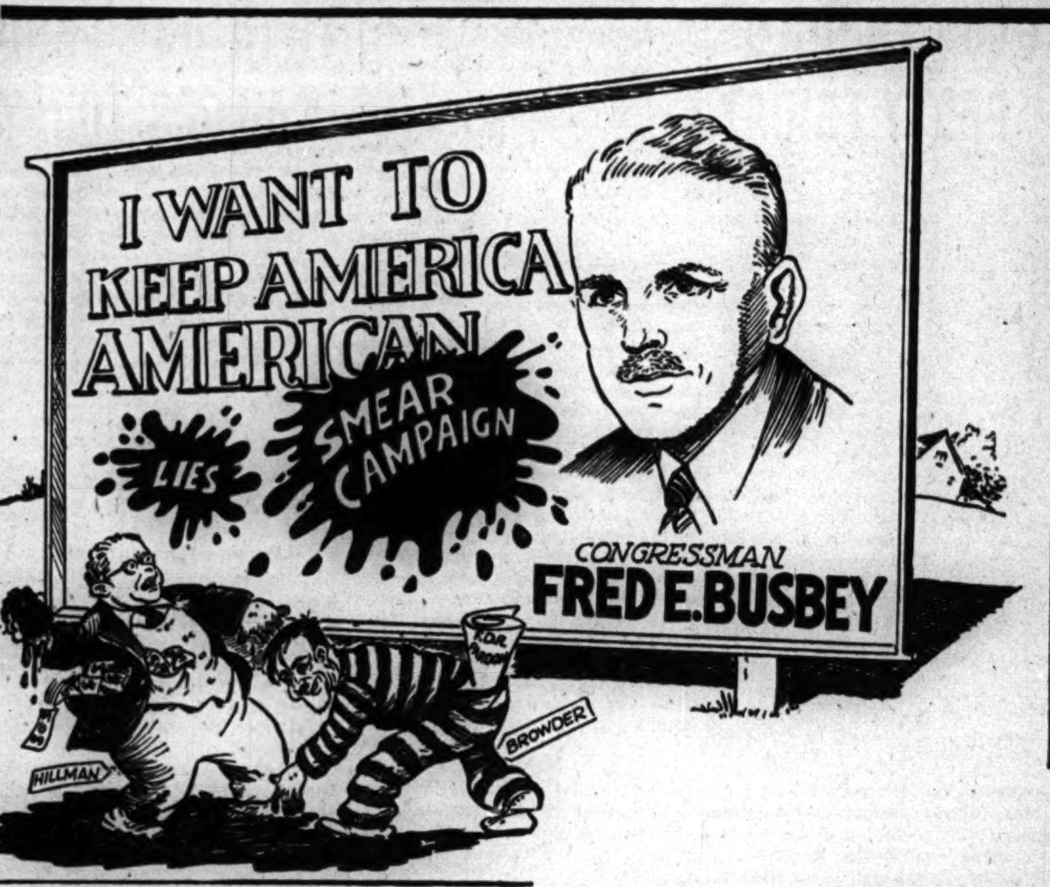
C. P. Berolzheimer, head of the Diamond Braiding Mills Inc., Chicago Heights, went further than Wiles. "Busbey is the only representative we've had in washington in the more than 40 years I've lived in the district," he said.

"Busbey paved the way for me so that I got in and out of Washington in a day, something I had never been able to do before. If I had my own office there I couldn't have done a better or faster job," Berolzheimer said.

Wayne Dinsmore, 9318 Longwood dr., has never gone to Washington for aid but has written the congressman several times. "In each case I have received a prompt reply, whether I sought information on agriculture or on bills pending in the house. I certainly hope he will be reëlected. The district has no one else to offer of like ability," he said.

Busbey is not guilty of false modesty. He is proud of his service to constituents but asserts that he has done so only to meet the obligations he contracted when accepting the congressional post and to be a good neighbor to the people of his district.

How Busbey Fights CIO-PAC Smear



Illustrating Congressman Fred E. Busbey's campaign for re-election in the 3d district, this cartoon is an example of how Busbey has met the smear attack of the Communist dominated political action committee. The cartoon has been used in circulars outlining Busbey's congressional record and sent to voters in the sprawling southwest side district.

Busbey Given Flag for Capital Office

Congressman Fred E. Busbey was presented with a flag for his Washington office at a recent testimonial meeting staged by the Ex-Service Men's organization. The flag was presented by Anthony Egan, past commander of the McCullough American Legion post. In the front row, left to right, are Egan, Byron Henley, president of the service men's group; Congressman Busbey, Austin J. Waldron, and Peter J. Medema. In the back row are J. A. Scott, Harry J. Trainor, and H. G. Wielatz. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The Southtown singers under direction of Miss Ann Gordon will give their first concert of the season in conjunction with the special roll call and prayer service for men in service at 7:30 p. m. today in the Calvary Methodist church, 78th and Morgan sts. Also on the program will be Marion Olson Brown, 6829 Indiana av., who was the Cook county winner in the lyric soprano division of the 1944 Chicago Music Festival contest.

8 S. W. SIDERS AID TEA PLANS FOR FATHER MALLOY

Eight southwest side students are among those arranging a tea at which the Rev. John C. Malloy will be welcomed as dean of Loyola University's downtown college. The tea will be held this afternoon in the Cudahy student lounge on the Lake Shore campus, 6825 Sheridan rd.

Father Malloy is a native Chicagoan and attended St. Ignatius High school and college. Previously he was dean of Xavier university, Cincinnati, O.

On the arrangements committee are Peggy McGarrity, 6418 S. Washtenaw av.; Rosemary and Cecelia Flynn, 455 W. 71st st.; Yvonne Jackson, 1326 W. 112th st.; Anne Lally, Blue Island; Jane Gardner, 7836 Loomis blvd.; Bernice Marcinak, 4607 S. Whipple st., and Anrara Elmblade, 11729 Princeton av.

ARE YOU READY TO REPEL THOSE WINTRY BLASTS?

Insulate Your Home Now; Here's How.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Has your house its winter clothing? Various types of garments go into the winter wardrobe of a house. One type of garment, made from available insulating boards, can play an important part in the home's cold weather clothing.

Experts have figured that you can keep a properly insulated home comfortably warm a month or two longer than an uninsulated one, on the same amount of fuel.

Cover Screen Doors.

Screen doors can be made into storm doors by fastening panels of insulating board over the old frames.

Basement windows can hold in basement heat more effectively by pieces of insulating board. These should be cut to the right sizes and wedged into openings.

Recessed radiators can be given needed protection at vulnerable points if a panel of insulating board is fitted into wall area back of radiator so that less heat escapes to the outdoors.

Screen Unused Fireplaces.

Unused fireplaces can be screened off—so that little heat escapes—by a tight fitting screen of insulating board. Then cover this with wallpaper or give it a painted design.

Front and back doors can admit icy gusts of air if they are not protected by storm doors. Or better still, the installations of a winter vestibule will be a definite heat saver. These vestibules are really miniature anterooms. Have them large enough so that one door may be closed before the other is opened.

Windows of unused rooms can be covered with insulating board to cut down heat loss and keep entire home warmer with less fuel.

BUSBEY BALLOT DRIVE IS A WAR ON COMMUNISTS

Declaring he considers it an honor to be No. 1 on the purge list of the communist dominated political action committee, Rep. Fred E. Busbey has conducted his campaign for reëlection in the 3d district in a manner that has left his constituents with no doubt about his position in public affairs.

Busbey declares the fact that the PAC has found him an obstacle in its program to handcuff Americans with the political principles of the old world, is proof of his intentions to help keep America for Americans.

"The PAC is opposing me," Busbey said, "because I know the aim of the organization is to overthrow the United States government. Hillman's oposition cannot stem from my opposition to fair labor practices because I have never opposed them. Daily I get letters from CIO workers asking for continued help so that they can throw off the yoke of Hillmanism."

Former Member of Union.

Busbey was a member of the union of street railway workers when he was a guard for the "L" while working his way thru school and he has always been well supported by surface and elevated lines employes. In the closing weeks of the campaign Busbey made 4 a. m. trips to the 69th st. and 77th st. car barns to speak personally with the workers.

The trips were nothing new to Busbey or to other political aspirants. Busbey had made two such visits before. Before the election which saw him dethrone Edward A. Kelly two years ago, the Republican congressman visited the car barns. After his election he paid a return visit.

Strong Legion Support.

Long before Busbey entered politics he stumped the state in behalf of Americanism for the American Legion. The Legion is giving him stanch support in the current campaign.

As demonstration of the affection in which he is held by his neighbors, a testimonial meeting was staged a few weeks ago by the Ex-Service Men's organization, a nonpartisan group of World War I. veterans. Anthony Egan, past commander of the McCullough Legion post and a veteran surface lines employe, presented the congressman with an American flag for his Washington office "which," Busbey said, "will breathe nothing but Americanism as long as I am its tenant."

Speech Arouses Communists.

As a member of the Dies committee on un-American activities Busbey was marked by the PAC as a man whose defeat should be sought. But, his No. 1 purge rating results from his "Wake Up, America!" speech in congress.

In that address Busbey said: "Constitutional representative government may be lost to the American people if they do not awake." He called attention to the infiltration tactics adopted by the Communists when it became apparent tha their teachings were repugnant to the free men and women of America.

Charges Plot for Power.

"The CIO is a labor union having great influence in labor circles," he said. "The great majority of the CIO members are honest, law abiding American citizens who believe implicitly in their country and to whom the views and beliefs of the Communists are abhorrent.

"Cunningly, the Communists set about to gain a foothold in this labor organization and they have succeeded in their infiltration to the point where many important offices are now filled with Communists, which insures their control of the CIO."

BLIND MINISTER HELPS YOUTH OF YARDS SEE LIGHT

Celebrates 25th Year at Good Will Center.

Rev. J. D. Hickman.

Good Will center, 3334 S. Paulina st., which for 25 years has countered juvenile delinquency in the Stock Yards communities with a program of education, relief, recreation, and spiritual guidance to all races and creeds, will celebrate its silver anniversary this week. The Rev. Jesse D. Hickman, who is continuing his work altho he recently lost his sight, is the founder and superintendent of the center.

He was born near Des Moines, Ia., in 1876, the son of a Methodist minister. He attended Moody Bible institute, Garrett Biblical institute, Northwestern university, and the University of Chicago. In 1919 he founded the Good Will center which fed and clothed 1,300 families during the depression.

50 Groups Help Work.

The building is owned by the Methodist church which has contributed funds to the center program. Fifty other organizations such as the Kiwanis club and the Rogers Park Woman's club also help maintain the center. Departments include a gymnasium, chapel, library, and an electrified craft shop.

This week's anniversary program is typical of the activities carried on thru the year. A worship service beginning at 10 a. m. today will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hickman, and special music will be played by the 16 members of the instrumental ensemble. Playing of musical instruments is taught at the center by the Rev. Mr. Hickman and his son, Donald.

A Boy and Girl Scout rally will be held at 7:15 p. m. tomorrow. The Boy Scout troop which meets at the center will conduct an investiture of new Scouts and relate progress of Scouts who have passed various tests.

Builds Around Scouting.

The Rev. Mr. Hickman has built his recreational and educational program around scouting which he says "meets the needs of character and citizenship." He has been given the silver beaver which is one of the highest awards presented by the National Boy Scout council.

He has been associated with Scouts since 1910 when he served as Scoutmaster of a troop at the Sangamon Street church when he was pastor there. He was one of the originators of scouting in Bridgeport and has served as southwest district commissioner, as chairman of the district camping committee, and since 1929 has also held a position on the district executive committee.

As a member of the camping committee he helped plan and build Camp Kiwanis near Willow Springs, and he founded the scholarship fund to send deserving Scouts there.

Offer Varied Entertainment.

The center's Youth Club of Good Americans will present a motion picture Tuesday night, and the dramatic class will give a comedy on Wednesday and a dramatic presentation of the center's history Thursday evening. Charles Swan, magician, also will perform on Thursday night. Another motion picture will be presented Friday evening.

Associated with the Rev. Mr. Hickman since the founding of the center have been his wife, Florence, and his secretary, Miss Fay A. Ware, who recently left to continue church work in Florida.

Other workers now at the center are Wesley Hunter, boys' activities; Miss Ethel Hall, librarian and girls' activities; Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, recreation worker, and Raymond Anthony, music instructor.

Beverly Service Aids to Hold Tea Tuesday

Members of the Beverly Council Service Aids will hold a tea Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ray F. Pontious, 10500 Talman av. Results of the charity bazar recently held at the Ridge Country club will be announced.

South Congressional Districts

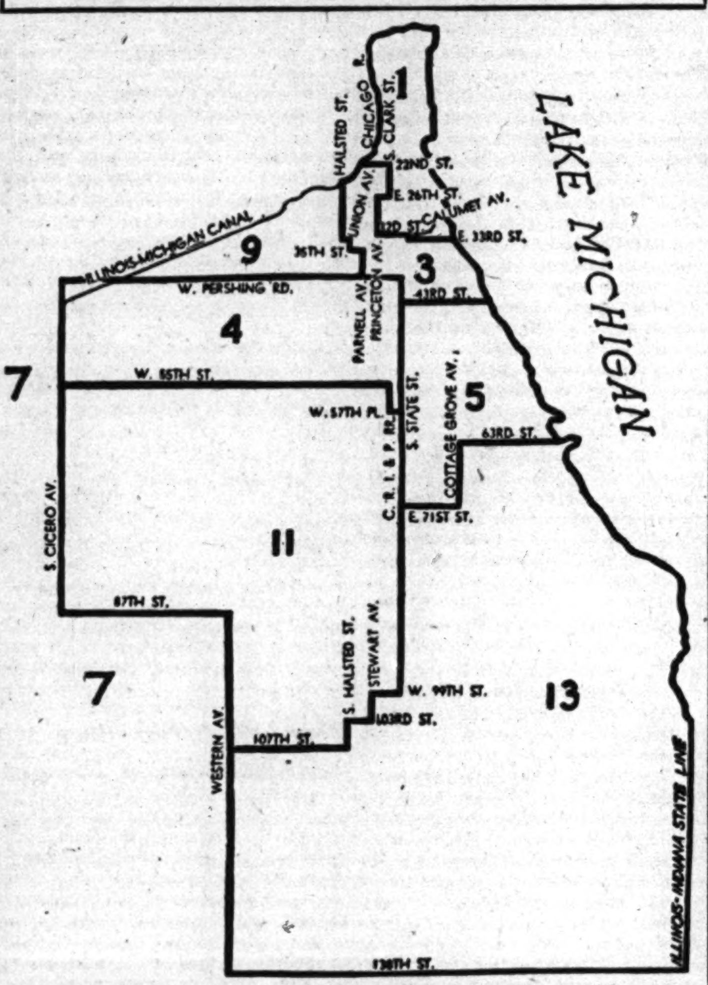
South Side Legislative Districts



Legislative districts in which south and southwest side voters will cast ballots Tuesday are outlined on map. The 7th district includes all townships in Cook county outside Chicago not in the 6th, 19th, or 23d districts.

NOMINEES SEEK STRAY BALLOTS AS DRIVES END

for the house in the 14th is Rep. Leon M. Schuler of Aurora.

Merritt J. Little, Aurora chairman of the Kane county Republican central committee, is the G. O. P. nominee for state senator in the 14th. Little defeated Friedland last April and now faces James T. Walsh [D.] of St. Charles. As the 14th is predominately a Republican district, Little anticipates only minor opposition from Walsh.

FORTY-FIRST DISTRICT

There is no contest for the three house seats, Republicans having nominated two candidates and the Democrats one. Republicans are Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neill, Downers Grove, and Morton H. Hollingsworth, Joliet real estate man. The Democrat is J. Harold Downey, Joliet lawyer.

Ridge Book Club to Hear Reviews of Two Volumes

At the next meeting of the Ridge Book of the Hour club at 10 a. m. Friday in Mickelberry's Log Cabin, 2300 W. 95th st., Mrs. John M. Wenner, 9767 Vanderpoel av., will review "Lost Island" by John Norman Hall. Mrs. A. V. Higgins, 10157 Seeley av., will review "Some of My Best Friends Are Soldiers" by Margaret Halsey.

VOTERS OF SOUTH SIDE TO BALLOT ON PROHIBITION

Voters in nine precincts from wards 3, 6, and 17 will ballot on prohibiting sale of alcoholic liquor when they go to the polls Tuesday.

The prohibition proposition will be given voters along with the large ballots containing the names of candidates for national, state, and county offices, and ballots for Municipal court judges, amendments to the Municipal court act, and for a 3 million dollar bond issue for new street lights.

The local option ballot will be placed before voters of precinct 12 in ward 3, precincts 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, and 10 in ward 6, and precinct 15 in ward 17 as the territories were bounded for the general election Nov. 8, 1932.

Home Owners Lead Opposition.

Total prohibition of alcoholic liquor sale will be voted upon in six precincts. In precincts 5, 9, and 10 of the 6th ward ballots will be on restriction of the sale of liquor of more than 4 per cent alcohol by weight except in original packages and not for consumption on premises.

Balloting on the propositions is the result of action taken by residents of the area. In the 6th ward the local option movement was led by the Washington Park Improvement association of which Robert Carter, 6041 Eberhart av., is president.

Objects to Taverns.

The area in the 6th ward is a residential and business district occupied partially within the last five years by Negroes. Home owners sought aid of the association in resisting the large number of taverns opening in the area.

"Taverns only draw the rougher element from other parts of the city," Mrs. Rosa Kinney, 6215 Evans av., secretary of the association, declared. "Legitimate constructive businesses will suffer and our homes will lose their values.

"Negroes are proud of their homes in this area, which always has been a restricted district, and we do not want to lose the present character of the neighborhood."

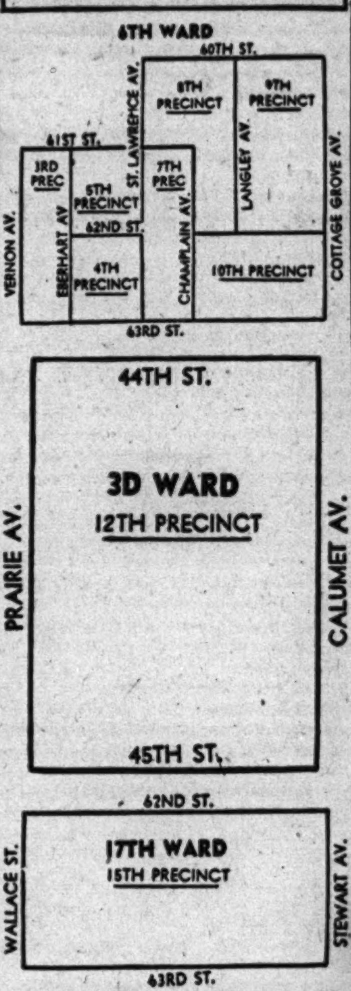
Three Taverns in Two Blocks.

The 15th precinct in ward 17 has three taverns in two blocks along 63d st. Parents and home owners who supported the petition hope to make the precinct dry as was done in another district near 75th st. and Vincennes av. six years ago.

The 12th precinct in the 3d ward is a residential area with the exception of one grocery which sells liquor in the rear.

Three local option petitions were rejected on the south side by the board of election commissioners upon recommendation of its attorneys. One petition for the 14th precinct of the 17th ward was rejected because it did not contain the words, "as the precinct existed in 1932," a legal requirement. Two other petitions for the 63d and 71st precincts of the 19th ward were rejected because such precincts did not exist in 1932.

Vote on Local Option



Proposals to halt the sale of liquor will be presented to voters at the election polls Tuesday in nine precincts from three south side wards as the boundaries existed at the time of the general election on Nov. 8, 1932.

BEST ELECTION COVERAGE YET! W-G-N PROMISE

Reports to Be Broadcast for Loop Crowds.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The swiftest and most complete election coverage in its 20 years history—that is the promise of W-G-N for next Tuesday. As the election bulletins roll in during the evening, several regularly scheduled programs will be canceled; all others subject to interruption. WGNB, W-G-N's FM sister station, which normally signs off at 9 p. m., will stay on thru the night with W-G-N or until all important contests are decided.

To cover the election W-G-N, besides using 27 members of its own staff, will have supplementary services from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the Mutual Broadcasting system, Associated Press, United Press, Press association, and the City News bureau. W-G-N has arranged for direct broadcasting connections with major party headquarters in Chicago and tabulating headquarters in the county building. Leaders and candidates of both parties will speak over W-G-N from La Salle and Morrison hotel headquarters.

Air News in State Street.

To bring the news to the thousands who will be in the loop Tuesday night W-G-N has made arrangements with the State Street council for exclusive use of its new public address system. News returns and recorded music will be relayed from W-G-N thru the 80 horn system from Wacker dr. to Congress st. along State st.

W-G-N will also install loudspeakers at the corners of Madison and Clark sts., Randolph and Clark sts., and Randolph and Dearborn sts.

Mutual's Election Plans.

W-G-N will broadcast election news thruout the day, and the first tabulations as soon as they are available. Broadcasts over the loop system will begin at 6 p. m.

Mutual pickups will come from many cities of the nation. It is expected that key winning and losing candidates will be brought to the microphone. Mutual expects to make special pickups from the Philippines, Rome, and Paris, giving the reaction of service men to the news of election day.

Mutual's commentators will include Fulton Lewis, Cecil Brown, Archibald Crossley, Gabriel Heatter, Henry Gladstone, Ray Dady, Walter Compton, and Alexander Griffin. W-G-N election announcers include Jack Brickhouse, Tom Cafferty, Lee Bennett, Cy Harrice, Holland Engle, and Hal Lansing. Supplementing this corps will be Arthur Sears Henning, chief of the Washington bureau of THE TRIBUNE, and Arthur Evans, Tribune political writer.

All other major networks have made elaborate plans to provide complete election coverage.

In Mystery House

Nannette Sargent plays the lead in "Mystery House," now aired at 9:30 p. m. Sundays from W-G-N's main studio. Tickets are available free while they last.

THEATER OF AIR TO OPEN WITH 'GREAT WALTZ'

Opening its fifth season of operetta and opera productions, The Chicago Theater of the Air will present "The Great Waltz" next Saturday, Armistice day, from the stage of the huge auditorium in Medinah temple before an audience of more than 4,000. The broadcast henceforth will be aired at a new time, from 9 to 10 p. m. over W-G-N, WGNB and the coast-to-coast Mutual network.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

Marion Claire will return to the series starring in the role of Resi. Singing opposite her in the role of the younger Johann Strauss will be Morton Bowe, tenor. Bruce Foote, baritone, will sing the role of Lt. Poldi.

Henry Weber to Conduct.

Strauss music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus under the baton of Henry Weber, W-G-N's director of music.

Speaking lines will be taken by an all-star dramatic cast, including Laurette Fillbrandt, John Barclay, Robert Murphy and Norman Gottschalk.

Miss Claire will sing "Morning," "With All My Heart," "We Love You Still," "Blue Danube" and, with Mr. Bowe, will offer "You Are My Songs," "Love Will Find You," and "While You Love Me." Mr. Bowe will also sing "One Hour."

Back to Medinah Temple.

Bruce Foote and the chorus will offer "In Love and War."

This broadcast marks the return of the Chicago Theater of the Air to Medinah temple, where weekly programs were presented last season before a combined audience of more than 90,000 people.

Jack LaFrandre, writer-director of the series, will produce the show, and the announcer will be John Holbrook.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, Nov. 6.

Mulch all perennials and newly planted trees and shrubs as soon as the ground freezes. If strawy manure is obtainable use it for it decays during the winter and adds fertilizer and humus to the soil.

Those who have fruiting Boston ivy should collect the seeds and either stratify them in peat moss or sand or sow directly where the plants are to remain. Sowing seed is a good way to start plants along a brick or stone building. But see that the soil is good; replace poor soil with good fresh, fertile soil.

Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Planning the garden is one of the activities that occupies the gardener during the winter months. All the materials needed are a pencil, eraser, ruler, and paper. A simple planting plan is all that is necessary, but by making a first rough sketch of all buildings, walks, and existing vegetation a general study of possible changes can be made.

Wednesday, Nov. 8.

One of the best methods of protecting climbing roses is to take the plants down and cover with soil. Frequently the wood ripens so late the plants freeze back considerably but if taken down and covered the wood remains plump and in the moist soil will not freeze and be injured. If they cannot be removed from the support, protect with cornstalks, straw, and other materials and tie up in burlap.

Thursday, Nov. 9.

Tulips can still be planted if available and the ground is not frozen. A thin frozen crust will not prevent planting bulbs. Paperwhite narcissi and Chinese sacred lilies should be planted about the middle of this month to bloom at Christmastide. If the ground is still workable, be sure to spade it and allow it to remain in the rough all winter.

Friday, Nov. 10.

Examine the rhododendrons and fall set evergreens and water again if necessary. Outdoor window boxes will look well if planted with small evergreens now. The nurseries usually have plants for such a purpose. But keep them well watered at all times or they will turn brown and appear unkempt. Spruce, hemlock, or aborvitae are satisfactory for the boxes.

Saturday, Nov. 11.

Watch the cacti that they are not overwatered for they rest during winter. If the room in which they are standing is kept at a high temperature they will need watering more frequently than when placed in a room with a low temperature.

Young growing plants need more water than old, strong plants. Large barrels can be placed on a shelf without water and will keep in fine condition for spring planting out of doors.

Prepared in coöperation with Garfield park conservatory.

Monteux Will Conduct Philharmonic Today

Pierre Monteux, conductor of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, will be guest conductor on the New York Philharmonic program over WBBM-CBS at 2 p. m. today. Leon Fleischer, 16 year old pianist, will also appear as a guest during the broadcast. He is to be featured as soloist in a presentation of Brahms' D minor Concerto. The orchestra will offer Beethoven's "Prometheus" overture, William Grant Still's "Old California," and Debussy's nocturnes, "Nuages" and "Fetes."

Benny Will Introduce New Singer Tonight

Jack Benny will introduce his new singer, Larry Stevens, on WMAQ-NBC at 6 o'clock tonight. Stevens, who served in the United States army air corps for approximately a year and received an honorable discharge, will make his radio debut with "I'll Be Seeing You." Another event on Benny's show tonight will be the guest appearance of Dunninger, mind reader.

THE NEW CHAIN REFERENCE BIBLE

Truly a Bible PLUS a Biblical Library in ONE Volume

Edited by Rev. F. C. Thompson, D.D., Ph. D.

More Highly Praised—and by More Outstanding Leaders—than Any Other Bible

Read What These Men Say:

Dr. J. B. TIDWELL, Bible Department, Baylor University: "The New Chain Reference Bible is the best yet. It has more helps than any other Bible. At my home, we are one hundred per cent for it and wish that a copy of this best of all Bibles might be in every home in the land." Dr. RALPH W. SOCKMAN, Pastor, Christ Church, Methodist, New York City: "It contains so much in such concise form that I use it above all others. I have never seen a Bible edition which equals it for study work and general use." Dr. HARRY RIMMER, Biblical Scholar and Scientist: "I have never seen any other single volume that contained as many practical helps for the beginner, or the advanced student of the Scriptures. I feel that no student should be without this splendid aid to study and instruction." Dr. E. E. HELMS, Former Pastor, 1st Methodist Church, Los Angeles: "In my judgment, the Chain Reference Bible is the most valuable and useful volume ever published. Anyone using it a week would not part with it at any price." Dr. P. H. WELSHIMER, Pastor, 1st Christian Church, Canton, Ohio: "The New Chain Reference Bible is superior to any Bible I have used. I heartily recommend it to all Bible students. I find it most helpful in my work." Rev. CHARLES E. FULLER, Old Fashioned Revival Hour Broadcast: "I wish every preacher, and teacher of The Word, had a copy of this most usable and logical reference work." Dr. E. STANLEY JONES, Methodist Missionary to India: "I have found it to be a very great help indeed. I commend it heartily." Dr. F. M. McCONNELL, Editor, Baptist Standard: "I firmly believe that a boy in the 7th grade can get more information from this Bible in two days than a preacher can get from an ordinary Bible in a week. It is a whole library in itself." Dr. WALTER A. MAIER, Radio Speaker of the Lutheran Hour: "I use the New Chain Reference Bible with continued delight and would not be without it. So far as I know, it is the only Bible in which the helps are right where they are needed the most—either in the wide margins on each page, opposite the Bible verses, or directly connected with the other helps in the back of the book. I recommend it highly to pastors, teachers, students, and Bible readers." Dr. P. O. BERSELL, Pres., Evangelical Lutheran Augustana Synod of North America: "I have found it to be one of the most useful volumes in my library." Dr. WILLIAM EVANS, Director of Bible Conferences, Los Angeles: "I find it all that you claim for it. It is a most efficient and scholarly and helpful Bible, and I recommend it most heartily." The Late Dr. GEORGE W. TRUETT, Former Pastor, 1st Baptist Church, Dallas, Tex.: "From the use I have already made of it, I am profoundly convinced that it is a book of such excellent merit that it ought to be placed in the hands of preachers, teachers, and Bible students everywhere." Dr. J. A. HUFFMAN, Dean, Winona Lake School of Theology: "I have never seen so much splendid help crowded into a single volume of the Bible." The Late Dr. CLELAND B. McAFEE, Former Sec'y, Board of Foreign Missions, Presbyterian Church: "It reveals an amazing amount of labor, and yet it tends to inspire study instead of lessening it." Bishop A. R. CLIPPINGER, United Brethren in Christ: "I have used a number of Bibles but I have found none so satisfactory as the New Chain Reference Bible. It contains more classical information for ready reference than any other volume I have ever seen." Rev. H. M. SHUMAN, Pres. Christian and Missionary Alliance: "It is unusually free from objectionable features frequently found in reference Bibles, and is unsurpassed in its simplicity and completeness."

Dr. DANIEL A. POLING, Pres. International Society of Christian Endeavor: "It is really a Biblical library within itself. I feel, too, that it stimulates Bible study—that it makes Bible study fascinating." Dr. JAS. B. CHAPMAN, Gen. Supt., Nazarine Churches: "It is a Bible, a Concordance, a Bible Dictionary, a Commentary, a Book of Outlines, and an Encyclopedia, all under one cover, and still it is not clumsy. I certainly would advise you to buy it and use it." Dr. J. STANLEY DURKEE, Pastor, Plymouth Church of the Pilgrims, Brooklyn, N. Y.: "I have to confess that in the New Chain Reference Bible I have found my greatest and best thus far. One wonders how so much can be compressed into such small space. It is a marvel of condensation." Bishop SAMUEL P. SPRENG, Bishop Emeritus, The Evangelical Church: "I am pleased with it beyond expression. Dr. Thompson (the author) has done a monumental service to Bible students in giving them just what they need in these days of haste and intensity of effort." Evangelist WALTER L. WILSON, M. D., Kansas City: "This New Chain Reference Bible is better than I thought. I have spoken of the value of it to many others and shall continue to do so." Bishop THOMAS CASADY, Protestant Episcopal Church, Diocese of Oklahoma: "The more I use it, the more delighted I am with it. In fact, it is a Bible library within itself. It soon pays for itself in time and labor saved alone." Dr. BOB JONES, Sr., Founder, Bob Jones College: "You will do any man a great favor by putting this Bible in his hands. I wish that I could influence every Christian to purchase one of these Bibles." Dr. LEANDER S. KEYSER, Professor Emeritus, Wittenberg College: "The New Chain Reference Bible is a treasure-house of information. Surely this is the Bible that ought to be in every home." Evangelist W. W. LOVELESS: "A thousand dollars could not buy my copy of this new edition, if I could not get another." SHERWOOD EDDY, Author, Ex-Sec'y. for Asia Y. M. C. A.: "It contains a mine of valuable information. This single book is an education in itself." The late Dr. MERTON S. RICE, Former Pastor, Metropolitan Methodist Church, Detroit: "The new edition, which I now possess, is an astonishing improvement in efficiency in what I had thought was about complete. I keep it at my right hand constantly in my preparation."

Dr. CHARLES W. KOLLER, Pres. Northern Baptist Theological Seminary: "Its helps are superb. I know of none better." Dr. J. C. McPHEETERS, Editor Pentecostal Herald: "I am now using your latest edition and find it a great improvement over previous editions. I regard the New Chain Reference Bible as the best Bible published with special helps to guide the student in Bible study." Dr. H. FRAMER SMITH, Former President Pennsylvania Bible Institute: "I find that it surpasses them all for real practical helps. It is, indeed, a marvel of Bible analysis. To any one desiring a better knowledge of the Scriptures, I would say, examine this work before buying any other Bible."

Ballet Theater Announces Repertory but No Casts

Season Opens on Nov. 24; 14 Performances Are Listed

By Claudia Cassidy.

Ballet Theater announces its repertory for the 14 performances starting at the Civic Opera house Nov. 24, which means that ballet fans with poised checkbooks need waste no more time in pouncing on their chosen items. Some of these days the ballet troupes are going to reform their elusive ways and give us casts with repertory, but for the time being they prefer to go under the bland and mistaken assumption that no one cares who dances what.

We do know that Tamara Toumanova will dance "Aurora's Wedding"—how nice it would be to have Tatiana Riabouchinska and David Lichine back in 1933 form for the Bluebird variations—and that she will appear with Leonide Massine in his new divertissement to Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata. She may even take over older roles with him, that of the ballerina in "Petrouchka" and the miller's wife in "Three Cornered Hat," the witty outburst to de Falla music and Picasso décor. Perhaps, too, she will share "Swan Lake" with Nana Gollner, tho she may be content with the grand pas de deux from the ballet's rarely danced third act.

It goes without saying that Nora Kaye and Hugh Laing will dance with Antony Tudor in his three ballets of frustration—"Pillar of Fire," to Schoenberg's "Verklärte Nacht," "Lilac Garden" to Chausson's Poeme, and the wry "Dim Lustre," to Strauss' Burleske. I assume that Lichine and Riabouchinska are not coming for the eight performances of "Graduation Ball," which they recently revived in New York, and that their roles will be danced here by Janet Reed and Harold Lang, who recently took over in the east. Muriel Bentley, omitted from the early announcements of "Fancy Free," has been added in response to telegraphic inquiry. Miss Bentley will appear here in the sailor ballet with Jerome Robbins, the choreographer, Janet Reed, John Kriza, and Harold Lang.

Here is the complete schedule of performances:

Friday, Nov. 24—"Princess Aurora," "Fancy Free" [new], "Lilac Garden," "Graduation Ball."

Saturday matinee, Nov. 25—"Les Sylphides," "Peter and the Wolf," "Graduation Ball."

Saturday night, Nov. 25—"Three Cornered Hat," "Pillar of Fire," "Graduation Ball."

Sunday matinee, Nov. 26—"Les Sylphides," "Fancy Free," "Petrouchka."

Sunday night, Nov. 26—"Waltz Academy" [new], "Fancy Free," "Moonlight Sonata" [new], "Bluebeard."

Monday, Nov. 27—"Swan Lake," "Fancy Free," "Pas de Quatre," "Gala Performance."

Tuesday, Nov. 28—"Tally-Ho" [new], "Petrouchka," "Judgment of Paris," "Graduation Ball."

Wednesday, Nov. 29—"Tally-Ho," "Dim Lustre," "Moonlight Sonata," "Bluebeard."

Thursday, Nov. 30—"Three Cornered Hat," "Grand Pas de Deux," "Fancy Free," "Barn Dance."

Friday, Dec. 1—"Waltz Academy," "Fancy Free," "Judgment of Paris," "Graduation Ball."

Saturday matinee, Dec. 2—"Barn Dance," "Princess Aurora," "Fancy Free."

Saturday night, Dec. 2—"Swan Lake," "Pillar of Fire," "Graduation Ball."

Sunday matinee, Dec. 3—"Peter and the Wolf," "Pas de Quatre," "Fancy Free," "Graduation Ball."

Sunday night, Dec. 3—"Gala Performance," "Fancy Free," "Moonlight Sonata," "Graduation Ball."

Now if Billy Rose would just postpone "Seven Lively Arts" long enough to release Anton Dolin for our engagement, we might get the "Giselle" he is dancing in New York with Toumanova. It would be pleasant, too, to get another look at Tudor's "Dark Elegies," danced to Mahler's "Kindertotenlieder" during Ballet Theater's original engagement at the Civic Opera house.

Crime Ahoy!

There are two kinds of people and the other kind doesn't understand the orgy of nocturnal reading known to addicts as going on a mystery book binge. It usually starts with an evening off and a pause at the corner drug store to stock up on alluring wares from the 25 cent counter. One book leads to another, and the next day finds the celebrant, a little wan at the edges, trying to emulate those insufferably efficient people who got their sleep.

Now it isn't as easy as you might think to pick good stories from the pocket book pile, considering its size and much of its caliber, so the name of a dependable writer is manna in the wilderness—unless, like Agatha Christie, that writer is invariably serialized in advance, so that you start off bravely only to discover in the middle of the first murder that you already know the villain.

Miss Christie's "Ten Little Indians," due at the Harris tomorrow night, will be no mystery to her most ardent fans, but it may provide the town with its first crack crime show in seasons. I doubt that even Zasu Pitts' firmest admirers will put up a battle for "Ramshackle Inn" as anything but a ramshackle vehicle for its star. "Ten Little Indians" has survived London and New York inspection, and our company has been reaping some resonant reviews on its way to Monday's opening.

Just in case you don't know what the play is about, it concerns 10 fearful folk assembled on an island without means of escape or outside communication. Informed of impending doom by a sepulchral voice, they pop off one by one in various spectacular and uncomfortable exits as ordained by the sinister nursery rhyme emblazoned over the fireplace. Waiting their lethal turn on Dearborn st. will be Robert Warwick, Toni Gilman, Alexander D'Ardy, Philip Tonge, Lillian Foster, Gardner Hunter, among others.

Joos Ballet Completes Engagement in London

The well remembered Joos Ballet has just completed a six weeks engagement in London at the Haymarket theater, which is said to have been an outstanding success in spite of the buzz bombs.

THE HIDDEN TOWN

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

(Copyright: 1944: By F. R. Bechdolt.)

INSTALMENT XI.

THERE is a belief current among gamblers that if you press your luck, luck comes to you. When Yardley returned to the bank from Eddie's office he was wrestling with the problem of where to find a capable murderer. Entering the front door, he confronted Estaban Valdez. The constable's head was swathed in bandages and his hat was tilted so far forward that it hid half his face. Now this Hay Belly wasn't much of a peace officer, but he had been selected by the Alcalde because of other talents, chief of which was his knowledge of everything that went on among the paisanos within a radius of 50 miles or more, and for all of his sorry appearance he was a welcome sight. Yardley beckoned him into the little glassed-in sanctum.

"Any idea where Andreas Lopez is now?" he asked.

"Sure," Hay Belly grinned. "He is the smart one, that Andreas. He is not domb like he looks. Last week he is hiding out from our sheriff over in the San Joaquin, and in Bakersfield he gets into more trouble because some sheepherder is hit over the head and robbed. That man he died, and they say Andreas did it. So what does he do then? Why, he comes back to his house which our sheriff has searched for him, and nobody thinks he will be hiding in that place."

It was the second time John Yardley had smiled within the hour, and the joke was on himself now. For the house of Andreas Lopez was the old adobe which the hill vaqueros called the Butcher Shop. His respect for Ursula went up a notch or two.

"You want him?" Hay Belly asked. Yardley shook his head.

"Some day, perhaps," he said. "Not now."

And in the first hour of the afternoon he was driving his old car along the dirt road which wound thru the tall hills of the coast range.

In the afternoon when the sun was shining upon it, the house which the vaqueros called the Butcher Shop had a sinister look. For the little clearing where it stood was bathed in hot white light, and every object which littered the bare earth stood out starkly, casting its own black shadow, but the tall pines huddled close around the place, and they were so thick that they seemed to wall it in. You knew when you saw that house that it had never been intended for a home. There was a secrecy about it that gave you an uneasy feeling, as if it were hiding here and you had stumbled upon it.

Ursula was standing in the doorway when the Alcalde braked his car to a stop. She did not wait this time, she came without a word and stood in silence with one foot on the running board, searching his face. He said:

"Some sheep died. That was all."

The relief which showed in her face was so evident and the quick suspicion which followed it was so malignant that the transformation should have frightened him.

"Why do you come now?" she demanded.

"To talk with you and Andreas," he replied placidly.

She said, "You make a joke. You know that Andreas is gone." And he answered with sincerity.

"I never make a joke."

They looked each other in the eyes for a few seconds. Then:

"Who told you?" she demanded. He shook his head. He said:

"They haven't told the sheriff—yet." He unlatched the car door and she stepped back to let it swing open. "Now take me to him," he bade her. She led the way across the threshold where she had been standing when he arrived.

"You wait. I bring him here," she said.

The door was open but the clean outside air was driven away by the heavy, indescribable mixture of stale wood smoke and cooking grease and unwashed humanity. The white sunshine crossed the threshold, leaving a narrow path of light where dust motes floated, but the shadows were thick beyond its limits. Many years ago the long room had been the gathering place of teamsters and stage drivers and travelers, and the old bar still spanned one end of it. Its raftered ceiling was stained black with smoke. A double bed in one corner looked like the nesting place of animals. The plastered walls were frescoed with initials and lewd drawings done in charcoal and scratched with nails. But the heavy odor and the dimness which hovered around the one patch of light were the room's main impression. It was one of those places of unclean history where nothing was too terrible to happen.

A door banged shut somewhere beyond the shadows, and Ursula appeared out of the twilight. She went straight to the entrance and stood there with her back upon the room. She muttered one word:

"Bueno." Then Andreas appeared, and his coming was so silent that it gave the Alcalde an uncanny feeling. It was as if the man had materialized at her call. A moment before he had not been here, now he was crossing the pathway of sunlight.

He was clad in trousers and a thin black shirt, which was open over his chest. His hair had the dull darkness of soot. He was thin flanked and wide of shoulder. And his brown feet were bare.

He was young, this Andreas. He moved with the silent grace of a great black cat. He had the perfection of body that would drive a sculptor wild, and his brown face held the quiet savageness of a wild animal. He said:

"You want to talk to me." He had spoken barely above his breath, and the timbre of that deep bass filled the whole room, but its music was lost on the Alcalde's ears. He didn't like the place and he didn't like the pair. He wanted to get thru with this and leave, and the knowledge that his business was going to need a formidable buildup made him a little more irritable than usual. He mustered what patience he could. He answered:

"I want to talk with you and your woman."

"I am here," Ursula announced without turning her head. "And I can talk. I watch the road. Why did you come?"

There was no compromise in her broad back. Addressing it was like talking to a blank wall, but the Alcalde made the best of a bad matter and got down to the business of lying convincingly.

"I saw the sheriff this morning and he says he was talking with the district attorney about your case the other day, Ursula. He says they have made up their minds to change the charge to murder. They have the evidence to make a good case and they have been waiting for a long time for a chance to get rid of you. So they are going to send you to San Quentin. It would cost you much money to fight that case and I do not want to lend my money to one who will not come back here for 20 years——"

"Twenty years!" Ursula's voice brought comfort to the Alcalde. The buildup was progressing better than he had expected.

"Sometimes," he said, "they send you up for life, and sometimes you die. But they figure on a conviction for second degree murder. It would be cheaper for you if you went away and for me it would be cheaper. The bond is $500, but I think the judge would let that go. He is my friend. But that is not all.

"You asked me who it was that told me Andreas is here. It was another friend. He is an officer and he promised me that he will not tell the sheriff until tomorrow morning. That is the best that I could do for you. So you can stay here or you can run away."

"And maybe you would bring the money for us to run away," Ursula said.

"No," the Alcalde told her quietly. "I do not bring money with me when I come to see you." Andreas laughed.

"We can find out," he said.

"You can find out," the Alcalde agreed. "But you will not find a two bit piece in my pockets. And I left word with my friend where I have gone."

"I think," Andreas murmured, "we will try. Maybe you lie." He took a step toward the Alcalde.

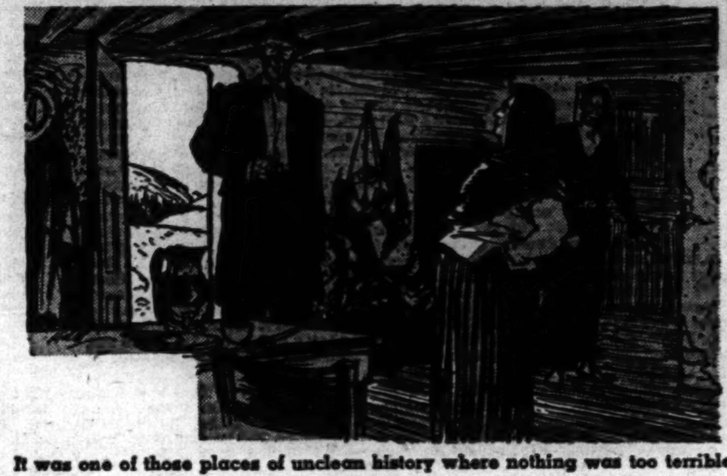
"We will not," Ursula said. "He does not come here to make the fun of us. He does not spend his money for gas for that. What is it, Alcalde, that job you want?"

"If a man was to come to this house tonight," Yardley said, "and if no one but me knew that he was coming here. And if he had $500 in his pocket, I think that you two would not be in this part of the country tomorrow morning."

"You talk like a fool," Andreas growled.

"You will be quiet, Andreas," Ursula said. "How do you know, Alcalde, that man is coming with money in his pocket like you say?"

"He is coming," the Alcalde told her. "He will be coming past this house in a car with a woman. And after they been gone for a half a mile something will happen. That car will pile up down in the canyon at the turn of the road. And the woman will be in it. But the man will not be in it. He will come back on foot a little later. He will come to this house and he will be looking for a friend who is to take him back home. But there will be no friend waiting for him. And if you are here tomorrow morning you will have the sheriff for a visitor. You can think it over. I am going home now."



It was one of those places of unclean history where nothing was too terrible to happen.

"Let him go," Ursula said without looking around.

And after he had departed, the two of them talked it over. It was the woman who settled the matter.

"He said $500. And tomorrow morning the sheriff comes. Andreas, you will go down the road tonight and watch, and if he speaks the truth, no one will look for us for a long time. Because no one will know that man came this way."

"For why?" Andreas asked.

"Because he comes to kill that woman for her money. And so he tells no man where he is going."

"He told the Alcalde," Andreas objected.

"I think," she said, "the Alcalde told him. I think the Alcalde is a smart man. I do not know why he does this, but if we get that money, you and I will go a long way from this place. I am afraid of the Alcalde, Andreas."

• • •

That evening John Yardley picked up Eddie Morton at the pasture gate and drove on out to the foot of the grade where the road climbed into the coast range.

"This is the place," the Alcalde said. "She's due in half an hour and she's liable to be ahead of time."

He turned the car off the road and shifted into low. A few moments later he brought it to a stop behind a clump of young live oaks. Eddie was crouching in the front seat with his hands between his knees; he was staring off into the hills where the first shadows of approaching evening were gathering.

"Listen to me," the Alcalde bade him. "And don't forget a thing I tell you. It's simple and it's foolproof—if you follow directions."

Eddie did not stir nor speak. The Alcalde gave him a sharp sidelong look.

"You're listening?"

"I'm listening," Eddie said dully. "Get on with it, for God's sake."

"When you get into her car," the Alcalde said, "she'll begin to ask you questions. She'll be all eager to know about this man that she's going to meet. Tell her about him—tell her anything you like. It don't make any difference what any one says.

"Maybe she'll want you to drive. Chances are she isn't used to dirt roads. If she doesn't ask you, insist on taking the wheel. After you pass the Butcher Shop you make believe to keep on the lookout for this man you're going to meet. And when you've gone about half a mile further you come to that sharp turn where the road hangs on the side hill. That's the place. The bank falls off 200 feet into the canyon on the right hand side. Stop there and tell her that this is the place where the man's waiting for you. Tell her he's somewhere close by. Now you don't want to hurry too fast, and you don't want to be too slow either, for that could give her time to get suspicious. Just keep moving and keep talking to her while you are getting out of the car. It will be good and dark by that time. Call out as if you'd seen him—call him by his name—the name you told her before. And start toward the back of the car as if you were going to meet him. She'll be looking toward the uphill side where he ought to be. And, if you come quietly, she won't hear you when you slip up beside her. All you have to do is hit her once; then throw off the emergency brake and the car will pile up in the canyon."

"That," Eddie said hoarsely, "is just fine—for the sheriff. My footprints beside the road and the tire tracks showing where we stopped and started!"

"There isn't dirt enough on that stretch of road," the Alcalde replied, "to hold a squirrel's track. It's nothing but rock. Now, have you got it straight so far?"

"I've got it," Eddie said.

"Say it over then."

Eddie repeated it. His voice was toneless.

"Climb out," the Alcalde bade him. "Come around to my side." And when the order had been complied with, he parted the skirts of his long-tailed coat and drew out a leather blackjack. He reached beneath his coat tails again and produced the ancient cap and ball revolver. This he laid upon his lap.

"Just so you don't go getting ideas," he announced and handed the blackjack to Eddie thru the open window. "Go on over to the road and wait for her. I'll be watching to make sure you don't try to run out on me."

"How do I get home?" Eddie demanded thickly.

"O, you aren't going to lose me," the Alcalde told him. "I will stay far enough behind so that my lights don't show but I'll be following. And I will be waiting close enough so when I can hear the car when it hits the bottom of the canyon. You will walk up the road and I will meet you at the Butcher Shop. I will go back with you to check up on you. Just to make sure you didn't get soft-hearted at the last moment."

The Alcalde was an exact man, and he had reviewed these details several times that afternoon. But the most meticulous of murderers is not able to evolve a plan that is proof against circumstances and blind chance. That is the trouble with murder. You never know what the intended victim is going to do.

• • •

It happened that, just before Nell started out from Escondido to keep her appointment with Eddie, she ran across Rosa. If the Alcalde had known of the conversation which was going on between these two at the time when he was beginning to deliver his instructions to Eddie Morton, he would have been a badly frightened man.

Nell was leaving the Plaza tavern when Rosa caught up with her.

"O, please," Rosa said, "I want to tell you something. I was hoping for you to come for supper but you do not eat tonight, and if I did not see you thru the window now, I would have to wait until tomorrow morning."

If Nell had not been so wrapped up in her own high hopes she would have been more receptive. As it was, she did her best to control her own impatience.

"It's really important, Rosa?" she asked.

"E'es important." Rosa nodded three times. "An' I do not keep you long to tell it. E'es something I do not like. Because this morning, after I talked to you, I saw the Alcalde coming down the stairs from Eddie Morton's office, an' the way he looked at me, I am sure he did not like it that I saw him in that place. Now why do those two men talk together, after what I told the Alcalde myself this morning? E'es look like dirty work to me."

If it hadn't been for that last sentence Nell might have done a little thinking, but Rosa's dramatics had impressed her this morning far more than Rosa's news. And ever since she had left Eddie Morton's office, Nell had put all distrust of her lawyer aside. She wasn't the first one whose high hopes had made her ignore warnings against the man who had raised them. So she said:

"I'll talk it over with you tomorrow, Rosa, and thank you for telling me. I'm late for an engagement now, and I've got to run."

"You are going away?" Rosa never knew what made her ask that question. She only knew that she was alarmed.

"I'm going to drive out in the hills," she replied, and then, because she was so full of her errand she added, "Wish me good luck, Rosa."

It was dusk when she drove out of Escondido. It was nearly dark when she saw Eddie Morton at the foot of the winding grade which led up into the hills. He was standing on the left hand side, and, when she stopped the car, he said:

"Move over. I'll take the wheel." His voice was toneless. It sounded like the mutter of a man who is talking in his sleep. But she was too intent on the question which she had in mind to notice this.

"You've found him then?" she asked.

"I've found him," Eddie said. "Shove over. Let's get going."

He slid under the steering wheel and slammed the door; he trod on the clutch and let in the gears and the car started with a jerk which threw her against the back of the seat. She did not realize that he was drunk until they had gone a good five miles. It didn't alarm her even then. She wasn't easily scared at any time and she would have entrusted herself to the illest looking paisano in the hills if she had any reason to believe the man could take her to the prospector with whom she had talked on that evening 18 years ago.

What Has Gone Before

Nell Huntoon writes to Edward Morton Jr. to review a murder charge against her dead father. Eddie is in financial difficulties and decides if he can incriminate Yardley, a banker known as the Alcalde, it will mean ready money. Yardley has a fear the past will catch up with him. Anthrax is prevalent in the hills. Yardley forces Ursula to get him wool from a dead sheep. At a service station Nell meets Beulah Smith; Harvey Little, son of the man her father was accused of killing, and Anastasia Rodriguez. The service station man is killed by a hit-and-run driver. Anastasia picks up something from the road. From Eddie Nell learns her father and Jim Little were partners, and the latter was killed while talking to her father. Anastasia demands $500 from Eddie for the metal hub cap from his car, and Eddie contemplates murder. Nell is prevented from drinking the poisoned spring water by Harvey, who persuades her to move to the tavern. Nell and Beulah see a prospector, with two burros, whom Beulah had grubstaked 20 years ago. After killing the Mexican with Yardley's hammer Eddie meets Nell. Eddie ties the body to one of the burros with a rope taken from Harvey's car. From his window Yardley sees Eddie and the burro pass by. Arming himself, he follows, watches Eddie stow the body in the trunk of Harvey's car. He demands the hub cap and car keys and orders Eddie to bring the hammer to him. At daybreak, after reopening the trunk and placing the keys in Harvey's car, Yardley notifies the sheriff. Pete Escobar, up in the hills, sees Yardley's strange actions. Harvey and Nell decide that together they will ferret out the truth. Pete Escobar warns Harvey and tells him there is one man who can send Yardley to the gas chamber. Harvey takes Pete's horse and heads into the hills to find the man. The Alcalde gives Eddie the option of facing a murder charge or doing away with Nell. Later he overhears Nell telling Eddie of the Alcalde's attempt to poison her. Yardley realizes he must find a way to do away with Eddie.

Shane Kearney was Irish, red-headed and determined—whether her goal was a job in a Chicago defense plant or the young man on whom her heart was set. This is her story, written with simplicity, directness, and not a little tenderness—a book of today and of the kind of young people who are hammering out the shape of tomorrow on our farms and in our defense plants.

THE LITERARY SPOTLIGHT

by Fanny Butcher

WHETHER it is because Chicago is literally the cross-country stopping off place or because the book world has finally come to realize [what I have been preaching as gospel for years] that Chicago is the center of the largest potential reading public in America, authors have of late been as common [and as welcome] as the wonderful sunny fall days which have made this an autumn to get poetic about.

Before I talk about our visitors I want to tell you about Bennett Cerf's just published collection of anecdotes and stories about the great in all walks of life. . . . It is called "Try and Stop Me"—but of course nobody will. . . . It is full of laughs, from the kind that curl up the edges of your mind with glee, like an oyster bathed in hot milk, to the kind that start in the region elegantly known as the belly and go on erupting like a volcano. . . . It is also full of Mr. C.'s own shrewd observation of contemporary life, especially of the literary scene, which, as a publisher, he knows from the soup that many authors get their publishers into to the nuts that do it. It shoots a few literary arrows, dipped in curare with intent to kill, but most of its humor is kindly, its wit witty, and its wisecracks wise.

Culinary Celebrity.

But now you try and stop me from telling you about our local contemporary literary life. . . . For instance, the party for George Mardikian of San Francisco, author of "Dinner at Omar Khayyam's," which the Viking Press of New York will publish next Thursday. . . . It brought together the literary and the culinary artists of the town. . . . The ample "George," who has a smile like the man in the moon, had had a long session with the chef of the Morrison hotel, in whose bungalow the party buzzed, and there emerged on the platters proffered to the guests such ravishing little puffs stuffed with sizzling liverpaste, such grilled oysters on the half shell dressed for cocktails in festoons of chopped vegetables, plus other gustatory ravishments that there seemed no argument about whether the pen was mightier than the pot.

Joe E. Brown Reports.

Also from California was the center of another literary party at Marshall Field's. . . . Joe E. Brown, who has opened his mouth wider than any man on the movie screen, has opened his heart as wide as a heart can stretch in his book, "Your Kids and Mine," which tells about the American "kids" on all of the fighting fronts which he has visited. . . . He can no longer write about one of his own "kids," except in memory, for his son was killed fighting a war which his father had fought a quarter century before him. . . . Joe E. Brown never once during luncheon turned out that irresistibly funny grin. . . . He did, however, bring tears to the eyes of many as he told of unsung as well as paeaned heroes . . . and he was just as earnest for the men and women who gathered round to get their books autographed . . . "a nice guy," every one agreed.

Father Saved from "Chicken."

Also at Marshall Field's, autographing copies of her latest book—sure of success like "Chicken Every Sunday"—and being feted by Rose Oller Harbaugh—was Rosemary Taylor, whose first book has had and will continue having a fabulous career, as a book, a successful play on Broadway, and a motion picture. . . . It started with her mother's 70th birthday. . . . Rosemary Taylor wrote a short piece to amuse the family about her mother's passion for boarding house keeping. . . . They all thought it was so funny that she thought she might make it into a story and try to sell it, but she didn't. . . . She married and went to Canada to live, and the piece turned up among some papers one day. . . . She had forgotten all about it, but read it to some friends, who insisted that it was funny enough to sell. . . . A New York agent couldn't dispose of it, but when she thought all was lost she had an inquiry from her agent about making it into a book. . . . She did, and it was bought instanter.

The rest is literary history, except that her publishers were canny enough to realize that in her father she had another book. . . . They deleted some of the father material from "Chicken" [as she calls it] and then gave her a desk and a typewriter and put her to work on "Ridin' the Rainbow." . . . "I've got a big family," she said to me, with a twinkle in her eye, "and there's no reason why I should ever run out of material."

At all of these literary parties I saw the always happy face of A. C. Spectorsky, literary editor of the Chicago Sun, glowing with the new happiness of marriage. . . . The author of that smile is Elizabeth Bullock, the brilliant young editor of the Ziff-Davis Publishing company, who lived for some time in Chicago, but went to New York when their editorial offices were moved to 5th av. . . . She will be "stationed in New York for the duration" and he will be in Chicago, but, as he eagerly said, "We are much better off than most young married these days." . . . They can commute, if not commune.

THE JUNIOR BOOKSHELF

By Agatha Shea.

TITLE.	SUBJECT.	VERDICT.
"RUNNER FOR THE KING," by Rowena Bennett. Illustrations by Fiore Mastri. [Follett, $2.]	Roca was an Inca boy, proud of his position as one of the king's runners. When treachery and dishonesty threatened his tribesmen, he risked his life to get his message thru, and found himself, in the morning, the hero of his people.	A thrilling tale of a boy's courage and loyalty which young readers of fifth and sixth grade levels will enjoy. Lovely illustrations by Fiore Mastri tell a story in themselves.
"THE HORSE WHO LIVED UPSTAIRS," by Phyllis McGinley. Illustrations by H. Stone. [Lippincott, $1.25.]	Humorous tale of a New York City horse who lived way up in a skyscraper, and spent most of his time longing to live in the country. One day he got his wish, and what a lonely disappointed horse he was. Just in time came gasoline rationing to take him back to the city.	A picture story book for young horse lovers, in which pictures and simple text are equally attractive.

Melodrama as Timely as Tomorrow's Headlines

"12:20 P. M.," by William Gilmore Beymer. [Whittlesey House, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Frederic Babcock.

This is sheer melodrama. It's almost as melodramatic as the scenes now taking place in certain sectors of Belgium, and Holland, and Germany, and the scenes that will take place some time after the allied forces have crossed the Rhine.

It tells of "the coming death of Hitler."

It portrays as unlovely a brood of buzzards as ever befouled their own nest. Witness:

Hitler—"His eyes were a pale, translucent green of cold hostility, unyielding, fanatical, so hard that they gave no hint of his manias and obsessions, the twisted passions, his fantasies and fevered dreams. . . . The mouse-brown mop invariably plastered low over one side of the receding forehead as tho to hide the queer bulge just over the brows."

Goering—"The once finely cut face now is a great florid blob of fat with cheeks like swollen, sagging bags under wide-set blue eyes that are icy and merciless. . . . Well cocained. . . . The most vicious, vengeful, and ruthless man in Germany, as fanatic as Hitler ever was, with as grandiose ambitions, and without conscience."

Goebbels—"One of the 'two most hated men in Germany.' . . . Minister of propaganda and enlightenment—an 'enlightenment' which, with rare cunning, has destroyed Germany's mind and intellect. . . . He has a brilliant mind of unadulterated malevolence."

Himmler—"The other of the 'two most hated'—Goebbels for what he has done to men's minds, Himmler for the horrors that he does to their bodies."

The scene shifts from South Dakota [depicted realistically] to Lisbon [dolled up more attractively than I ever found it, but maybe I visited the wrong places], and from there to Berchtesgaden [and perhaps the author draws a true picture of that fantastic mountain retreat; I wouldn't know about that], and from there to the still more fantastic Kehlsteinhaus, a madman's dream that makes the castles of "Graustark" and "Dracula" look like outhouses.

The plot? Any hint of what happens would rob you of the thrill of discovery. All you'll want to know in advance is that a grand old guy out west thinks up a scheme to have the whole world pray, at 12:20 daily, for the death of the monster who rose from nothing and set out to be greater than Alexander, and Caesar, and Napoleon. You'll be on your own from there on.

If you're looking for romance along with adventure, this tale is not for you. There's only one woman in it. If you expect to find a hero with strong, white teeth and long, clean limbs, you'll be disappointed. Except for the man who starts the praying, there are no heroes. If you're seeking something that will help you forget the war, don't try this one.

Is it timely? As timely as tomorrow's headlines.

Is it well written? In these days, when so many writers seem to be torn between two schools of thought—whether words should convey thought or conceal it—the author of "12:20 P. M." is a real relief. He is under no illusions; he realizes that words are meant to convey thought. I don't know anything about him, but I'd bet a dollar, if I had one, that he got his training as a newspaper man. For the most part he writes with a newspaper man's simplicity and directness.

This is Whitlesey House's first venture into the field of fiction. I'd call it a dazzling beginning.

Joe E. Brown Reports on Kids in War

"YOUR KIDS AND MINE," by Joe E. Brown. [Doubleday, Doran, $2.]

Reviewed by Will Davidson.

The army critic who listed Joe E. Brown among those Hollywood stars who dogged it in the China-Burma-India theater, might not look kindly upon the movie clown's efforts to let parents know how their kids are getting along. Joe is not a writer and his narrative is filled with cliches and awkward sentences. Lacking the writer's instinctive conservatism he sometimes lets sentiment melt into sentimentality. It would be the sort of stuff an army editor would expect from the man whom he had accused of letting down boys he was supposed to entertain.

But there are those of us who suspect that Joe E. Brown didn't let the boys down very seriously, if at all. Some of them liked him so much they named hills and lakes and stuff like that after the mammoth mouthed funny man. He rode jeeps as far as jeeps would go and then stumbled thru jungle chaos to entertain outposts in almost total blackout. He bucked the williwaws in Alaska in order to get to isolated groups. And everywhere he carried the precious gift of laughter—a gift so very precious that it was worth sitting for hours in rain and mud to get.

When the war started Joe determined to do something. He did by going on his own to Alaska. Then his son Don was killed on duty, and Joe's determination became a vow. He adopted every G. I. and sailor as his son, and they seem to have adopted him right back. His report on these kids will make a lot of parents happy, and that, it seems, is Joe's glorious privilege—creating laughter and happiness where fear and depression and loneliness and aching discomfort had been before.

Exciting Story of Officer in Navy

"DYNAMITE DUNCAN, U. S. N." by Lt. Comdr. Frederic M. Gardiner, [Dodd Mead, $2.]

A high speed adventure story based on the author's personal war time experiences at sea. "Dynamite Duncan," who figured excitingly in Comdr. Gardiner's first story—"Stand by, Mark!"—again captures enough war thrills to keep the reader on the edge of his chair. A rattling good sea story.

A Technique for Producing Ideas

Where do the money-making ideas come from—these ideas that make successful novels, radio programs, moving pictures, advertising campaigns, and businesses? James Webb Young, one of the highest paid idea men in the advertising business, set out to answer this question for his students at the University of Chicago. The result is a little book that you can read in an hour but will remember the rest of your life. In the simplest and clearest of language Mr. Young has succeeded in describing the way the mind works in all creative people. He gives you the FORMULA which they consciously or unconsciously follow in producing ideas. He shows you how to train your mind so that idea production is, as he says, "as definite as the process by which motor cars are produced." Enthusiastically endorsed by editors, college professors, poets, advertising men, salesmen, and business executives who have read it. Send for your copy of A TECHNIQUE FOR PRODUCING IDEAS now. Only $1 postpaid. Money back if you don't say it is worth $10 to you. Advertising Publications, Inc., 104 E. Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.

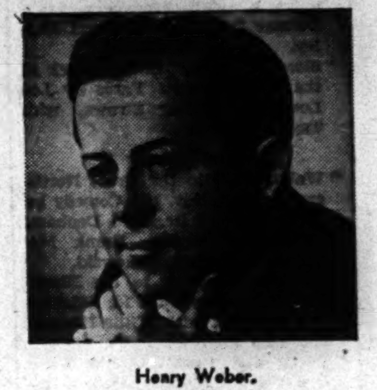
Nov. 11 20th Anniversary in Chicago Music for Henry Weber

IN the Henry Weber household, next Saturday will be triple starred. Not only as Armistice day and the day Marion Claire, who is Mrs. Weber, returns to the Chicago Theater of the Air in her Straussian stage success, "The Great Waltz," but also as the day that marks Mr. Weber's 20th anniversary in Chicago music. It must astonish him, but there it is on the record. The night of Nov. 11, 1924, found him lifting his baton at the Auditorium for the Chicago Civic Opera's "Tannhäuser," with Rosa Raisa, Cyrena Van Gordon, Forrest Lamont, Joseph Schwarz, and Alexander Kipnis. He was 23 years old, a graduate of the Imperial Academy at Vienna, veteran of the Bremen Opera. He was a solid success.

Since that night Mr. Weber has conducted about 30 operas for Chicago's resident groups, both at the Auditorium and the Civic Opera house, where for the seasons of 1939 and 1940 he was artistic director and general manager. Those were the seasons that trained a fresh young chorus, rehabilitated many fraying customs, costumes, and settings, brought Artur Rodzinski to conduct a volcanic "Salomé," and introduced Ballet Theater to Chicago. They were the years that put "Falstaff" in English for John Charles Thomas, whose memory for new roles is almost as bad as his baritone is good. After the first "Falstaff," a prompter's holiday, Mr. Thomas remarked, "That's a pretty good role. I might learn it sometime."

Maybe I got the habit from those theater scrapbooks, but I like prowling thru the records, just for the fun of seeing names that stir resonant echoes. So I began thumbing the archives, and perhaps you will be as surprised as I was to see how busy the opera kept its youngest conductor in those prosperous and distinguished heydeys. Take Mr. Weber's debut "Tannhäuser," for instance. In 1927 he conducted it for the debut of Heinrich Schlusnus, a magnificent Wolfram. In 1934 Lotte Lehmann was his Elisabeth, a role in which she reminded me, bewilderingly, of Mary Garden—a matter, I think, of intensity and focus. In 1937, but you remember that yourself, he had Flagstad and Melchior.



Henry Weber.
[Nelidoff Photo.]

In 1928 Mr. Weber conducted one of numerous "Lohengrins" and the cast held Marion Claire, Maria Olszewska, René Maison, and Alexander Kipnis. Almost the next time Miss Claire and Mr. Weber heard the wedding march they were heading the procession, and after the ceremony they went right on to Boston for—you guessed it—"Lohengrin." The opera was more excited about that romance than anything since the birth of Graziella Polacco, dark eyed daughter of Edith Mason and Giorgio Polacco.

An Operatic Memory of 1935.

It would be nice about here to say that Mr. Weber conducted for Miss Claire's debut, but he didn't. Roberto Moranzoni guided that 1928 "Boheme." Nor did Weber conduct her Desdemona to the Otello of Charles Marshall and the Iago of Cesare Formichi. But he began conducting "Der Rosenkavalier" here in 1925, with Mason, Raisa, and Kipnis, and later with Mason, Leider, and the handsome Olszewska, and my most cherished memory of the operatic Webers at work dates back to the night in 1935 when Miss Claire looked like something in spun sugar as Sophie, the role Richard Strauss chose her to sing at Berlin's Staatsoper, and the incomparable Lotte Lehmann etched the Marschallin in memory forever.

Somehow, I had pigeonholed Mr. Weber's early opera career in the German, chiefly Wagnerian niche, but I was only half right. He did conduct "Tristan and Isolde," particularly a notable performance with Flagstad, Wettergren, and Melchior, the revival of "Die Meistersinger" in 1938, and "Walküre" performances with Marjorie Lawrence as well as the famous one with Flagstad, Traubel, Wettergren, and Melchior. But back in the 1920s he was entrusted with a Verdi repertory of startling scope. Not only "Otello," but "Aida" as early as 1924, with both Raisa and Muzio, "The Masked Ball" with both Turner and Leider, "La Traviata" with Muzio, Schipa, and Bonelli, and later with Mason, "Il Trovatore" from 1925 with Muzio and Raisa, Homer, Lamont, Rimini, and Lazzari, "Rigoletto" from 1924 with the renowned Joseph Schwarz, later with Mason and Dal Monte as Gilda.

There were, too, premieres of Cadman's "A Witch of Salem" and d'Albert's "Tiefland," the operatic twins, with both Mason and Claire singing Nedda in "Pagliacci." There were Raisa's famed "Gioconda," Respighi's "La Fiamma," "Samson and Delilah" from the days of Homer to d'Alvarez, Edith Mason's "Snow Maiden" and her farewell "Butterfly," "The Tales of Hoffmann" with Claire, Mason, and Vanni-Marcoux, the New Year's eve "Fledermaus" almost 20 years ago, revivals as far removed in scope as "Boris Godunoff" and "The Bartered Bride," even "La Juive," with Raisa, Mason, Marshall, and Kipnis, and the popular French repertory from "Carmen" to "Faust."

With W-G-N Since 1934.

It was bewitched opera company we kept in those days, and when opera took a nose dive not all its tribe knew where to look for refuge. Mr. Weber took to radio, and radio returned the compliment. He joined W-G-N in 1934 and for a decade has been its director of music. To the Saturday night Theater of the Air he recently added Tuesday night symphony concerts, a project dear to his heart, with a carefully chosen orchestra steadily growing in quality and prestige. He is winning an audience. His music reflects his forthright honesty, just as his insistence on opera in English mirrors his conviction that music should make sense. Just now he is living in two dimensions, the busy one of the present, and the exciting one of W-G-N's post-war plans for radio and television, centered in achieving the best possible facilities in the new building to be erected next to Tribune Tower.

2 More Operas in 1944 Debut on Week's Bill

Chicago will hear Claude Debussy's misty music drama "Pelléas and Mélisande" for the first time without Mary Garden when the Chicago Opera gives the first of two performances on Wednesday night with Bidu Sayao in the feminine role of the title. Mary Garden made her Chicago debut as Mélisande on Nov. 5, 1910, well toward the beginning of the city's first season of resident opera, and appeared in each of the 16 performances that followed thru the years, ending with Miss Garden's retirement in 1931. During that period she sang vis-a-vis four interpreters of Pélleas: Edmond Warnery, Alfred Maguenat, Jose Mojica and Barre Hill. Three baritones depicted the anguish of Golaud—Hector Dufranne, Georges Baklanoff and Vanni-Marcoux—and four conductors presided over Debussy's shimmering orchestra: Cleofonte Campanini, Marcel Charlier, Giorgio Polacco and Emil Cooper.

Now an entirely new regime takes over the formidable task of interpreting the most elusive of all music dramas. Singing opposite Miss Sayao will be Martial Singher, distinguished French baritone of the Metropolitan, first heard here last season; Lawrence Tibbett will portray the tortured husband, Golaud; Nicola Moscona will be the king, Arkel; Doris Doe the queen mother, Genevieve; Lillian Raymondi the boy, Yniold, and Alexander Kulpak the doctor. Eugene Goossens, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, will make his operatic debut here in the conductor's stand. The performance is scheduled for repetition on Monday, Nov. 13.

Two other operas will be added to the season's repertoire this week Gounod's "Faust" will be sung in the Board of Education series on Friday night with Raoul Jobin in the title role, Ezio Pinza as Mephistopheles, Vivian della Chiesa as Marguerite, Franceseco Valentino appropriately as Valentin, Lucielle Browning as Siebel, Doris Doe as Martha and Wilfred Engelman as Wagner. Fausto Cleva will conduct.

Leonard Warren, distinguished American baritone, will sing the title role of "Rigoletto" at the Saturday matinee, with Josephine Antoine the Gilda and Jan Peerce the duke of Mantua. Virgilio Lazzari, Lucielle Browning, Algerd Brazis, and Alexander Kulpak also are in the cast. Giuseppe Bamboschek will conduct.

Monday night's performance will be a repetition of "Otello" with Martinelli, Tibbett, and Bampton in the leading roles, Cleva conducting, and on Saturday night a repetition of "Romeo and Juliet is scheduled with the cast of the first performance: Jeanette MacDonald, Michael Bartlett, Nicola Moscona, Doris Doe, Stephan Ballarini, and Jean Fardulli. Louis Hasselmans will conduct.

$800,000 in Greek Student Scholarships Pledged

Opportunity to Be Available at War's End

By The Rev. John Evans.

Scholarships totaling $800,000 is the response of 200 American colleges and universities to the appeal made by the Anglo-American-Hellenic Bureau of Education to enable students from Greece to acquire an education in American, Canadian, and British institutions of higher learning. This was announced in a special report issued last week.

There are now available in various fields of study 164 scholarships, some of which provide tuition and maintenance, others tuition plus opportunity to earn maintenance, the report states. Both men and women are eligible, but no applications will be entertained until Greece is liberated, and scholarships are granted only to students from Greece, not to American born students of Greek parentage.

"Never was the need for education so great in Greece as it is today," said Chrystas Loukas, executive secretary. "Schools have been destroyed, scarcely a teacher remains who is not maimed, and Greece has been stripped of her trained personnel. The price which the Greeks have paid, and are paying, for defending religious and democratic principles is known to all."

The bureau, which was organized in May, 1941, by graduates of universities in the United States, Great Britain and Greece to enable graduate and undergraduate students to meet college entrance requirements, has taken the following steps:

1. As soon as communications are established, 40 qualified students will come to America and be placed in a college for an intensive English course. When sufficiently informed these students will be assigned to the colleges and universities which have scholarships.

2. Professors of classical Greek, retired or on sabbatical leave, will be sent to the University of Athens to teach English and American study methods to those university students intending to avail themselves of scholarships.

3. American born and educated teachers of Greek parentage will be sent to Greece and assigned to various gymnasia to prepare candidates to meet college entrance requirements.

"The future of Greece depends on the kind of intellectual development her people will have," said President Panayiotis Zervos of the University of Athens. "If enough of her young receive an education in the United States, England or Canada, where the aim of education is to train the student in the art of working with his fellow men for society's and his own good, Greece will prosper."

BOOKS ALIVE

by Vincent Starrett

SPEAKING of Sherlock Holmes, as this department sometimes does, I have heard again from my indomitable California correspondent who ventured to suppose our hero—hers and mine—to be a widower, not a bachelor. Undismayed by my lofty retort to her suggestion [Sept. 24], based on the Watsonian text, Miss Esther Longfellow, founder and only member of the Irene Adler division of the Baker Street Irregulars, is "just as positive as ever that the greatest of all detectives did not leave the most delightful of all mysteries uninvestigated."

Well, yes! I can go a long way with Miss Longfellow on that road. But first let us agree on the "most delightful of all mysteries." I take it that Miss Longfellow is now speaking of bibliolatry and the mysteries of book worship; and, of course, we are of one mind about that. Holmes, to be sure, was a reader rather than a collector, but there is no doubt that he surrounded himself with books. "There is a great garret in my little house which is stuffed with books," he wrote, shortly after his retirement, in one of the few direct revelations we have from his own pen. [And wouldn't I like to have a look at them!]

Like Miss Longfellow and so many of his admirers, the detective was a browser of the alcoves, an Autolycus of the bookstalls, a man instinctively drawn to bookshops and booksellers. It will be remembered that once he assumed the disguise of an old bookseller—what is the disguise of an old bookseller, by the way?—for good and sufficient reasons. That was in the spring of the year 1894, when the murder of the Hon. Ronald Adair was filling London with fearful joy and poor Watson with despair. At that time Holmes had a small shop in Kensington—just where in Kensington is one of those delightful mysteries that Miss Longfellow, no doubt, has in mind.

Does he still look forward to all the catalogs, there in his cottage on the Sussex Downs? The long winter evenings, after the bees have been put to bed, should be an admirable time for such pastimes.

A Picaresque Is Born.

If it were necessary to find scholarly analogies for Kathleen Winsor's "Forever Amber" [Macmillan] in the literature of the past, it might be said that she has revived, however inadvertently, the more virile virtues of the picaresque novel. There are notable points of difference, but in the main the author has understood and exploited the rich possibilities of that earlier field. Like its more illustrious predecessors, the tale begins and ends with a flourish of strumpets, and the same stirring theme is sounded at mathematical intervals thruout the narrative.

Such critical justifications, however, are beside the point. There has been for some time a new category in literature—almost a new genre—which might be called, to coin a phrase, the Best Seller. A "best seller" is a book primarily written to sell in sensational figures, and ultimately to be made into a Hollywood super-spectacle. It has no other purpose that I can discover. It isn't written for critical approval, and it doesn't care a hoot for critical disapproval if its primary object is achieved. It is frankly written to sell—I said that before—which it does, prodigiously. It is to this category that "Forever Amber" belongs, and it will fulfill all its author's and its publisher's expectations.

The pace of the book is headlong and violent. Amber St. Clare, the blonde heat wave who climaxed her adventurous career by becoming the favorite mistress of Charles II., is in her way an interesting girl; she might have stepped right out of the pages of "Forever Amber," so much does she resemble the heroine of Miss Winsor's novel. It may be said at once that she had nothing in common with the late Mrs. Caesar; her home life, such as it was, might be described as a flight of asterisks. There are no asterisks in the story, however. The vulgarity of the tale is impressive. I wonder how it would look in basic English. And what will Boston say?

It is rather a pity that "Forever Amber" isn't a work of art; but I suppose we can't have everything.

Who Was Natty Bumppo?

Van Wyck Brooks' footnotes, in "The World of Washington Irving" [Dutton], as recently discussed in this department, have stirred three readers to mild protest. Sgt. John J. Todd Jr. of Chicago and Miss Ella Ballew of Muscatine, Ia., were pained at the omission of Sidney Lanier's name from the quoted list of literary flute players.

"I'm away from home and haven't my references handy," writes Sgt. Todd from camp, "but as I recall his life, Lanier was first flutist in a Baltimore Symphony orchestra and later held the same position in the Peabody Symphony of Boston."

Mr. Brooks was discussing only those writers of the post-Revolutionary period who are known to have been flute players; but Lanier's name is herewith added to the larger roster of literary flautists.

Viola M. Shaw of Evanston dissents, by implication, from Brooks' assertion that "the original of Cooper's Natty Bumppo was almost certainly Daniel Boone."

"In the cemetery at Hoosick Falls, N. Y., is the grave of Nathaniel Shipman, the Bumppo of the Leatherstocking Tales," writes Mrs. Shaw. "He lived in Falls Quequick, but grew tired of civilized family life and went to central New York and lived among the Indians. When one of his daughters was grown, she went in search of her father, found him, and persuaded him to return. He lived with his family for the rest of his life, but always as an Indian—in his tepee in the yard."

Mrs. Shaw quotes further information about the redoubtable Shipman, who died in 1809, from "The Hoosac Valley: Its Legends and Its History," by Grace Greylock Niles [Putnam, 1912]; and that is all I know about the matter. The question is now referred back to Mr. Brooks. This department is interested, but strictly neutral.

Accusation Denied.

A west coast book reviewer has publicly guessed that the name Francis Bonnamy is a pseudonym, that I am he, and that I must, therefore, have written Mr. Bonnamy's excellent mystery novel, "Rope of Sand," published by Duell, Sloan & Pearce. I am sorry to spoil a good story, but it just isn't so. And I am not the original of Cooper's Natty Bumppo, either.

Literary Prize.

Constance Savery's "The Good Ship Red Lily" [Longmans, Green] has been awarded the Junior Scholastic Gold Seal for literary merit.

Slightly Understated.

"All Wars are Interesting" is the title of Gertrude Stein's new book, which Random House will publish early in 1945.

Dante Novel Is Portrait of a Genius

"THE WANDERER," by Nathan Schachner. [Appleton-Century, $3.]

Reviewed by Richard Sullivan.

Nathan Schachner.

Despite some rather lavish recent suggestion that the chief requirement of a historical novel is the author's being a pretty girl, it is still fairly obvious that the novel which deals with persons and events of the recorded past ought to be judged on two counts, the literary and the historical.

Of course there could hardly be a good historical novel in which the history was unsound. On the other hand there are dozens of shoddy historical novels in which the history is sound enough, but in which there is a great deal more reliance on pageantry, quaintness, and strangeness—the paradoxical novelty of the past—than there is on strong and vital story telling.

Nathan Schachner's novel, "The Wanderer," an account of the life of Dante Alighieri, is much better than most of its kind; it has many very effective pages of narrative. But there are still the occasional dead spots, the passages of heavy exposition in which one feels not so much the revelation of character as the enforced explanation of historical fact.

Mr. Schachner utilizes as fact certain episodes about which Dante scholars are generally in doubt, and he inserts invented scenes wherever he thinks they will be illuminating. But at the same time he maintains an over-all fidelity to what is known of the career of his great main figure. His attempts to elucidate the genesis of the "Divine Comedy" seem almost naively simplified. But he is most successful in presenting the strange, imperious, tormented man Dante, with special concentration on two dominant relationships, one to the woman, Beatrice, the other to the town, Florence.

For those who are interested in Dante or in the medieval period [and perhaps this is the place to object to the jacket-blurb which locates Dante in the Renaissance], and for those who like unusual stories complete with reasonably accurate historical trimmings, "The Wanderer" will provide genuine satisfaction.

How "THE WORLD'S MOST DECORATED SQUADRON" Got That Way!

One of the most amazing stories to come out of this war—how 109 courageous American boys flew 200,000 miles in 10 heavy bombers—to fight 3 Axis partners in 4 theaters of war!

IN the clouds, in pup tents, sand storms, cafés . . . that was where and how this book was written, and why it is so powerfully charged with the excitement of the epic events it describes!

This is the guts-and-gallantry air saga of America's famous "Round-the-World" 513th Bomber Squadron—a vast, stormy panorama of this amazing global war, described by one of the pilots of those ten heavy bombers.

Captain Rowan Thomas was a young Mississippi lawyer who leaped almost overnight from trial by jury into trial by battle. He has a quick eye and a brave heart, and few could have told this story as well as he.

Here is more than merely the descriptions of great air battles. You learn what these American boys (most of them under 30) were thinking, what they said, how they reacted under the terrible strain of air war. You have a "box seat" amid the smoke and thunder of air battle in four theaters of war. You actually see MORE of this war than the generals themselves do!

First Hand History of Guadalcanal

"THE ISLAND," by Capt. Herbert L. Merillat, U. S. M. C. R. [Houghton Mifflin, $3.00.]

Reviewed by Paul Engle.

This is a history of the first marine division on Guadalcanal by one of the men who was there. Capt. Merillat [then lieutenant] went ashore the first morning of the invasion, and was on the island until the division was relieved in December. Unlike almost all historians, he saw the events of which he writes both close at hand, as a member of the armed forces, and in their larger aspects, as one who was constantly in staff headquarters, where he had a chance to relate the small incident to the total intention. It is a fine book, written with enormous modesty.

The author was in the boat which was fired on by a Jap submarine while going from Guadalcanal to Tulagi. The men in it had to abandon it and transfer to another small craft while under fire. You would never know this happened to Capt. Merillat, unless you had read Tregaskis' "Guadalcanal Diary." Merillat mentions the incident, but without noting his own part in it.

This refusal to over-dramatize [an attitude not held by all correspondents] makes much of the book seem quieter than you might expect it to be, in view of the violence of the action it is describing. Sometimes it comes close to that dry and uninteresting tone which formal military writing assumes so often, a tone of writing which can make the most bitter and bloody fighting sound like taking tricks in a bridge game.

But the bulk of the book is so good, so accurate and so full of intimate detail, so much the finest thing yet to appear on the Guadalcanal campaign, that I can only urge any one with the slightest interest in our first offensive battle in the Pacific, or any one who was there, or had a friend or relative there, to buy it and read it.

After giving the larger aspects of each engagement, Capt. Merillat then describes various individual exploits, giving a close sense of association with the actual affair itself. The book is crammed with names of enlisted men, which is very different from those histories which mention only the commanding officers.

This was a close-in fight, and the single marine counted absolutely as the fighting unit. This look at him, by one of his own comrades, gives the reader a profoundly humble respect for those young American men who went into that jungle against the as yet unbeaten Japs, and against unanticipated exhaustion, disease, superior numbers, hunger [what so-and-so back here has the nerve to mention rationing?], our naval defeat as well as victory, whipped the jungle fighters at their own game.

We never knew how slight a force we really had there, how close it was to being annihilated, how tiny the effort it was in the great scale of the Pacific war. This book will tell you. And when those men finally secure their air field and finally turn back the most resolute Jap attacks, and the army comes in to finish the job, they leave [those who are not still there in the cemetery which was the actual ground they fought for]. And the reader himself is very glad when at last they get safely away aboard ship.

How could they have fought as they did in the face of disaster of every kind? Because they were men like Capt. Merillat of Monmouth, Ill. Because they were Americans and marines. A member of that fighting corps would probably say, because they were marines and Americans.

Army Service Forces.

A comprehensive account of the work of the army service forces is projected for publication by Houghton Mifflin. The service forces include ordnance, quartermaster, engineers, medical, signal corps, transportation, and chemical warfare—everything except the actual fighting. Davil L. Cohn will write the book.

BOOKMAN'S HOLIDAY

By Delos Avery.

ALADDIN can keep his lamp; enough for me is my magic clock, which last night brought me Prout.

Waking in the dark, and knowing that sleep would not return for hours, I let my clock choose my reading. The dial, when I turned on the light, said 2:19, meaning second section, first shelf, ninth book, which proved to be the 1889 Bohn Library edition of "Father Prout's Reliques."

Prout [whose real name was Francis Sylvester Mahony] was an Irish wit and scholar who died in 1866. His book is a treasury of happy surprises, and you may open it at any page. Page 375 was the one chance presented to me, where he begins his leisurely exploration of Horace.

"Songster of Tivoli, who alone of all the tuneful dead, alone of Greek and Roman wits, may be said to LIVE."

• • •

Horace lives thru the centuries, says Prout, because in every century new translators make him forever modern in spite of his antiquity. THE TRIBUNE'S own lamented Bert Leston Taylor used to do it with whimsical reverence in A Line o' Type or Two; the present linemaster, Dr. Charles Collins, quotes him sonorously in Latin, and F. P. A., of Information, Please, who used to be a Line contributor himself, presents in his newest book, "Nods and Becks" [Whittlesey House], a wildly distorted version of the Integer vitae scelerisque ode, pretending that Horace, who died eight years before the Christian era, is a voice in 1944 American politics! Forgery, I call it.

Incidentally, Prout was the fussiest book gourmet I ever heard of, for when he sat him down to a feast of Horace somewhere on "Watergrass-hill," his demand was for "an Elzevir, 12mo" and "a jug of punch, 4to." And if you don't know what an Elzevir is I suggest you consult Britannica—as I confess I had to do. The knowledge will enrich you. Then, if you wish to see one, the University of Chicago, which possesses exactly 100 of them, will perhaps oblige. [Ask for Mrs. Bond in the Rare Book library and tell her I sent you.]

• • •

ONLY THREE, MOUSTIQUE?

In Mrs. Browning's book last night,
    Her Sonnets from the Portuguese,
I found—I swear it—in plain sight,
    Three poems lovelier than trees.—Moustique.

Here's an apéritif for the reader who has not yet dined:

"My idea of heaven," said Sydney Smith, "is eating pâtés de foie gras to the sound of trumpets." And Dean Swift, who liked good company with good food, rhymed a wish:

Roast beef, minced pyes, and good strong beer,
And me a share of your good cheer.

"Why, sir," cried Dr. Samuel Johnson, "a tavern chair is the throne of human felicity."

But if you are all out of red points you might let Robert Burton dull the ache of hunger with:

"Beef . . . a meat to breed gross melancholy of the blood . . . unfit for such as lead a resty life."

Since 1710, when Alexander Pope gave the French phrase, "belles-lettres," his blessing and the right to stand erect in English instead of making its obeisance in humble italics, the movement to send it back where it came from has not ceased and has not succeeded. Fowler's "Modern English Usage" says it now "survives chiefly in publishers' circulars, library catalogs, and book reviews." But Webster likes it and says it means "literature of esthetic value . . . distinguished from informational or utilitarian," and Britannica is almost lyrical, saying it applies "more often to the little hills than to the mountain peaks of literature." Anyway, it is hard to pronounce and the boundaries of its meaning are vague. To me it means "classy but not classic."

WELL SAID DEPARTMENT.

THE MURDER CHART

By Drexel Drake.

ENTRY.	PERFORMANCE.	PAY-OFF.
"THE LEATHER MAN," by Lawrence Treat. [Duell, Sloan & Pearce, $2.50.]	Various persons gathered for the impending ceremony would have been pleased to have something prevent Lola Blithe from becoming the bride of Red Kerrigan. Yet, most of them were surprised when Lola vanished just before the wedding march was played. Her body was found buried in a cave. The murder was a gruesome puzzle.	Plot weaves converging life skeins into thoroly baffling snarl. Story vibrates between reality and unreality. Unique set of characters in unusual tale of murder.
"THE CASE OF THE BLACK EYED BLONDE," by Erle Stanley Gardner. [Morrow, $2.]	The lady of the title was only the first of a series of glamorous young women who cluttered Perry Mason's path in his electric efforts to clear a client of a murder Lt. Tragg was trying to pin on her. Kidnaping, heavy money, and shady scheming figured in the crime.	This is up to Perry Mason standard in every department. Lawyer sleuth unpacks some new tricks to come in ahead of the police with evidence. Fast, bright, and cleverly complicated.
"NO FOOTPRINTS IN THE BUSH," by Arthur W. Upfield. [Doubleday, Doran, $2.]	Warring aborigines and bomb dropping planes are linked together in a renegade plot of murder and avarice, to provide adventure for Detective Inspector Napoleon Bonaparte, sleuth in the Australian bush country. There's also a fair heroine in peril right up to a spectacular shooting climax.	Tale is reminiscent of our own wild west yarns of a generation ago. Exciting melodrama in the wide open spaces. Author paints vivid landscapes and colorful background for action.

"Snafu", George Abbott Farce, Opens on Broadway

Comedy Hit Is a Consistently Amusing One

By John Chapman.

NEW YORK [Special].—The wily George Abbott, who by shrewd casting and resourceful direction can make plays look funnier than they really are, has another hit in "Snafu." It is about a young soldier, and the title is cynical military slang meaning "situation normal; all fouled up."

Two Hollywood writers, Louis Solomon and Harold Buchman, have contrived a story which is sometimes farcical about a hardened sergeant, a veteran of the New Guinea campaign, who is sent home to Pomona, Cal., because he is not yet 16. For him the war is over, and his parents, his girl, the neighbors, and the high school principal regard him as a problem in postwar conversion to civilian life. And he, poor kid, thinks everybody is plain crazy—with some reason. Life in Pomona is indeed snafu, and he innocently gets into jam after jam.

Abbott takes hideous delight in getting people into messes, as such hits as "Room Service," "Three Men on a Horse," and "Brother Rat" have shown, and his young soldier makes a splendid victim. Abbott also likes to hand important roles to very young actors, and in Billy Redfield, age 17, he has a find.

Billy comes home, not too happily, to his parents, engagingly played by Russell Hardie and Elspeth Eric. He had run away and joined the army, and it was a heck of a note when, during a fine big battle in New Guinea, his commanding officer sent for him and said, "Your mother wants you."

However, he's determined to make the best of it. At first he hits the floor whenever a plane flies over the house, which is frequently in Pomona, and when an American Legionnaire slaps him on the back in a gesture of welcome he throws the poor fellow across the stage with a fine judo maneuver—because he doesn't like people to come up on him from behind.

He certainly isn't mama's boy any more, and his parents strike him as odd. Mother isn't overjoyed when he gives her a Jap battle flag with real Jap blood on it, and father isn't properly delighted over a hara-kiri sword the boy has removed from a Nip officer's tummy. He borrows his dad's car and is immeasurably disgusted when a cop flags him down and says he's too young to drive—he, who has tooled tanks and jeeps around for Gen. MacArthur.

Whatever he does is misunderstood. When he hits the floor with the girl next door her maiden aunt thinks they are sinning, when all he's doing is trying to protect his one and only from a bombing raid. When he buys a car for $1,000 in small bills, his parents think he has stolen the money, and they still aren't too pleased when they learn he won the money in a crap game. When he awakens the neighborhood with a bugle call at 5 a. m., the neighborhood isn't appreciative; it would rather waste two hours of daylight in sleep.

The Abbott formula for comedy—and a good one—is, "in the first act get somebody up a tree. In the second act throw rocks at him. In the third, get him down." The young soldier gets down out of his tree on time, of course, but not before he's just about ready to give up being a civilian and go back to the army again.

All of the Abbott players are good, including Patricia Kirkland and Bethel Leslie as a couple of school girls, Dort Clark as a wolfish army pal, and, in particular, Enid Markey as a sex mad spinster. Miss Markey sees and fears the worst in everything, and finds and enjoys all manner of horrid things in Time magazine.

"Snafu" is not as tightly written a play as some of the Abbott hits of other seasons, but it is consistently amusing, and its final moment, in which Miss Markey and a visiting colonel hit the floor when a plane passes, is a howling finish.

A combination of Samson Raphaelson, an old hand at polite sex comedy, and Miriam Hopkins and Victor Jory, highly capable players, led to pleasant anticipation of "The Perfect Marriage"—but the play is uninteresting, unfunny, and maddeningly talkative. It is a sort of "Voice of the Turtle" in reverse—in which a couple talk themselves out of love.

It is their 10th anniversary, and they get to talking. They are devoted to each other and say "Dolling" all the time, and are fond of their small daughter, but suddenly they decide the old flame isn't there. They're just so nice to each other that they can't be in love, so they decide on a divorce. Two acts and two days later they are still gabbing, but now they have figured a new angle: In all this conversation they have revealed their true selves, and these true selves are so interesting that they decide to remain together and get acquainted.

Miss Hopkins and Mr. Jory play with great charm, but it's no go because their roles are not basically interesting. Raphaelson's polite sophistication is wearisome and, I think, as phony as a perfume ad.

"Violet" is a so-called dramatization by Whitfield Cook of some of his own beauty parlor magazine stories about a precocious child. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is reported to have made the production possible by paying $100,000 in advance for screen rights and to have guaranteed $150,000 more if the play should run. It won't have to pony up the extra wad, but its initial investment is insane extravagance, which does the stage no good.

Violet is one of four children a man has had by two wives. The kids are called batch one and batch two, which will give you a shuddering idea of Mr. Cook's whimsy. They descend upon their father in his New England hideaway on New Year's Eve, together with an aunt and a boy who has married into the family. The father is about to woo an old girl [the one he should have married] and the interruption gums up the campaign. It gets worse when both ex-wives arrive.

Little Violet, however, finally fixes everything up. Pat Hitchcock, daughter of Cinema Director Alfred Hitchcock, does pretty well with the role, but it is too poisonous and too talkative for her or anybody else. The rest of the company is so-so. Many first nighters deserted "Violet" at the end of the first act. I stuck thru the second.

Stokowski Conducts in a Plywood Shell

When Leopold Stokowski conducted the first six pairs of concerts with the New York City Symphony in the City center recently, the orchestra played in a plywood shell especially designed by the conductor for what he calls "equalized listening." Stokowski is said to direct the concerts at Mayor La Guardia's City center without fee.

Notes of the Theater

This seems to be the season for movie actresses of silent film days to take a fling at the stage. First Zasu Pitts, then Gloria Swanson, and now Betty Blythe, who comes to the Great Northern in "Wallflower" next Sunday night, with Frank McNellis, Sonya Stokowski, and others, not to forget Miss Twitchell, her Scottie. Miss Blythe dates back to Vitagraph days and probably is best remembered for "The Queen of Sheba." She got her first job at the Brooklyn studios when Earle Williams, one of the early silent picture stars, saw her waiting for an interview. She appeared with him in "His Own People" at $60 a week and before long was a star at $3,500. A siren in the boom days of Mary Pickford, Norma Talmadge, Alice Joyce, and Wallace Reid, she once went abroad to film "Chu Chin Chow," "She," and "The Spanish Dancer." Of more recent years she has played supporting roles with Clark Gable, Joan Crawford, and even Jackie Cooper, the last in "Where Are Our Children." Her home is a California ranch nowadays, but she left it temporarily to return to the stage with Philip Merivale in "Public Relations," and that led to her engagement for "Wallflower."

"Winged Victory" will delay its opening at the Civic Opera house until Tuesday night, Dec. 12, in order to get its turntable stages working on schedule. Moss Hart's big musical for the army air forces will be here for five weeks, thru Jan. 13, and mail orders are now being accepted. There will be performances nightly, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday and New Year's day. Prices for New Year's eve only are $2.40, $3, $3.60, $4.20, $4.80, and $6. Other evenings range from $1.20 to $1.80, $2.40, $3, and $3.60, while the matinee scale is 90 cents, $1.20, $1.80, and $2.40. All prices include tax, and in each case the highest price is for the first 22 rows of the main floor.

Lots of Flash and Fun in Edgewater Beach Show

Revue Opens Marine Dining Room Season

By Will Davidson.

Lots of flash, lots of fun, and—to revert to a baseball expression—lots of fast. That is the description of the show with which the Edgewater Beach is celebrating the annual opening of its formal season in the Marine dining room.

There is flashing color in the dances of the Dorothy Hild girls, and of Myrtyl and Pacaud. There is fun in the vocal expertness of Frank Payne's mimicries. There is lots of fast in the xylophone playing and the tap dancing of the Libonati Trio. Emil Vandas and his big, well mannered band, ti it all together into one of the very pleasant shows you so often find at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Miss Hild gives her girls some extremely attractive numbers in this revue. Their "Dance of the Dollie" is clever, with its surprise switch from a beautifully gowned ensemble number to a can-can sort of routine in which dolls fastened to the girls' legs carry on the routine.

The "Autumn Nocturne" number is splendidly colorful, featuring the exotic appearance of Myrtyl and Pacaud in their costumes of silver paint and diamond dust. The same team turns humorous and gay in a bridal parade number for the second show.

The Libonati Trio is one of those flash acts that used to make vaudeville so healthy. Their music is dashing. The tap work of the girl and the younger man is clever.

Frank Payne has always been one of my favorite mimics. He works only with his voice—no props or expressions, except in the case of Jerry Colona—and is casual, sure, and highly entertaining. His analysis of "Mairzy Doates" as it might be sung by the Ink Spots, Carmen Lombardo, Lew Lehr, and Rochester is hilarious.

them an oversized laurel wreath for scorning the use of a microphone. They have voices trained in the niceties of musical comedy and light opera singing and no mechanical assistance is necessary to help the audience know what is going on.

The Noble-King songs range from the delightfully pointed "Confessions" to such standard favorites as "I Fell in Love with Love," "People Will Say," and "September." They have their own individual approach to these numbers, however. There is a warming quality to their technique that is very effective. And when they venture into that vocal rarity, "Holliday for Strings," Miss King really gives 'em the aria.

Les Crossley plays impeccably, of course. He's another of these perfectionists.

When you have Winnie Hoveler's line as the featured act you don't need to worry too much about the entertainment in your cafe, but the Hotel La Salle has brought in a supporting act anyway for its Pan-American room revue. He is Hank Sieman, the ventriloquist with a quiet and friendly attitude, and a bag of tricks that has several unusual ones in it. Most amazing is his rapid fire double recitation of the alphabet—a minor miracle of vocal control.

Winnie Hoveler.
[Bloom photo.]

Hank and his dummy act as masters of ceremonies, and an unusual bit it is. He also makes use of Bill Johnson, from Donny Kaye's orchestra, as a dummy after Bill has performed a nicely idiotic little solo on a midget violin.

Dorothy Crowley, the room's new singer, is featured in such numbers as "Mother Told Me," and "Pretty Baby," a song done with mirrors.

The amazing Miss Hoveler continues to guide her group thru routines that make it one of the really fine acts in show business. The roller skating number is, of course, a highlight. Order up another of those king size laurel wreaths for the Hovelers!

Donny Kaye's band carries on—its best feature being Donny's own piano solos.

Tommy Tucker, who has switched his style to swing, will come in as the stellar attraction in the Stevens hotel's Boulevard room Nov. 15. The current show, which is so good, will be held over at least two weeks.

In all the excitement of the reopening of the new Boulevard, we mustn't overlook another Stevens attraction—the beautiful Park Row room with its good meals, its quiet dinner music, and its late dancing sessions to the tunes of Henri Gendron's orchestra.

Henri is one of those veteran musicians who knows so much about his art and about the tastes of his customers that he can fit his technique to the changing trends of the years. Right now he has as excellent a musical unit as he's ever headed. It is compact, but it is packed with talented men.

With sweet voiced Lorraine Cain singing the songs, this little group is an excellent one for the svelte Park Row. It is the band that plays smiles set to music.

"I cannot live without books."
—THOMAS JEFFERSON.

Steinbeck Returns to His Beloved California Scene

By Harry Hansen.

NEW YORK.

WHEN a publisher and his author cross the American continent by motor car in these times it's news. Pascal Covici of Viking Press seemed to take it as a routine matter when I mentioned it. He had just returned from a trip with John Steinbeck. I thought it unusual, so I said:

"I suppose everybody has asked you the inevitable question: Where did you get the gas?"

"Gas?" repeated Mr. Covici, as if that were a commonplace. "John was entitled to enough gas to get him across the country because he was changing his residence. He moved his home from New York to California. When you do that you can get gas."

That's something to remember. Mr. Covici said the trip was delightful. It took only seven days of actual motoring, but the old tires had blowouts and three tires, not necessarily new, had to be bought. Mr. Steinbeck is happy because he's back on his old stamping grounds. He was born in Salinas and lived in Los Gatos before he became famous. Now he has bought a house on Monterey, a locale that figures in some of his stories. And as if it were not enough that he has just finished "Cannery Row" which will be out Jan. 2, he has started a new novel. "When will that appear?" I asked. "O, in about a year and a half," replied his contented publisher.

Death of a Correspondent.

One of the best accounts of how a war correspondent died at the front is a letter written by Frederick C. Painton to Ann Watkins, the literary agent, about the death of Frederick Faust, who was known to many readers under the name of Max Brand. How many millions of words Brand wrote in his career will never be known, for he was one of the best writers for the pulp magazines, in which action is more important than reflection. He went to the front to see action in the raw. "The only way to write about the infantry is to go with the infantry," he had said, for he wanted to describe a platoon of infantry under its baptism of fire. To do that he jumped off with the advance platoon near Santa Maria Infante.

Painton describes his own reactions as he goes over the battlefield talking with a public relations man of the 88th division, while wounded men file by. "Faust was asking for it," he said. "There's one rule for reporters around the front. First, you've got to stay alive, then get the story, third, write it, and fourth, get it thru the censors. If you miss any of the four you might just as well have stayed at home. All Faust's writing life he'd played with romance. He never knew reality. He'd made a lot of money. He could have stayed in his dream world back home. Faust didn't do that; he got himself accredited for Harper's and no sooner does he arrive in Naples than he rushes off to the front line. . . . Maybe after a lifetime of writing romance he had to do one real job. Maybe he felt that for once in his life he had to see and tell the absolute truth. He was a brave and gallant guy."

Assortment of Reviews.

Harry Scherman's new experiment of offering readers of the Book of the Month club a digest of comment from reviewers right across the country begins with the December book, "Brave Men," by Ernie Pyle. This is to give readers opinions other than those of the club's judges and stimulate discussion among members. The first report contains comment from 25 reviewers, and as they are arranged alphabetically according to cities Atlanta leads and Washington closes the symposium. This is excellent, for it is publishing practice to let New York comment dwarf all other expressions, chiefly because it is so prolific and so easily accessible. In the case of "Brave Men" there is no difference of opinion among the reviewers; they all comment on Pyle's identification with G. I. Joe and the warmth of the book. But Mr. Scherman really hopes to get a wide variety of opinion, especially on the January books, "Anything Can Happen" and "Story of a Secret State."

Seek Aid for Louvain Library.

A call to individuals to help restock the shelves of the library of the University of Louvain is being sent out by members of the Louvain Library Book Fund, Inc., which has opened offices at 630 5th av. A bookplate giving the name of the donor will be placed in books bought with donations. The Committee is topheavy with personalities. Nicholas Murray Butler, Joseph E. Davies, Simon Flexner, Charles Evans Hughes, Herbert Hoover, Hugh Gibson, etc. Our esteemed friend Bishop Kelley of Oklahoma is helping too.

Those crime stories in pictures that have been appearing in Look are now to appear in book form. Thirty mysteries, 21 of them by Austen Ripley, will appear in "Photocrime," to be issued by Garden City Publishing company next week. . . . Joseph A. Brandt, director of the University of Chicago Press will make an address at the New York Public library, No. 9, on the work of university presses. . . . The latest announcement from Henry Holt makes Dec. 1 the date for publication of Marguerite Bayliss' romance about horses and hounds in Virginia and New Jersey, now called "The Bolinvars." This was originally published as "Bolinvar" by Derrydale Press in a limited edition for connoisseurs. Then Henry Holt prepared it for publication in February, 1944, and postponed it until now.

Most Startling Title.

The most startling title of the season, if you really think about it, is "The New Testament in English," by Ronald A. Knox, Catholic scholar and churchman. Are not other translations "in English?" What Msgr. Knox means is that he has translated it into modern speech. . . . The report that Donald Friede, literary agent, is trying to interest Hollywood film companies in a picture about World War I., based on the adventures of Lanny Budd, Upton Sinclair's ubiquitous hero, calls to our attention that that war has been completely eclipsed. The two wars most on the minds of American authors are the present world war and the Civil war and the year will end with Civil war characters and themes dominating biographies. . . . Just to show what can be done with titles, there's Glenway Wescott's new novel, originally announced as "Children of Wrath," and now changed to "Apartment in Athens." Everybody is moving into more modest quarters these days.

Portrait of Adviser to Presidents

"BERNARD BARUCH: Park Bench Statesman," by Carter Field. [Whittlesey House, $3.]

Reviewed by Walter Trohan.

Bernard Baruch.

This is the warm and friendly biography of a kindly, approachable public figure, who divided his life between trying to enter the front door of J. P. Morgan's Wall st. office and the back door of the White House. Fortunately Mr. Field spends more time on the latter and more interesting pursuit, because the biography of a financier is apt to become no more interesting than a series of bank statements after he has set his foot firmly on Wall st.

The story of Baruch's first million is entertaining enough. And the story of how the elder Morgan's resentment at Baruch's use of the word "gambler" cost the house J. P. built some tens of millions is more so. However, Baruch financial history can be summed up in the statements he had over $3,000,000 before his 32d birthday; he made $500,000 in one day in 1916, and he now has enough millions to give away a couple at a time without any appreciable dent in his bank balance.

It is Baruch the public servant rather than Baruch the financier that Mr. Field dwells upon. In passing it may be noted that Baruch's public service did no injury to his more lucrative vocation. Be that as it may, for three decades this son of a South Carolina Confederate soldier has been wearing out the threshold of the White House offering advice, and good advice, as Mr. Field relays it.

Baruch scored his greatest success with Wilson. As head of the war industries board of the last war, he admirably directed a task, now being carried on by more than a dozen agencies. As a reward Baruch was taken to the peace conference. The most interesting chapter of the biography deals with Baruch's vain effort to induce Wilson to compromise with the senate on Article X of the league covenant, which guaranteed territory integrity of member nations by force if necessary. This is most timely with relation to the Dumbarton Oaks conference.

Altho Baruch is a Democrat, he was as free with his advice to Republican occupants of the executive mansion. He trotted up to give his best in the days of Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover. When President Roosevelt came in in 1933, Baruch had hopes of realizing his ambition to be the No. 1 White House adviser. He was shunted to his famous bench in Lafayette park by more scheming tho less informed advisers and has had to satisfy himself with offering the mellow wisdom he gathered over the years to lesser administration figures.

Famous Members of the Masonic Order

"FAMOUS MASONS," by H. L. Haywood. [Masonic History Co., $3.]

To most Freemasons, the greatest mystery of Masonry is who deserves credit for the literary excellence of the work and the lectures, and who founded the statesmanlike fraternal policies now traditional in the order. Mr. Haywood goes about as far as 300 pages can go toward sketching the careers of 100 important figures in Masonic history, including certain clandestine leaders. He treats also of the dozen Masons who have been Presidents of the United States.

Autobiography of a Woman Explorer

"GYPSY IN THE SUN," by Rosita Forbes. [Dutton, $3.75.]

If you've read any of the long list of fascinating travel and adventure books of Rosita Forbes you'll want to own "Gypsy in the Sun." In it the author has compressed all of her exciting life story up to 1935—a dashing, thrilling tale. Another volume of her autobiography—"Appointment with Destiny"—covering later years will be published next year.

Miss Forbes is an interpid and experienced explorer and her world travels and adventures make "Gypsy in the Sun" one of the most entertaining books of its kind. Well illustrated and mapped.

SIMPLE LIVES OF SOME EARLY PIONEERS

Three Brave and Sturdy Young Folk

"YOUNG 'UN," by Herbert Best. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Fanny Butcher.

When they read "Young 'Un," dual choice for November, members of the Book of the Month club will find themselves literally transported back to the days when America was young, to a village in the mountain lands which had but lately belonged to the Indians, the lands of those wild and lovely lakes and hills that James Fenimore Cooper used for background in his famous tales. But there isn't an Indian in the whole 271 pages, or any menace except the accepted menaces of nature.

"Young 'Un" is the story of a girl of 14 who grows during the long months which bring two summers and a winter from a child to a woman. As the book opens the three young Posts—"Young 'Un," Dan'l, and Eldest, are unceremoniously left by their father who has just returned from a trading [and drinking] trip to find that both his house and his wife are a pile of ashes.

Zeph Post was no "settler" anyway. Fate has tricked him into the semblance of one, and his farm has been no joy to him. To get away from it was release, and the three children which he left were of no more real concern to him than the squirrels which leaped in the tree tops. He just walked away and left them.

Of the three Eldest was not the one who had the say-so. It was Dan'l, the one between Eldest [16] and "Young 'Un," who determined that everything should be done as Pa would have wished. That meant that none of them should be beholden to anybody and that the farm must be kept as it had always been for Pa's return. For three children it was no easy task to accept no friendly gifts, to refuse to go to live with any of those in the settlement who would have been glad to have them [singly], to go on living on and working a farm far from the settlement when they had no seed to plant, no implements to turn the ground, nothing but their own six hands and a pair of tame oxen, Peter and Paul. But those six hands and those three hearts were American pioneer hands and American pioneer hearts, and they worked and felt the American way. They were free. They were fearless. They finally conquered against all odds.

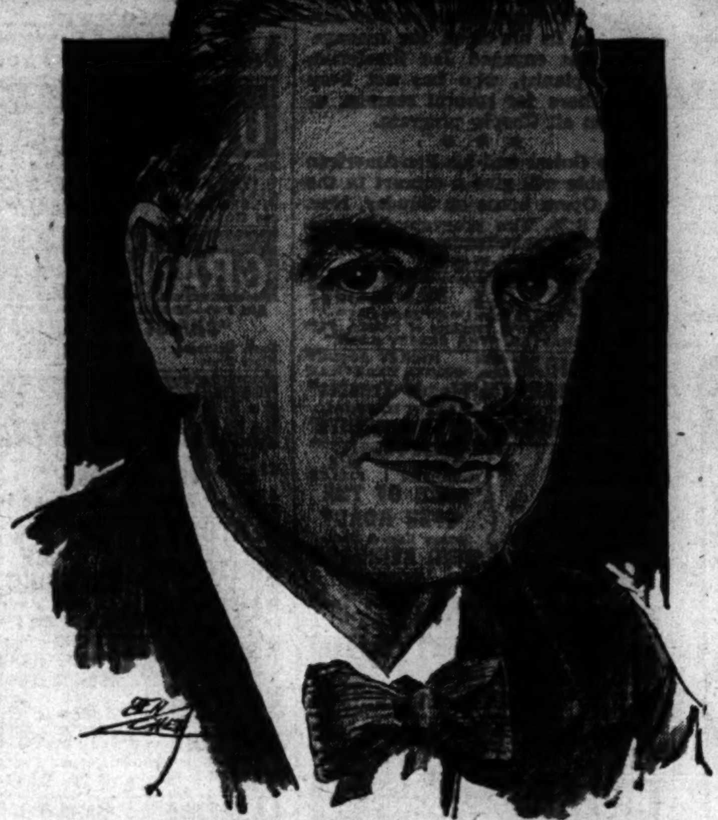
"Young 'Un" is a tale of pioneer life, but it is also an idyll of the love of those who live by nature for nature. It is a story as simple and as golden as a cowslip. There are no heroics. There are no great moments. Tragedy passes the other way. There is comedy and much good hearty country laughter.

The book is, by any scale of grandeur or of epics, as unimportant as the first shoot of green in the brown earth in spring—and as cheering. It is a book which any one can read with gentle pleasure, and a great many will thus read it. If it will never be mentioned in histories of American literature, it will be mentioned tomorrow and the next day and the day after as one of those books which make us realize what were some of the first ingredients of our American courage.

"Young 'Un" is written in the idiom of the period, and is therefore no book to be read once over lightly. To savor it truly one must read it with leisure. Read thus, its taste, like the taste of the wild honey so coveted by the settlers, is sweet.



Artist's sketch of Herbert Best, whose new novel, "Young 'Un," is reviewed on this page by Fanny Butcher.

How Hooker Missed His Big Chance

"FIGHTING JOE HOOKER," by Walter H. Hebert. [Bobbs-Merrill, $3.50.]

Reviewed by Avery Craven.

For a generation after the Civil war commanders on both sides waged an unending struggle over the relative part which each and every one had played in winning victory or producing defeat. Charges and counter-charges were hurled about; reputations were assailed and defended; considerably more aggressiveness was sometimes manifested than had previously been seen on the field of battle. "Fighting Joe" Hooker was the center of one of the most bitter and long lasting disputes of the period and a sane and scholarly evaluation of the man and of his work has up until now been lacking.

Walter Hebert has supplied the deficiency. After exhaustive study of all available sources and with remarkable objectivity he has told the story of "Fighting Joe" and his strength and his weaknesses. And what is just as important, he has told it in readable fashion. His work will bear comparison with the best that has been done in recent years with one Confederate leader after the other.

Hooker came out of New England to West Point, where his record was highly commendable. He proved his worth as a fighter against the Indians and then in the Mexican war. He came close to losing his good name and his chances of success in California and Oregon, where strong drink and careless ways were even less condemned than they would have been in the east. He was almost as much "down and out" when the Civil war began as was Grant himself.

When the chance to fight came he quickly proved his ability and rose steadily in reputation with the Army of the Potomac, where real fighters were scarce. He did well in the Peninsula campaign and even better at Antietam. He got his great chance when public acclaim and the friendship of powerful politicians brought him command of the army.

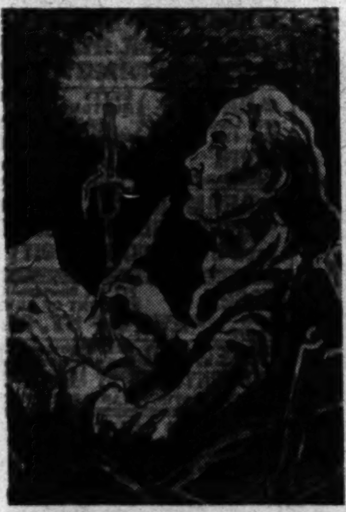
He failed hopelessly at Chancellorsville, because he lost faith in himself, but he came back strong at Lookout mountain and in the early moves toward Atlanta. Then all the weaknesses and hatreds of early days caught up with him, and Grant and Sherman pushed him aside to become another one of the disgruntled who would be the subject of dispute for a generation.

Hebert defends Hooker's ability to lead men in battle and seems to say that he was fitted to lead a corps or a division but not an army. He does say that one chance and one failure do not prove anything. He has, nevertheless, no defense for Hooker's bad habits of excessive drinking and extravagant talk. He is certain that prejudice on the part of Grant and Sherman lost for the Union a real fighting man at a time when such men were none too abundant.



One of the illustrations by Thomas Hart Benton for "The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin," which is one of several new volumes in the Illustrated Modern Library series.

Writer Views Strange and Beautiful Delta Country

"DEEP DELTA COUNTRY," by Harnett T. Kane. [Duell, Sloan & Pearce, $3.]

Reviewed by Walter Havighurst.

America is a sprawling country with cultural and economic regions which merge into each other without clear limits and boundaries. But in "Deep Delta Country," Harnett T. Kane has a subject so clearly defined that you can draw its borders without question. Inside those bounds is a mood of earth and a way of life that are not duplicated anywhere else in our diverse country. It is a perfect subject for a folkways book, and to the growing American Folkways series Harnett Kane has added a sound, readable, and rewarding volume.

The delta country is, of course, the Mississippi mouth, which has been building up as long as the great river has flowed. It is not Louisiana land, but land from Minnesota and Nebraska, from West Viriginia and Arkansas, that has thrust out into the blue Gulf of Mexico. The river has carried the silt from a thousand tributaries and at last, sluggish in the retarding force of the tide, has deposited its burden. That process has built the delta country, which now extends for 115 miles below the crescent banks of New Orleans.

Harnett T. Kane.

Some people have said that below the crescent the Mississippi has "left the states." It is a strange country, beautiful and languid, tormented and sinister. Its elevation varies from one foot to 10 feet above sea level. Its growth is rank and sinister; it has yearly threats of hurricane and perils of flood. Yet the deltans have lived there for 200 years, and one judges from this account that they would not leave it for any other country. Under their care the fecund earth has produced cotton, sugar cane, oranges, and easter lilies. The equally rich waters have yielded fish, shrimp, and oysters.

The delta began as a French settlement, and, despite the coming of Dalmatians, Italians, Filipinos, and Negroes, it remains essentially a French region. The feel of the French habitant for his land, his patience and contentment, his enjoyment of familiar work and simple pleasures all are here. And this is the life of the region that persists thru the passing episodes of flood and windstorm, engineering projects and liquor smuggling. "Deep Delta Country" is a genuine contribution to American regional literature.

Rich and Beautiful Story Is Related in "Hard Facts"

"HARD FACTS," by Howard Spring. [Viking, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Kelsey Guilfoil.

Howard Spring is one of the few living novelists who continue to write in the great tradition of the English novel—the tradition of Dickens, Thackeray, and Galsworthy; a tradition almost completely abandoned in this country, and falling into neglect in England. In this tradition, the characters and their lives are more important than the scenes and circumstances in which they are found.

It is significant, I think, that a novel written in this manner can have its setting in the past without being obtrusively "historical," and in this story of Manchester and the English countryside in the '80s there is no feeling that the author is trying to recreate a period. It is a story of human lives, timeless and universal.

These lives revolve around the person of one Daniel Dunkerley, a printer who becomes rich by originating the "penny dreadful," a cheap newspaper called Hard Facts, slanted for the lowest grade of readers, filled with curious and useless information, articles, and stories that put no strain on the weakest intellect.

But in the main it is not the story of Dunkerley and his penny dreadful, nor the story of Theo Chrystal, a young curate who is not as unworldly as he thinks he is; nor of Lady Adela Pinson, who loves Theo, but whom he is not sure he loves—until he meets Elsie Dillworth.

The novel is principally Elsie's story; the story of a girl who has a drunken mother and a swinish father who drives her to prostitution from which she is rescued by her brother Alec, a poet with a cynic's brain. Elsie, with the soil of Manchester clinging to her, is still lovely and lovable, one of the most appealing women of fiction. Small wonder that the Rev. Theo falls for her—and the phrase is used here not at all in its slang sense; he falls from his pretensions of spirituality and highmindedness. He cannot help falling in love with Elsie; her only fault was that she loved everybody. What their love does to them makes a powerful story.

This novel, the Literary Guild choice for December, is more than a worthy successor to "My Son, My Son." Endearing as that earlier novel was, it made its sentimental appeal largely thru the author's emotional handling of his material; while "Hard Facts" depends more on incident and character for its effect. But, as has been remarked before, comparisons are odious, and "Hard Facts" is a rich and beautiful work in its own right.

Bulldozers' Role in Winning War

"BULLDOZERS COME FIRST," by editors of Engineering News-Record. [McGraw-Hill, $2.75.]

Five war correspondent editors—Harold W. Richardson, Waldo G. Bowman, Edward J. Cleary, Nathan A. Bowers, and Archie N. Carter—collaborated in this exciting and graphic account of how the battle of construction was won with America's greatest building weapon—the bulldozer. Every war theater except China-India-Burma is pictured in these thrilling stories of achievement by army engineers, the navy Seabees, civilian engineers, and contractors. Equipped with end paper maps and profusely illustrated, this is one of the most entertaining of war books.

Notes of Music and Musicians

By Albert Goldberg

Alexander Uninsky, a Russian pianist who made a recital debut here last season, will be heard for the first time with the Chicago Symphony orchestra at the Thursday-Friday concerts, Désiré Defauw conducting. Uninsky was a winner of the famed Chopin Concourse competition held in Warsaw in 1932, and following this initial success toured Europe and North Africa, appearing with many noted conductors. At the beginning of the war Uninsky was mobilized in the French army, then sent to Spain on a musical mission. Returned to France by the Fascists, he managed to escape from Paris after the German occupation and made his way to Buenos Aires.

Alexander Uninsky.

The pianist will be heard in Liszt's second concerto in A major on the first half of the program and in Prokofieff's third concerto after the intermission. The Prokofieff work has not been heard on these programs for eight years, and has been performed but twice previously. Orchestral numbers will consist of J. S. Bach's Concerto No. 3 for string orchestra, his son Johann Christopher Bach's Sinfonia in D major, for double orchestra, and Debussy's tone poem, "La Mer."

The Saturday night "Pop" concert will have the concert master, John Weicher, and the leader of the second violins, Franz Polesny, as soloists in Bach's concerto for two violins. Mr. Defauw conducts and the remainder of the program lists the overture to Mozart's "The Magic Flute," Schubert's Symphony No. 7, in C major, Ravel's "Mother Goose" suite, and Tschaikowsky's "1812" overture.

When the orchestra plays in Milwaukee's Pabst theater on Monday night, the soloist will be the Cuban pianist, José Echániz, who will be heard in Rachmaninoff's second concerto, in C minor. Mr. Echániz, who for several years has taught at Millikin university, Decatur, Ill., recently has been appointed to the faculty of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Defauw will conduct the Milwaukee concert and the program also includes Bach's third "Brandenburg" concerto, the Johann Christopher Bach Sinfonia, and Debussy's "La Mer," to be played here later in the week.

Fritz Kreisler will play his only violin recital of the season at the Civic Opera house this afternoon at 3:30. His program consists of Bach's Partita No. 1, in B minor, for unaccompanied violin; Mozart's Concerto No. 3 in G major; and a group of shorter works: Schubert's Rondo Brilliant, the Haydn-Kreisler "Hungarian Rondo," "La Zambra," a Spanish dance by E. Fernandez Arbos, and another Spanish dance, "La Jota," by Manuel de Falla. Carl Lamson, as usual, will be the accompanist.

Fritz Kreisler.

Martial Singher, noted French baritone, who will sing Pelleas to the Melisande of Bidu Sayao in Debussy's opera with the Chicago Opera on Wednesday, will be heard in a recital before the Arts club tonight at 9 p. m.

• • •

Mabel Zehner will be presented in an organ recital by the Chicago Club of Women Organists at Kimball hall tomorrow at 8:15. Her program includes an allegro from Widor's Sixth Symphony, two Bach compositions, the Andante from Franck's "Grand Piéce Symphonique," Dupre's "Variations on a Noël," Edmundson's "Pax Vobiscum," Rowley's "The Four Winds," Karg-Elert's "Legion of the Mountain," and Swinnen's toccato, "Sunshine."

• • •

The American Opera company will present "La Traviata" at the Eighth Street theater tonight at 8. Leading roles will be sung by Adelle Druktenis, Harlan T. Shroeder, and Frank Lakowski. William Fantozzi will conduct.

• • •

The Sinai Temple Forum will present Joseph Szigeti, violinist; Alexander Uninsky, pianist, and Raya Garbousova, cellist, in a joint concert program at Hyde Park High school, 6220 Stony Island av., tomorrow night at 8:15. In addition to solo groups the three musicians will combine forces in Mendelssohn's D minor trio.

• • •

At the second concert of the Woman's Symphony orchestra, to be held at Orchestra hall on Monday evening, Nov. 13, the conductor, Jerzy Bojanowski, will present the premiere of one of his own compositions, three "Indian Sketches"—subtitled "Eagle Dance," "Lullaby" and "Welcome Song on a Ceremonial Day." The inspiration for the work came from melodies heard by Mr. Bojanowski as sung by Pueblo Indians while he was living in Tulsa, Okla. The soloist will be Jennie Tourel, mezzo-soprano, who will sing three arias — from Stradella's "Il Flordidoro," Rossini's "Cenerentola," and Tschaikowsky's "Jeanne d'Arc"—and two songs by Samuel Barber. Other orchestral works will be the overture to Smetana's "Bartered Bride," a suite for string orchestra of pieces by Rameau, transcribed by R. Temple-Savage, Franz Schreker's suite from "The Birthday of the Infanta," and Lalo's "Norwegian Rhapsody."

Jennie Tourel.

Music News

A program of compositions by the late Thorwald Otterstrom, Chicago composer, will be given by Theodora Sturkow-Ryder and Bessie Hanson Cuttone, pianists, before the Chicago branch of the National League of American Pen Women at the Woman's Athletic club on Thursday at 2:30.

• • •

Jane Johnson Burroughs, Indianapolis soprano, will give her Chicago debut recital at Kimball hall on Tuesday at 8:15. Her program opens with songs in English by Dunhill, Griffes, Rachmaninoff, Watts and Bransen, continues with Italian songs by Carissimi, Monteverde, Sibella, Respighi and Bellini, French songs by Poulenc, Hue, Debussy, Hahn and Georges, and ends with five songs by Richard Strauss. Edwin Biltcliffe, official pianist of the Indianapolis Symphony orchestra, will be the accompanist.

• • •

Robert Casadesus, French pianist, will give a recital in the Civic Opera house next Sunday afternoon as the second number in the History and Enjoyment of Music series. His program lists Bach's "Italian" concerto, Beethoven's "Appassionata" sonata, a group of Chopin — the G minor Ballade, Berceuse and Tarantelle—and the first series of "Images" by Debussy, comprising "Reflections in the Water," "Homage to Rameau," and "Mouvement."

• • •

The Mid-West Opera company will present two performances of Verdi's "A Masked Ball" at the Eighth Street theater on Sunday and Monday, Nov. 19 and 20, at 8. Leading roles will be assigned to different singers in the two performances. William Fantozzi will conduct and Charles La Berge is the artistic director.

• • •

Because of illness, Josef Lhevinne will be unable to play the opening recital of the Musical Arts Piano series in Orchestra hall on Tuesday, Nov. 21. In his stead the management has engaged Jan Smeterlin, Dutch pianist, who has not been heard here for several seasons, to play an all Chopin program.

• • •

Tito Guizar and his Pan-American ensemble will give a concert in the Civic Opera house on Sunday, Nov. 19, at 8:30. The program will consist of Latin-American songs and dances and vocal solos by Mr. Guizar.

• • •

Roy Harris has been appointed general director of the third annual National Composers' clinic, to be held at Colorado Springs, Colo., some time during the summer of 1945. Mr. Harris has assumed the responsibility of receiving all manuscripts, appointing the appraisers, performing the compositions selected, and returning constructive criticisms with all manuscripts not chosen for performance. All inquiries should be addressed to Mr. Harris, in care of Colorado college, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Art Institute Gets Oriental Objets d'Art

By Thalia.

The trustees and governing members of the Art Institute of Chicago had a memorable evening last week when they attended the preview opening of the new Buckingham galleries and were received by "The Orientals," of which Russell Tyson is chairman. Unlike most "openings," where crowds of humans obscure the less vociferous objets d'art, the guests were few enough in number to make looking at the new installations as real a pleasure as seeing one another. Seeing Chauncey McCormick, president of the institute, who declared himself "a walking ad for penicillin," was a special pleasure to the guests, for pneumonia had threatened to keep him away.

The Buckingham galleries are three small rooms made from one vast room to house the oriental collection left to the institute by the late Miss Kate Buckingham and given by other well known Chicago collectors including the late Potter Palmer, president for many years of the Art institute. Miss Buckingham was "Aunt Kate" to a few Chicagoans and fairy godmother to all of Chicago as the donor of the Buckingham fountain on the lake front, one of the great decorative fountains of the world. In the galleries are also rare gifts of other collectors, among them Russell Tyson, donor of the unique warrior horse which was created 1200 years ago and whose militant beauty has outlasted centuries of wars and generations of creative art.

Charles Fabens Kelley, curator of oriental art at the institute, busy piloting a wide eyed guest thru the spectacular exhibition, was just saying, "I want to show you the piece de resistance," when Mrs. Alice Patterson one of the members of "The Orientals" said, "But I thought I had brought the piece de resistance with me," as she turned to Mr. Tyson. Which art object Mr. Kelley gave the accolade to was never settled, but there were items which he had said were the finest specimens in the country or the world. One was a doorway of the 7th century adorned by the Buddha and the lotus leaf in seed, and with three figures on each side in the high head dresses of the very important—"One birth separated from Buddha," some one remarked. Another was a statue of Kwanyin, the goddess of compassion, from the Sung dynasty, which spanned the years 960-1279. The surprising resemblance between Kwanyin and Queen Victoria has been remarked by others than your Thalia. A knee high vase of Lung Ch'uan ware, [Celadon green], also of the Sung dynasty, was a third incomparable example of the art of the orient now belonging to the Art institute.

One item in the exhibit, a Pilgrim bottle, was in the great 1935-'36 exhibition of Chinese art in London, assembled by Arthur Upham Pope, who has often lectured in Chicago. Of all the Pilgrim bottles from all over the world it was the finest. It looks oddly like the canteens carried today, and it was, in fact, copied from the silver canteens which Greek travelers carried. The Chinese copied them in less costly pottery.

The treasures in the Buckingham galleries like all the great art treasures which public spirited Chicagoans have given to the Art institute, now belong to every man and woman and child who looks upon them and remembers their beauty.

When Virgil Thomson lectured before the members of the Arts club last week on "Words and Music," his talk was an attempt to make intelligible to the layman the importance of prosody to a composer of American Daughters of Sweden to Meet Tuesday

At an 8 o'clock meeting Tuesday night, Nov. 14, in the auditorium of the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company building, the American Daughters of Sweden will have as guest speaker Capt. William J. Grace, a veteran of the last World war. "Vanishing Americanism" will be his subject. The program will be shared by Miss Elsie Alenius, violinist, with Mrs. Gertrude Alenius Isacsson as accompanist.

Fashions and Fancy

By Judith Cass

The return to evening clothes seems to be gathering momentum at fall parties after the initial impetus given by the opening of the opera season. The Dunham Woods Riding club looked even more gala than the lobby of the Civic Opera house on opening night when club members gathered recently for the annual Harvest Home dance. Most of the men were in black ties and a couple even turned up in tails. Many of the evening gowns were of rich lames and satins, some trimmed with fur, and velvet gowns in deep claret and wine tones were popular. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair, who are long time members of the club, proved an exception to the dressup air of the evening, which seemed more "Hunt ballish" than "Harvest Home-ish." Mr. Blair was in comfortable tweeds and his wife in a sweater and skirt, which in past months has been a "uniform" in the Wayne countryside. Black ties also were prevalent at the Arden Shore's Ace-Hi party, but one of the few gentlemen who arrived wearing white tie went all evening totally unaware that he also wore a smear of lipstick on his face. Causing quite a stir was one woman in a glittering white crepe gown, who carried a huge fan made of white ostrich feathers. However, sophisticated black combined with touches of Edwardian elegance predominated among the dinner dresses worn at the party.

Glistening black sequins formed the leaves which were arranged in an off the shoulder pattern on Mrs. Charles Borland's gown. Also wearing an off the shoulder gown was Mrs. Homer Lange, whose dress was fashioned of black lace topping a black crepe skirt. On her head was a skull cap made of ivy leaves to which were fastened two white orchids. The same materials, lace and crepe, were combined in the gown worn by Miss Mary Mertes, which was of stunning black crepe with insets with lace in the bodice. One of the outstanding women at the opera Monday night was Mrs. Waldo H. Logan, who arrived wearing a lush black velvet gown with a slit skirt revealing the last word in shoes . . . platform sandals of kelly green satin. About her throat she fastened a gold and green brooch attached to a black velvet dog collar. "Simplicity of dress and line" was the rule of thumb given by a fashion commentator recently at the Key club when she told luncheon guests how to achieve the most striking effect with a costume. Five mannequins illustrated the wrong and then the right way to wear accessories. Miss Virginia Elwood was given a nod of approval when she substituted a simple crocheted bonnet for a pearl halo which had "clashed" with the rhinestone buttons trimming the dress she was modelling.

Directors to Discuss Aid to Immigrants

By Irene Steyskal.

There are among us the myopic eyes that see only the selfish few—the spiritually improverished nitwits dancing to the tune of a heedless fiddle while Rome burns. Periodically since the war began the entire civilian home front has endured scathing comment and explosive scoldings, both vocally and in print, from the observers of limited vision.

It could be that most of the countless thousands of volunteer workers are too busy to note and reply, but recent weeks have brought from a few leaders of civic organizations the mild answers which possibly could turn away the noisy wrath of the self-constituted censors. These are epitomized in one suggestion that, if the critics were to put on a pair of good will lenses to rectify their faulty sight, and then make an over-all survey of the home scene, they might be pleasantly surprised.

A winnowing of the week's activities of clubs and other organizations seems to afford some support to those who ask for a larger view. One of the groups meeting this week, for example, is the board of directors of the Immigrants' Protective league, that organization stemming from Jane Addams' Hull House and suffused with her spirit of helpful friendliness to the stranger in a new land and city, particularly the underprivileged.

The meeting, a quarterly luncheon conference, will be held in the Standard club tomorrow, and will be conducted by Prof. Ernst W. Puttkammer of the University of Chicago, who recently became president, taking up leadership of the league from Herbert H. Kennedy, who had served six years. Among those who plan to attend—all members who have given long service to the league—are Miss Edith Abbott, Adlai E. Stevenson, Mrs. Edward W. McCready, Mrs. Abel Davis, Mrs. Edison Dick, Mrs. Richard C. Stevenson, Mr. Kennedy, Mrs. Paul E. Burbank, Mrs. Alfred D. Kohn, Mrs. James H. Becker, Miss Clara Hoover, Mrs. Henry W. Austin, Richard C. Stevenson, Herbert M. Lautmann, and Mrs. Edwin W. Winter.

Mr. Puttkammer is professor of criminal law on the Midway and he edits the Law Bulletin of the university. Two of the bulletins used by the league in its work, "Deportation Laws" and "Alien Friends and Alien Enemies" were written by Prof. Puttkammer for the organization.

The war has seen wide expansion of the league's services. A new group seeking its guidance in establishing citizenship of its members under new admissive legislation is the Chinese colony in Chicago. Numerous individual problems of the foreign born who have been unable to communicate with relatives in Europe are receiving the benefits of the league's long experience as liaison between the immigrant and his homeland.

Increasingly during war years large and small national groups in the city have found a common meeting ground in the league for coordinating specific relief programs and projects. All these new services and plans for further usefulness will be discussed by the league directors at tomorrow's meeting.

Another meeting, motivated by the determination of members to develop informed opinion on international affairs, is a dinner on Friday evening in the Chicago Bar association's rooms which will find the men's organization and the Women's Bar Association of Illinois in joint assembly to hear Manley O.

[Have you some household help that lightens labor or conserves on materials? Is there some comfort you could enjoy? We'll be pleased to pass on your ideas to our readers. Address Louise Bargelt, The Chicago Tribune.]

Mrs. Ed. T., Chicago—To hammer a nail and not a thumb, try my method. I use a pair of tweezers to hold the nail upright, just leaving enough of it so that hammer can do a good job of hitting it.

• • •

Mrs. Harold H., Detroit, Mich.—This is the month I give a host of accessories, from ash trays to lamp bases and vases, and from window sills to painted furniture, a coat of liquid or paste wax. This cuts down on dusting time around the holidays. I find liquid is easier to apply but paste wax lasts longer.

• • •

Ellen H., Springfield, Ill.—To make a first floor a quieter place to live in, my husband joined pieces of insulating board and slipped them under some bedroom rugs. We had rented two bedrooms to war workers and this insulation board made good, sound-quieting rug pads.

• • •

Mrs. Bill A., Des Moines, Iowa—Don't yield to temptation when it comes to any rubberized garment and try to dry it too quickly after laundering. Dry it in a cool place, and out of the sun. When I have to iron a rubberized garment I avoid a hot iron, and press it very lightly.

• • •

Mrs. William J. H., Chicago—To keep tiny beads from slipping off a thread when you are stringing them, place them on a wet cloth. This will fill the small holes with water and they will be much less slippery to handle.

Now—your idea—please!

Fresh from the Hills . . . . . Rural Mail

By Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LUCILLE [she's my sister] settled herself in the front seat with a satchel of newspapers at her feet, and a pile of letters bound with a strap, on her lap. Lyndon [he's my brother-in-law] stacked packages about me on the back seat.

"Do I have to crawl down chimneys with these?" I asked.

"Just hand 'em out," said Lucile. "The addressees have been waiting at their mailboxes for those packages since the day after they sent in their orders!"

Lyndon examined the mud chains draped across the spare tire, called "We're off!" to Homer Casey, the postmaster, and Vern Davis, the other mail carrier, and we drove away from the postoffice.

Lyndon and Lucile live on a farm near the little town on the Missouri-Iowa line where all three of us were born. Lyndon varies his farm routine by acting as substitute mail carrier when needed. Such a need had arisen while I was visiting them, and I had gone along for the ride. Lucile always goes to handle the boxes on the right hand side.

• • •

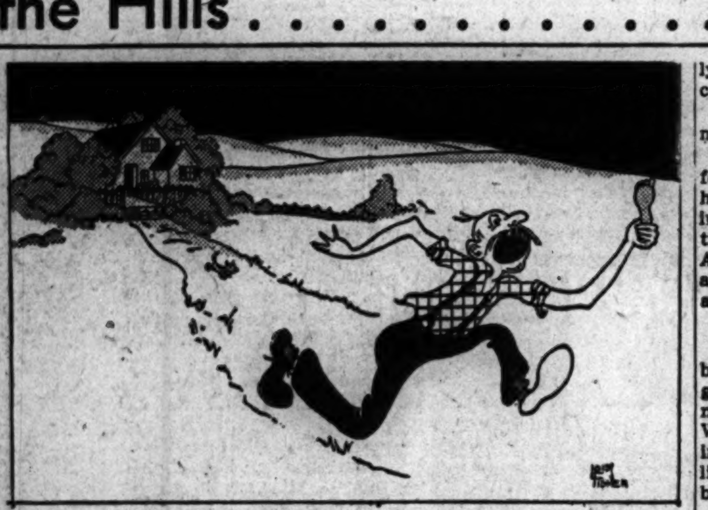
Two blocks from the town square Lyndon drove to the edge of the street and stopped alongside a rural mail box fastened to a post. Lucile leaned out and opened the box door, which flopped limp as ZaSu Pitt's hands. Two newspapers, one county and one state, went into the box.

"Do you remember we lived in this house when we were kids?" asked my sister.

"O, mercy," I groaned. "It looks awful. So old and down at the heels!"

"I could think up a bright one for that," said Lucile. "But I'll spare you!"

We drove on, stopping at a half dozen town mail boxes. In that short time I learned that mail carriers judge people by their mail boxes. Solid citizens, who go to church regularly and never say a bad word, are denounced as rascals if the boxes they put out for their mail are too low, too hard to open, or too near a ditch. I made a mental note to check on our mail box the minute I got back to Sunrise Mountain farm.



He came tearing out again with a neatly scissored imprint of a small foot.

We reached the open country and drove along the graveled road in the sunshine at a merry clip. Newly mown alfalfa and clover fields showed behind banks of purple and yellow autumn flowers or thickets of elderberries with spreading clusters of purple black fruit.

"Nice work if you can get it," I said.

"Just wait!" said Lucile ominously. "We have dirt roads from this corner on. And the forecast is for more rain. Hand me that package marked G. T. Williams."

I leaned over to search thru the welter of packages. Just then the dirt roads began. I got a nasty bump on my head as the car lurched into a rut. With the Williams' package at its destination, we drove on past the old Morris place where Dick Browning now lives. I commented on the wonderful corn, ears at least 18 inches long.

"Pretty fair," said my brother-in-law. "But no better than ours. We don't draw in for any one this year."

In Iowa, corn is a touchy subject.

We turned to the right at a small bridge and drove along a narrow hedge-bordered road. My sister gave a deep sigh when she opened the empty mail box.

"Thank goodness Bessie's skirt fits!" she said.

"What skirt? And how do you know?" I asked.

"Elementary, my dear Watson! Bessie got a skirt from a mail order house yesterday. If it hadn't fit she'd be sending it back today."

At the next box we found a letter addressed to the ration board.

"About time," said Lucile severely. "Alice should have sent for her canning sugar long ago."

It seemed indecent to know so much about folks!

"Here's where we picked up a fellow the night Bryan Shockey's house burned," said Lyndon, pointing to a deep roadside ditch. "He'd tried driving home without lights. After he'd been riding with us about 10 minutes he said 'Gosh, it's a dark night!'"

• • •

We turned a corner where three boxes were on a wagon wheel. With gentle care I handed over a box marked Personal Effects of Pvt. William Henry. Lucile tossed it into a big homemade box shaped like the government approved mail boxes, but much stronger.

"Bill just went to camp last Saturday. These are his old overalls."

At the next house a long, red rag was hanging out of the mail box.

"It isn't on fire," said Lucile. "That's just to tell us there's something in the box so we'll be sure to stop." We found money in a cold cream jar and an unsealed letter awaiting a mail order. As Lyndon was writing the mail order a man came tearing out of the house.

"Wait a minute," he shouted. "I've got to put my wife's foot in that letter." The man went back inside. We waited open mouthed. In a minute or so he came tearing out again with the neatly scissored paper imprint of a small foot. "Dang mail order houses never git sizes right without this," he explained.

We drove on, passing the little cabin where Jid, Yant, and Hardy Wasson were born, and the near-by fine new home where Jid now lives. This is typical of many Iowa farms, for generation after generation of the same family owns the same fertile fields. Then there was the farm that Lyndon's great-grandfather homesteaded. Lyndon and Lucile knew everybody and looked at everything with the critical eyes of farmers. They estimated the corn yield of every field, the age of every heifer calf, and the probable weight of every shoat, come butchering time. I pointed out a tree laden with brilliant red fruit, sighing for my camera.

"Siberian crabs," said Lucile loftily. "And who has sugar to put them up this year? Had you noticed this?" Rain was on the windshield.

"Wonder what it's done to that hill yon side of . . ." began my brother-in-law. Lucile shushed him and murmured something about surprising sister. It didn't sound too good. Then she discovered a telegram for the next box and was all excited. [In the country, telegrams are delivered by mail carriers on the day after their arrival.]

"I'll bet Mary Ellen's boy friend is coming home on furlough. Too bad she didn't have this in time to get her hair done." She moped about Mary Ellen's tough luck for a mile. I looked at the rain polishing the red haws, and adding new lustre to the long green leaves of the hickory sprouts at the roadside. I tried to ignore the car's slips and slides. Then we met a half dozen wagons in quick succession.

"Bet they intended to thresh over at Perry Barr's but couldn't on account of the rain," said Lyndon. Lucile recalled the story our parents told about Charlie Barr, father of Perry and numerous others.

One time the Barrs' married daughter and her energetic small sons had departed after a long visit. Grandma Barr sat in the unaccustomed silence for some time and at last, with quivering voice, said:

"Isn't it lonesome without Lucy and the boys?"

Grandpa Barr took the pipe out of his mouth and replied:

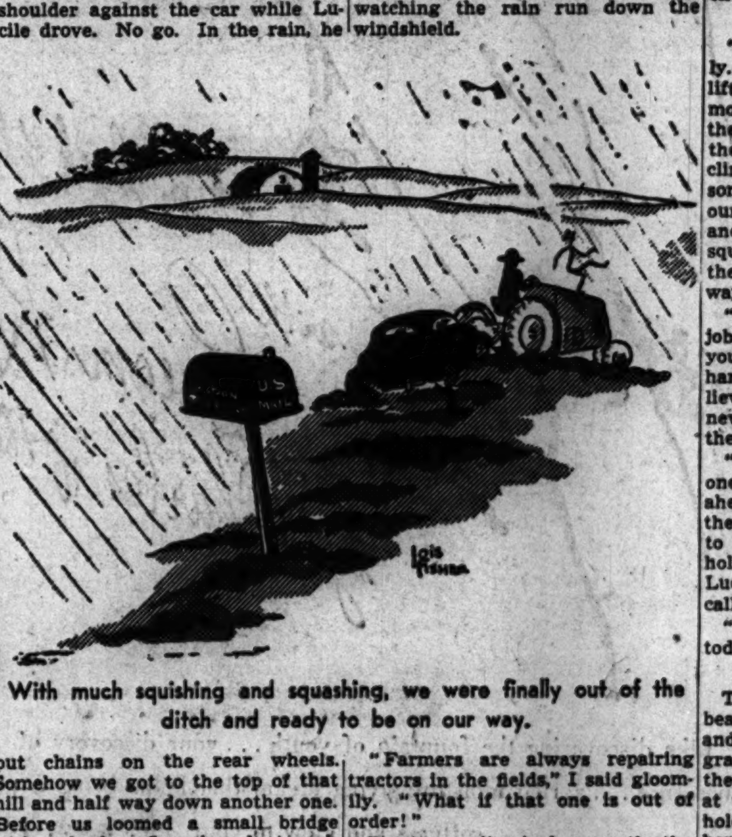
"You know, Maw, I kind o' like to be lonesome."

• • •

We were still laughing at this old story when the car got stuck on the hill. Lyndon put on his four buckle overshoes and got out to put his shoulder against the car while Lucile drove. No go. In the rain, he put chains on the rear wheels. Somehow we got to the top of that hill and half way down another one. Before us loomed a small bridge with a broken floor board at each side.

I moaned and closed my eyes. When I opened them the car was standing in a ditch, shuddering in every bolt.

"Made two holes in one," said Lyndon gleefully. I was not amused. Lucile began naming tractor owners in the vicinity. They decided on one and Lyndon cut across a field, headed toward some invisible destination. My sister and I, chilled and hungry, sat in the car watching the rain run down the windshield.



With much squishing and squashing, we were finally out of the ditch and ready to be on our way.

"Farmers are always repairing tractors in the fields," I said gloomily. "What if that one is out of order!"

But it wasn't. And presently the sight of that big red tractor being hitched to our car was a heart warming spectacle. Lyndon got into the car, sloshing gallons of mud with him, and started the engine. The farmer fed the tractor more gas and there was a mighty roaring. Then the tractor stood on its hind wheels, pawing the air with the front ones. I almost expected it to whinny. I gulped my heart back into place and clutched at Lucile's back.

"Don't be worried," she said calmly. "He had the hydraulics on to lift our car." Lyndon climbed out, motioning for Lucile to get behind the wheel. He went to the front of the now subdued tractor and climbed aboard its nose, standing on some unseen perch. Lucile drove our car and with much creaking and clatter, much squishing and squashing, we were finally out of the ditch and ready to be on our way.

"This is without doubt the worst job in the world," I scolded. "Why, you're taking your life in your hands. And who cares? I don't believe people want mail. They get news on the radio and hear from their friends by telephone."

"Sh!" said my sister. "Here's one who cares!" She pointed ahead to where a woman stood in the rain by the mailbox, pretending to be pulling seeds from a dead hollyhock stalk. As we drew near, Lucile leaned from the car and called:

"Guess what we have for you today!"

• • •

The woman turned with rain beating on her tanned, lined face and making twisted rat tails of the gray hair struggling from beneath the faded head scarf. She looked at the V-mail letter my sister was holding out to her. Straightening her shoulders, she walked toward the car. When she took the letter the glory of sunrise shone in her blue eyes.

"Nice work if you can get it," said Lucile softly as we slithered thru the mud to the next mailbox.

songs or operas. It was an esoteric and technical question discussed in as popular a vein as possible, discussed, I thought, with wit as well as erudition. To some of his audience Virgil Thomson's mere presence was nostalgic, for he was the very essence of a period—Paris in the years between the two World wars—when artistic young Americans flocked there, wrote, painted, sculptured, composed music, and were passionately concerned with their revolt against the conventional in the arts.

One critic once wrote about the period that, "In order to be accepted in the smartest set in the Paris of those interwar years one had to be one of a kind. Originality was orthodox, unpredictability a convention." Virgil Thomson was one of that orthodox-heterodox group. His greatest triumph was the composition of the music for the opera, "Four Saints in Three Acts" in which he put to music the words of Gertrude Stein, who was the center of the young self-expressive Paris of the day. "Four Saints"—in which incidentally not four but 16 major [one in duplicate] and 17 minor saints are presented in four not three acts!—was the first opera in which the sense of the words was wholly subordinated to their sound.

When it had its world premiere in Hartford, Conn., in February, 1934, under the auspices of the Friends and Enemies of Modern Music, it was to the surprise of the cognoscenti an instantaneous popular success. An all-Negro cast interpreted it with reverence, gayety, and verve. Its stage sets and costumes were highlighted with cellophane, and its music was deceptively simple. That was the year that Gertrude Stein herself came back to America from France, where she has lived since 1903. She made a triumphal conquest of her native land. She saw "Four Saints" for the first time in Chicago when it opened here, I remember, in a benefit for the Vocational Society for Shut-ins. It was an evening which even those with poor memories for historic occasions in Chicago's social and artistic memories have never forgotten.

America never, from that memorable visit of Gertrude Stein's, has been unconscious of her. When the Germans took France, she did not, like most of her compatriots, leave her home near Aix-les-Bains. When France was liberated, one of the first persons sought out by the foreign correspondents and news photographers was Gertrude Stein. Hers was one of the first American voices to come over the radio from the land which had welcomed so many Americans in peace and in two wars.

Virgil Thomson ended his talk at the Arts club—where, incidentally, Gertrude Stein gave her first Chicago lecture 10 years ago—with a rendition in his acknowledgedly untraditional tenor of the "Pigeons on the Grass, Alas" aria from "Four Saints," to prove the point of his talk that it wasn't a question of the meaning but a question of the sounds of words which posed the problem for composers. The word "banana," he had previously declared, was impossible to sing, and was an immediate source of comedy in any song, which he proved with a comic tenor rendition of "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

The first big charity ball of the season was held last Saturday for the benefit of Arden Shore, the camp at Lake Bluff for underprivileged children. More than $28,000 was raised, and, with the association's subscription drive, the goal of $35,000 for the year is declared certain. The members of the Chicago Arden Shroe committee, who sponsored the "Ace-Hi" party, worked so assiduously on soliciting advertising for the program that they netted over $13,000 on that one item alone.

The recent St. Luke's fashion show was represented with copies, some in duplicate, of its entries for the season's most popular dinner and evening dresses. Mrs. Maynard Fessenden, who was chairman of the evening, wore the gold colored dinner dress with fringe-dotted skirt that the beautiful blonde Jean Stevens Heyworth modeled at the St. Luke's show. Eight hundred diners and dancers crowded the Gold Coast room at the Drake. In their gayety and prosperity they would have succeeded in forgetting for one night that there was a war if they had not been constantly reminded as they looked up to the service flag that was the room's outstanding decoration that its 217 stars, six of them gold, represented [to quote the program] "217 underprivileged boys that Arden Shore helped to become healthy upright citizens who are serving their country in the armed forces."

Arden Shore was founded in 1900 by Mrs. Robert Gregory and Mrs. William Casselberry, who are now its honorary president and honorary chairman of the camp committee.

ENGAGED

Miss Geraldine Ann Schatz, whose engagement to Bernard A. Dorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shay Dorman of Sheridan rd., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Schatz of the Belmont hotel. Both Miss Schatz and her fiance attended the University of Illinois.

Calendar of Chicagoland Club Events

Mrs. Frank G. Sain. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

One of the public institutions upon which the Woman's City club has kept a vigilant eye thruout its years of interest in civic matters is the Cook county jail. Mrs. Harry M. Mulberry, the president, will direct her group's attention to that institution at a 2 o'clock meeting tomorrow at which Warden Frank G. Sain will discuss some of the improvements he would like to see made and suggest means by which civic groups can help to raise standards.

Among proposals for the jail studied by the club's county institutions committee are plans for suitable recreation space in the yard for men and on the roof for women and also means for segregating the younger offenders. The club and other groups have been watching attentively the work of a Red Cross unit started by Mrs. Sain, wife of the warden, among the girls awaiting trial and serving sentences. The unit, working three afternoons a week, has completed 100,000 surgical dressings.

Miss Margaret Davidson, home economist, will speak at the club at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning under joint auspices of the food and merchandise committee, of which Mrs. Wilbur E. Fribley is chairman, and the Chicago Housewives league. Her talk will be on the prospective use of glass and plastics in the postwar kitchen.

• • •

The Chicago Woman's Aid will hear a lecture by Manoah Leide-Tedesco on "Our Caribbean Neighbors" at 2 o'clock Tuesday. Mr. Leide-Tedesco is associated with the United States office of education and that of the coördinator of inter-American affairs as a lecturer and forum leader. Friday the Aid will have Saul D. Alinsky as guest speaker at a noonday current events breakfast. Mr. Alinsky, a consultant to the Back of the Yards Neighborhood council and executive director of the Industrial Areas Foundation, will talk on "The Delinquent—a Potential Criminal." The class studying "The Problem of Rising Anti-Semitism" under instruction of Ira Latimer will meet at 10:45 o'clock Friday morning.

• • •

Dr. J. L. Rosenstein, chief of staff of the De Paul university vocational guidance and adjustment clinic for war veterans, will lecture before the Chicago Woman's club at 2 o'clock Wednesday in Curtiss hall on "Psychology for Living." The program was arranged by Mrs. Victor Munnecke and Mrs. Henry Barrett Chamberlin will preside. Ethel W. Colson Brazelton will give another in her series of current events and book talks Wednesday morning. Her book review will be of Irving Stone's "Immortal Wife."

• • •

Mrs. Robert C. Fox, retiring president, will be feted today by Chicago assembly of the Catholic Daughters of America at a birthday luncheon on the group's 32d anniversary. The party will be held at 1 o'clock in the Normandy house. Miss Elizabeth O'Brien, past state regent, is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Myrtle Raczykowski will preside.

Mrs. William J. Holm. [Teloff Photo.]

The Renaissance will hold its annual fall card party and tea for members and guests at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow in the Wedgewood room at Marshall Field's. As president, Mrs. William J. Holm will have the hostess role. The arrangements committee is now headed by Mrs. Norman Johnson and Mrs. Wallis L. Raw. Proceeds from the party will be allocated to the Red Cross and to the club's art fund.

• • •

Franz Werfel's current play, "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," will be reviewed for the Chicago Drama league by Juliet Barker Sarett Tuesday morning in the Arts club. Mrs. Sarett is the wife of Lew Sarett, the poet.

• • •

Members of the Southern Woman's Club of Chicago will lunch at 12:30 o'clock Thursday in the Hotel Sherman and at 2 o'clock will hear Kathleen Winsor's widely discussed new book, "Forever Amber," reviewed by Marjorie Gillmor. The club will have as its guests Mrs. Joseph R. Chesser and Mrs. Charles W. Stigman, chairmen respectively, of motion pictures and war service of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, both of whom will give brief talks on the work of their departments. The Southern Woman's club is headed by Mrs. George A. Schanbacher.

Mrs. Winona E. Reeves.

Mrs. Winona Evans Reeves, whose membership in the P. E. O. sisterhood dates from 1889 and who has edited the organization's magazine, The Record, for more than a score of years, will be designated as special guest at a luncheon meeting of chapter A. Illinois, tomorrow in the Palmer House. Mrs. Reeves will give a talk on her book of essays, "As We Were Saying," which was published by the chapter. Regular assemblies of the chapter are held in the Palmer House, but this year groups are meeting between sessions at members' homes for Red Cross and other war work.

• • •

The Colonial Coverlet Guild of America will have Eric Dixon, a collector of paperweights, as guest speaker at a luncheon meeting Wednesday in the Wedgewood room at Marshall Field's. Mr. Dixon has followed his hobby for 20 years. He will show some of his rarest finds and tell how he acquired them. Mrs. Fred Lane is in charge of luncheon reservations.

• • •

Chicago chapter of the National Executive Housekeepers' association will give a games party Saturday night in the Drake hotel. Altho the benefit is held annually to raise money for the group's educational and charitable activities, part of the proceeds this year will be given to the Chicago Service Men's center.

• • •

The Lake City Woman's club will give a card party for the benefit of its philanthropies at 1 o'clock Wednesday in the Hollywood room of the Morrison hotel. Mrs. Conrad Murche heads the arrangements committee.

• • •

Illustrating her talk with forest preserve scenes and pictures from A Century of Progress, Mrs. Herman C. Lammers, president of the Woman's Chicago Beautiful association, will lecture Tuesday on "Romance of Color" before the Frauenverein of the Altenheim. This will be the group's opening fall luncheon meeting in the Belden-Stratford hotel. The hour is set for 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Theodore Kuehle will preside, and Mrs. Jean B. Rohm, the program chairman, will introduce Mrs. Lammers.

Scene FOR SOMNOLENCE

E. L. Piermattei
Decorator,
John A. Colby & Sons

Here is a Chopin gayety, an aesthetic climate mild and balmy, and definitely soporific.

Sea green, a lulling, dreamy tint, pervades the room, in which rise here and there foamy expanses of embroidered white net ruffles.

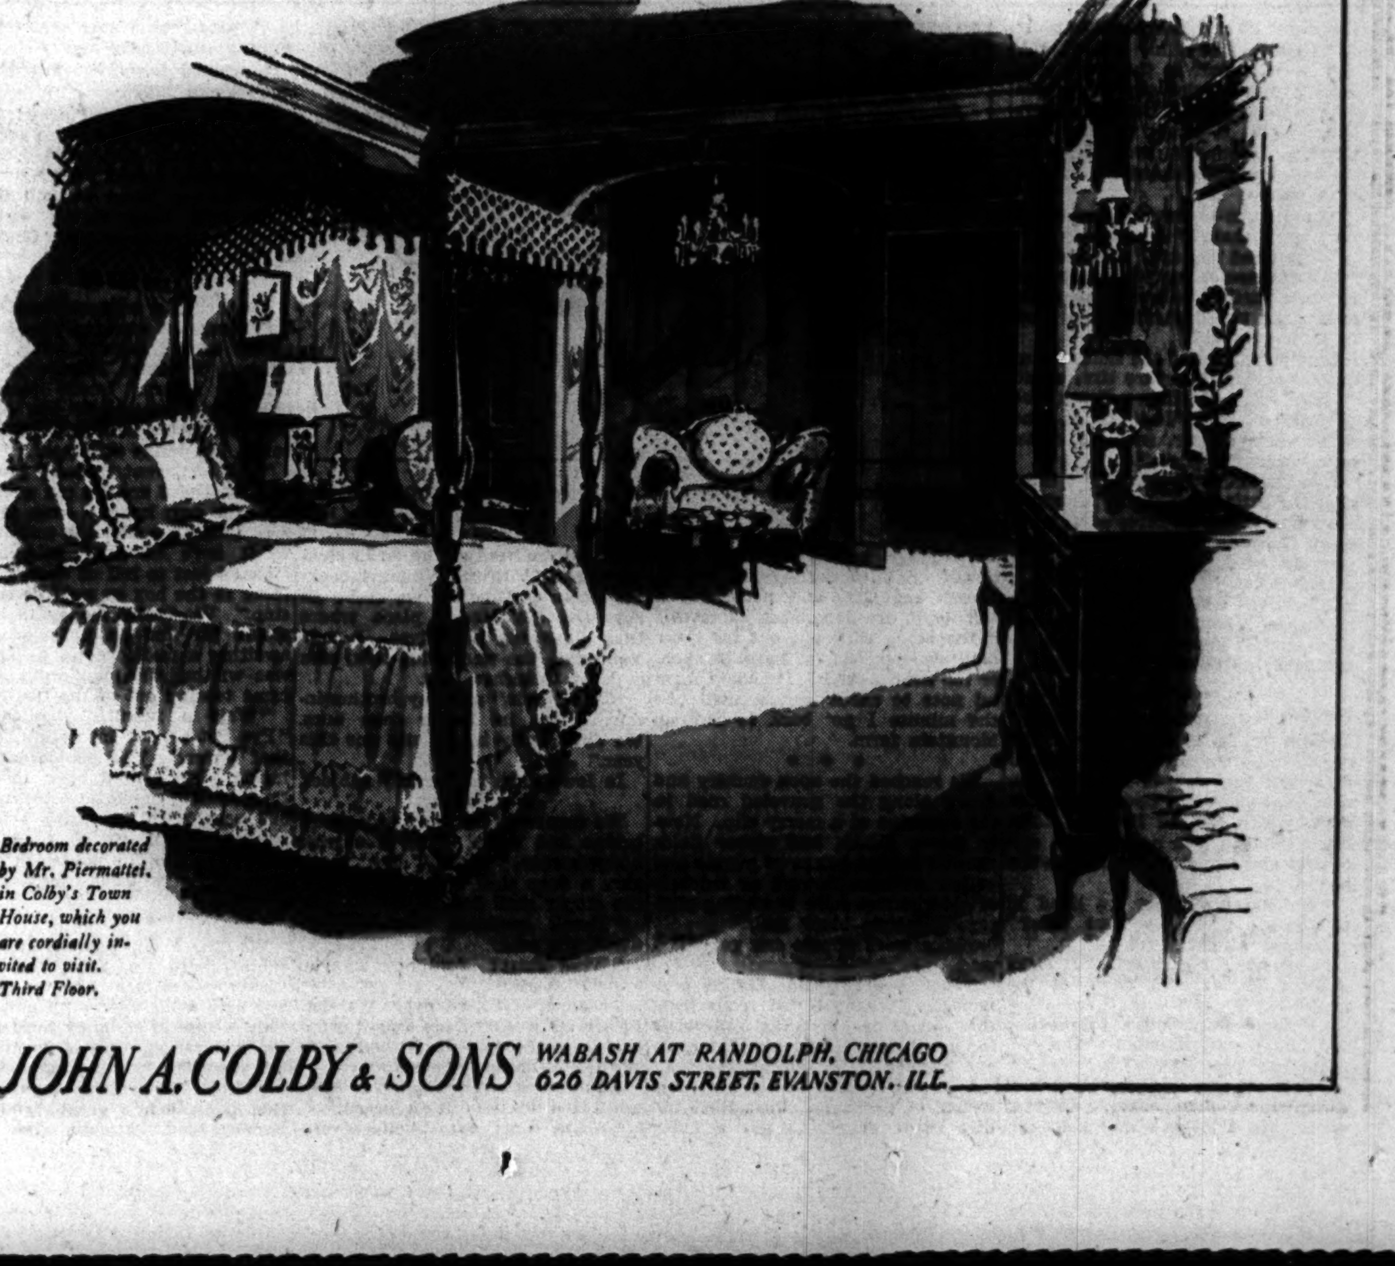
The room provides a sort of evening sonata for the routine of going to bed. First, to raise the windows a little, causing the ruffled white net curtains to sway in the fresher air, under their cloaking hangings of sea green raw silk.

Then to the inviting white canopied bed, crisply dainty under its yards of more filmy ruffles, adding a dash of ceremony to somnolency. On the same sea green wall paper Victorian scarfs, arranged as swags bearing green flowers, float by in a silent and endless procession, another and another.

In the dimness the large mahogany chests bulk comfortable, capacious and somehow reassuring. Mild and well mannered they stand, a highboy and a lowboy in the Philadelphia Colonial style.

A recess in one wall, lined with hangings of the sea green silk, is the setting for a little scene-within-a-scene. In it sits a brocade cushioned Victorian sofa, and before it stands a charming teaset on a low table. A link with tomorrow, it is ready to serve the waking cup of tea.

The gentle Victorian scene is one to bestow pleasant comfort indefinitely without wearying in its well doing.



Bedroom decorated by Mr. Piermattei, in Colby's Town House, which you are cordially invited to visit. Third Floor.

Hudson on "The Prospect for International Organization for Peace."

Bemis professor of international law at Harvard university, Judge Hudson has written extensively in his field. His most recent book is a treatise on the Permanent Court of International Justice at Geneva, to which he was elected judge in 1936. After the first World war, Judge Hudson, as a special assistant in the state department, was attached to the American commission to negotiate peace in Paris, and from 1919 to 1933 he was a member of the League of Nations secretariat.

The joint meeting was arranged by the international relations committee of the women lawyers, of which Miss Katherine Nohelty and Mrs. Katharine D. Agar are co-chairmen, and Pressly L. Stevenson of the Chicago Bar association. Mrs. Helen W. Munsert, who heads the women's association, will preside.

Twenty-five years of coöperative endeavor to cement friendship between executive and professional women of many countries lies behind Zonta International, at whose international office in Chicago open house will be held from 4 to 6 o'clock from tomorrow thru Friday for members and their friends in observance of Zonta week. Chicago is the home of three members of the international executive board, Miss Harriet C. Richards, executive secretary; Miss Ruth Gates, treasurer, and Mrs. Anne Z. Zinser, district chairman. Miss Richards will be the official hostess at the series of open houses. Assisting her will be the headquarters staff, leaders of the local clubs and, among district and international directors, Miss Adelaide Tieken, Miss Bernice Dodge, Miss Mildred Crandell, Miss Elizabeth Krouse, Miss Marie Agnes Foley, and Mrs. S. Katherine Maddux.

The Chicago Loop, Chicago South Side, Oak Park and Evanston Zonta clubs will send their representatives Wednesday to Madison, Wis., to attend an intercity meeting marking the organization's 25th anniversary. Presidents of the groups named are, respectively, Mrs. Kate Certa, Mrs. Alma Watkins, Miss Ethel Coleman, and Dr. Marjorie Scholes. A news item of special interest to local Zontans is the recent assignment of Milred Boyden Oliver, meteorologist of the University of Chicago, to Alaska. Miss Oliver was the winner of the Amelia Earhart scholarship given by Zonta International to young women qualifying for graduate study in the field of aeronautics.

The organization was a participant in the White House conference held in June to prepare a roster of outstanding qualified women to serve on post-war planning committees and in peace parleys. Six Zonta members were among 56 women subsequently named by a group of 10 outstanding American women. The Zonta nominees were: Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt; Dr. Minnie L. Maffet, former president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women; Rep. Winifred Stanely; J. Winifred Hughes, retiring president of Zonta International; Helen Z. M. Rodgers, attorney, and Dr. Magdalene Schoch, who was the first president of the now inactive Zonta club in Hamburg, Germany.

Typical of the groups in the community sustaining and increasing programs for the guidance of underprivileged youth in these times when the cry of juvenile delinquency is heard on every hand is the Deborah Woman's club, which supports the Deborah Boys' club at 2441 W. Division st. Among the week's meetings will be an open assembly of the Deborah women at 2 o'clock Thursday in the Standard club. Each mail brings to the club its letters from Deborah boys now fighting on every American battle line, and the club's service flag has its gold stars as well as its blue.

At the Thursday meeting, Mrs. Charles Martin, chairman for the boys' club, will interview four of the 1,500 lads who daily participate in the club's activities, receive instruction in trades, arts or crafts, or are helped with their school studies in the club's well stocked library. By way of entertainment, Eddie and Fannie Cavannaugh, the radio team will contribute a skit, appearing under auspices of Mrs. Helen Sontag, the program chairman. Mrs. Lester Sterny will preside.

WED RECENTLY

Mrs. Eddie Bush, the former Betty Merchant, daughter of Mrs. Leta C. Marchant of N. Kenmore av., who recently became the bride of Mr. Bush of the Oak Park Country club, son of James J. Bush of Greenwich, Conn. Mr. Bush will take his bride to Melbourne, Fla., for the winter.

Literary Club Schedules Tea on Wednesday

Two members will provide the program for a tea gathering of the Friends of American Writers Wednesday afternoon in the Cordon. Mrs. George B. Van Buren, former president, will give a commentary on "Quebec, Historic Seaport," written by the author of the popular "Jalna" novels, Mazo de la Roche. The group also will hear the widely discussed Gwethalyn Graham novel, "Earth and High Heaven," reviewed. Mrs. Edward R. Walter, chairman of the book reading committee, will report on Miss Graham's story, which poses the problem of class and race prejudice.

Mrs. George B. Van Buren [Johnson Photo.]

It is a pre-holiday practice of the club to hold a book sale, and the plans have been completed to have the booth set up for the Wednesday meeting. Proceeds from the sale are placed in the club's foundation fund. Mrs. James D. Cooney and Mrs. Milton Gage will preside at tea.

Another literary circle meeting this week is Chicago chapter of the Catholic Poetry society, which assembles at 7:15 o'clock tomorrow evening in the room of the Alliance Francaise in the Fine Arts building. The speaker for the occasion will be John Frederick Nims, assistant professor of English at the University of Notre Dame, who will talk on "Poetry Today."

Prof. Nims started a long record of poetry prize winning in undergraduate years at Notre Dame, and since that time his verse has captured the Fisk prize at the University of Chicago, the Harriet Monroe Memorial award and, in 1943, the Guarantors' prize, which has been taken in previous years by such poets as Edna St. Vincent Millay, Paul Engle, W. H. Auden, and Stephen Spender.

To Dr. Alexander Pope, vice president of the chapter, Miss Nora Cawley, the president, has delegated the privilege of introducing Prof. Nims.

The Mosaic poetry society will hold an open meeting for members and guests at 8 o'clock Thursday night in room 912 of the Fine Arts building.

Office Supervisors to Fete Management Group

The Chicago Office Supervisors club has invited members of the Chicago Office Management association to its annual dinner and program for men Thursday night at the Chicago Real Estate board office, 105 W. Madison st. C. L. Stivers, expert on office management and personnel, will be keynote speaker.

When Chicago Was Young

By Herma Clark

Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend Julia Boyd of New York.

Chicago, Nov. 1, 1896.

Dear Julia: We are looking forward eagerly to getting the election returns, and we think we shall know who is victor much earlier than usual, for our excellent morning paper, THE TRIBUNE, has made elaborate arrangements to inform the public in several ways. The Coliseum, out on Cottage Grove av. near 63d st., has been taken by THE TRIBUNE and here on the evening of the election latest bulletins will be shown on a screen by means of a stereopticon. Bulletins will be shown downtown also in front of The Tribune building, Dearborn and Madison sts., and over on the north side in front of the Newberry Library building. This latter location is quite near Sandy and Martha, so I am to dine with Martha that night and see and hear what we can over on Dearborn av., while Will goes down to the Chicago club, where returns are to be received. Sandy will dine with a number of professional friends at the Union League club, where they will hear returns. This is a Republican organization and the atmosphere will be a congenial one to him.

Gen. Joseph T. Torrence.

Young Esmond, our grandson, is most anxious not to miss the sight of colored bombs which THE TRIBUNE is to set off from the roof garden of the Great Northern hotel on Jackson st. This is to be done by sending up different colored rockets. Blue will indicate that McKinley is ahead, while red will stand for Bryan's success. These will be set off every hour on the hour, and Esmond is urging his mother to have the hall clock regulated so that we shan't miss seeing the bombs, which will be discernible at a great distance.

One of our important citizens died yesterday at his home on Lake Shore dr. and Bellevue pl. This was Gen. Joseph T. Torrence, who had risen from humble beginnings to be one of the wealthy men of the state. At the time of his death he was one of the most influential figures in the steel industry. Born in Pennsylvania, he left school at the age of 10 and began to learn the blacksmith's trade, but soon became an assistant foreman in an Ohio blast furnace. In 1862, as a very young man, he enlisted in the 105th Ohio infantry, was wounded, and received a discharge. About 25 years ago he came to Chicago to build a furnace for the Chicago Iron company and has made his home here ever since. He organized steel companies — always successful—bought a thousand acres of land in Lake county, Ind., where East Chicago is being developed; started the Chicago and Calumet Terminal railroad, beginning a system of belt lines around the city.

In 1877, when he was a brigadier general in the Illinois National Guard, he was made dictator of Chicago, in order to quell the riots during the railroad strikes. He accomplished this without much bloodshed and with little property damage.

His life has had its tragedy. His wife, who was a Miss Norton, was thrown from her carriage about five years ago and killed. His only child, Mrs. Kinsley Magoun, lives in New York, and he has had few intimate friends, but has been much alone in his gray stone castle surrounded by a high iron fence. It always seemed to me quite forbidding. His funeral is to be held at the Fourth Presbyterian church, with Dr. Thomas C. Hall officiating. Now I must close. Ever with love.

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND

FOOT NOTES.

The house in which Gen. Torrence died was later the residence of the Harold F. McCormicks. It is associated with Edith Rockefeller McCormick, who lived there for many years, but it is now the home of the Bateman school, and children play happily in the enclosed yard.

More About "Ole Shady."

The song, "Ole Shady," recently mentioned, has brought many letters. W. N. H. Harding, 110 N. Pine av., tells us it was written by B. R. Handy, author of "Darling Nellie Gray." . . . Mrs. F. A. Paddleford, 6951 Oglesby av., daughter of the famous basso, J. M. Hubbard, sends a booklet containing Hubbard's own story of that great meeting at the Coliseum in 1896. As he tells it, he was singing the last stanza of "Ole Shady" when a rustle at the stage entrance behind him revealed that Teddy Roosevelt had arrived. In the stanza which he was singing there was a reference to Grant. Quickly Hubbard decided to change this and sang:

Get up, ole gal, an' blow your horn,
Don't you see de dust a-risin' ober de corn?
Dat's Teddy Roosevelt, sure's yo'
born
A-comin', comin'! Hail, mighty day!

A tremendous cheer greeted the reference and Teddy Roosevelt, then police commissioner of New York City, threw his arms around Hubbard, thanking him for the unique introduction. . . . Louis Youmans, 4250 Drexel blvd., was present at that meeting and writes: "It was with much pleasure that I read your column corroborating my recollection of it." Mr. Youmans incloses an old poem, "Sweetheart, Good-bye," originally published in the "Greenwich Magazine for Marines," in 1701, which contains the oft quoted line: "Tho lost to sight, to memory dear." We offer it below. Send it to a marine.

District Club Women Plans All-Day Meet

Friends and members of 1st district, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, will assemble at 10 o'clock tomorrow in the Sherman hotel for the district's first fall open meeting and luncheon. The president, Mrs. David C. Slagle, will conduct the all-day session, which will bring as special guests Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, president of the state federation, who is scheduled to address the gathering; Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, Mrs. Fred R. Lufkin, Mrs. O. A. Rosborough, and Miss Dorothy Dohrman, representatives of the General federation; Mrs. John H. Jennings, state radio chairman, and J. Bradley Griffin, instructor of the district's public speaking class.

Mrs. David C. Slagle. [Allied News Photo.]

Accomplishments of the district will be depicted in a radio skit to be presented at the morning session under the direction of Mrs. Harvey Martling, with Mrs. Slagle, Mrs. Carlton Prouty, Mrs. Bernard McDonnell, Mrs. Ruth Dresser Olson, and Miss Laura Thornton as participants. Following the luncheon hour, Mrs. Slagle will give her president's message and introduce the hostess clubs and their presidents—Bohemian Woman's Civic club, Mrs. Edward J. Baumruk; Chicago Woman's Ideal, Mrs. B. P. Schumacher; Half Century Civic, Mrs. D. G. Brizzolara; "I Will," Mrs. George J. Teague; Prairie State, Mrs. Thomas Clyne, and Protestant Woman's Protectorate, Mrs. Fred W. Waterman.

Music will be provided in the afternoon by Leona Farrington, soprano, whose accompanist will be Sarah Ramsey Green, and there will be a reading by C. Florence Mead.

Another highlight of the meeting will be a report on the work of an affiliated group, the Braille Musical club, whose members have not permitted their loss of physical vision to interfere with musical interests.

Mrs. Harry M. Daughtrey has called a meeting of her newly organized Braille Transcribers Club of Illinois at 10 o'clock Friday in the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs headquarters, 30 W. Washington st. An outgrowth of the federation's Braille class, conducted for two years by Mrs. Daughtrey, the club transcribes textbooks and papers into Braille, and provides readers for blind students. At Friday's meeting, the group will hear a talk by Milton Totofsky, a young blind student, who will offer suggestions as to other methods of lending assistance to blinded persons.

National Art Week Opens on Colorful Note

By Eleanor Jewett.

November gives every promise of being as gaily spattered with brilliant exhibitions as was October. October closed on a colorful note with the opening last Sunday of the 18th annual exhibition of paintings by members, sponsored by the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts, at the Stevens hotel. Nelly Deachman is exhibition chairman and has done a marvelous job in hanging the pictures. The exhibit has variety and a friendly atmosphere with many canvases which would answer this week's cry of "a work of art in every home." This is, as Mrs. Albion Headburg reminded us, National Art week, and the urgent need at the back of the week is for the greater use of original works of art in the home.

The All-Illinois has a slogan: "An original work of art by an artist of Illinois in every school and home of Illinois." The current exhibition has material in plenty from which to select a painting. Among the attractive canvases are "Dundee Barns" by E. G. Kummer, "Hollyhock Time at Marblehead" by Elizabeth Richards, "Cozy Corner" by Lillie Zuver Tuttle, "Clam" by Theodore Saunders, "Surf and Sunlight" by Louis Jensen, "Rush Street" by Mabel Bryan, "Peonies" by Esther L. Skeen, "Lake Michigan" by Florence White Williams, "Belmont Harbor" by Harry Sheckels, "Peonies" by Myrtle Frankovitz, "Singing Brok" by Josephine J. Eastman, and "Autumn Glory" by Esther Edling Erickson.

Nan Rice has an interesting and clever study of a woman in "Crossword Puzzle"; Winifred Pleimling a striking likeness of a young girl in "Portrait"; Florence Jordan an amusing portrait in "Kittens," and Ramon Froman a stunning portrait of a sailor in "Norman."

The catalog unfortunately has a misprint in its listing of the jury. The jury of selection was made up of Adam Emory Albright, Richard A. Chase, and Winifred Pleimling.

The Arts club, Wrigley building, has for its first show of the season exhibits by two men. The exhibition opened last Friday to continue thru the month and presents the work of Hans Hofmann and Enrico Donati.

One of the most attractive of the annual exhibits opened last Wednesday in the Club Woman's bureau, Mandel Brothers. The Chicago Society of Etchers is presenting its eighth annual exhibition of miniature etchings and its 35th annual exhibition of etchings. This is the exhibit which invariably was one of the most successful held each year in the print rooms of the Art institute under the late Mrs. Bertha E. Jacques. When the etching show left the institute it went first to the Roullier galleries and later to the Club Woman's bureau. The miniature etching show is entirely the child of the Club Woman's bureau. Mrs. Purvin, in charge of the bureau, has had the pleasure of having her idea of miniature etchings copied in several important eastern cities. It is an immensely popular exhibit wherever it is attempted.

The etching exhibition will continue thru Nov. 30 and is a positive must. This year there are many fine prints in the show, tho, due to war conditions, the prints from abroad are few.

The Findlay Galleries are opening a particularly stunning exhibit tomorrow of recent paintings by Hovsep Pushman. Pushman's work is too well known to need any introduction and the current paintings are Pushman at his best. They are gorgeous in color and subtle. They have atmosphere and a persuasive, intangible charm, partly due to their subject matter but more to the artist's uncanny, exquisite technique. Pushman is a master craftsman. His exhibit is one no one should miss.

The Art institute has plans under way for a magnificent and unusual exhibit to open in the east wing galleries on Nov. 16. The exhibition will be called "Art of the United Nations," and each of the 37 countries involved will be represented by one superb work of art. The setting for the exhibition will be delightfully different and we shall find various masterpieces installed against backgrounds of garden, running water, and cacti. The United States will be represented by the "Portrait of Mrs. Richard Yates" by Gilbert Stuart, the first work ever lent by the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C. The story is told that it is considered of such value that the assistant director of the National gallery brought it to Chicago with him in his drawing room on the train.

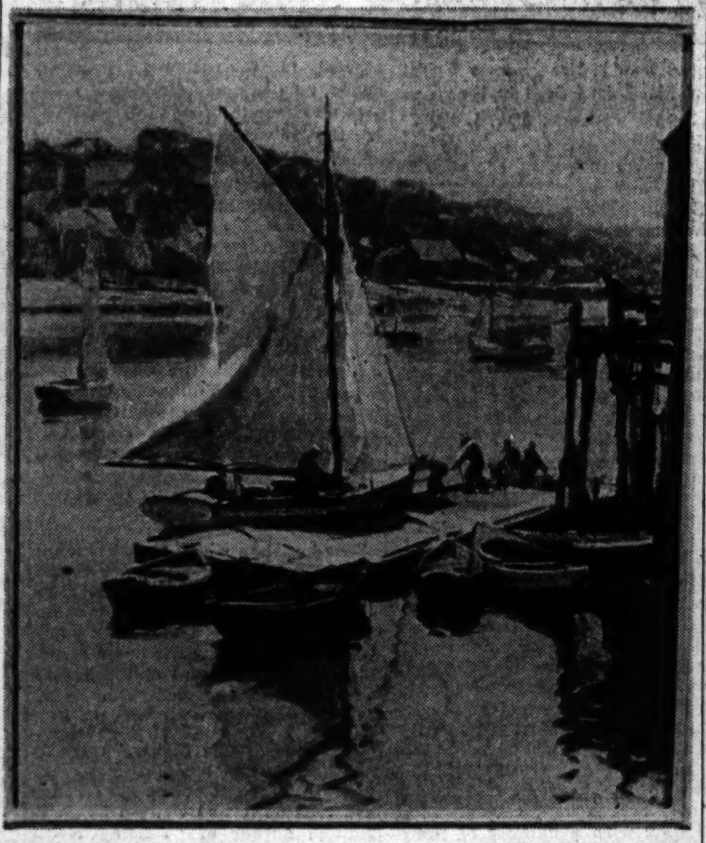
The Renaissance society of the University of Chicago opens an exhibit today of water colors and drawings by Lyonel Feininger, who, in 1906, while living abroad, became a cartoonist for THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE, drawing two pages of comics weekly: "The Kin-der-Kids" and "Wee Willie Winkie's World." Feininger began his career as a musician but has been for many years a noted painter. He is an American, altho he spent nearly 50 years in Germany, being considered one of the most able modernists before Hitler labeled him and his group as "degenerate" painters. The exhibit will continue thru Nov. 29.

"SAILING PARTY" BY EMILE GRUPPE



Emile Gruppe is showing a superb group of boat paintings and Vermont landscapes in a stunning one-man exhibit at the Findlay Galleries, S. Michigan av. at Van Buren st.

Railway Women to Sponsor Talk by Woman Author

Mrs. Bertita Harding.

The story of "Mexico, the Lady Next Door" will be told by Mrs. Bertita Harding, writer of historical novels and biographies, when she makes a lecture appearance here at 8 o'clock Monday night, Nov. 13, under auspices of the Railway Business Woman's Association of Chicago. Open to the public, the program will be presented in Kimball hall, 306 S. Wabash av. Miss Ann Koch, 870 W. Nelson st., is in charge of ticket reservations.

Mexico City was Mrs. Harding's childhood home, and she spends several months in Mexico each year for what she terms an ideal vacation—a combination of loafing and writing. Her favorite hideaway is a thatched hut which she rents in Acapulco. Among Mrs. Harding's best known books are "Amazon Throne," "Phanton Crown," and "Farewell, 'Toinette." When recently Mrs. Harding returned from one of her sojourns in Mexico she launched into a bond selling tour in this state. Within two days of campaigning in Peoria, Evanston, and Chicago she amazed the treasury with a report of $2,000,000 of bonds sold.

Beg Your Pardon

In the pages portraying winning entries in THE TRIBUNE's American Fashions competition, in today's Picture section, the designer of the white crepe dinner gown should have been identified as Mme. Paul Madoc, 107 E. 35th st., New York, N. Y. A $50 prize was awarded for this model.

State Groups Plan Sessions During Week

When members of the Chicago Society of Ohio Women gather at 1 o'clock Wednesday in the Sherman hotel they will have as guest speaker Dr. John Evans, Chicago Tribune editor of religion and education. The program will be shared by Mrs. Alonzo Newton Benn, whose biographical sketch of her great-grandmother, Violetta Field, will be illustrated with laces and shawls of the by-gone era. Mrs. Ben Lease will preside at the meeting, which is to be followed by a tea and social hour.

Another state group, the Daughters of Indiana, will hold its first fall round table at a noon luncheon session Tuesday in the Cordon. The round table chairman, Mrs. Arthur L. Eller, will introduce as principal speaker Mrs. Hugh Rodman, whose topic will be "Russia as I know It." Mrs. Rodman returned to this country at the outbreak of war with her husband, who was an engineer in Russia. At the club's regular 2 o'clock session Mrs. Lester Holt, a graduate of the University of Illinois school of journalism, will talk on "Culinary Journals, Past and Present." Mrs. John E. Condren will preside.

To raise money for their war service activities, Wisconsin Women of Chicagoland will have a noon luncheon and card party Monday, Nov. 13, in the home of the war service chairman, Mrs. Frank Rasmussen of 7032 Calumet av. Under Mrs. Rasmussen's leadership the club has rolled up a record of 663 hours of motor corps driving, two years of bandage rolling for the American Red Cross, and for the last two years has been making weekly contributions of bakery goods to the Chicago Service Men's centers.

Another war service benefit, a card party and tea, will be given Thursday at the Cordon by the Chicago Colony of the National Society of New England Women. Mrs. Bert W. Crissey of Oak Park is in charge of the party, which will swell the colony's fund for books, musical instruments, and musical instruction for wounded soldiers in military hospitals.

WEDS TONIGHT

Miss Gloria Ann Abrams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Abrams of Lake Shore dr., will be married tonight to Lt. J. Robert Cohl of the army air forces. Miss Abrams attended the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Lt. Cohl, a graduate of the University of Michigan, is the son of Mrs. Edith F. Cohl of the Edgewater Beach hotel and of the late Henry Cohl of Detroit.

State Temple Sisterhood Holds Officer Election

Mrs. Arthur Buchband of Chicago was named president of the Illinois State Federation of Temple Sisterhoods at the organization's recent convention held at the Blackstone hotel. She succeeds Mrs. Harry J. Iverson of Chicago, who headed the state group for a three year period. Other new officers elected at the meeting were Mrs. Jack Graff, also of Chicago, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Sidney Case of Kankakee, 2d vice president. Mrs. Benjamin S. Gasul of Chicago, recording secretary, will continue in her office for another term, as will Mrs. Morris Resnick of Oak Park, treasurer, and Mrs. Allan Loeb and Mrs. Herman S. Ochs of Bloomington, vice presidents.

Rosary College Alumnae Plan Special Meet

Mrs. F. J. Blanchfield. [Stone-Raymor Photo.]

Several gatherings of interest to college and university groups are marked on this week's calendar. In lieu of the annual homecoming for alumnae of Rosary college in River Forest, canceled this year in compliance with war travel restrictions, Chicago chapter of the Rosary Alumnae association has invited all alumnae members to its November meeting, which is to be held today at the college. It is under Mrs. F. J. Blanchfield's direction that the assembly has been planned. Miss Mary Katherine Gorman is co-chairman, and Miss Dorothy Sheahan of River Forest and Mrs. Mary McKeene Patton of Chicago are in charge of reservations.

The program will be opened with 10 o'clock mass in the college chapel, and there will be a late breakfast afterward and a short business session. Speakers at the meeting will include Mrs. Catherine Sheahan Clark, Chicago chapter president; Sister Thomas Aquinas, alumnae moderator; Sister Mary Peter, president of the college, and Sister Mary George, college dean. The college faculty will entertain the alumnae at a tea from 3:30 until 5 o'clock.

As a "warmer-up" for an "Information Please" program the Chicago College club has planned for Dec. 27, members will engage in an informal interchange of questions and answers at a noon luncheon Friday at the club. To lend impetus to the verbal contestants, Mrs. Henry C. Brummel, sponsor of the luncheon program, has announced that prizes are to be awarded winning participants. Mrs. Thomas J. Dee will assist Mrs. Brummel as hostess.

The club's civics committee has invited Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the Chicago Housing authority, to speak at a noon luncheon the following day. Her topic will be "Housing." Miss Mabel Shapcott and Miss Emma Wells will be hostesses at the latter gathering.

Harland H. Allen, economist and president of the American Council of Soviet Friendship in Chicago, will be the special dinner guest and lecturer at a meeting of the Professional Pan-Hellenic association at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday in Huyler's restaurant. His talk will be on "The Business Man's Stake in American-soviet Friendship." The association is comprised of sororities representing the professions of commerce, law, music, physical education, pharmacy, and speech arts.

Members of Pi Alpha chapter of Phi Beta, national music fraternity, are planning to be out in full force for Friday night, Nov. 17, for the performance of "Rigoletto" at the Civic Opera house. The group will meet beforehand for dinner at the Bismarck Coffee shop. Mrs. David Donley is chairman for the party.

More than 500 Zeta Tau Alphas of the Chicago area have been invited to a 3 o'clock tea today at the Northwestern university chapter house in Evanston, where Mrs. George A. Fitch will speak in behalf of the fraternity's Chinese scholarship fund. Mrs. Fitch, who was in China from 1922 until 1937, is on a lecture tour of the United States. She was a member of the Chinese delegation to the Pan-Pacific conference in Honolulu in 1930 and a past president of the American Association of University Women in Shanghai.

Contributions received at the tea will assist the fraternity in its war service project of providing a deserving Chinese girl with funds to attend Ginling college.

Among special guests at the party will be Mrs. A. F. Hillix of Chicago, former national president of the fraternity; Mrs. Louis Brecht of Evanston, national secretary-treasurer, and Miss Edith Ann Elliott, national committee member. The committee in charge includes Miss Annette Peterson, Mrs. William Tighe, Mrs. Gerald C. Telling, Miss Ethel Frisk, Mrs. H. H. Tatro, and Mrs. S. C. Walker.

Cohen Heart Fund Dinner Dance to Be Held on Nov. 19

Preparations already are well under way for the 10th annual dinner dance of the Benjamin and Julius Cohen Heart Fund club, which has been set for 6:30 o'clock Sunday night, Nov. 19, at the Covenant club. Mrs. Jack M. Cohen is chairman for the party, proceeds from which will go into the club's fund for assistance of those with cardiac ailments.

The Chicago Have a Heart Charities has announced the reelection of Mrs. L. W. Budd to the office of presidency. Officers serving with Mrs. Budd include Mrs. Cornelius Vandervoort, Mrs. S. H. Brezin, and Mrs. P. G. Jacobs, vice presidents; Mrs. Nuemon Katz, treasurer; Miss Bernice Brooks, recording secretary, and Mrs. John J. Walsh, corresponding secretary.

First Resort in Phoenix Area Built by Briton

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

That corner of a foreign field, where Rupert Brooke died and which is forever England, has a counterpart in the Salt river valley.

Back in 1883, in the morning of his life, a pioneer of faith and courage stood atop Camelback mountain and gazed across the desert. His eye traced the course of the river and a vision unfolded before him, a vision of green groves and habitation.

His name was William Murphy. He died unsung some years ago, but he left as strong an imprint upon the life of the southwest as any pioneer in its truculent history. And his enduring contribution may have been the greatest; the work of the builder is less romantic but more arduous than that of the trail-blazer.

William Murphy, an Englishman, started the first commercial citrus groves in Arizona, out in the vicinity of what is now Scottsdale. He brought verdant shade to Phoenix. The great ash trees along north Central avenue are there today because of Mr. Murphy's devotion; he watered them by the primitive expedient of draying river water to them in barrels. Out on Indian school road he built himself an English style home, surrounded by orange groves.

By the fireside of that home Mr. Murphy and some visiting compatriots dreamed up the first resort in the valley. Thirty years ago the home became that resort, Ingleside inn, "where summer winters."

Britons initially composed most of the Ingleside inn's clientele. But in recent years American sun-soakers have found a welcome retreat in the inn's quiet bungalows, citrus groves, and comfortable resort living, many of them coming back year after year.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Louis have returned to Evanston this week after a 10 day sojourn in Phoenix during which time they opened their winter home on Lafayette blvd., out in the Arcadia district. Their house guests during their brief visit were Mrs. Alfred Taylor and Mrs. Stanley Peirce of Glencoe.

John J. Louis Jr., training to be a fighter pilot at Marana army air field near Tucson, visited his parents while they were here, and will continue week-ending at their home in their absence, accompanied by some of his comrades-at-arms. His brothers, Tim and Michael, will return with Mr. and Mrs. Louis for a family reunion at Christmas, the first such occasion in two years. Tim is at Deerfield academy, and Michael is in school in Evanston.

Mr. Louis has recently become owner of the six-station network of the Arizona Broadcasting company and expects to spend considerable time in the state this winter. Col. and Mrs. Charles Henkle of Highland Park, staying at the Jokake, were dinner guests at the Louis home last week. Other friends, Mr. and Mrs. John McPherrin, formerly of Evanston and now of New York, are arriving at Jokake this week.

Mrs. Edward Loomis Bowes, who with Mr. Bowes was one of the first Chicagoans to build a home in Arcadia, returned this week from a month's visit with her cousin, Miss Margaret Ullman, in Winnetka.

Private education in the Valley of the Sun continues to attract Chicago families. The Judson school, two miles east of the Camelback inn, has among its students George Arthur Greenwood, son of the A. F. Greenwoods of Wilmette; David Baker Jenner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Jenner of Winnetka; John Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Mills of St. Charles; Lauren Wayne Faulkner Jr., son of the Lauren Faulkners of Evanston, and Stewart Nichol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stewart Nichol of St. Charles.

George A. Judson, well known in private school education, is director of the school, from which several dozen Chicago alumni have graduated in the last decade. Mr. Judson's son, George Jr., formerly on his father's staff as athletic instructor, is now in the guest ranch business, operating Paradise valley ranch.

"A big house party" is the way the young Mrs. Judson characterizes their popular guest ranch. Near the base of Squaw Peak, the Paradise valley ranch is an intimate and informal establishment with maximum capacity of 18 guests. Of Pueblo style architecture and almost buried in bougainvillea, the ranch is 15 miles from Phoenix and is well surrounded by mountains, save on the east, in which direction the Judsons and their guests have a beautiful vista across Paradise valley. They have their own string of cow ponies, and their homey, friendly ranch atmosphere is unsurpassed.

Early arrivals at the Camelback inn, scheduled to open November 18, will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bauman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Crosby, and Paul Galvin, all of Chicago.

The Arizona Biltmore, for 15 years under the able management of Harry Boyle, will open on December 15 this year. The famed resort hotel, 10 miles northeast of Phoenix, boasts every conceivable facility for the vacationist, making the resort one of the nation's finest. First run movies nightly, together with regular bingo games for the guests, are being featured at the Biltmore again this year.

At the Westward Ho in downtown Phoenix are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Gallagher of Northbrook. Reservations for this month from Chicago include Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Root, Mrs. Milton Tauber, Mrs. Mabel K. Meyer, Mrs. Sigrid M. Bjork, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer F. Deneke, Mrs. Mildred D'Ancona, Mrs. M. H. Cearn, and Mrs. Samuel Penner.

Mrs. Nora M. Carney of Lake Forest, who will spend her 15th winter at the Arizona Biltmore, is arriving at the Westward Ho shortly, to stay there until the Biltmore's opening.

Ration Words in Correcting the Children

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Perhaps sometimes it seems to you who have children that the ideas or sentiments expressed in the daily articles in this column expect a lot of you in relation to your children. I'm sure that sometimes you must think, "I can't always be looking inward when the children are difficult or impossible, or when there's constant friction, to see if there's something I've done that is responsible."

I realize very well that you can't be responsible for everything that happens between you and your children, for their every act, and for each facet of their personality. I know that heredity has a finger in the pie. Also I know that you can't control every influence that plays upon your child from without.

But we are responsible so largely for the way our children develop, that it's good for us [and for them] to get into the way of wondering, "Where have I made a mistake?" when there's friction or chronically undesirable behavior. So from time to time, I try to help mothers and fathers to look inward for the origins of trouble. Today's angle is to be on the subject of our talking too much.

Just because we are parents; because children have so much to learn; because they make so many mistakes, and because we have to watch over them and direct them, we do a lot of talking necessarily. Perhaps this is the reason why it is so easy for mothers, particularly those who are with their children all day long, to talk too much.

I am sure there are lots of little children, who, if they had that kind of awareness, would feel like saying a dozen times a day, "O, mother, please don't talk all the time!" I am sure there are lots of our older sons and daughters, who, if they did not think it would be rude, would often want to say, "O, mother, please don't talk all the time." Being children they don't say these things.

To begin with, we all give our children directions about what to do and how to do things a good deal of the time. We need to. But instead of letting it go at that, we often get into the habit of actually deluging them with directions, when they are quite capable of doing the thing alone, with only the normal number of mistakes—mistakes which it is part of their experience to make. Instead of doing this, we should let them alone just as much as we possibly can.

When reproving a child, even with good nature, we are apt to repeat ourselves unnecessarily. In scolding a child we are very apt to go "on and on, and on," long after we have covered the subject completely.

Now let's see what some of the practical objections are to these excesses of talking:

In the first place, when you keep talking beyond a certain point, you spoil the effectiveness of what you have already said.

In the second place, if you keep talking you are apt to say too much, and in doing so you find that you often have magnified a simple thing.

In the third place, if you get into this habit of talking, and talking, and talking, your children are pretty sure to become what we can best describe as "mother deaf."

Daughters of Union Vets to Convene Here

An all-day conference will be held tomorrow, beginning at 9:45 o'clock, by Chicago and Cook County Consolidated Districts 1 and 2 of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war. Highlighting the assembly, which is to be conducted in G. A. R. Memorial hall, in the Chicago Public library, will be reports of member group presidents, and a question and answer period under the direction of Mrs. Edith Mitchell, department inspector. Among special guests to be welcomed by Mrs. Mitchell, who heads the district organization, will be Mrs. Lillian Pombert, department president.

At 10:15 o'clock Friday morning, 4th division Americanism and national defense committees of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will have a joint session in Carson Pirie Scott's tearoom, and a regents' round table is scheduled directly after the luncheon hour.

Mrs. Dan Pagenta, Americanism director for the division, will introduce as her speaker, Mrs. Charles A. Herfurth of Centralia, who will discuss citizenship education of the foreign born. Mrs. Herfurth is state Americanism chairman.

Mrs. Robert M. Beak's national defense committee will have as guest speaker Mrs. T. H. Ludlow, child welfare chairman of the Illinois League of Women Voters, who will talk on adoption laws in Illinois which she terms as "so inadequate that this state is rapidly becoming a 'Reno' for adoptions." Added to patriotic activities sponsored by Mrs. Beak's group is the distribution of medals to high school boys making outstanding records in the reserve officers training corps.

St. Anne's Parent Nurses Schedule Wednesday Benefit

See how science can help the face and throat regain youth

Have you tried ENDOCREME? The 7-year-tested, scientific face cream that aids most women to get back youthful texture and beauty in the skin of face and throat! That actually helps improve the skin itself, not just its superficial appearance! That for many thousands is how achieving results hitherto thought impossible! ENDOCREME . . . and no other face cream . . . contains ACTIVOL. Precious ACTIVOL is the laboratory counterpart of a natural, skin-vitalizing substance. When you apply ENDOCREME, it is absorbed beneath the skin's surface to rebuild cells and tissues, to assist the skin to regain its youthful freshness, firmness, "aliveness" and allure. What better results can one get for her cosmetic dollar? Why not see what ENDOCREME can do for you? Many report exceptional results in only 30 days.

Lady of the House

It had been one of those soft, sunny, almost sultry, October afternoons; a sort of balm as of drying herb gardens in the air. Here and there bright sequins still twinkled against the soberer gold of elms and maples.

Unexpectedly there was a little stir and soft whisperings like birds calling gently to each other in summer dusk. Immediately it grew into the most excited chatter as a chill wind swooped out of the north, driving scowling clouds before it; and at once we were engulfed in a furiously whirling golden snow. The bright flakes rushed in crowds over the lawns and down the street; then broke into chattering, dancing flocks as if taking counsel with each other in the momentary lull, only to hurry together again for mutual comfort.

The weeping willow, weaving its long green strands into soft skeins, swept the frantic leaves to the shelter of the hedges, while their hardier mates, clinging stubbornly to their branches, motioned anxiously for them to return. But they were too spent and snuggled against the protecting walls and hedges, as the blustering wind swept on to further mischief.

The air grew cold and a wintry blue shone where the frowning clouds had been. November was on his way in.

It was in a decidedly November mood [heightened by a "tech of the misery"] that I browsed among the "random notes" of a treasured old volume. As I searched the columns with jaundiced eye, a wee, thin, gray spider sedately crawled over the tattered edges and worked her way down the margin, steering a fair course with four legs on her left side, but only two on the right.

I took the hint, got up, gave my right leg a couple of shakes, and went to work . . . .

Here is Ora Todd King with a fitting—

Prelude to Winter.

I hear the wind playing the tonic chord of C Major in the leaves of the poplars and oaks. By one brief stroke of time the pattern of life is changed. The music is almost drowned in the raucous call of the colorful grackles. Some will fall in their flight.

The earth and all therein shall sleep, safe and warm, for a little while and there will be no discordant notes.

I am glad I can hear the music.

To celebrate a friend's return to home life, after several years in a sanatorium, Helen Mertis Lange has this wish—

For Katrinka's New Home.

Fasten the latch and stop the bell.
Here is a gladness not to share,
And a joy too much to tell.
Here is the fact of cupboard and chair,
And poems of silver and glass
That are long dreams come real,
And yet those very dreams surpass.
Here let the unbelieving fingers feel
What things enchant the sight,
What, hushed, the heart holds tight.

Let the gate stand wide
And the door be open, too,
To ask all friendliness inside.
Then put the tea to brew,
And set a table in the light,
With cakes and golden bread,
Where laughter may spill bright
And hearts as well be fed.

As Helen Virden walks thru the woods of Riverside farm, she finds a—

Winter Pick-Up.

I feel depressed each time I walk
Thru woods that are too still.
I miss the gay, bright colored birds
Whose happy throat would spill
A wealth of song into the air
Each sunny summer day;
But with the first return of cold,
They made their getaway.

God must have known how trees would feel
Without a melody,
Because I hear against the still
A gallant chickadee.

Molly Johnson calls for an—

Encore!

Earth has earned, and now she rests.
All summer we have been her guests
And filled our hands to brimming o'er
With fruits of paradisaic store.

Returning back to sod its leaves
And replanting all the unplucked seeds,
She calls farewell with tired mouth
To entertainers winging south.

When sullen March has spent its wrath,
And moody April cleared your path,
And spring writes "welcome" on your floor,
Please, blue-eyed earth, come back once more!

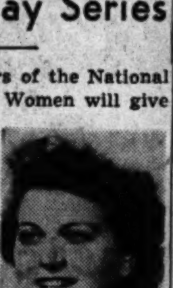
Council of Jewish Women Schedules Wednesday Series



Mrs. Charles Levin. [De Haven Photo.]

Chicago members of the National Council of Jewish Women will give their attention to elements entering into post-war negotiations between nations when they gather Wednesday afternoon in council headquarters at 185 N. Wabash av. They will hear a talk on "A People's Peace" by the vice president of the organization, Mrs. Charles Levin. Mrs. William H. Sahud will preside.

Mrs. Levin, as director of programs, has had the task of compressing the organization's four part program, covering international relations and peace, national affairs, contemporary Jewish affairs, and book talks, into a schedule to conform to the busy life of women engaged in manifold war service. Her solution is a new schedule of Wednesday lectures and forums.

The council's newly organized drama group, of which Mrs. Henry Siegel is chairman, will meet at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, with Viola Roth Mandel as coach. The Career group will hear a talk on "Democracy As It Operates in Russia" by Rue Menken at a tea at 2:30 o'clock today at the home of Miss Natalie Zeidman, 1220 Sherwin av.

Organization's Booths Give Voting Information

Information booths on voting procedures established last week by the Cook County League of Women Voters in downtown department stores, railroad stations, banks, theaters, and stores in outlying districts will remain open tomorrow for the convenience of voters. The booths are manned by trained personnel prepared to answer questions on election laws, senatorial and congressional districts, mechanics of voting, and offices to be filled at Tuesday's election.

Museum to Begin New Series of Lectures Today

Oriental types which thousands of young Americans are seeing for the first time will be brought into focus for the home folk by Paul G. Dallwig when he begins his new Sunday series of dramatized lectures today at the Chicago Natural History [formerly Field] museum. Mr. Dallwig, known as the layman lecturer, gives his opening program the title, "Those Interesting Asiatics and Pacific Islanders."

Because the audience must be limited to 100 persons, Orr Goodson, acting director of the museum, suggests all persons wishing to attend make their reservations several weeks in advance. The Dallwig programs, free to the public, are directed to adults; children cannot be accommodated. Thruout November Mr. Dallwig will give the same lecture. Next month he will repeat one of the most popular in his repertoire, "Mysterious Night-Riders of the Sky," which deals with meteors and meteorites and is presented as an imaginary trip to the moon. The programs are set an hour later this season, beginning at 3 o'clock and ending at 4:45.

Grace Shortley Wed Sept. 11 to Ernst R. Baird

Mrs. Ernst R. Baird.

In a ceremony Sept. 11 in the Thorndike Hilton chapel on the University of Chicago campus, Miss Grace Shortley of Kenwood av., daughter of Mrs. Joseph Rossepf of Minneapolis, became the bride of Ernst R. Baird, son of Mrs. Evelyn Baird of Bennett av. A reception in the cloisters adjoining the chapel followed the ceremony, which took place on the 38th wedding anniversary of Mr. Baird's parents. Both Mr. Baird and his bride are graduates of the University of Chicago. They are making their home here.

Renaissance Tea Today Will Open an Art Exhibit

Members of the Renaissance society of the University of Chicago will gather at a 3 o'clock tea today in Goodspeed hall, 1010 E. 59th st., which was arranged to open an exhibit of 53 water colors and drawings by Lyonel Feininger. The exhibit was procured from the Buchholz gallery in New York by Mrs. Fred Biesel [Frances Strain], vice president and program chairman of the university group. Feininger, altho he was born in America, lived for most of his life in Germany, first as a student and later, from 1919 to 1934, as instructor in painting and the graphic arts in the Bauhaus, which closed under the Nazi regime. He returned to America and is now living in New York.

Mrs. Ralph A. Beals heads the committee for the opening tea and she is assisted by Mrs. E. O. Jordan, Mrs. Gerald Smith, Mrs. George Shambaugh Jr., and Mrs. E. C. Colwell. The exhibit will be open to the public thru Nov. 29.

Gold Star Mothers Plan Armistice Day Luncheon

The Gold Star Mothers' club has invited Gold Star mothers both of this and the last World war to gather with club members for their annual Armistice day luncheon at noon Saturday in the Morrison hotel. Mrs. Alfreda Lawrence of 2461 Lincoln av. is in charge of reservations.

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

Illinois Park in Fall Colors a Near-By Lure.

By Mildred Peterson.

MOUNT MORRIS, Ill. [Special]. —Of all the 32 Illinois state owned recreation areas, White Pines Forest state park, south of Rockford and north of Oregon, is the nearest approach to the forest primeval. While developing the park for the convenience of visitors, park authorities have preserved carefully its native charm and protected the virgin pine stand, the southernmost of its kind in the midle west. If it's a back to nature, quiet, restful fall vacation you're looking for, then here's your spot, beautiful in its autumnal colorings.

Early Ogle county settlers found this forest along the east bank of Pine creek extending back a quarter of a mile and covering an area of 700 acres. It was with a view toward preserving Illinois' last stand of white pines for future generations that a move to set aside the area as a state park was started in the early part of the 20th century. In 1927, 315 acres of the forest were acquired as a unit of the state park system.

Here many miles of foot trails course picturesque areas thru the pine stand and along the crest of the bluff in the west end of the park. Large shelters, open fireplaces, and picnic tables are provided for your enjoyment. In one end of the new park lodge is a beautiful lounge with colorful decorations in an Indian motif, while the other wing houses a dining room. Thirteen one room log cabins and three four room cabins, fully equipped, are available for overnight visitors. The lodge will remain open during the fall and perhaps longer, since it is equipped for year 'round occupancy.

Situated on an elevation above Pink creek, most of this park is an ideal habitat for the evergreen. Moss covered cliffs, decorated with trailing vines in their autumn colorings, mingled with a sprinkling of hardwoods form a fit accompaniment for the stately pines.

The services of a full time naturalist adds greatly to the value and interest of this park.

Fashions

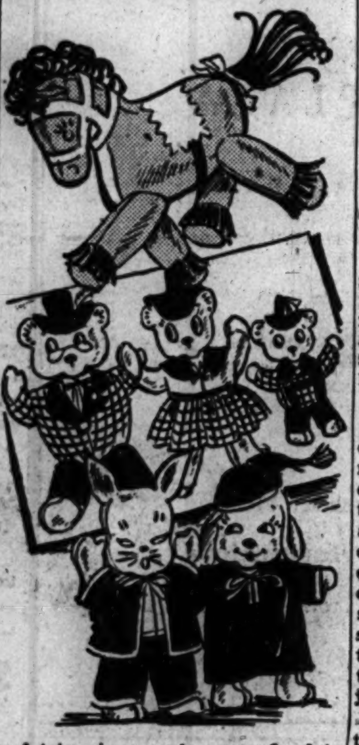
It isn't premature to talk about Christmas gifts and attendant shopping. However, if children's toys and dolls are on the list, be sure to get an early start by making them. There is an exciting group of dolls and animals which are sold in imposing packages, inexpensively priced, considering all the materials and trimmings, and are confined to one small box.



A rakish looking red bronco may be whipped up in the twinkling of an eye, complete with felt saddle, trappings, and fetlocks. Curly cotton is included for the flowing mane and tail, and a large and completely detailed chart is inclosed to lead the uninitiated thru the simple stages of sewing.

A thoroly devastating group in this collection is the family of the three bears. The vivid checked percales of the outfits are accented with bright felt hats, collars, and leggings. The three animals are included in one package.

The youngster who takes his toys to bed will be enhanced with two cuddly companions, a soft bunny, and his pal, the pup. The bodies are of a durable white material, and their costumes are of red and blue.

Home Owners' Queries

Racine, Wis. [To the Home Owners' Editor].—Is there any danger that sulphur candles, used in a finished attic, can affect wall paper or fabric colors?—Mrs. Ted A.

Answer: Yes. Protect your furnishings as far as possible. Sulphur fumes also can tarnish bright metals.

Chicago. [To the Home Owners' Editor].—We want to repaint the walls in a couple of rooms. The old paint is badly cracked and peeling. Should it be removed, and what is best to use for the work?—Gladys B.

Answer: Better use a good grade paint and varnish remover and follow directions carefully.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	4 spades	Pass
5 spades	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead, queen of hearts.

For the next few days we will discuss the bidding of slams on a common sense basis. In no department of the game have so many false doctrines or superstitions crept in. The average player looks upon slam bidding as some mysterious procedure entirely distinct from contract bidding as a whole. This is very unsound. It is my impression that slams should be bid in very much the same way that games are contracted for. A slam in spades is just a game with two over-tricks.

Many players have the feeling that they must engage in a great amount of ceremony before contracting a slam. All the mechanical devices for ascertaining the number of aces and kings are generally employed and by the time they have reached this point nobody seems to know whether they can make the slam or not. It is a much better policy to bid a slam when you think you can take 12 tricks, with this important proviso, be quite sure that the opponents cannot peel off two fast tricks against you.

During these discussions we shall take up the various artificial slam conventions, but it is my desire to point out very emphatically that aces and kings alone do not make a slam. Slams should not be contemplated unless there is a very good "spot" to play the hand.

Then again, the key to a slam may not be only an ace or king, but a singleton in a suit of which the opponents have all the honors. Take today's hand, for example. South's hand is not much over a minimum, yet by close attention to North's bidding South is able to calculate that a slam is very profitable. He knows that there are no trump losers, that his king of diamonds should solidify that suit and partner's club bid in conjunction with his other strong bids makes it clear that he has control of that suit. The only worry, therefore, is the loss of two heart tricks. This he knows is out of the question, because North must have a singleton heart.

At this point I should like to suggest a bidding rule which is based strictly on common sense. When a player mentions three suits and includes a jump, he promises a singleton in the fourth suit. North has mentioned diamonds, clubs, and spades [including a jump from three diamonds to four spades], therefore, guarantees a singleton heart. If North's hand had been one less diamond and one more heart he could haye mentioned three suits.

From South's standpoint, had he held the king of hearts instead of the king of diamonds, he would have made no further bids because he would realize that the king of hearts was a useless card.

Thanksgiving Menu Plans Given Today

By Mary Meade.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

It's time to invite the guests and plan the menu for Thanksgiving dinner. We want our meal festive in a subdued way, for many of those who should be dining with us will be at war fronts all over the world, and some will not return. We want our absent soldiers to think of us at the family table as of old, observing this traditional holiday with our thoughts on them, and with the hope that by another Thanksgiving most of them will be back to share the meal with us.

These menus take into consideration the fact that we'll not have the usual butter and sugar to cook with, and little or none for the table itself.

Thanksgiving Dinner Menus.

I.

Cranberry Juice Cocktail, Sweetened with Honey or Sirup
Roast Duck or Goose with Apple and Celery Stuffing
Scalloped Potatoes
Broccoli with Margarine
Hot Muffins, Margarine
Homemade Jelly, Pickles
Orange and Avocado Salad, French Dressing
Brie or Camembert with Toasted Crackers
Fresh Fruit and Nuts
Coffee

II.

Fresh Fruit Cup with Mint Garnish
Roast Turkey or Chicken, Chestnut Stuffing
Mashed Potatoes, Giblet Gravy
Honey Glazed Onions Parsley Carrots
Celery Hearts, Olives, Cottage Cheese with Caraway
Homemade Cinnamon Rolls with Margarine
Sliced Tomato and Chicory Salad, French Dressing
Honey Pumpkin Pie
Coffee

III.

Broiled Grapefruit Halves, Maraschino Cherry Garnish
Roast Duck or Baked Ham with Raisin and Orange Sauce
Fluffy Rice
Fresh Peas or Green Beans with Mushrooms and Onion
Radishes, Carrot Curls, Celery
Spiced Muffins, Margarine
Fresh Pear and Watercress Salad
Small Pieces of Mince Pie with Honey-Rum Sauce
Coffee Nuts

IV.

Jellied Consomme with Lemon and Cheese Wafers
Roast Chicken with Onion and Sage Stuffing, Giblet Gravy
Baked Sweet Potatoes
Frozen Asparagus with Slivered Toasted Almonds
Parkerhouse Rolls, Margarine

Booklets which may help with Thanksgiving dinner cookery include Better Homemade Breads and Rolls 23 cents, by mail; Make It with Honey, 7 cents; Holiday Cookies and Fruit Cakes, 5 cents; Perfect Homemade Pies, 5 cents. Cooking with Wines and Spirits, 5 cents. These may be ordered from me, in care of the Tribune, or may be picked up in person at one of the public service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or Tribune Tower lobby. There's a saving of several cents on each booklet when they're picked up.

I have mimeographed recipes for the preparation of holiday turkey, duck, goose, and chicken, including several different stuffings. There is no charge for these. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

Adrian's New Creations Are Sheer Drama

By Rea Seeger.

Any Adrian collection of American clothes designed expressly for American women assures high drama each season. Each collection surpasses the one preceding it, a sure test of his inimitable genius. Fabrics are excitingly new. Subtle colors, brilliant hues, or the neutrals are expressively used in just the right costume, another proof of his superior talents. His suits, coats, and day time dresses are still tops, still sleek flattery for the American figure.

This winter marks the return of the full skirted, floor length evening gowns and sheath-slim dinner clothes that also reach the floor. They are sensationally beautiful gowns that will dramatize any personality. Drapery and detail as only Adrian can manage make them reminiscent of pre-war costumes, creations of great and lasting charm, the sort of clothes that are designed once in a decade, clothes that assure an unforgettable impression.

Those wide shoulders are part of each Adrian original suit, coat dress, or gown. The long, svelte silhouettes of the new dinner gowns have them so as to accentuate properly the rest of the costume. Dress suits of 1944 flaunt the wide and dashing shoulders as do the many stunning three piece, town, and spectator sports suits.

Deceptively simple day time dresses also are shouldered with this signature. Otherwise the silhouette is straight and slim, with telling details, such as flying bands fastened from shoulder to belt or even swinging free from under the belt to the hem.

But Adrian dinner clothes are the most dramatic, this year especially. Altho the sleeves are short for the wearing of long gloves, the neck lines are sensationally flattering, discreetly low, and the gown silhouette one of moulded perfection. Huge bows or taffeta drapery are used with dull crepe, and one gown had a double ruche of frayed taffeta from shoulder line to hem line down the extreme right side of the back.

Sketched are four new Adrian originals, all presented in the famous St. Luke's fashion show held recently in Chicago. All are part of a large Adrian collection featured exclusively in a Chicago store. For further information call Superior 0200.

Splendid Cough Relief Is Easily Mixed at Home

No Cooking. Makes Big Saving.

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your kitchen. Once tried, you'll never be without it.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you sleep. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

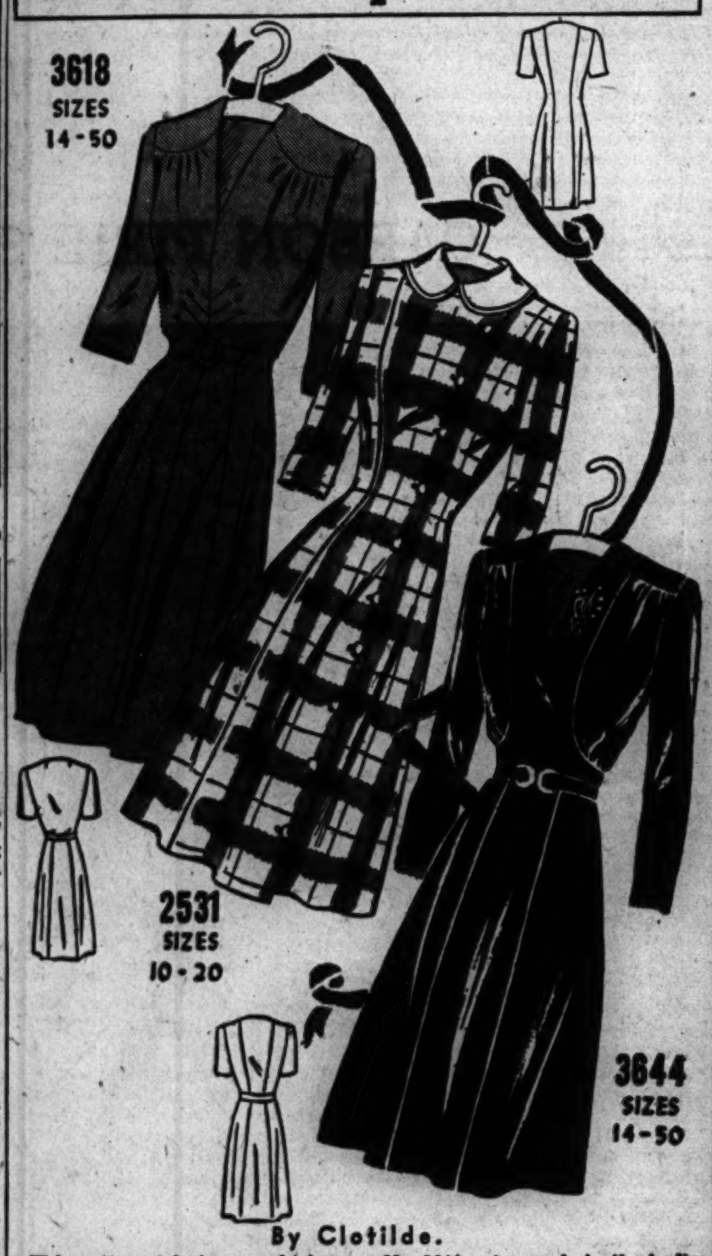
Patterns by Clotilde



By Clotilde.

This pattern trio is one which assures basic wardrobe fashion. Given two different and utterly simple and distinctive afternoon dresses and a softly tailored model, any woman can be perfectly dressed for all occasions, social or business.

No. 3618 places bodice shirring beneath a curved shoulder yoke. Darts call attention to the lines of the waist, and paneling gives the skirt beautiful draping.

No. 2531, with its side buttoning and "little girl" collar, is figure-molding and crisp in line. It's ideal for checked woolens.

No. 3644 puts panels in the bodice and keeps the skirt slim. This frock is a grand background for costume jewelry.

Style No. 3618 is designed for sizes 14 to 50. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

Style No. 2531 is designed for sizes 10 to 20. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39 inch fabric with ¼ yard contrasting for collar.

Style No. 3644 is designed for sizes 14 to 50. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

Thru the Looking Glass

It seems to us that there isn't enough emphasis placed on the value of massage in promoting the health of the scalp and the beauty of the hair. We women have all more or less agreed that brushing the hair is necessary to its good looks, but it's hard to convince us that the scalp needs additional stimulation in order to keep it in good condition and consequently add to the life and luster of the tresses.

But any hair specialist will tell you that to have pretty hair, you must work at its roots thru proper massage, and keep the scalp in perfect condition. The scalp that is tense and taut needs massage to help circulation and make it comfortable and relaxed.

If you've ever enjoyed a thoro hair treatment under the ministrations of an expert operator, you know the lovely, luxurious feeling that goes with the massage. It's soothing to the spirits, and, as you feel the circulation step up in the scalp, you automatically relax and settle back to enjoy the whole treatment.

Nice as these professional massage treatments are, it isn't always possible for us to manage them, but we can do the work ourselves at home and with very little effort. In fact, if you like you may read as you work on the scalp, propping the elbows on the table and placing the book in front of you. Personally, we prefer just to be lazy and forget about everything as we massage.

There are two important don'ts to remember when working on the scalp: Don't dig in with the nails, and don't move the fingers. Spread the fingers over the head, planting the pads firmly against the scalp and then rotate the scalp, moving it round and round, back and forth. Change the position of the hands and keep working until the entire head has been completely worked over. As a final touch, lift the scalp a little by pulling the fingers away from the head and clutching the hair about a half inch away from the scalp. Don't be too rough about the pulling, but give a strong enough tug to feel it.

A few minutes of massage daily and a prolonged treatment before each hair washing will help immeasurably to help foster lovely hair and a healthy scalp.

New Cottons Enhance Your Old Furniture

By Edith Weigle.

Slip covers for furniture are no longer thought of as merely utilitarian, protectors of upholstery from dust and wear. Women know these pull-overs can be highly decorative and can, as well, disguise a homely old chair or couch, making it appear new.

So popular have they become during recent years that some homes are equipped with two sets, one for summer and one for winter. It's a good idea, of course, to have them made of a washable material, but if more formal effects are desired quite sumptuous fabrics can be used. This latter course is usually taken as a substitute for new upholstery, and when the cover is tailored and made by an expert it does, indeed, look as if the chair or couch had been re-covered rather than slip covered.

The stores are showing some most attractive heavy, printed and plain cottons, a lot of them vat dyed and color-tested and some few preshrunk. There is a heavy white herrigbone twill, as strong and sturdy as sailcloth that is charming because of the tiny brown flecks on its surface, and usable in any color scheme because of its completely neutral tone. A dollar a yard, it is 36 inches wide.

The same store has a beautiful floral chintz, one of the handsomest we've seen anywhere, the large sprawly design being in soft tones of pink, rose, blue, and green on a yellow ground, a white ground, or a mauve. It is $1.35 a yard and is charming for both draperies and slip covers.

Nearby was another smart cotton, a striped design combining lime green with white and red, or deep red with white and raspberry. Thirty-six inches wide, it is $1.25 a yard. Another variegated striped cotton, a little more expensive, comes in a greater variety of colors. We liked the lovely, dull blue with yellow and a line of red. There was also a beige ground with stripes in gray, white, and brown, and a chic blue and cinnamon combination.

If you like huge florals this same store has one pattern in a number of background colors: green, blue, beige, or rose. The flowers are really out-size. Vat dyed and color tested, this material is $1.25 a yard.

For slip-covering maple furniture there is a plaid cotton in green and white, with touches of red; in red and white, and also in blue and white. It is a little like a homespun and is heavy and practical. It is $1.25 a yard. A meshier weave in browns and russet and beige [not a plaid] is $1.10 a yard.

It is now possible to buy patterns for slip covers for all the well known styles of chairs and couches. They sell at 25 and 35 cents each, and show several different types of flounces. There is a pattern for the open armchair, the Lawson type of chair, the barrel and wing chair, and the boudoir chair. Also, for a love seat, and for a round, Victorian table cover.

BUY-LINES • by Nancy Sasser

A Weekly Sponsored Column of Things Advertised and Interesting.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 5th. Here's a 60-second Beauty Secret you'll thank me for, particularly with the holiday-party season ahead, when you'll want to look your loveliest and best! YES,—it takes just 1 minute to do an enchanting job for your face and neck! Just spread the flattering film of Angelus Make-Up over your skin (goes on evenly without streaking) ... and you'll be amazed at the smoothly "finished" look your face and throat will have! The House of LOUIS PHILIPPE brings you this Angelus Make-Up, and it comes in 5 flattering shades ... "stays PUT" for hours! Water resistant. Don't dry the skin! A real gem for covering small blemishes, wrinkles, freckles and dark shadows under eyes which so often "tattletale" about the late hours or extra strain and tire. In a pretty ivory compact ... at Drug and Department Stores! Ask for it!

Nancy Sasser

Don't be a war martyr ... forever and forever complaining about rayon stockings! There are fine brands of rayons,—just look for them! My advice is to buy GORDON Hosiery ... for better fit, longer wear, beautiful shades! Then, protect each lovely pair by avoiding:

1. Snagging on Furniture
2. Careless Laundering
3. Improper Gartering
4. Catching on Fingernails
5. Friction from worn shoe linings
6. Cutting from improper pedicures
7. Friction from worn shoe strings
8. Playful pets' claws
9. Cigarette burns or sparks

Avoid these "Stocking Tragedies" ... and your beautiful GORDON Hosiery will last longer, look lovelier!

Window gardens can bring unimagined new beauty into your home this winter ... and it's so easy! Just call your Department or Furniture Store, or look in the classified telephone directory under PITTSBURGH Glass Products ... and put an order through for clear plate glass shelves cut to your window's measurements. Place potted plants and green-growing things on the shelves ... and you'll be enchanted, delighted with the effect! Why not have plate glass "tops" cut for tables, desks, dressing tables and bureaus, too? Wonderful protection and so easy to clean! But be sure to look for the blue label—"Made from Genuine PITTSBURGH Plate Glass" ... your assurance of good plate glass!

If you haven't yet heeded my tips on Princess GOURIELLI'S twice-blessed "Moisture-Oil" Treatment Cream for DRY, NEGLECTED SKINS ... make it a MUST for now! It's called ACTIVE OZONE Cream ... and it contains a rich reward in BOTH oil and moisture, which dry skins need so badly. In addition, it contains nascent oxygen, which you can actually scent and FEEL as it comes in contact with your skin! Try Princess GOURIELLI'S Active Ozone Cream ... see what a fresh, moist feeling your skin gains almost overnight ... see how newly soft and dewy it appears when you wake up in the morning! Ask for ACTIVE OZONE Cream at Marshall Field's or Carson Pirie, Scott's.

A Tip in Time...

A tip in time is worth ... well, you know how much! That's why, in plenty of time before Thanksgiving, I again call your attention to the silver polish used regularly on the priceless gold and silver plate at Buckingham Palace. That makes you KNOW it's safe—won't scratch or mark your most precious sterling. It's SILVO Liquid Silver Polish ... a miracle of quickness and ease ... pouring right into the tiniest filigree and crevices to clean your silver with ONE rub, where it would ordinarily take three! SILVO won't stain your hands and no chalky deposits are left to mar the beauty of your silver. If you cant find this silver polish at your leading department or grocery store—write to Nancy Sasser, 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, N. Y., and I'll send you the name of your nearest dealer.

It ALWAYS seems to happen ... pesky little skin eruptions when you most want your skin to stay smooth and clear! Be on your guard for the first sign of externally caused skin disturbances, and pat on the medicated ointment long famous for gentle, comforting action on itching, burning skin. It's RESINOL OINTMENT ... and if you'll wash affected areas with mild, pure RESINOL Soap first, you'll find quicker relief! You'll be particularly grateful for the soothing action of RESINOL Ointment on those days when feminine irritations trouble you most,—just rub it on chafed places and see what comfort it brings! Ask your Druggist for RESINOL Soap and Ointment!

A SMART woman KNOWS the answers ... the right hat for the right dress, the proper shoes for the proper costume, and the SMARTEST cigarette to carry in her purse! Most smart women I know choose VICEROYS ... and the reason's simple enough! It's that specially-designed filter tip that filters OUT resins and tars which tend to discolor teeth and stain the fingers. In addition, this filter prevents tobacco crumbs from marring the tidiness of purses and flecking onto teeth and lips. VICEROYS, made of an extra-fine blending of Turkish and domestic tobaccos, will give the utmost in smoking "neatness" plus smoking enjoyment! Ask your Tobacconist for VICEROYS ... popular priced!

Just Between Us Girls...

Don't you writhe in and OVER non-elastic girdles and garters ... and cuss those creeping stockings that always sag from lack of support? Lack-a-day ... but don't resign yourself yet ... for VELVET GRIP Girdles, Garters, and Garter Belts have made no compromise with quality, and just m-a-y-b-e, you can find one with elastic and fine fabrics used in the same generous proportions as before the war. They are limited in quantity, obviously ... but keep on looking! Their quality will reward you ... so don't accept second-best when more persistent searching will bring you a VELVET GRIP! When you find one, you'll keep those stockings smooth-riding, with 4 VELVET GRIP Real Elastic garters.

November brings the first real nip of Old Man Winter ... the danger signal for delicate baby skins. So NOW, more than ever, give your baby real protective lubrication ... with ALBOLENE BABY OIL! It's made from the purest medicinal mineral oil there is, you know ... the ONLY baby oil with a Liquid Albolene base. Apply it generously after every diaper change and after every bath, in all the little folds and creases where skin irritations get their start. ALBOLENE BABY OIL is unsurpassed for diaper rash, chap and chafing ... those common ills that baby-flesh is heir to. Remeber, ALBOLENE'S mild, antiseptic action offers your baby PROTECTIVE lubrication. Ask for the big 6-oz. bottle at your Drug Store.

Soothing as a cool hand on the brow ... yet, used all over the world by our HE-MAN fighting forces! That's the story of Fleet's CHAP STICK ... the famous product that KEEPS LIPS FIT! Why not give each child a CHAP STICK of his OWN ... to soothe those tender, young lips against the roughening, chapping, cracking effects of cold weather? Try one, too, when baby's lips become dry and sensitive! And by all meant ... buy one for that husband of yours ... for servicemen from Alaska to the tropics find the specially medicated properties of CHAP STICK the best "lip-fixin'-stuff" there is! Ask your Druggist for CHAP STICK ... only 25c ... and put in a supply!

455 Receipes ... Free!

Hurry Hurry ... right NOW before the feast days ahead! You MUST have the 455 wonderful recipes given in the 104-page "Meal Planning Guide" prepared by the WESTINGHOUSE Home Economics Department! It's yours FREE ... just address your request to Nancy Sasser, 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, N. Y. Special menus for Thanksgiving and Christmas "gooderies" that will delight you . . and many a buying and planning tip you'll SURELY want for the holidays!

I haven't reminded you in a long time about the hand-help English women have used so successfully during the many years of their war-work ... the cream millions of them have used to help their hands stay feminine and soft in spite of hard manual tasks. It's YARDLEY'S Hand Cream ... efficient in giving the lubrication hands need against roughening and coarsening effects of work, and redness caused by winter's chap. But efficiency isn't everything ... YARDLEY'S Hand Cream adds to its own score by being palest pink in color, fragrant and easy to POUR ON! Cost is only 65c a bottle, at smarter shops everywhere ... a wonderful idea for a beautiful and useful Christmas gift that won't harm your budget ... a box of 3 for $1.95!

Readers' Corner

Comments from readers on those two "sweet-treats" I've been telling you about have "outdone" anything I could say! Here's one lady on the subject of WELCH'S Orange Marmalade ... you'll agree she even "out-Nancies" Nancy in enthusiasm over this new product!

> "It has such a wonderful, FRESH orange flavor, not too sweet, slightly tart, no trace of bitterness (how DO they do it?)! And it's such a beautiful marmalade, so golden-amber-orange, with those little strips of orange peel that are firm and colorful in it! I always think of the word 'NECTAR' when I eat it!"

Contageous copy, isn't it? Try WELCH'S Orange Marmalade ... and try WELCH'S Grapelade, too. It's good in a different way ... a supergrape-jam made from the world's finest Concord grapes! Your Grocer has both of these "sweet-treats" made by the makers of WELCH'S Grape Juice!

All good housewives know that NOW is the heydey of soup-time ... for there's nothing like a steaming bowl of hot, nourishing soup for an early winter-lunch (wonderful in vacuum bottles for work and school lunches!) ... or as the hearty first course for the evening meal. But it's deeper soup-wisdom I want to call to your attention ... the many ways soups can be used in making wonderful new, main dishes! Ask your Grocer to let you have a FREE copy of the new HEINZ recipe folder—"57 Ways to Use Soup" ... and learn some of the most delicious, easily and economically prepared dishes you've ever tried! For instance—1 pound of meat, bread crumbs, HEINZ Mustard and a can of HEINZ Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup—make a lusciously moist and appetizing meat loaf for 6 people! Another "sup-special" is BAKED CHEESE FONDUE,—made by pouring HEINZ Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup, and 4 beaten eggs, over pieces of dry bread, with grated cheese spread between the slices. Bake in a slow oven ... and uhm-m! Remember that the rich cream in HEINZ Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup, PLUS the Aristocrat Tomatoes used, makes the difference in smoothness of taste and blending flavor. Ask for "57-Ways to Use Soup" ... a copy is waiting for you at your Grocer's FREE!

Feeling Below Par?

Feeling below par these glorious fall days? Do you wake up more tired than when you went to sleep? Chances are you're a victim of faulty elimination. But why suffer passively ... why not take a tip from the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium by using LD-LAX? It is one of The Battle Creek Food Co.'s most valuable products ... a unique combination of bland vegetable ingredients, lactose and dextrins. LD-LAX forms a soothing, massaging, lubricating bulkage, affording sensible relief for faulty elimination. Take active steps now to help rid yourself of this dragging complaint ... get Battle Creek LD-LAX at the Boston Store or send a dime to Nancy Sasser, 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, New York, for a generous trial sample and name of nearest authorised dealer.

My hat's really in the air for PETER PAN Peanut Butter ... nut-rich, creamy-smooth, INDISPENSABLE! Don't see how any household can get along without it! PETER PAN is never gummy ... never sticks to the roof of your mouth. Why? Because it's made of Government-graded peanuts which are radiant-roasted and then triple-milled to give that silky smoothness. Contains precious vitamins ... thiamin and niacin ... and proteins so essential to children's growth. For a delicious, smooth taste-thrill, be sure to specify PETER PAN Peanut Butter. Your Grocer has it on his shelves. Ask for it!

SPARKLE by starlight

Fashion plunges head over heels into a whole new mood...call it elegance, call it allure, call it the bright, spangling look of sheer femininity. In glittering sequins that pierce the night's darkness with the sureness of a Lindbergh Beacon. In bright-eyed bugle beads...so Edwardian, so lush. That crust your shoulders, your waist, your wrists. That splurge their lustre on your vivacious accessories. That sparkle, sparkle, SPARKLE!
